The catalogue opened with the Nor. Plainheads. Although not quite so numerous as on many previous occasions, the quality one must vote superb. When such notable exhibitors as Messrs. W. Bowyer, W. Vardy, J. E. Davies, S. Cook, and J. Hayhurst are represented, up-to-date models are bound to be on view. Once again that noted unflighted cl. yell. ck., the property of Mr. J. E. Davies, stood at the head of affairs, and was admitted by one and all to be a "stormer." The mkd. buff cock, from the Hucknall stables (Mr. W. Vardy) is also an eye-opener. The amateur section contained several birds far and away above the ordinary, the unflighted yell. ck. successfully benched by Mr. T. Wood being a magnificent specimen.

Crests and C.B.'s as usual at this fixture, made one of the "sights of a life-time." They were "knock-outs," without a doubt. Friend Heath, that respected and popular judge, went into raptures over the three leading marvels in the Buff Crested-Bred Hen class. Truly a trio to be remembered. "The Duchess," (R. S. Bewick) is an out and out champion. Amongst the Crests, many models were present from the crack breeders. The cl. body D.C. cock (J. Franz) is a real beauty, while the buff almost green D.C. hen (Evins Bros.), "Dusky Queen," is rightly named, being a real giantess with a wealth of superb feather and a crest of immense size and perfect shape. Mr. F. G. Bale's almost unbeatable buff var. C.B. cock also merits special attention. A buff heavy mkd. dark Crest, the property of Mr. J. A. Smith (Birmingham), standing vhc in the "Current Year" class, struck us as the best youngster we had seen this season so far. Maybe at judging time this bird did not show to such perfection. It was the Cheltenham winner, and recent £25 purchase, we heard.

The Special winners are as follows:—Messrs. Evins Bros. (best Crest), J. Franz (best cl. body Crest), R. S. Bewick (C.B.), G. C. Ley (buff Crest, 1911), Dobson and Son (Buff C.B.), Thos. Taylor (yell. C.), Mrs. L. M. Thynne (members), W. Vardy (best yell. and buff Nor.), J. Goode (yell C.), G. C. Ley (buff C.), G. A. White (yell. C.B.), G. C. Ley (buff C.B.), W. H. Raven (Brit., also For.). Novice memb. silver cup, most points, W. Bown (Nor. sec.); silver cup Crest classes (G. A. White), silver cup Brit. (J. W. Saywell), gold medal For. (W. Cottingham), the above cups are won outright; silver medal (F.B.C.) best For. bird, W. H. Raven. The C.C.C. £10 10s. challenge bowl, for best current year Crest, fell to Mr. Geo. C. Ley. The £10 10s. challenge bowl (C.C.C.) for best current year C.B., went to Messrs. Dobson and Son. These two valuable trophies have to be won three times before becoming the absolute property of any exhibitor.

The judging was in the able hands of Messrs. J. F. Dewar, T. Heath, E. Fuller, and J. Trengove, and we heard remarkably few adverse comments upon their placing of the birds.

Mr. J. Trengove's Classes.

NOR. CL. YELL. (6): 1, Bowyer, rare substance and shape, beautiful quality and colour, jaunty carriage, the Tunstall winner, looking a picture; 2, E. Wilcox and Son, full of colour, teeming with quality, well up in size, not quite so thick set, yet a beauty; 3, Simpson and Vertigan, ablaze, fine substance, lovely shaped body; 4, Vardy, cobby, nice quality, moves gracefully, beaten in colour; vhc, Harris; No. 3, Twine, lame in one leg, and could not show, near on best in class, hard lines. BUFF (10): 1, Hayhurst, smooth and round as an apple, rare quality and size, lovely carriage, staged to the moment, real gem; 2, Vardy, capital feather and col., good substance, neatly mealed, not quite so chubby, yet a charmer; 3, Alton, teeming with quality, good size and carriage, not the col. quite, but well worth its place; 4, Hunt, A1 quality, col., and frosting, grand shaped body; vhc, Judd; hc, Bowyer; c, Hill. TK. YELL. (8): 1, 3, Davies, well known var. leading, wonderful substance, rattling quality and col., getting fat on chest, which is spoiling his symmetry somewhat; 3rd, lightly var., very shapely and of good feather, well up in size, not so bright in tone of colour; 2, Holmes, mkd. wing and neck, hot as a stove, short and thick set, feathered to perfection, delightful mover, just beaten in substance; 4, Judd, lightly var., cobby and of A1 col. and quality, clean cut away; vhc, Howard; hc, Hill; c, Sharp. BUFF (9): 1, 2, 3, Vardy, trio of gems, former, mkd. wing and eyes, model for shape, good substance and quality, rich col., covered with neat frosting, lovely carriage, topper; 2nd, mkd. eyes and root of tail, fine head, neck and chest, rich col., capital wing carriage, just beaten in quality by its stable companion; 3rd, mkd. head, very massive, red hot, well mealed; 4, Holmes, var., cobby, excellent quality and col., built on smaller lines, neat exhibit; vhc, Twine; hc, Routh; c, Coltman. YELL. HEN (13): 1, 3, hc, Cook, team of bewitching damsels, 1st marvellous sized cl., soft silky texture of feather, grand shape and carriage, clean sweep, in the pink; 3rd, cl., cobby, and as tight as a Java, capital col. and quality; 2, Vardy, cl., very shapely, full of quality, nice col. and carriage, beaten wee bit in substance; 4, Bowyer, cl., well up in size, shapely, nice feather, jaunty carriage, the Leek winner we presume; vhc, Davies; c, Hawkesley. BUFF (12): 1, Twine, cl., sweetly moulded, superb col. and feather, richly frosted, nice size and carriage, greatly admired; 2, Hawkesley, mkd. wings and eyes, more substance, equal in shape, hardly so rich in col. or quality, still close up; 3, T. and R. Smith, mkd. eye, well up in size, shapely, nice quality, not quite the cok.; 4, Judd, mkd. wing, typical, and of nice carriage, A1 col.; vhc, Wilcox and Son; hc, Vardy. UNFLIG. YELL. (14): 1, 2, Davies, brace of toppers, the well known and often described cl., marvellous specimen, leading, best youngster of the year up North; 3rd, mkd. wings and head, ablaze, and of rattling quality, fine substance and shape, close up; 3, Hulse, mkd. wings, eyes and root of tail, full of fire, teeming with quality, well up in size, little longer in barrel; 4, Vardy cl., cobby and of excellent feather and col., not overdone with size, but a true Nor.; vhc, Twine; hc, Martin; c, Hayhurst. BUFF (9): 1, Davies, cl., model for shape, superb col. and quality, tight as a bottle, lovely carriage, Liverpool, etc., winner; 2, Vardy, mkd. head, more substance, capital feather and col., shapely and of nice action, well frosted, not far away; 3, c, C. and H. Twine, cobby cl. sweetly moulded, nice substance and carriage, not quite so good in head and neck; 4, Hulse, warmly fed cl., well up in size, capital feather; vhc, J. and T. Twine; hc, Martyn. AMAT. NOR. YELL. (9): 1, Dollman and Sons, red hot cl., nice shape and size, good quality, capital carriage; 2, Wood, mkd. neck, A1 col. and quality, nice size, not quite so good in shape; 3, hc, Lamb, cl., nice head and neck, rich col. and quality, bit longer; 4, c, Hopcroft, cl., capital tone of col., rare quality, just beaten in size; vhc, Rayner; No. 3, Wilson, bonny bird, but very much down. BUFF (9): 1, Martin, mkd. wing and head, red hot, superior quality, well up in size, nice shape and carriage; 2, Wilson, mkd. head, rare quality, col. and frosting, nice substance; 3, Murfin, mkd. wing and eye, short and thick set, A1 quality, not so rich in col.; 4, Dollman and Sons, red hot cl., superb feather, nicely mealed, smaller, but neatness itself; vhc, Smedley; hc, Bakewell Bros. UNFLIG. YELL. (5): 1, Woods, cl., warm in col., rich in quality, grand shape and size, very choice; 2, Wilson, red hot cl., shapely and of nice substance, not quite so compact in feather; 3, Boaler, mkd. head, rare col., nice head, neck and chest, little longer behind, yet good; 4, vhc, Ball and Drury, mkd. wing, cobby and of excellent col. and carriage, clean cut, smaller. BUFF (7): 1, Emery, hot cl., smooth as a bottle, grand body, nice head and neck, good carriage; 2, Bond, ck., largest in class, A1 shape and colour, perhaps a bit free in feather; 3, Moore, mkd. eye, capital quality, shape and mealing, not one of the largest but one of the smartest; 4, Kirby, cl., shapely, rich tone of col., cobby; vhc, Ball and Drury; hc, Murfin; c, Rayner. HENS (13): 1, Wilson, cl., rare substance, capital quality and col., jaunty carriage, very bonny; 2, Boaler, mkd. wings and eye, well up in size, grand shape, nice col.; 3, Martin, short and thick cl., smooth as wax, neatly frosted, beaten a little in substance; 4, Dr. Twigg, mkd. wing, rare size, quality and col., good carriage; vhc, Wood; hc, Rayner; c, Dollman and Sons.

Mr. J. F. Dewar's Classes.

CLEAR, ETC., CAN. HYB. (8): 1, 4, vhc, Martin and Archer, leader the noted clear Linnet, truly a lovely bird, in grand form; 4th, cheek mkd. Greenie, another splendid Mule; vhc, the Palace winning uneven-mkd. Goldie-Can., in quite a lowly position to-day; 2, Lawrence, Goldie-Can., grizzled on one wing, grand bird for col. and quality, fine size and shape; 3, Gilbert, twin brother, we should think, to the second bird, similarly marked, grand col. and bloom, wee bit smaller; hc, Martin; c, McLean. DARK (8): 1, Martin and Archer, very good Jonque Linnet, rare col. and polish, nice size and style, trifle pinched in head; 2, Tams and Son, sweet Jonque Siskin, well built, rich col., nicely marked; 3, McLean, big, hot coloured Goldie, grandly polished plumage, little uneven in blaze col.; 4, Lawrence, flashing big buff Linnet, grand size and shape, good feather, trifle down in col., yet pressed hard for higher honours; vhc, Smith; hc, Large; c, Alton. HYB (6): 1, 3, Lawrence, leader champion Can.-Bullie, in great form, wonder for size, col. and markings, will want stopping; 3rd, real good Lin.-Bullie, fine chest and head, full of colour, in nice order; 2, Martin and Archer, Goldie-Bullie, good size and shape, excels in col. and bloom; 4, hc, Hymas, smaller Goldie-Bullie, very tight and glossy in plumage, nice bird; vhc, Howard. BRIT. GOLDIE (10): 1, Hurst, the best we have seen this year, by long chalks, big, upstanding, showy Finch, with a wonderful expanse of blaze above and below, grand tanning and markings all over, will take a world of beating if he does not get too dark in colour; 2, Mrs. Jeacock, smaller, and with hardly the same huge blaze, yet a lovely Finch at all points, big, rich blaze, fine chestnut and markings, beauty, was bred in an aviary, we understand; 3, vhc, hc, Raven, leader remarkable col., too much chestnut on him, in fact, very large blaze indeed, grand Finch, not in the same A1 condition as leaders; 4, Wagg, yet another smart Goldie, fine, wide, well-cut face, not quite up in col., bird needs steadying a trifle, bit restless; c, Routb. BULL. (10): 1, 2, Woods, two beauties, leader big, house-moulted bird, grand, wide, well-cut cap, hot breast col., fine back and bars; 2nd, t.m., smaller, good at all points, both in lovely condition; 3, Routh, fine size and shape, condition A1, grand back and bars, rich, solid breast col., well shown; 4, Smith, loses a trifle in col., very nice at all other points, bonny shape; vhc, Paley; hc, Yearling; c, Harrison. LINNET (7): 1, Raven, wins on condition, not the largest, but a gem for shape and style, fine col., very distinctive markings all over, in rare bloom; 2, 4, Hurst, bigger, fine, cobby shape, nice sound col., trifle duller in "coat," and hardly so sharp in pencilling; 4th, biggest in class, bonny type of bird, well made, cone-shaped body, fine head, nice sound col., well marked all over, though a little cloudily, we rather liked him for higher honours; 3, Wood, very sound nutty col., good wings and head, carries nice work, hardly so distinct as winners, in fine condition, excellent size and shape; vhc, Caunt; hc, Routh; c, Tams and Son. GREENIE (6): 1, Lawrence, topper, great size, wonderful head and chest, very rich sound col. (fed), grand quality, wins easy, pity he is a bit restless; 2, Hurst, non-fed, grand one at all points, charming col. and polish, good tail and flights, not so weighty as the winner; 3, Raven, also loses a little in bulk, very fine cobby shape, deep rich nat. col., in fine condition; 4, Martin, good bold shapely bird, fine polish, good col (fed); vhc, Tams and Son, splendid bird, in trouble a little with one eye, or would have warmed things up for some above it; hc, Smith. TWITE, ETC. (11): 1, c, Raven, lovely Twite for col., bloom and pencilling, real bonny bird; 2, Sillitoe, very fine Mealy, really mealy in col., too, grand bib and pencilling, soon "bagged" at catalogue price, 10/-; 3, Hurst, sweet Siskin for condition, excellent size and shape, fine colour, well mkd., but no bib; 4, Goode, fine Twite, bigger than winner, loses only in polish and condition; vhc, Mrs. Jeacock; hc, Wagg. CHAFF. OR BRAMBLE (12): 1, Hurst, really beautiful Chaffinch, marvellous col. and bloom, very nicely mkd., good size and shape, will do some winning; 2, Raven, extra large Bramble, wonderful broad head, nice col. and mkgs., seemed shade soft when we saw it; 3, Martin, another fine Chaffie for col. and mkgs., very forward in condition; 4, c, Lawrence, lovely Bramble, fine size and shape, full of col., grandly mkd., pressed hard, the latter a beautiful Chaffinch, very low in the list; vhc, Smith; hc, Ride, Chaffinch, will be a good one when ready. A.O.V. SEEDEATER (8): 1, 2, Raven, lovely Hawfinch leading, perfect polish and condition, fine bib and wings, very thick-set and shapely; 2nd, good coloured, well-mkd. Yellowhammer, also in charming condition; 3, Caunt, very fine steady Corn Bunting, grand mkgs., not quite fit yet; 4, Ride, another fine Yellowhammer, just loses to-day in tightness of feather; vhc, Lawrence, fine Crossbill; hc, Paln; c, Mrs. Jeacock. HENS (9): 1, 4, Caunt, leader the well known Corn Bunting, grand hen, looking very fit; 4th, exceptionally good Greenie, fine size and col.; 2, Martin and Archer, Reed Bunting, dainty little lady, very trim and neat, deserves her place; 3, Raven, real good Hawfinch, finely mkd., nice size and shape, trifle short of polish; vhc, Ride; hc, Webb; c, Butler; the very large hen Bullfinch, 2nd Clapham, we noticed standing cardless. SMALL INSECTIV. (6): 1, Raven, champion Nightingale, condition simply lovely, grand size, shape and colour; 2, 3, vhc, hc, Wagg, exceptionally nice team, all in splendid condition, Lesser Whitethroat, Redstart, Pipit and Wheatear; 4, Goode, pretty Yellow Wag., excellent col. and condition. LARGE (4): 1, Wagg, Waxwing, nice, shapely bird, A1 condition, catalogued as a cock, but we think it a hen; 2, Hawksley, really good Blackbird, fine size and shape, dense col., rich golden beak and eyeceres, had rather hard lines to play "second fiddle"; 3, Raven, rare big, shapely Waxwing, grand wings and crest, but damaged in plumage today; a fine King Ouzel unfortunately had a wrong label on its cage and appeared amongst the Mules! FOR. LOVEBIRDS, ETC. (4): 1, 2, Baxby, two splendid Blue Mountain Lorrikeets, lovely col.; 2nd, very fine Pennant; 3, 4, Fletcher, two rattling good pairs Budgerigars. PARROTS, ETC. WAXBILLS, ETC. (12): 1, 2, hc, Howe, Gold-breasted Waxbills, White-headed Mannikins, and Green Avadavats, all real good and in charming condition, winners are a champion pair; 3, Routh, grand pair Zebras, big and finely mkd.; 4, Raven, extra good pair White Javas; vhc, Cottingham; c, Row. A.O.S. SEEDEATERS (6): 1, 3, Howe, Melba Finch leading, very nice condition, good bird; 3rd, lovely Parrot Finch, wonderful colouration and condition; 2, hc, Row, far the best pair Fire-tailed Finches we have ever seen, remarkable size, col. and markings, superb condition, hit unlucky we thought, not to have won; 4, Raven, simply perfect cock Red-headed Gouldian, gem; vhc, Cottingham. INSECTIV. (2): 1, 2, Raven, gloriously beautiful Spotted Emerald Tanager, truly one of Nature's living jewels, wins F.B. Club's medal; 2nd, Necklace Tanager, grand specimen, too. A.O.S. (4): 1, 2, Baxby, very fine and attractive Green-billed Toucan and Mexican Green Jay; 3, Raven, Levaillant's Barbet, very rare, not in best form yet; 4, Wood, very decent Siberian Goldie. NOVICE BRIT. GOLDIE, ETC. (8): 1, 2, 4, vhc, hc, c, Saywell, hot team, headed by very smart Hawfinch and Bramble; 3, Wood, very good Wheatear. A.O.V. (5): 1, 3, Wood, excellent Missel Thrush and big good-coloured Greenie; 2, 4, vhc, Saywell, fine Song Thrush, and decent Mealy Redpoll. FOR. (7): 1, Saywell, big, good-coloured Red-headed Finch; 2, 3, 4, vhc, hc, c, Cottingham, rare good team, Cuttroats leading, fine col. Weaver and Sih. Bullie 3rd and 4th.

WYMONDHAM.

Nineteenth annual show held November 8th and 9th. The success of the venture is due in large part to the combined efforts of the secretary (Mr. W. Dye) and the assistant secretary (Mr. J. C. Clements), who (with the assistance of the committee) are to be congratulated on the excellent arrangements. Mr. C. L. Quinton judged the cage birds, which were of nice quality.

WHITEHAVEN.

Whitehaven C.B.S. annual open show held Oddfellows' Hall, November 10th and 11th. The room is an ideal one for light, and is entirely free from any draughts; but it was somewhat cold, the sudden snap of frost being felt a little in the room. A lot of the birds no doubt felt the change, and drooped just a bit in the morning. But the officials got some heat put on early, and by noon the birds looked quite different. Some 400 entries turned up in the cage bird section, and a more level lot we have not seen for some time. Yorks. contained some really fine exhibits; Mr. Douglas just coming out on top with one point. The Norwich were a fine section, Messrs. Sumpton Bros. having quite a field day. Naturally in this hot-bed of Border Fancies, the wee gems came out strong, some wonderful birds being on view. British bird classes did not fill as they might have done. Linnets were a strong lot, and very hard to separate. The winner in the field-moulted class was a wonder; it should with a good moult hold its own with the best. Winners of specials: Challenge cup, Douglas; B.F.C. medal, Mossie; Steele's Border medal, Ayre; Steele's Linnet medal, Stewart. The attendance on the Friday was good, and sales better than last year. The society are greatly indebted to the secretary, Mr. W. Douglas, who is the right man for the job; it is wonderful the work he got through in so short a time. Judging commenced at 9 a.m. and not a bird was missing. Mr. J. Stewart, that ardent Yorks. fancier, had charge of the exhibits, which were well fed and watered; he had the birds laid out for the judge, two classes always being ready, so that each bird could settle down; which is how things should be. These two fanciers were well supported by Messrs. Levason, Kelly, Brown, E. Douglas, Ayre and J. B. Mossie. Mr. C. Cubby (Carlisle) judged Borders, and Mr. Metcalfe (Liverpool) the remainder, and we heard very little grumbling.

CODNOR PARK AND EASTWOOD.

Second annual show of the Codnor Park and Eastwood C.B.S. held Assembly Rooms, Three Tuns Hotel, October 28th. The staging looked very attractive, being a five-tier; plenty of room was provided, which allowed a good view of all exhibits. Thirty-seven classes were provided, but unfortunately three classes had to be cancelled. The stewards, Messrs. Martin, Simpson, Lees and Wood, had everything in good order, the birds being staged in nice time, and judging started early; and the awards were put on in a prompt manner. Norwich were a grand lot, some noted winners being put back by some "good uns" that had not been seen out before. Yorks. were a moderate lot when the winners were taken out; Mules and Hybrids were a grand lot; and British, too, were a hard task to judge, some splendid birds being staged, all in the pink of condition. The Taylor's challenge cup was won by Mr. W. Holmes. Mr. J. Adnitt was runner-up. Messrs. Martin and Mitchell third, and these secured the greatest number of points, but had unfortunately to get double amount of points. Mr. J. H. Roe judged. (We much regret that the unavoidable absence of our reporter has made it impossible for us to give a detailed criticism.—Editor.)

LEEK.

Leek and Dis. C.B.S. 7th annual show, held Nov. 9th. The Co-operative Hall, in which the exhibits were admirably staged, is well lighted (electric light by night), fairly spacious, absolutely void of draughts and well situated. The entry, we are extremely sorry to have to say, was disappointing. There were only 130 entries all told. All the Yorkshire classes had to be cancelled, also the Cl. Yell. Nor., and Brit. Softbill classes. Surely a society like Leek, possessing as it does so many well-known and genuine enthusiasts, deserves to be treated better than this. Now, Staffordshire, rise to the occasion, and don't let it occur again. The show really resolved itself into a Norwich F.H. display. Truly they were not over numerous, but there were some real "eye-openers" among them. Many fell in love with "Little King," owned by Mr. T. Seed. Mr. W. Bowyer, too, had on view a magnificent Cl. Yell. hen. The unfigted mkd. Buff, the property of Mr. R. Hall, fully deserved the honour of "cup hero," truly a magnificent youngster; cobby and teeming with quality and colour; will make a stormer another year, providing it adds a little more substance. Messrs. F. Mason and W. Whetstone staged some grand specimens. Messrs. Tams and Sons, won well in the Hybrids, with a very choice Lin.-Bullie, staged in the pink. Novice classes contained many fit for the open, the unflighted Buff of Mr. A. Bonsall, and the 1911 bred Yellow, owned by Mr. Leng, both being full of character and "good 'uns." The President is C. Watson, Esq.; stewards, Messrs. Mason, Clowes, Bowyer, Bowyer jun., and R. Hall. All worked well, and gave of their best. Mr. J. A. Pegg, the secretary, is heart and soul in the welfare of his society, and is the right man in the right place. Courteous and obliging, and always on the go, he manages splendidly all along the line. Mr. R. Hall (the late secretary) assisted nobly, and in the part-compulsory absence of Mr. Pegg, took the reins, handling them in his usual efficient style. The management throughout was excellent. The committee deserve many compliments. Mr. J. Trengove judged, and his awards were well received. Sandiford's spl., Mr. W. Whetstone; Hyde's, Mr. H. Morris.

The Critique.

ASHINGTON & HIRST.

This society held a show in the Universal Club, Ashington, on Nov. 11th. Taking into consideration that there was a large show at Blyth the same day, also that there is to be a large one at Ashington on the 25th, the entries came out fairly good, and quality was all there. Here we found a useful and obliging lot of fanciers at the head of affairs—Mr. L. Strong (president), R. Middleton (an able secretary), while our old friend and fancier (Mr. T. Floyd) as treasurer was there interesting himself and working like a Trojan. There was a splendid "gate" when we left. Mr. A. Dippie (Morpeth) judged, and his awards were well received.

NOR. YELL CK. PETERBOROUGH.

Seventh annual show held Corn Exchange, Nov. 9th The entries were in advance of last year's, but there is still room for improvement, as several classes had to be cancelled. The Norwich classes were not very large, but contained some very choice specimens. The Yorkshires made a grand show, being staged down the centre of the hall, while the British bird classes contained a number of well-known winners. The committee were ably led by Messrs. Popple and Cocks (the joint secretaries) who are a pair of real workers, and it included Messrs. Dawson, Barley, Rowles, Smith, Simmons, Watts, and Marsh, who had everything well in hand, and cards were up before dinner time. Mr. J. Robson judged the Canaries and Mules, while Mr. S. H. Mays (the president) made the awards in the British bird classes.

BARNSLEY'S "COMING OF AGE" SHOW.

Good Display of Novice Yorkshires: Attractive Collection of Britishers.

Barnsley and Dist. C.B.S. 21st annual show held Nov. 10th and 11th. The Wesley-street Schoolroom, which is light, spacious, lofty, well ventilated, and nicely heated, was utilised for the function. Entries came up well, being 309 in number in the 20 classes provided, giving an average of over 15 per class. The Yorks. and Nor. were a really choice collection. Novice Yorks. were very fine lot, and included many quite capable of appropriating honours against the champions. The thigh ticked yell. cock, belonging to Mr. W. Cockcroft, stood out by itself; with another good moult it should be "one of the nuts." We heard rumours of a good price being offered for this very enchanting creature. The winner in the 20s. selling class, a variegated C.B., was a rare bargain for someone. Worse birds have won in open competition many a time. The British birds added to the attraction of the show. The Bullfinch (W. Lee), Linnet (C. Nicholson), Redstart (G. Booth) being a trio of gems, staged in masterly fashion. Sandiford's spl., Mr. J. Thomas. The president, Mr. J. Eyre (a well known and familiar figure), is one of the "right stamp," and works hard; vice-president, Mr. J. Simmons, and the treasurer, Mr. F. Race, are also capital officials, and have the society's interests at heart. Secretary Mr. F. C. Sims is a worker, and no mistake; he is a capital director, and is courteous and obliging, and under his guidance Barnsley should progress by leaps and bounds. Mr. W. Atherton acts as his understudy, and assists greatly. Botb are worthy of the praise bestowed on them. The management throughout was superb. Staging was of A1 description, and every bird could be seen at a glance. The stewards were Messrs. Toulson and F. Race, a brace of true fanciers. Mr. J. E. Taylor (show manager) proved himself fully worthy of this very important position, and kept the ball rolling in the right way. Mr. H. W. Battye judged.

LUTON.

Amongst those who suffered from the multiplicity of shows last week were our friends at Luton, whose fixture, which was held in the Corn Exchange on Nov. 9th, was very poorly supported. But if numbers were low, quality was not, some remarkably fine birds being shown in the different sections. A curious point arose in the awarding of the cup for Foreign Birds. The conditions read—"for the best Foreign Bird." Mr. Howe's selection was a pair of Blue Mountains, and the decision was queried as to whether under the conditions a pair of birds could be said to fulfil the conditions. In support of the award it may be said that this has previously been awarded to a pair of birds. The cups were won as follows: Nor., Mr. A. Keech; Yorks., Mr. W. Buckingham; Crest, Mr. G. Bennett; Novice, Mr. G. Moore; Mule, Messrs. Bloomfield and Rose; Brit., Mr. W. Smith; For., Mr. H. B. Timaeus. The birds were nicely staged and well looked after by the committee, composed of Messrs G. Bennett (chairman), E. Litchfield (vice-chairman), E. Cherry, J. C. W. Meadows, F. Martin, W. Sting, F. J. Webb, A. W. Ball, J. Litchfield, H. Rhodes, and S. Parkins. Mr. E. Bloomfield made a most excellent secretary, being most assiduous in the discharge of his duties, in which he received valuable assistance from Mr. W. B. Codd. Messrs. C. A. House and R. J. Howe judged.

DARVEL.

Annual show of the Darvel O.S. held Town Hall, November 11th. The show was fairly successful, some good quality exhibits being staged; but we regret to report that the entries were poor. The hall where the cage bird section was held is tiptop for the purpose, the light and comfort being all that could be desired. Our section has a secretary separate from the other departments, and in Mr. Robertson, junr., the Society have been very fortunate in their choice. He got through his duties in a very able and creditable manner, and is a very obliging and capable official. He was ably assisted by a committee of good fanciers, and the management all over was excellent. Judges for Nor., Mr. Muir (Kilmarnock); for Borders, Mr. Smillie (Riccarton); and for British, Mr. Hoyle (Musselburgh); and the awards of each, as was to be expected, gave general satisfaction.

GOOD ALL-ROUND SHOW AT HAMILTON.

The Yorkshire makes Strides in Scotland

Mr. Pettigrew Delayed by Fog.

Hamilton (Cadzow Oaks) O.A. annual show, held Nov. 11th. Taken all over, it was well up to former shows. All the classes were good, and competition was very keen. Some rare Norwich were on view, while the wee Borders were forward in force. Yorks. are making strong headway in Scotland, and here we had several well-known stables competing under a specialist judge. Mules and British, as usual in this hot bed, were strong, some toppers being out, and in many cases condition only separated the winners. Owing to the dense fog in the morning Mr. Pettigrew (Glasgow) was delayed; but after his arrival he was assisted by Mr. J. W. Bruce (Coldstream) who judged classes from field moulted Linnets to Foreigners. We were pleased to see our old friend Mr. Pettigrew recovering from his accident. Mr. A. Watson (Kilmarnock) judged Norwich and Crests, Mr. F. Bowman (Glasgow) the Yorks., and Mr. A. Walker (Lesmahagow) the Borders; their awards left little to be desired. The show was held in a comfortable room, which was free from draughts and well lighted. Mr. Marlin, the genial secretary, had everything in apple-pie order, and was ably assisted by an enthusiastic committee; the show was well patronised.

DARLINGTON.

Sixth annual show of the Darlington C. and B.B.F.A. held in the Corn Exchange Nov. 11th. We were sorry to see entries were below the average of the shows in this district, especially in the Canary classes—probably owing to Shildon show being held same day. It is to be hoped this unfortunate clashing will be avoided another year. The British bird classes filled well, as they always do at Darlington, and competition was very keen. The members' classes contained some very nice birds. The show was well arranged and did credit to the ahlc secretary, Mr. Walker, and his energetic committee. Mr. J. Wilcock judged Canaries, and Mr. J. Walsh the British birds.

MALTON.

Sixteenth annual show of the Malton Norton O.S. was held on Nov. 9th in the Corn Exchange—a large and well-lighted room very suitable for such a show. Mr. Wilson is a hard-working, courteous secretary, and had a good committee of fanciers to support him, Messrs. Anderson, W. Brown, G. Wilson, J. W. Middleton, J. Wardell, W. Warren, and W. Wilson being in evidence, staging and attending to the wants of the exhibits. Yorks. were not up to the number usual at this show, hut some very good birds were staged. Norwich were a nice lot, and in this section the judge found the winner of spl. fer best bird in show. The Mule class was a hot one, and British birds were good in numhers and quality. Mr. Cowgill placed the tickets, and, in the opinion of fanciers present, picked the right winners.

Kirkcaldy's Excellent Management

Meets with a Disappointing Entry. Is a Two-Day Show Popular in Scotland?

Kirkcaldy C.B.S. fifth annual show held in the Pioneer Hall, Nov. 10th and 11th. The entry proved disappointing, only 410 exhibits putting in an appearance. On looking for the cause of such a large decrease, one is forced to the conclusion that, outside the larger towns, a two-day show is unpopular with the majority of fanciers, and the society would do well to revert to a single-day fixture. Another cause might be found in the fact that it takes nine entries to make a full class, with the result that only 14 classes out of the total of 70 classes had the requisite number. The hall, which is within five minutes' walk of the station, is in every way suitable for such an occasion, and the staging left nothing to be desired. The committee are all well-known fanciers, and know the business thoroughly; they were ably led by Mr. J. Thomson as president, while the secretarial duties were in the capable hands of Mr. E. McAnally, who besides being a past-master himself in the matter of management, had for his assistant Mr. T. Arnott, a fancier of no mean repute and ability. Judges: Scotch Fancies, Mr. A. Fotheringham (Kelty); Border Fancies, Mr. J. Thomson (Newtongrange); Crests, Mr. G. Arnott (Kirkcaldy); Norwich, Mr. J. Logan (Dysart); British and Foreign, Mr. L. J. Arrigbi (Edinburgh); they got through their work in good time, and the awards all over seemed to be well received. Special winners: Best Scotch Fancy, A. Watson; B.F.C.C. medal, H. Bennet; ditto Novice, W. Dods; S.P.C. medal best cock, J. Kerr; ditto hen, W. R. Gibson; cup for best unflig. P.H. hen, J. McAnally; Hyde's, J. Brown. We noticed that Cage Birds League was very much in evidence, a large poster being prominently displayed, while the committee were distributing the handy little leaflets to all present, and we expect a big influx of members will result.

BUCKIE.

Grand Display of Borders.

Buckie 31st annual show held Fisherman's Hall, November 8. The hall is well lighted, and allows plenty of room for a show of this kind. The cage birds were benched down both sides and the end of hall. The exhibits were staged at a nice height, and were well looked after. There was an increase in entries in our section, and the quality was well ahead of that of former years, some grand specimens being staged. The Border Fancies were a grand display. The arrangements were well carried out by the courteous and obliging joint secretaries, Messrs. Melvin and Bunyan, who were ably backed up by a hard working committee, who had everything up to date. Judge, Mr. T. Arnott.

Warrington's Sixteenth Show.

Fog delays Exhibits. Cage Birds League to the fore.

Warrington and Dist. Society 16th annual show, held Nov. 11th, in the Kendrick St. School. The society were highly pleased with the response, entries totalling 570. The secretary, Mr. G. M. Nelson, was a hard-working and efficient officer, and along with the stewards, Messrs. W. Weston, Hardy, Harper, Leigh, Barnett, Leech, and Knowles (treasurer), had some difficulty in assisting the judge, Mr. A. Wellings, through the late arrival of some of the exhibits, the delay being caused solely through the fog, which upset the train connections. It was pleasiug to note that classes were kept back so that all entries should come before the judge, and stand their fair chance of competition. Around the room were hung posters advocating that fanciers support Cage Birds League.

CONSETT.

Consett, Blackhill, and Dis. F.S. held their 18th annual open show, November 11, in their new place, the skating rink. It was with regret we noticed that the room allotted to the cage bird section was too cold, and some of the exhibits (good birds, too) had to be overlooked owing to their being soft in feather, i.e., temporarily out of condition. Taking the show throughout, the principle of keeping expenses down, and not constantly advertising in CAGE BIRDS, thereby bringing the show date vividly before the Fancy, resulted in a smaller entry. The president is G. Ainsworth, Esq., J.P., and the secretarial duties were admirably carried out by Mr. R. R. Walker (Blackhill); but the principal steward in our section was Mr. Thorpe, who deserved every praise, as he is a most thorough and practical fancier, obliging and courteous to all; he was assisted by some of the best in Messrs. Dickinson Bros., Rowell, Forster, Barkas, and Lane. Mr. W. P. Barnes (Grantham) placed the cards, and his awards appeared to give every satisfaction.

METROPOLITAN C.B.A.

One of the most successful shows of the Metropolitan C.B.A. was held Nov. 11, at All Saints' Parochial Hall, Battersea Park. The hall was kindly placed at the disposal of the members by the vicar, the Rev. H. G. Hills, who visited the show several times during the day, and was greatly interested in the birds. At his suggestion a class was added for pet birds, kept by his parishioners. This novel class proved exceedingly popular. Upon each entry form had to be stated the conditions under which the bird was kept, upon what it was fed, and the time it had been in the owner's possession. This proved to be unusually interesting; the majority of the exhibits had been kept from six to eight years, and one to the ripe old age of fifteen years; he was still hearty and well, and responded with a chirp when the judge gave him a commended card. The entries this year were about fifty in excess of those of any previous year, and were in advance of previous years in regard to type and quality. The stylish Yorkshires have always held premier position, but on this occasion the Norwich and Borders were quite as numerous, and there was also a good sprinkling of Britishers. Mr. Tebbs secured special for best bird with a nice Yorkshire yellow; it also secured first and sp. for best in show when quite a baby. The Norwich were the surprise of the show; and Mr. Ward staged a grand buff, which secured first and sp. for best Norwich, followed closely by Mrs. L. Thynne, who also staged some grand Borders. The Borders were a show in themselves, some real good ones of type and quality being staged. The society caters for the wee gems in quite a liberal manner, with the result that they are becoming exceedingly popular. Mr. F. Moore staged a beautiful marked buff, which secured special for best Border. The entries in the novice section equalled the champions in numbers, and ran them very close for merit. The management was in the capable hands of Mr. G. Harwood, the sec., who received valuable assistance from Mr. and Mrs. Thynne, Messrs. Martin, McGregor, Burgess, Gollop, Tebbs, Denham, and others. During the afternoon tea was provided for the visitors, and the usual social gathering, so popular with the members, took place. Mr. H. Norman judged.

OLD SHILDON.

Old Shildon Workmen's Club C.B.S. show held Workmen's Club Hall (lent for the occasion), a magnificent place for such a purpose; in fact, one of the best we have ever been in; it is splendidly lighted, cosy and comfortable, and perfectly free from draughts. The staging was almost perfect; every bird could be seen and examined without any trouble. The able and most courteous secretary, Mr. Elwell, was assisted by a large and enthusiastic committee, who spent their time in following one another round attending to the wants and comfort of the exhibits. They had issued a first-class schedule, but we were sorry to see that entries were slightly disappointing in numbers, although some first class exhibits were staged. We hope another year exhibitors will make a note of this show, as they can send their birds with perfect confidence, knowing that they will have every care and attention, and will be in a most comfortable room. Prize money was paid to the exhibitors present. Through lack of entries the following classes had to be cancelled: Crest and Crestbred, A.O.V. Goldfinch and Bullfinch. The members' class contained 40 entries A.V., and a prize for every exhibit, ranging in value from a guinea for first to 14s. for the 40th. Such an array of prizes we have never seen before; cases of cutlery, chairs, clocks, pictures, household goods, etc., Mr. Stanger judged.

ALWAYS USE OUR

DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers In all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insisted upon.

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting question of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10.—DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

IMPORTANT NOTE.—Two or more Advertisements coming from the same advertisor, even if sent in different names, are reckoned together, and, after the first Eighteen words, are charged at two words a penny, but no single advertisement, even if accompanied by others, will be charged at less than the minimum price, viz., Sixpence.

Headlines or Footlines, 6d., 9d., 1/-, 1/6, according to size.

Small prepaid advertisements of a general nature and not connected in any way with the Cage Bird Trade are inserted at the rate of ½d. per word throughout. Minimum 12 words 6d.

Advertisements must in all cases bear the bona fide name and address of the advertiser, and no advertisement will be inserted if addressed to a receiving office, or similar place of call.

PREPAID ADVERTISEMENTS

UNDISPLAYED.—6d. for the first eighteen words. One Halfpenny per Word for each word over eighteen. MINIMUM, 18 words 6d

Postal Orders must be sent as far as possible. All moneys should be made payable to F. CARL.

The Proprietor reserves the right to refuse any advertisement, or to cancel any advertisement ordered for a series, at any time, without assigning any reason for so doing.

Advertisements close Tuesdays first post in each week, and should be sent to the advertisement Manager, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London. Terms for Display Advertisements on application.

REPEATING OF ADVERTISEMENTS.

NOT ONE OR TWO

but hundreds upon hundreds of testimonials have been published in this paper from purchasers of my catching appliances. I do not wish to boast, but have no hesitation in saying that I have published more testimonials in one week than any other net maker has in a year. Surely this fact should prove to you who is really the man to supply genuine articles at rock bottom prices. Everything I sell is guaranteed exactly as described, and you are at liberty to smash them up if you find them not so, and I will refund every penny of your money. Clap-nets made from superfine thread netting, ½in. mesh, 3 yards long, 5½ft. deep and 4ft. fly, 4/- pair, ditto 4 yards, 5/-; 5 yards, 6/-; 6 yards, 7/-; 7 yards, 8/-; 8 yards, 9/-; 9 yards, 10/-; 10 yards, 11/- per pair. All clap-nets have two nets to the pair, each net guaranteed size as stated, and all are fitted complete with hemp lines, stave poles, and pegs ready for immediate use. These nets are the only clap-nets on the market that are geared or armed all round, and have no old-fashioned socket and iron arrangement about them, the fittings I supply being far better and easier to work. Sparrow-nets, made with extra stout ⅝ mesh netting, fitted on best quality bamboo poles, with latest improved elbows, 15ft. poles, 5/6; 17ft., 6/-; 19ft., 6/6 complete. Latest improved self-acting spring net traps (all metal, not a particle of wood about them) 24ins. long 18ins. wide, 1/- each, ditto 18 by 14ins., 9d. each. These net traps are different to any other on the market, and although far larger, may be carried in the pocket, and are invisible when set. May be used with call bird inside them, and do not go off with a bang. Carriage on these traps, 3d. extra. Round or square topped call cages, all wire tops and wood bottoms, 4d. each, 3/- dozen. Loose thread netting, as used in above clap-nets, 7ft. deep, 3d. yard, 9ft. deep, 4d. yard, 12ft. deep, 5d. yard. Lark netting, 1½in. mesh, 10ft. deep, 5d. yard. Extra stout netting for use on rough ground, ⅝ mesh, 9ft. deep, 5d. yard; ½in. mesh netting, 8ft. deep, 5d. yard; all netting post free. Real original Japanese bird lime, guaranteed absolutely strongest made, and only lime to hold birds in rain or fog, ½lb. 6d., ½lb. 10d., 1lb. 1/6; sample 3d., all postfree. Please note this is the original Japanese lime as advertised and sold by myself only for years past, and must not be confused with any other so-called Japanese lime offered by persons who have merely copied name of my lime, but cannot copy quality (see testimonials below). Genuine hand-spun pure hemp, pull lines, guaranteed strong as boat lines, and not to stretch or snarl, 68 yards long, ½lb. weight, 1/4 each, carriage paid. Lark nets, stave poles, flirt pegs, and everything required by catchers always in stock, but before you buy a stitch of anything send stamp for my full printed list, which gives hints on net making. Following letters are entirely unsolicited and open for inspection at any time. "49 Cae Felin Street, Llanhilleth, Nov. 1st.—Sir,—Received netting, and am highly pleased with it. It is good value for money. I shan't trouble to knit any more while I can buy it at that price for the netting itself is cheaper than I can buy thread for it.—Yours, M. Brelsford." "49, Bourne Avenue, Boston Road, Windsor, October 1st.—Sir,—Please send 18 yards netting. I have had five years' hard wear from last lot, and now it is better than some so-called best on the market, and I have caught hundreds of birds with it.—Yours, Wm. Taylor." "10, Stevens Yard, Newbiggin, Malton, October 10.—Sir,—Please send pair clap nets. I am highly satisfied with netting.—Yours, J. Bradley." "164, Victoria Street, Chadderton, Oldham, October 3.—Sir,—Please send ¼ bird lime; it is better than any other I have tried, and I always recommend it. —Yours, S. Kenyon." "34, Peel Street, Burslem, October 30.—Sir,—Received clap-nets, and am quite satisfied with them.—Yours, S. Hall." "37, Grosvenor Place, Carnforth, October 26th.—Sir,—I tried your bird lime some time ago, and it was best I ever had.—Yours, T. Dawson." "6, New Houses, Pentre, Hawarden, October 25.—Sir,—Received clap-nets, and am very pleased with them.—Yours, T. Redfern." "Crosby Moor, near Maryport, October 23.—Sir,—Net and bird lime to hand, and very pleased with them.—Yours, W. Johnston." "46, Park Street, Haydock, St. Heleus, October 23.—Sir,—I had a pair clap-nets from you last year, which gave every satisfaction, and after having a year's wear out of them I have sold them for 6d. more than they cost.—Yours, H. Ball." "Wood Street, Guildford, October 17.—Sir,—Your bird lime is best I can get.—Yours, G. Bourne." "30, South Road, Didsbury, Manchester, October 17th.—Sir,—Please forward another ½lb. bird lime; it is just what is wanted for these frosty mornings. I received net trap safely, and have caught 15 Bullfinches and 5 Chaffinches this last week with it. Two years ago I sent to another advertiser, and paid him 16/6 for a pair clap-nets, and when I got them the poles were 5ft. deep, and netting only 4ft. deep, and when I thought of catching a nice lot of birds they flew underneath; so it's once bit, twice shy with me, and I shall not send there again.—Yours, W. Jones." "77, Moore Street, Gateshead, October 16.—Sir,—Netting I had from you two years ago is still as good as ever.—Yours, T. Morris." "Comberton, Cambs, October 12.—Sir,—Clap-nets I had from you two years ago are still in use, and as good as new.—Yours, G. Jolley." "12, Sea View Road, Leigh, Essex, October 6.—Received nets quite safe, and are giving every satisfaction. Thanks for prompt dispatch.—Yours, A. Emery." "10, Pet Darngavel, Ayrshire, October 8.—Sir,—Please send ½lb. lime. I must recommend it, as it is best ever used. Every bird gets caught.—Yours, J. Linden." "Acreland Green, High Easter, Chelmsford, October 17.—Sir,—Your lime is excellent. I caught six Bullfinches in two hours without a call bird.—Yours, W. Beard." Please note everything I sell is on approval, and money refunded in full if every satisfaction not given. If you want genuine articles, send to the man who knows what is required for successful catching, but be sure to send for price list.

is at last rewarded. I am pleased to inform the many enquirers that I have just received the first consignment for this season of the genuine large Siberian cock Goldfinches. These birds are in magnificent trim and most of them in full free song, price 5/- each, seven for 28/-. Few real exhibition specimens, very large (but not large as Thrushes), with broad skulls, deep, square, expansive blazes, grand moonings and buttons, and fit for keenest competition immediately, 7/6 and 10/- each. Exhibitors please note following few facts. These Goldfinches are the real Siberian birds of which I am the direct importer, and no other dealer in England gets the pick of them but myself. I do not import the ordinary Russian Finches then put them on the market as Siberian and say I have the pick of Europe. If you want a real deck-sweeper let me have your order immediately. Among these birds are a few cage-moulted cocks (probably been used by Siberian catchers), which I have put aside and have for sale at 7/6 each; all on approval as usual, and money refunded in full if perfect satisfaction not given.

W. GORE, The Importer, Gooch-st, B'HAM.

FIRST-CLASS SEIFERT ROLLERS

for breeding, one of the best strains in Germany, self-bred, deep toned cocks, beautiful rolls, many variations of tours, 20/-, 25/-, hens 5/- each; reply card: Lieutenant Leock, Hannover, Husarenstrasse 21. Direct line London, 16 hours.

wishes to inform his numerous customers and others that he has now returned from Germany with a large consignment of high-class Canaries; prices, 7/6, 10/6, 12/6, and upwards. Hartz Mountain cocks, 5/6 each, hens 2/6 a pair. Customers are cordially invited to inspect my up-to-date bird-room. Illustrated catalogue of cages and appliances free on application; trade supplied. Address: 104, Tib-st., Manchester.

The Golden Nightingale, or Roller song Canary, peculiar for the prolonged roulade, soul-stirring melodies of the King of Songsters; hardy little birds, as superior to the ordinary Canary as a prima-donna to a chorus singer; low price, 8/6, in travelling cage, or in artistic pagoda house, 10/6; packed, any distance, on 7 days' approval; cash, deposit, or part payment: Madame Hermann, Naturalist, 43, Scotts-rd., Leyton.

CHAMPION ROLLERS.

First consignment this season of these wonderful Seifert Rollers, direct from Germany; specially trained under Nightingale, Woodlark and bell notes, with long wonderful rolls, fit for anyone to hear, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6 each; hens, 1/6, 2/6; Roller shutter cages, 2/6; singing box cages, the neatest and best cage on the market, 1/6 each, 3 4/-: Matt Hopkins, 11, Fylde-st., Preston, Lancashire.

STOP RIGHT HERE.

Yellow cock, also a green cock, 1911, magnificent rolls, fine Glucke, extra fine bass roll, Nightingale tour, 5/- each; hens, 7/6 each; a few young cocks, with faulty notes, 5/- each to clear. Regarding these: Cardiff, Nov. 26th.—I never heard such a continuous songster; at it day and night: W. Johnson, 58, Belgrave rd., Walthamstow.

FOULD'S ROLLERS.

of the highest excellence, bred from my silver cup winners, schoolmasters, and contest singers, 40/- to 30/- each; hens, 10/- each; every bird guaranteed bred by myself in cold rooms, and wearing closed club ring. Also for sale two and three-compartment breeding and flight cages, show cages, travelling baskets, etc.: A. Foulds, 7, Kings-parade, Fallowfield, Manchester.

ALL WONDERFUL VALUE IN SONGSTERS.

But if you want a good singing cock at 3/6 go to the "Land Sharks," and find you have got a common German hen, not worth its carriage. Whether they call them Norwich, Yorkshires, or Hartz Mountains, the poor little German or Common Belgian hen has to do duty for all. I offer specially selected songsters, every bird proved and tested, either in Norwich, Yorkshire, Hartz., Border, or Lizard, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6. Cages 3d. extra.

W. RUDD, The Bird Specialist, NORWICH.

ENOCK POWER.

Just arrived, another fresh consignment of St. Andreasburg Rollers; every bird being perfectly trained by music; free from harsh and chopping notes, with nice deep tunes of Seifert race; real Schoolmasters, 5/- each, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6 each; Hartz hen Canaries, 1/6 each, or 12/- dozen; German cock Bullfinches, 5/- each; German, hand-reared, finger-tame pet hen Bullfinches, every bird being white legged, 2/6 each, or 14/- stick of seven: Enock Power, 91, Sclater-st., Shoreditch, London.

MODESTY FORBIDS

me to say all I could say about the Leipzig Rollers, but the following letters say more for them than ever I could. So many advertisements from dealers all claiming to have the best strain must tend to confuse the intending purchaser somewhat, but in order to clear away any doubts, and to make assurance doubly sure, I invite all persons wanting a Roller Canary to have a Leipzig Roller from me on full week's trial, and an ordinary Roller at any higher price from elsewhere. Test them side by side for a week and keep the one which suits best. You will notice from this that not only do I say the Leipzig Roller is better than others costing same price, but that they are better than those costing more money. I now have an enormous stock of these Leipzig Rollers; every cock guaranteed in full song day and gaslight, with long, hollow and double rolls, sweet silvery trills, waterbubble runs, soft roulades, piccolo trills, jug-jug of Nightingale, and bell, harp, and flute notes, etc., etc., and warranted entirely free from any harsh or objectionable notes whatever price, 6/6 and 7/6 each; special Bandmasters, which excel in the deep bass and hollow bell rolls, 10/- and 12/6 each; special contest Rollers, whose song can be likened to a cascade of everflowing melody, 15/- each; Leipzig Roller hens, 1/9 each, 3/- couple. For those who like a loud, noisy singer I have a splendid stock of Hartz cocks, every one guaranteed in full vigorous song day and gaslight, 5/- each, two 9/-, seven 28/-. Roller singing cabinet cages, with folding doors, comprising cage and cabinet combined, 2/6 and 3/6 each. Please note following letters are entirely unsolicited, and all received during last few days:—"53, Roundhay-road, Leeds, October 30th.—Sir,—Roller I had from you last year has moulted, and is singing better than ever.—Yours, B. Haigh." "11, Streatfield-terrace, Ryhope, nr. Sunderland, November 4th.—Sir,—Please send me a 10s. Roller. I was at Newcastle show the other week and a gentleman told me they are the best Rollers imported into England, so that is why I am sending for one.—Yours, W. Wade Mangles." (Will the gentleman mentioned please accept my best thanks.—W. Gore.) "3, Nicholas-street, Middlesbrough, November 3rd.—Sir,—Received bird with great satisfaction. Thanking you for prompt attention.—Yours, V. Moody." "6, Coach Houses, Adlington, near Chorley, November 3rd.—Sir,—Pleased to say I received bird and am well pleased with it. Thanking you for a beauty.—Yours, J. Fairbrother." "21, Commercial-street, Harrogate, October 31st.—Sir,—Roller to hand in good condition. The bird you have sent is a good one, and has been singing freely. It is a pleasure to do business with straight people.—Yours, H. Mason." "5, Cybi-place, Holyhead, October 31st.—Sir,—Most pleased to inform you that bird arrived in best condition. Many thanks for value you have given me for money; it sings day and night, and is fit for any Palace.—Yours, F. Hambley." "11, Pinfold-square, Higher Ince, nr. Wigan, October 30th.—Sir,—Please send a Roller at 10s. I have just heard a very good one that came from you, and cost 10s.—Yours, H. Wasley." "211, Bensham-lane, Thornton Heath, Surrey, October 28th.—Sir,—Received Roller safe; he is a fine one. I like his song very much.—Yours, J. Williams." "189, Alliance-avenue, Newington, Hull, October 24th.—Sir,—Have to-day notified Editor to forward you deposit of 10s., in full payment of Roller Canary. I am quite satisfied with the bird, and also your straightforward dealing.—Yours, Wm. Lythgoe." "52, Hammond-street, Preston, Lancs., October 23rd.—Sir,—The Leipzig Rollers I got from you last year have done me great service, and I have sold all my young birds to my friends.—Yours, G. Atkinson." "48, Normacott-road, Longton, October 17th.—Sir,—Leipzig Roller arrived safely. Thanks for prompt dispatch. Am quite satisfied with bargain.—Yours, A. Tudor." "39, Broadway-avenue, Croydon, October 14th.—Sir,—Please send two Leipzig Rollers. Those I had two years ago turned out beauties.—Yours, B. Garland." Please note I am the sole importer of this strain of Rollers, and all cocks are stamped on wing, "Hans Weber, Leipzig," and no other dealer can sell as much as one feather of this strain unless he first purchases from me. All are safely and warmly packed in special travelling cages with seed and water inside, and sent on full week's approval at my risk during whole time either on receipt of cash or deposit system of this paper, and money fully and freely refunded if every satisfaction is not given. Persons who do not care for the long-drawn-out monotonous rolls of the ordinary Roller are specially invited to have a Leipzig Roller on week's trial from me. I do not mind if they have no intention of purchasing the bird, I shall be pleased to send one just to show what an improvement the Leipzig Roller's song is over that of the ordinary Roller. Dealers supplied; send trade card for wholesale list.

PLEASE NOTE

It pays me well to serve you well, and it pays you well to let me serve you well. My motive is to give you such good sound value for money that you cannot resist sending me your further orders and telling your brother fanciers of the astounding value I give. I do not profess to send singing cocks at hen prices, but I do claim to send such birds that will stand the most severe criticism and comparison. I have supplied the most sceptical fanciers, and given them every satisfaction; in fact, after thoroughly examining my birds they are compelled to admit they are more than satisfied. Just you call and have a look at my birds. You will not be pressed to buy, or, if you cannot come, send full particulars of your requirements and I will send you the birds on seven days' approval at my risk, and pay the return carriage if there should possibly be one that does not meet with your approval. I allow you 7 days to fully examine and thoroughly test the quality of my birds before you decide to keep them. It is impossible to make more favourable and advantageous terms. You will readily understand why I have no dissatisfied customers. I guarantee every customer full satisfaction. Do not be misled with ordinary birds with fancy names at fancy prices. Let me send you high-class birds at ordinary prices. My matched pairs of Yorkshires and Norwich at 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, and 15/- pair are extraordinary value. My stock includes the following, all well moulted, cocks in song, my famous German songsters, the working man's friend; cocks that will sing by day and by gaslight, loud, free, continuous songsters; every bird tested before sending out. Cocks, 4/6, 5/-, 5/6, 6/- each; matched pairs for breeding songsters, 6/-, 6/6, 7/6, 8/-. Genuine trained St. Andreasburg Rollers, with full change of song by day and artificial light, bred and trained by leading contest winners in their home land, with full volume of song, free from harsh or choppy notes, cocks, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each; hens, 2/-, 2/6, 3/- each. High-class long slim typical Yorkshires, in all colours, clean moulted, cocks 5/-, 5/6, 6/-, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6; a few extra good specimens for exhibition, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-; accurately matched pairs for breeding, 7/6, 8/6, 9/6, 10/6, 12/6; superior quality, lengthy hens, 2/-, 2/6, 3/-, 3/6, 4/6. Plainhead Norwich, thick-set, cobby, stylish Norwich, in all colours, quality that will astound you, especially at the prices; clean moulted cocks, in song, 5/-, 5/6, 6/-, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6 each; grand quality hens, 2/-, 2/6, 3/-, 3/6, 4/- each; matched breeding pairs, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6; neat travelling cages, 3d. each. You really must see these birds to be convinced of their value, for it is utterly impossible for small breeders or dealers to sell such quality at the prices; all birds on seven days' approval at my risk, and I pay carriage back if you should not be satisfied: E. L. Storey, Practical Bird Specialist, Crowle, Doncaster.

Club Reports.

PENTRE C.B.S.

At a well attended meeting held Nov. 16th, with Mr. F. J. Beese in chair, it was decided to hold a members' show on Boxing Day, and many specials were given for competition at same. Mr. Beese gave an interesting and instructive account of his experience as a Norwich Canary breeder, and Mr Rees gave a good and most amusing address.—G Lingard, Sec.

SITTINGBOURNE C.B.S.

Meeting held Nov. 6, at the George Hotel. Messrs. T. Monday and H. Olive were congratulated on their successes at Chatham Show, Mr. Monday securing premier honours for best Yorks., Mr. Olive gaining highest awards in the class in which he exhibited. The schedule was examined and passed, and final arrangements made for the annual show, which promises to be a success. Mr. C. Cornelius kindly offered a guinea cup for the best Can., Mule, or Hybrid, bred by the exhibitor, who must be a member. This offer was accented amid applause. Mr. Knight was elected a member.—B. Tidy, Sec.

G.P.O. FUR AND F.S.

At the last quarterly meeting it was decided to offer specials to members exhibiting at the annual show of the South Metropolitan F.A., Dec. 7th. Following list of specials was agreed upon: Cage Bird Section: 5s. best Canary; medal, best British. The committee reserve to themselves the right to add to this list should the number of entries warrant such action. The cage birds specials will probably be offered to members competing at the Wandsworth F.A. show, Dec. 6th and 7th. No cage bird classes are provided at the S.M.F.A.'s show. Schedules will be sent to all fully-paid-up members. Rules, etc., will be sent to all applicants. —A. Watson, Hon. Sec.

READING AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Meeting held Nov. 8th, Palmer Hall; good attendance. The full details of show on Nov. 29th were gone over and put in order. Several members seemed to think our staging was too low, so it was agreed to have frames made to raise them a foot. Mr White kindly offered to pay for the wood, and Mr. Yates agreed to make the frames. Several more offers of help were received, and it was generally agreed that the members seem to be taking a great deal more interest in this year's show than for some time. This is accounted for in part by the great number of amateur and novice members that have joined this year. The Hon. Sec intimated that schedules are being applied for in good numbers. All we want now is for all those who have applied to make good entries, and then we shall have something to smile about. All members are requested to come to showroom on night previous to show to help put room in order.—W. H. Pyke, Hon. Sec.

ANFIELD, EVERTON, C.B.S.

Meeting, held Sandow Hotel, Oakfield Road, Liverpool, Nov. 6th, Mr. W. Bell (chairman) presiding over an excellent attendance. Several new members were enrolled. Decided, to hold a grand night show on Dec. 4th; birds staged 8 p.m.; judging to commence 8.30 p.m., by Mr. G. Bell, one of the oldest and best-known fanciers in Liverpool. Schedule, 22 classes; 6d. per cage. Send birds; we will classify. It is hoped there will be a good response in numbers in the various classes. Decided, that anyone joining now pays 1/-, and 1/6 at the annual general meeting in Feb., 1912 (namely 2/6 in all; which carries membership till Feb., 1913), enabling those joining to compete in all shows, and enjoy all the advantages of the society. Schedules will be in the hands of members in good time. We can stage 300 birds in this splendid room. Any gentleman not a member, who would like a schedule, should apply to me; and we will join you at this meeting; novices are specially catered for.—R. B. Wright, Hon. Sec., 9, Cannon Road, Cabbage Hall, Anfield

PROVINCIAL ROLLER C.C.

Meeting held November 18th. After the ordinary business a novice members' show was arranged to take place at the Swan Hotel, December 17th, Messrs. Massey and Watsing being appointed judges. Nor our annual show, at the Old Boar's Head Hotel, Manchester, January 19th and 20th, seven classes were arranged. This includes a class for a team of three birds. Considering members had been whipped up, the attendance was disappointing, for there was scarcely as many as usual.—A. Percival, Hon. Sec.

LOCHGELLY C.B.S.

Meeting held Nov. 11th, headquarters, Mr. T. Wildridge presiding. Balance-sheet read over and considered very satisfactory, showing a substantial balance in bank. Slight alteration in Rule 2 of society unanimously approved of. Alteration to Rule 9 was not entertained. Officials appointed: President, Mr. T. Wildridge; vice-president, Mr. M. Duff; Treasurer, Mr. P. McCue; Secretary, Mr. W. Whitford, pro tem; Assistant Secretary, Mr. D. Young; Committee, Messrs. A. Kirk, J. Rachuin, J. McGregor, J. Eachurn, A. Muir, R. Dow, G. Reith, J. Petrie, and J. Adamson; Auditors, Messrs. J. Sneddon and J. Adamson. After passing a vote of thanks to several in connection with the show, meeting closed.—Whitford and Young, Secs.

ATTERCLIFFE AND DIST. C.B.S.

Meeting held Nov. 8th, Horse and Jockey Hotel, Mr. Havenhand presiding. Mr. Browning very kindly gave a washing exhibition to a very good muster of members; it was of a very interesting and instructive nature. Mr. B. explained the details of his particular mode of procedure as he went along; also informed us what not to do when washing a bird. A washing competition was then held for a drying cage kindly given by Mr. Welbon; this was contested for by four of the younger members. Mr. Browning being asked to adjudicate. Mr. J. Ibbertson was declared winner. Business was then expeditiously gone through, and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Browning.—W. Richinson, Sec.

DONCASTER C.B.S.

Meeting held November 11th, Victoria Room. There was a record attendance. Mr. Barker presented the society with the "Harry Barker Challenge Cup," and mentioned that in presenting this cup he felt he was paying a tribute to the memory of his dear son whom he lost soon after coming to Doncaster, and who was a true lover of all kinds of dumb animals. Mr. Barker wished the society every success, and expressed the intention of again appearing on the show bench in the near future. Mr. Stocks, in proposing a vote of thanks remarked that in Mr. Barker the society had a true type of a fancier and president. Mr. Townman seconded the vote, which was carried unanimously.—G. Beesoby, Sec.

LEADGATE AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Meeting and second monthly table show, held Church Square Hall, Nov. 4th. After show, Mr. E. Westthorp in chair, schedule was drawn up for Annual Show. Birds and judge nominated for next table show, first Saturday in December; several birds nominated, when the following came out of hat: Yorks. buff, cl., ticked, or var.; Norwich, ditto; Border, ditto; British, A.S.; Yorks., Nor., or Bord., any colour for Walton's special, copper kettle. If 20 entries for special, silver medal for best Border Birds can be transferred for special. All present members' names were put into hat, when Mr. J. A. Turnbull (Leadgate) came out first. He was declared judge for next table show, birds to be staged 6 o'c.—J. A. Turnbull, Sec.

KENT COUNTY C.B.A.

Meeting held Barton Road School, Dover, Nov. 15, Mr. E. C. Rayner in chair. Correspondence (mostly relating to bowl competitions) was read and discussed. Donation of 5s. received from Mr. L. A. Brett (Folkestone) towards cup fund. Monthly cash balance submitted by sec., which was checked and considered satisfactory. Points gained at Dover Show: For Borders: Mrs. Aitken 5, Rev. H. A. Soames 6. Nor.: E. Meades 11, H. E. Taylor 7, F. J. Wickham 5. Yorks.: W. J. Abbott 1, C. Corkett 6, losing 5 points through mistake in nomination, E. C. Rayner 8, the Novice 0. Liz.: Rev. H. A. Soames 5, P. J. Wood 13. Mules: Mrs. Soames 7. Brit.: W. A. Austen 11, L. A. Brett 14, F. J. Wickham 13. Date of next competition Dec. 6th and 7th, Canterbury F.A. Show.—A. Hendry, Hon. Sec.

LOANHEAD AND DIST. C.B.S.

Financial meeting, held Mason's Arms, Nov. 11th, Mr. A. Jardine (President) in chair. A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded the chairman for supplying paper for screens at show. Secretary then read balance-sheet, which, he said, was the best in the history of the society; it showed an income of £20 4s. 10d., against an expenditure of £7 0s. 3½d., leaving a balance equal to 11s. per class for prize money; but the committee were in favour of paying 6s. per class, which left a surplus of £6 2s. 3½d., which they thought would be well spent in buying two cups, one for Borders and one for Norwich; this was the unanimous finding of the meeting. Prize money was then paid over. Election of office-bearers resulted in unanimous re-election. Three new members proposed and admitted, namely, Messrs. G. Yule, W. Gillies (25, Clerk Street.), and T. Carmichael.—W. B. Smart, Sec.

BANKFOOT AND DIST. C.B.S.

At a meeting of the management committee, it was decided to hold a whist drive and dance on Jan. 17th, 1912. This is instead of the tea and concert and prize distribution previously arranged for this date. The prize distribution will be held in connection with a dinner and social evening on Jan. 16th. The former will be held at Brayshaw's Assembly Rooms (tickets, 9d. each); whist drive to commence at 7, and dancing to continue until 11 p.m. It is to be hoped all members will do their best to be present at our members' show on Nov. 25th, when supplies of tickets may be had. I understand numerous applications have been made. In addition to our already long list of specials, numerous others have been added, and three of these are to be competed for at this show. A 3s. 6d. special will be given for best average. Several of our members will be enlightened when they know that up to the present a competitor with only five points to his credit, is leading for most points in the vhe, he, c, section, and for which prizes of 10s., 5s., and 2s. 6d. are to be given. At our next meeting, Nov. 28th, a pair class and judging competition will be held; no entry fees; cash prizes and other specials by Messrs. J. Taylor, W. Ketteringham, and J. Smith. Similar competitions in the past have always been successful, and all that remains to make this occasion a huge success is for members to turn up with a few of the best pairs they intend breeding from (remember, no entry fee is charged). Various opinions are sure to be passed. We are likely to pick up valuable information. A hearty welcome given all fanciers and friends.—F. Geider, Sec.

ILFORD AND DISTRICT F. & F.S.

Adjourned special general meeting, held White Horse Hotel, Nov. 7th, Mr. E. Oakes in chair. Schedule for annual show drawn up. Mr. G. Gardner was chosen to judge cage birds, etc., section. Entry fee, cage birds, 6d.; selling classes, 6d. Decided, not to have breeding pens on account of the space at hall. Further special prizes promised by members present; the list is now getting quite lengthy. New members elected: Mrs. Fowler (Chadwell Heath); and Messrs. C. E. Small (Ilford), P. R. Barton (Ilford), and F. Fox (Forest Gate). Next general meeting, White Horse Hotel, 8, Nov. 21st. Members joining at once eligible to compete at annual show.—J. H. Priestman, Hon. Sec.

NORTH YORKS. AND SOUTH DURHAM FEDERATION OF C.B.S.

The following are the points gained by the federated societies up to Stockton show. There are two trophies in competition, one for Canaries and one for Mules, British and Foreign. Points to be averaged according to membership:—

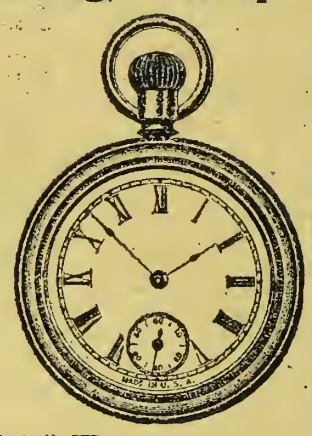
The fanciers in the above societies would be pleased if a few more societies in the district would join us. The trophies will only be competed for at shows in the Federation. Subs., 1s. each society per year, with a donation (for the first year only) of 10s. to the trophy fund. Subs. and donations may be sent to the treasurer, Mr. E. Woodhead, The Elms, West Hartlepool. Any further particulars or suggestions to make write W. Nicholson, 6, Weardale Place, Stockton-on-Tees.



SOUTH BIRMINGHAM O.S.

Meeting held Nov. 8, Sydenham Hotel, Small Heath. Chair, Mr. Willmott, supported by the vice-chairman, Mr. J. Hughes. A good muster of members were present, and many more dropped in after the closing of West Bromwich show. A very heavy agenda was gone through connected with our members' show, Dec. 26th. Stewards: Messrs. Stevenson, Berry, Twist, and J. Hughes, were elected to help the show manager, Mr. J. Wright. List of specials closed at 2, including many choice and valuable gifts, which will be allotted as requested. The chairman makes a special appeal to members to be present at the opening, so as to give our president good support; he also hopes members will take many tickets, which are now on sale, and can be had from the secretary. Mr. Baldwin was proposed a member and accepted; this makes 41 on the books, and it is interesting to note that new members have been made every month since the society was founded. Well done members! A very hearty welcome to those who will send their names for meeting in December, and all joining then will be entitled to show.—J. Sheppard, Sec.

"CAGE BIRDS" WATCH COUPON Nov. 25th, 1911.

Manager, "CAGE BIRDS," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

Under the White Rose.

BRADFORD EAST O.S. had a good members' show last Tuesday week, over 150 birds being staged, and some good ones amongst them. Many of the classes would not have disgraced an open show for either quality or quantity, and they provided the two judges with a stiff evening's work, gaslight judging being rather difficult. This society and Bradford City are going strong on their members' shows, and run pretty close together in regard to the numbers they put down.

WINDHILL Open Show, held Saturday last, did not prove quite the success they deserved, and it will prove a financial loss to the society. Also, what is more, it is one of a succession of failures, sure in time to damp the ardour of even such enthusiastic fanciers as they are at Windhill.

THE schedule of the Cinderella Club Show is now in the hands of fanciers, and it will be seen what all the meetings have been about: and all will agree that such a schedule for such a show requires a lot of arranging. Twelve judges are engaged to officiate, and each will have about seven classes, this being arranged so that the judging will be over in good time for the opening ceremony, which takes place at one o'clock by Mr. Percy Illingworth, M.P., and he has Ald. Davis Wade, J.P., for his chairman; then on the Saturday the opening ceremony will take place at three o'clock, the Lord Mayor of Bradford (Ald. J. B. Moorhouse, J.P.) officiating, the chairman being the ex-Lord Mayor, Councillor Jacob Moser—truly a good backing. The schedule is a most comprehensive one, and caters for more varieties and gives a bigger classification (84) than any show ever attempted before in Bradford or in the West Riding. Any fancier not having received a schedule can have one by applying to the sec., Mr. H. Hill, 15, Settle Terrace, Thornton Lane, Little Horton, Bradford.

"STRAIGHT 'UN."

Wild-Bird Life.

Woodland Birds.

As winter advances, brown and faded are the few leaves that linger on the graceful birches, while the foliage of the oaks and beeches is rapidly being thinned by the autumn gales. Even the hedgerows are thinner; but here and there gay festoons of fiery brambles catch the eye. This season the berry harvest is heavier than usual, and privet, hips and haws, and plump berries of the mountain ash hang in clusters, inviting our visitors from the North to partake of such succulent fare. The woodland birds, who all the summer have found ample shelter in the thickly interlaced branches and underwood of the copse, are now visible to the least observant of wayfarers. During the winter many of our resident birds repair to the woods to seek shelter and food. There it is much warmer than in the open, and nuts, berries and seeds of all kinds are to be found, mostly along the outskirts or a little way inside. The majority of our birds move from place to place according to the season, and may sometimes be found out in the open or buried in the deep shade of the leafy woods. The bright winged Jay is a pretty good example of a woodland bird, he looks upon a wood as his home and fortress, and seldom wanders far from the shelter. In early autumn he will occasionally raid the nearest cornfield, but upon the least suspicion of danger he is back again to his safe retreat. This is as good a time as any to see him in his native haunts. He is now noisy and garrulous, and although wary and suspicious, is not so difficult to approach. The best plan is to pretend not to take notice of him, and he will allow a fairly near view. He is a handsome fellow. It is only during the winter months that one can manage to study the ways of such "hide and seek" birds as the Nuthatch and Tree Creeper and the Woodpeckers. The Finches, different kinds of Tits, and their near relative the Gold Crest, will most likely be met with, particularly in woods containing a few pines and larches.

ROUND THE SHOWS.

GOOLE.

At this fixture held November 16th, cage birds made but a moderate show, all but two classes being cancelled. The entries have dwindled down to such an extent that the committee will no doubt cut out the section another year. The poor response is doubtless due to the market hall being unsuitable for cage birds at this season of the year. The two classes filled well. Mr. T. J. Ambrose judged. Mr. A. Roberts, the secretary, had everything well in hand.

YORKS. (13): 1, 2, Whildrake, tkd. buff leading, beautiful quality, nice feather and position, 2 loses only in quality, good shape and position; 3, Drake, yellow, nice shape, well on leg, loses only in length; 4, no name; r, Barrett; vhc, Brown, Halliday, latter appeared thick and dull, or might have done better; vhc, Prentice; hc, Halanby. CAN., BRED 1911 (8): 1, Wheldrake, nice upstanding Yorkie; 2, Brown, nice Yorks.; 3, Barrett, Yorks., good length, loses only in shape and position; 4, Baxby, nice Crest; vhc, Halanby; c, Banfield; No. 1 absent.

LEATHERHEAD.

Leatherhead F.A. 17th members' show held 22nd November, in the spacious Victoria Hall. The cage bird section was not over large, as the membership is rather wide spread, and other shows were being held about the same time. The collection consisted of Nor., Yorks., Hybrids and Brit., and a few Foreigners. Mr. Wade staged a couple of good Nor., and Messrs. Edgington and French accounted for the prizes in the Yorks. ck. class. Mr. Dancer showed a very typical buff hen. Mr. Wade staged a lovely Wagtail, which was an easy first, also a good Whydah. The children's class contained two or three very nice pets. Mr. A. C. Otway is secretary and makes a capable show manager. Messrs. Dancer, French, Kingsnorth and Potter represent the cage bird section on the committee. Mr. G. H. Billett judged. NOR.: 1, 2, Wade. YORK., CK.: 1, 3, Edgington; 2, French; hc, Dancer. HEN: 1, Dancer; r, Edgington; hc, French. BRIT.: 1, 2, Wade; 3, Kingsnorth. A.O.V.: 1, 3, hc, Wade. HYB.: 1, Potter; r, Kingsnorth. CHILDREN: 1, Winnie Dancer; 2, Albert Northwood; 3, Nora Moses; vhc, Bert Bullen.

LEITH JUBILEE O.S.

Leith Jubilee O.S. 24th annual club show of Scotch Fancy Canaries held Kinnaird's Hall, Kirkgate, Nov. 4. Entries exceeded those of last year by a big margin. The quality of the birds also showed a great improvement. The exceptionally good season was instrumental towards both results. A new plan for the staging of the birds was adopted with great success, and to all appearance great interest to members of local clubs present. This is a patent of Mr. J. McGregor's, the whole framework being bolted together and therefore easily adjusted without damage. The show was a very great success Mr. D. McEacheron (president) and Mr. J. Sinclair (secretary) had a really fine display of special prizes arranged on either side of their handsome challenge cup, which was suitably presented by Bailie Pennell. Mr. P. Bain was fortunate in not only winning the cup with his buff hen, but in being runner-up with his yellow hen. Judges, Messrs. J. Carlow and W. McAdam.

SWANLEY.

A very nice show was that of the Swanley F.F.A., which was held on November 22nd. The quality generally was good, whilst Norwich and British were really excellent. Mr. Colyer and his committee had all the arrangements in good order, and although owing to the large pigeon entry the space was somewhat cramped, displayed the cage birds to the best advantage. Mr. C. A. House judged.

BRIGHTON.

Brighton F.A. show held in the Town Hall, Hove, November 22nd and 23rd. The entry was rather poor, but shortness of entries was made up for in quality, which was grand, especially in Nor. and Yorks. Clashing with several shows in the South no doubt accounts for the entry being small. Mr. Easterling judged, and his awards seemed to please all. Mr. W. J. Donne deserves praise for his able secretarial management, and we hope he will another year be favoured with a larger entry in the cage bird section.

The Critique.

Kindly accept my warmest thanks for the very pleasant surprise I had when I received my CAGE BIRDS, of Oct. 28 by finding depicted on the front cover my unflighted yellow Norwich hen, who won 1st and special in a class of 24 birds at the recent Plymouth Show, where she made her debut. I congratulate your artist on executing such a lifelike production. She is bred from double yellows, and comes from the same nest as the notorious Batheaston winner, who makes his first appearance in his new jacket at Cheltenham Show this week.—F. L. Follwell (Bath).

WREXHAM.

Wrexham and Dist. C.B.S. 5th annual show held Nov. 11th, Assembly Rooms, High Street. It proved a very successful event, both for entries and financially. The exhibits were first-class, and competition was strong. The room is well adapted for the purpose, being central and convenient. The Roller singing contest was a great attraction, and the judge, Mr. T. Ellis Chester had his work cut out in making his awards, which gave entire satisfactinn. Mr. J. Salisbury judged Nor., Yorks, and Brit., his awards giving the same satisfaction. The committee worked together splendidly and thanks are due to the Hon. Sec. (Mr. B. Bennett) for the manner in which he carried out his task. Ramsden's medal was won by Mr. R. Parry, Rhos.

WOOLSTON (Hants).

Held Nov. 22 and 23, Rechabite Hall. Entries in cage birds came up poorly, although a great increase on last year's. Several classes were cancelled, and others amalgamated. The cage birds had a small room to themselves, and were nicely arranged. Mr. Bowker judged, and appeared to give satisfaction.

PONTARDULAIS.

Third annual show of the Pontardulais P.P. and C.B.S. held Nov. 15th, Public Hall. Our section was staged on the platform, which was quite free from draughts, but the light was rather bad. Judging by the way the show was patronised it is a pity the society cannot find a larger hall, as several times it was almost impossible for one to move. Our section turned up strongly, and some really good birds were staged. The secretary, Mr. L. Idwal Morris, and his assistant, Mr. J. J. Hill, were both very courteous officials, and had everything well in hand. Mr. T. Morris (Garnant) judged.

The Critique.

YORKS. EDINBURGH NORWICH AND M.B.S.

A capital lot of birds were got together at this society's 12th annual show, held November 18th, at the Buccleuch Parish Church Hall. Messrs. R. Martin, H. Bennett, and J. Pendrigh judged, their placings appearing to please all. Mr. Jas. Finnie (Sec. and Treas.) is a magnificent organiser and had everything, as usual, in capital order, assisted by Messrs. J. B. Cooper (Pres.), J. Holmes, J. Stormont, J. Charlton, and J. I. Mackie. The show was visited by a large number of friends and must be pronounced a success in every way.

We were pleased to see our Manchester, etc., winning Greenfinch illustrated in your issue of Nov. 4. It is a very good picture of him. He has been 1st Sheffield, 1st Stockton-on-Tees, and 2nd in a mixed class at Stoke-on-Trent since. We have been exhibiting since 1878, when I took a 3rd prize at a show held in Carlisle, and again at the Royal Agricultural Show in June, 1878.—H. Tams (Longton).

The Young Naturalist.

*A Brave Starling.

One morning, when going to school, my attention was attracted by a piercing cry, and on looking up I saw a Starling attacking a Hawk to protect her young ones close by. The Starling kept the Hawk at bay for some time. Presently, in the distance, I saw five other Starlings coming to the rescue, and they drove the Hawk away.—Victor Wheeler (aged 13), 17 Lambert Terrace, Gadlys, Aberdare, South Wales.

*A Knowing Canary.

A friend of ours has a young cock Canary which is allowed to fly all over the house. It has been lost and found in many strange places, but the following is the most curious. He had been allowed his liberty, and he went into a cupboard, which was afterwards shut. However, hearing the pots rattle at supper-time, he began to sing, and so relieved the anxiety of his mistress. When the door was opened he came out no worse for his escapade.—R. Inman, 1, Woodville Mount, Hunslet, Leeds.

A Raven's Instinct.

In a Christian home in Poland great poverty had come, and one day the man was obliged to move out of the house. While he and his family were kneeling in prayer there was a tap on the window. They opened the window, and there was a Raven that the family had fed and trained, and it had in its bill a ring all set with precious stones, which was found to be a ring belonging to the Royal Family. It was taken to the King's residence, and for the honesty of the man in bringing it back he had a house, a garden, and farm given to him. (A cutting from "Good Words.")—Sent by Sam Rogers (age 15 years), 7, Queen Street, Withington, Manchester.

The bird I showed second at Liverpool was not the Manchester winning Goldfinch, writes Mr. A. Holt (Stretford). This bird was sold to Mr. F. E. Herbert, of Hants, for a good sum on the Wednesday following the Manchester Show. Please insert this, as a lot of people think it was the Manchester winner which was beaten at Liverpool.

The judges for Kilsyth Open Show on Dec. 9 are, writes Mr. A. D. Duncan, the sec.:—Mr. A. Walker (Lesmahagow), for Border Fancies; Mr. H. Morcland (Falkirk), for Crests and Plainheads; and Mr. J. Pendrigh (Edinburgh) for British, Mules and foreign birds. We have medals from Border Fancy and Crest Clubs, trophy and medals of Scottish British Bird and Mule Club, for competition. Sixty classes are provided. For Kirkintilloch Show Mr. A. Sloan (Glasgow) is judge. This club provides 51 classes for cage birds, and, like Kilsyth, caters for them alone. Both clubs are running subscription sales.

Also Nov. 19th, when we had friends from Morley, Hull, Salford, and Sheffield to hear some of the finest singing birds in Yorkshire. The singing of the winner was beautiful, and when taken off the nail the bird was the talk of the crowded room. 1st, Turner; 2nd, Ward; 3rd, 4th, 5th, shared by Sellars and Richardson. Judges, Messrs. Sissons, Birr, and C. Clayton.—C. Clayton, Hon. Sec.

SALFORD.

Salford Linnet Club contest (open) for time and quality, held Boat House Hotel, Nov. 18, when 34 birds entered from all parts of Lancashire (4 minutes' singing), before a good attendance of visitors. We were disappointed through a late start, and several pairs of birds had to sing in the gaslight, but the judges gave every satisfaction. Quality: 1, Topping; 2, Statham; 3, Leyland. Time: 1, Howcroft, 53; 2, Statham, 47; 3, Hurst, 35. Judges for quality, Messrs. J. Dobson and T. Statham; timekeepers, Messrs. J. Hyde, E. Peet, and J. Peet; birdkeeper, Mr. J. McAllister. Members are requested to attend meeting November 26, to consider management of contests held at headquarters, and a special invitation is extended to members and visitors to attend and verify the statement that was made in regards to the management and drawing of birds, and specially the expenditure of money, after the contest Nov. 18, when a full report will be read for every item to be dealt with. At 7.30 prompt. Linnet and Lark fanciers invited. Contest for club members, Dec. 2 at 2.15 p.m.—B. Wharton, Hon. Sec.

Will Mr. W. Hammond, of Norton, kindly send us his full address?

Will exhibitors please remember that novice Border classes are provided at Lancaster Show on Dec. 1 and 2? writes Mr. J. Johnson, the hon. sec.

Secretaries and others are asked kindly to notice the address of Mr. A. Colley, who has removed from Moston to 71, Wembury Street, Harpurhey, Manchester.

An error occurs in our schedule, writes Mr. R. W. Ingram, hon. sec. of the Stratford-on-Avon F.S. Class 42 should read "Any Variety Seedeater Hen (British Birds)."

Messrs. Flint and Swarbrick, secs. of the Tideswell C.B. Improvement Society, writes: "Watch stopped at 4h. 30m. 54 3-5s.; nearest competitor, A. Goodwin, signalman, Cromford."

Owing to entries being very short in the Cage Bird Section, we will take entries up to eleven o'clock on day of show, Nov. 25, for cage birds, writes Mr. G. Reed, sec. of the Brandon Colliery C.B.S.

The committee of the Brighton C.B.A wish to thank Cage Birds for the good description and report of their show, which appeared in the issue dated Nov. 11, writes Mr. W. H Gibb, the sec.

I am very pleased to inform you that I have disposed of my two winning Corn Buntings at a good figure, and I trust they will do well for their new owner, writes Mr. J. B. Caunt (Beeston).

Having been appointed sec. to the South Manchester C.B.S., all communications respecting the society must in future be addressed to me, writes Mr. W. Knight, 8, Whalley Street, Gorton, Manchester.

The person holding ticket No. 311 may have the canary and cage given away at our recent show by applying to me, writes Mr. A. Freestone, hon sec., Leicester Hand-in-Hand C.B.S., 79, Clarendon Street, Leicester.

The following note was omitted from our schedule, writes Mr. Wm. Cumming, sec. of the Forres and N.C.O.S.:—"Eight or more entries, full prize-money; less than eight, first prize withheld; less than four, first and second withheld."

I am sorry that owing to pressure of business I had to delay paying out prize-money in connection with our open show until last week-end, but all prize-money has now been paid, writes Mr. A. Walker, sec., Darlington C. and B. B.F.A.

Mr. A. Kinnear (Broxburn) will judge the Scotch Fancy Section at our annual show on Dec. 16, writes Mr. W. McLaren, sec. of the Broxburn C.B.S. Owing to illness, Mr. McLennan has been compelled to give up his appointment.

We have only four entries, and with 42 open classes it looks as if the Royal Windsor Show will not be a royal success, writes Mr. E. A. Stickland, the hon. sec. All fanciers who care to send in their birds will have the thanks of our society.

Thanks for excellent report of our show, which proved a fine success, writes Mr. G. M. Nelson, hon. sec., Warrington and Dis. C.B.S. I have received numerous congratulatory notes, with promises of support another year, which is very gratifying.

I won the members' tankard in the Yorks section at the Bristol F.A. Show (not Mr. Lovell), writes Mr. J. A. Greenslade. I thank you for the many useful hints and articles in Cage Birds and your publications, and wish them continued success.

A big majority of our exhibitors received their prize-money on the show day, writes Mr. J. H. Elwell, sec. of the Old Shildon Workmen's Club C.B.S., and we received many encouraging letters thanking us for the way exhibitors received their birds home.

To encourage entries in the Cage Bird Section at our Halstead (Essex) Show, we are offering a challenge cup, also additional specials, write Messrs. Taylor and Sayward, the hon. secs. We have a big demand for schedules, and hope to receive good support.

Having resigned membership of the Cork and Provincial C.B.S., all future communications respecting the society should be addressed to Mr. M. O'Keeffe, the hon. sec., Mount Eden House, Blarney Street, Cork, writes Mr. S. O'Reilly, late assistant sec.

Our Song Thrush was first prize at Warrington, not a Missel Thrush, write Messrs. Hemmings and Brereton (Over Winsford). He was also first at Sale on the 17th. He has won six firsts and five seconds, and three specials for best British bird in the show. We wish our valuable paper, Cage Birds, every success.

Schedules of Llanwrst Show are now ready, writes Mr. J. Kershaw, the sec. (Watling St.).

We hear that the special for best Norwich at the recent Pontypridd Show was won by Mr. J. Tomkinson (Treorchy).

Members of the Edinburgh and Dis. C.B.S. are reminded that Ramsden's and other coupons must accompany their entries at latest on Nov. 25, writes Mr. J. I. Mackie, the sec. And will members who are desirous of giving a special do so by that date?

Mr. F. J. S. Chatterton is judging cage birds at the annual show of the East Ham F.S. on Dec. 7 at the Harmonic Hall, Plashet Grove, East Ham, E., writes Mr. H. Rutter, the sec. Plenty of specials are offered The last date for receiving entries is Nov. 30.

Owing to the poor number of entries to hand for our open show, Dec. 5 and 6, we have been obliged to extend date for receiving entries until Nov. 27, writes Mr. Percy Stonestreet, sec., Tonbridge F.A. Will fanciers kindly help us to make this show a success?

A meeting will be held at the Smiths' Arms, Catchgate, on Saturday, Nov. 25, 7.30 prompt, writes Mr. J. W. Christon, sec. pro tem., to form a fur and feather (cage birds) society for Annfield Plain. All fanciers interested in either hobby are cordially invited to attend.

All birds were at the station by seven o'clock after our annual show, and I hope everyone who patronised us got his birds home in good time, writes Mr. W. E. Fergusson, sec. of the Harrogate C.B.S. Newcastle and all birds North were despatched at 5.24 from Harrogate.

We have secured the respectable total of 222 entries for our members' show on Nov. 25 at the P.S.A. Rooms, when close on £20 in money and goods will be competed for; all fanciers in the district are invited, writes Mr. J. R. Colville, sec., Ashton-under-Lyne and Dis. O.S.

Schedules for the 32nd open show of the Sheffield C.B.S. on Dec. 9 have been posted to all known exhibitors; if anyone has been overlooked, will they kindly apply to Mr. A. Hobson, 66, Langsett Avenue, Hillsborough, Sheffield? writes Mr. J. Woolhouse, the assist. secretary.

Mr. J. E. Davies, Stockport, writes, Nov. 20: Sir,—After giving your feather beautifier a fair trial, I find it answers to my entire satisfaction, and adds greatly to the beauty of feather.—Note above from our most successful exhibitor in England. Only 4d. box, free. See Sandiford's advertisement.—Advt.

As we have been unfortunate in the matter of getting a hall for a meeting to be held on Nov. 25, the meeting has been cancelled. The members have decided to run the next annual show on Nov. 16, 1912. Will show secretaries please note the date?—John Lawrie, sec. of the Buckhaven and Dis. C.B.S.

Schedules of the Larne and Dis. C.B.A., writes Mr. Thos. Mayne, the sec., have been sent out, and if I have omitted to send to any exhibitor, I will send him one on receipt of a postcard. In the Norwich section Class 5 should read: "Crested Cock or Hen," and Class 6, "Crested Buff Cock or Hen." Also, special No. 31 for best bird in Classes 32 and 33 should be given as presented by Mr. John Ross, Larne, instead of Mr. John Barclay, Belfast; and special No. 38 for best 1st bird in Classes 37 and 38, as presented by Mr. Barclay

We are holding a members' table show Dec. 6 at Headquarters, Diamond Inn, with classes for all cage birds, writes Mr. J. Hall, hon. sec., Eccles C.B.S. Mr. Clowe has kindly consented to judge.

The Plumstead and Woolwich C.B.S. are holding their return combined show with the New Cross C.B.S., write Messrs. Meades and Smith, point hon. secs., on Dec. 2, at the Sussex Concert Hall, Maxey Road, Plumstead. We are giving 66 classes. Mr. H. Norman is the judge.

We did not intend extending entries, writes Mr. N. H. Reed, sec. of Launceston Show, Nov. 28, but I am obliged to do so, only 11 entries in 25 open cage bird classes having been received. I will accept to Saturday night. Anyone not having time for labels, send birds to the secretary, who will see them staged right.

The secretary of the Wandsworth Society (Mr. W. Lightfoot) writes to say that by an oversight the date of closing of entries for their open cage bird show was unaccountably omitted from the schedules. The date was Nov. 27, but owing to entries coming in so slowly the date has been extended to first post Saturday, Dec. 2.

The secretary of Llanelly Show, Mr. John, writes that he and his committee will leave nothing undone to make their show a success, and they hope to receive the patronage of the Fancy with a good entry. The birds will be well looked after. (Just has we go to press Mr. John telegraphs, "must extend entries to first post Sunday."—Editor).

Mr. W. J. Medlin, sec. of the Falmouth and Dis. C.B.A., writes: Our show last year proved a failure financially owing to the general election, but it is hoped this year's (on Dec. 6) will receive the support of all Cornish fanciers (to whom the show is confined), and thus enable us to keep the annual event going. The fixture is well-managed, and there are cups to be won outright.

Bird-keepers will be interested to hear that Mr. W. A. Rudd is back again at the premises, 180, Bishopsgate, London (where for many years he was manager), and that they can get all their wants in the bird seed and food line supplied by him. Cleanliness, good value, and courteous treatment are Mr. Rudd's business principles, and on these there is no doubt he will build up a good business.

Since printing our schedule I have received the following specials for our show, to be held on Nov. 25, writes Mr. Duncan Grant, sec. of the Lochore and Glencraig C.B.S.:—Medal, presented by Mr. Lewis Levi for runner-up for D.C.I. Cup; special value 2s 6d., by Cage Birds League, for most points in Scotch Fancy Section; and special by Mr. A. Weston for most points in Crest or C.B. Section.

Owing to lack of entries, the Sittingbourne and Dis. C.B.S. have had to extend their closing date until first post Sunday morning, Nov. 26, writes Mr. B. Tidy, the hon. sec. Send on, and I will enter birds in their proper classes. Only 29 birds in 13 classes! Where are the Kentish fanciers? There is only one other open show that week. A nice comfortable hall is provided, free from draughts, and there is guaranteed prize-money. Help us make our first annual open show a success.

Welsh Judge for Palace Show.

A very good idea of Mr. Roberts, I think, writes Mr. T. Richards, and I for one should be pleased to see a Welsh judge at the Palace Show.

Good News from Newcastle.

Fanciers will be pleased to learn, writes Mr. R. Young (Newcastle-on-Tyne) of the satisfactory progress of our most esteemed sec., Mr. Atkinson, and I am sure every fancier will join with me in wishing him a speedy recovery.

A Fine Worker at Haltwhistle.

I was sorry to see omitted from the report of the Haltwhistle Show the name of my secretarial colleague, Mr. W. Tallantyre, writes Mr. J. Nicholson, joint secretary, Haltwhistle C.B.S. He has been an earnest worker and a good helpmate, and it has been by his endeavours, as well as by those of the rest of the committee (who have been a splendid lot of workers) that our show has proved such a pronounced success.

Business for Advertisers.

In Cage Birds forthcoming Christmas number an interesting and useful item will be a page devoted to Appliances, Bird Foods, Medicines, and everything connected with the Fancy. The letterpress will be written in such a novel and striking way that announcements on this special page will of a certainty bring a heap of business to the advertisers thereon. Rates are 10s. per inch (advertisements will be 1½-column width), and early application should be made for space. Only a few inches are now available. For particulars apply to The Manager, Cage Birds, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

A Word to British Bird Keepers.

Our "Nutshells" Nos. 25 and 26 are now on sale. They deal with the proper feeding and keeping in cages of all the insectivorous British birds, each species being named. Live foods, and the substitutes for live foods, are all dealt with in detail, the proper cages described, full instructions are given for hand-rearing, the methods of breeding mealworms and of collecting ants' eggs are fully set forth; in short, all the information necessary to the bird-keeper may be found in these little vade-mecums. Part I. (No 25) deals with the smaller species, and Part II. (No. 26) with the larger; both are written by Mr. H. J. Fulljames, whose great experience and knowledge of his subject will be well-known to the majority of our readers.

"Cage Birds Annual" for 1912

is now in preparation, and with the co-operation of our readers IT will be a greater success than any of its predecessors.

Free to Secretaries of all Societies—the insertion of full particulars (name of society, latest list of officials, place, time and nights of meetings) in the Alphabetical List of Cage-bird Clubs. Remember, no society should be missing, for "Cage Birds Annual" is the only Directory of its kind in existence. Secretaries who have moved, please let us know.

Free to all Judges of Cage Birds—the insertion of their names and addresses, and the varieties in which they specialise in the List of Judges. The only condition is that judges must have officiated at one of the recognised shows. Remember, this list is the only complete one published, and is universally consulted by show officials.

Free to our trading friends—the insertion of names, addresses, and specialities in the Bird Trade Directory. No matter what you sell, so long as it has to do with the Fancy, particulars are inserted free. This directory is of exceptional value, and fanciers the world over find it indispensable. For one shilling, names can be thrown up in heavy type.

Breeders, Exhibitors, Judges, and Advertisers generally, do you want something that will bring you business throughout next year for a "mere song"? If so, just supplement the free advantages with an advertisement in the "Annual." Full particulars as to rates can be had of THE MANAGER, "CAGE BIRDS ANNUAL," 154, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.

Bathgate and Dist. C.B.S. have appointed Messrs. W. Grewar (Forfar) and J. Watson (Selkirk) to judge the Norwich and Border Fancy sections at their open show on Jan. 20; the other judges being Messrs. J. F. Dewar and W. Bishop (for British and foreign birds), writes Mr. Alexr. Nicol, the sec.

Prize-money won at Hull Show was paid to all successful exhibitors present and the remainder within twenty-four hours of show, writes Mr. Ernest R. Ridley, the sec. The representatives of the railway company were present at the close of the show, and directed the despatch of birds, and every bird was in the hands of the various companies by 6.30, which I think speaks well for the management of Hull.

An Unbeaten Bullfinch.

My Bullfinch, the winner at Hull Show, also won first prize there last year, writes Mr. W. Woods (Pickering). This bird has not been beaten this year; it has won first prizes at the following shows:—Nottingham, Newcastle, Peterborough, Leeds, and Blaydon-on-Tyne.

An Unusual Deadlock.

At the recent show of the City and Suburban A.C.B. a curious situation arose over the awarding of the special and diploma for best bird in the hall. Mr. Mackley brought out the very fine Crest shown by Mr. Lazarus, and Mr. Prior the noted British Goldfinch belonging to Mrs. Weston. There was a protracted discussion, but neither judge would give way, each strongly holding that his particular favourite was entitled to the honour. There being no one present to act as "referee," the diploma had to go unawarded!

Lucky with Cinnamon Borders.

It was a pleasant surprise for me to open my Cage Birds of Nov. 4 and see my Palace winning Cinnamon Border so neatly depicted. It is with regret, however, I have to inform you that only a few days previous to the above appearing I lost this specimen, and am trying to console myself by the fact that I have bred over sixty Cinnamons this season, and I am very hopeful that Palace winners are still in my stock. I have had much good information from Cage Birds. This year I have erected a fine outside birdroom, and although it contains at present over 180 "wee gems," it is in no way over-populated.—W. S. Wilson (Hamilton).

Record at the Horticultural Hall.

It gives us great pleasure, write Messrs. Mugford and Tyson, to be able to inform you that our record of last year has gone to the wall. The entries reach the gratifying figure of 2,249, nearly 250 more than the last show. Since closing, 11 exhibitors made some 37 further entries, which we regret we were compelled to return, as the catalogue was already in print and the cost of alterations would be too expensive to warrant their acceptance. We take this opportunity of expressing our best thanks to all those ladies and gentlemen who have supported us, and trust that those who are not successful with their exhibits will be repaid by a visit to what promises to be probably the best show ever held. Here is an analysis of the entry: Crests 196, Yorks 404; Norwich 312, Cinns. 12, Lancs. 44, Lizards, 44, Dutch Frill and Belgian 20, Borders 142, Rollers 195, Limit Classes 103, Extra Stock 83, Hybrids 135, British 330, Seeds 7, Foreign 172; total 2,249.

(Mr. Mugford informs us that most of the noted present-day exhibition birds will be on view, and that the display of Foreign birds promises to surpass in magnificence any hitherto seen, a large number of unique exhibits having been entered, including a new species of Bird of Paradise, a "Fairy Blue Bird," a clear Yellow Parrakeet, and other gorgeous novelties. No fewer than 20 birds appear in the Albino class.—Ed.)

Round the Hardbill Classes.

By T. JOHNSON (Southport):

An Imaginary Conversation between an "Old Hand" and a "Raw Novice."

Siskin, Redpoll and Twite

"The Siskin is the next on the list. When choosing, get one of good size; the vexed question of nationality doesn't count here. Have a jonque (mealies are of no use), and see that he is well laced on his flanks and has a jet black cap, and, if possible, a bib. You will have to colour feed here, or some judges won't look at your bird. I don't know why for I would sooner see them natural, but when you are in Rome, Jack, you must do as the Romans do.

"The Redpoll is comparatively easy to pick out. Get one good in size and colour and well-laced on his sides, head and back. Look to his wing carriage, as Redpolls have long wings in comparison with the size of the birds, therefore if at all inclined to cross they look bad. Be sure he has 'no breeches.'"

"The Mealy Redpoll is, broadly speaking, a large edition of the Lesser, and my remarks apply to both. See that the bib is good, and avoid 'breeches,' that is, loose feathering at the thighs.

"The Twite is a grand bird, and generally proves his worth at the shows. The remarks anent the Linnet apply to the Twite. He is, or should be, one mass of markings, and see that he is a good colour.

Choosing Bramblefinch and Chaffinch.

"Next come the Brambles. Now! Jack, it is seldom a good Bramblefinch fails to take precedence over a Chaffinch. In choosing a Bramble the first consideration is colour, then size. Get one as big as possible, with a long yet stout body—don't have a short-bodied bird. His tail must be correspondingly long, and well carried. He must have a bold, massive head and a strong beak, to say nothing of a fearless look on his face. Steadiness is a big thing; the bird must face the cage wires. The colour of the breast should be a warm bright chestnut, and the more of it there is, the better. The back of the head, the neck and the back should be nicely laced, something like a Lizard Canary.

"The Chaffinch is a similar bird to the Bramble for shape, so my remarks apply equally to him as regards size and shape. Don't have a short stumpy Norwich-shaped Chaffinch; get a long snaky-looking bird. Breast colour a deep rose; cap a dark slate-blue; bright green in the rump; good white wing bars."

The Any Variety Bunting Class.

"Nothing beats a good Yellowhammer in a variety Bunting class, unless perhaps it be a Meadow Bunting, but Meadow Buntings are too scarce to allow one to pick and choose in this respect. When selecting a Yellowhammer, get a big one, of good colour, with long sleek body and long tail in comparison. Get as much markings on him as possible, which should stand out well and be distinct from the body colour. The head should be broad, large and round, and should show a bold eye. The colour on head and under throat should be a rich yellow, and there should be a greenish black stripe running straight from the beak in the form of a V. Between the V-mark should be as nearly all yellow (clear) as possible.

"The Corn Bunting is a handsome bird and a good exhibit, but somewhat difficult to steady. If you decide on having one, get a big one, with a bold head and eye, and which looks to be one mass of markings. See that his colour is all right."

"The Blackheaded or Reed Bunting is a pretty little bird, but in my experience seldom gets higher up than the cards, so I shouldn't advise you to rely upon one, Jack."

"What do you call this one, Mr. W.?"

"That's a Snow Bunting. Snow Buntings do not seem very popular on the show bench. They should be large, stout, and short; in fact, 'all front.' The under parts should be white, the back laced almost like a Bramble's, the legs and toenails jet black; and there should be a chestnut mark running through the head; also on each side of the shoulders, and each cheek. Some of these birds are the deuce to steady."

The Statuesque Hawfinch.

"Next we come to the Hawfinches. Handsome birds aren't they? Look at this one. He looks as if he were carved from a piece of wax. Nothing will beat a good Hawfinch in a variety class. The Hawfinch, Jack, must be a monster to win, and of an extra good colour as well; and such are not plentiful. Choose one that has a large mahogany-coloured head, lighter in tone on the collar, and carrying a warm colour on a broad chest. There should be good clear markings on the wings. He must stand at the wires like a Grenadier, showing himself off for all he is worth. Of course, you must know that some Hawfinches are like some Bullies—they have seen ships; so it behoves you to keep a look out for any that are not of British manufacture, and lay hold of them, if possible. He must have a broad, deep, well-cut bib."

The Moulting Problem.

"I think, Jack, we have seen pretty near all we are interested in; suppose we have a look at the refreshments?"

"Just as you like, Mr. W."

"Well! here we are, what will you have? And, by-the-bye, you will want a few hints on moulting. Now I always advise moulting the birds in fairly large flights in small companies. Say you put the Goldies, Linnets, Twites and Redpolls together, as these agree pretty well. But of corse you won't overcrowd. Then you might put the Bullies and Greenies in a flight. The stock mixture for the Bullies suits the Greenies. The first lot will do pretty well on all one mixture, while they are together. Of course, you will know what to give the separate species—it is in Cage Birds almost every week.

"In the next flight you might put the Yellowhammers, Chaffinches and Bramblefinches. They live on much the same diet. They will also want colour-feeding; 1 part col. food to six parts of egg and bread. If they won't eat it, take their seed away for an hour or two daily."

"Don't the Goldies and the others in the first lot need colour feed?"

"No! It doesn't improve them. Goldies, Bullies, Linnets, Twites, Redpolls, Greenfinches and Snow Buntings are better without. If you have a couple of Greenies you might colour-feed one of them, as some judges like them colour-fed; only, let it be a jonque (yellow) that you feed."

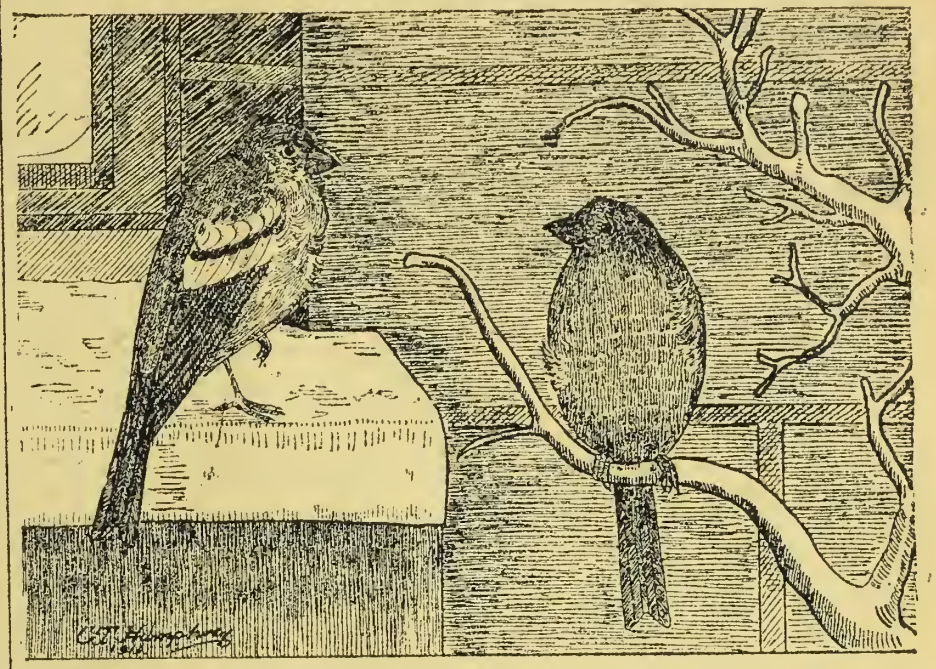
"Do Hawfinches require colour-feeding?"

"Yes! Personally, I prefer them fed. I think it improves them."

Things to Remember.

"Don't forget the wild seeds, Jack. Get as many as you can lay your hands on. Lay a store in for winter use. For the Bullies, Hawfinches, Greenfinches, in fact any that will eat them, get a supply of privet berries, blackberries, elderberries and hips and haws; and green peas specially for the Hawfinch; also berries from service (mountain ash) trees. The Greenfinch is specially fond of hips, which are the seed-heads of the wild rose or briar. They are full of seed. Humour the birds to take mealworms; they get fond of them in time. During the moult always have a supply of freshly-gathered wild seeds for them whenever you go in the place; they will soon begin to look out for you."

"When the birds are getting pretty nearly through the moult, cage them separately, and teach them to run into show cages. Don't forget a bath every day all through the moult. About a fortnight or so before the first show, handle the birds and talk to them every day. Have a spray. Fill the bottle three parts full with clean rain-water. Next get a teacup, put in a pinch (just a few shreds) of "Lux" or borax; (I prefer "Lux" though), a small teaspoonful of honey, as much butter as will stand on a shilling (don't put the shilling in too, Jack) and a few drops of glycerine. Scald this with boiling rain water (I am assuming your bottles to hold a pint). When it is dissolved, pour into the bottle containing the rain water, and spray the birds thoroughly all over before it goes cold. That should be prepared fresh every morning, as, if it is allowed to go cold, the butter goes in lumps. You will find that mixture put a gloss on them, Jack.



[We presume Mr. Johnson has personally tested and found satisfactory this mixture; it reads oddly.—Editor.]

"Now, is there anything else you would care to ask, Jack, that I haven't explained?"

"No! I don't think there is. And I am very thankful, Mr. W., that you should trouble to tell me all this, and I shall always remember it."

"Don't say more about that, Jack, you know I am very pleased you have decided to join the Fancy; and anything that I can do I will. But there is one thing, Jack: Whenever you, or any others for that matter, are looking over a bird, don't forget to examine him on every point; we are apt sometimes to miss examining his toenails, for instance; many a good bird is spoiled through being one toenail short."

We made our way back to the showroom to look for Peter, and found him in the midst of a rather heated argument with another lover of the "straight 'uns," as to whether the Yorkshires over standard length were eligible for exhibition. My friend was of the opinion that if they were a foot long, and slim at the same time, they were all the better. So he appeared to me to back him up. I said nobody could argue a point fairly and squarely without a table between them. So we adjourned. I am pleased to say the dispute was settled without blows—they agreed to differ!

How to Produce the Ideal Bird.

I will now deal with the breeding of the bird, so as to produce the ideal. In the first place the cage plays a prominent part. Many, I think, spoil their birds by keeping them in box cages. My plan is to have all-wire cages, both for breeding and moulting purposes. Our show cage must be open; so that when our birds are bred, reared and moulted in box cages, it stands to reason they must feel like Jack ashore—somewhat at sea (this sounds Irish). They dash themselves about, and it is next to impossible to keep their flights, tails and general plumage in position. Especially does this apply in the earlier part of the season—until the birds get used to their changed surroundings. Those birds that are bred in open cages are used to seeing about them, and have as much freedom in this respect in the breeding cage as in the open show cage.

The measurements of the cages I use are: 22 inches in length, 13 inches in depth, and 9 inches broad, with all movable fittings, so as to be easily cleaned and sponged out weekly. "Cleanliness is next to Godliness," it is said; I at any rate pin my faith to cleanliness, as when once dirt finds its way on to the feather, it is not easily removed, and to my mind handicaps a bird for nearly all its future career.

The Three Points that Matter.

The three grand essentials you know are: type, colour and quality. Other good points are secondary ones, although they must be bred for likewise. I will now take up these points as they are mentioned. Type means the standard of perfection laid down as per rules. This point, in my humble opinion, is fixed, and is imparted into our stock from the hen's side. Such being the case, we cannot be too careful to have our hens perfect in this respect. Buff hens are invariably better than Yellow hens in the matter of type. They are better in front and back, and therefore more to be trusted for stock purposes; it is advisable to have the largest percentage of your hens Buff if your strain is failing in type, and you wish to make this your strong point.

This will necessitate your double-buffing at times, which I find a great help all through, providing the right stock is chosen. The greatest care must be taken to avoid a strain of birds showing any coarseness or excessive length of feather. Select your cock birds from a strain of rich, level colour, soft and fine in feather texture, a wee bit on the small side; and see that their heads and necks are fine. A good hen to mate with such is one that is up to the standard in everything but size, and of lively, sprightly movement. Watch the result of this cross, and if an improvement is effected, don't lose sight of a cock bird from this strain. Always keep one by you; he will come in handy when either shape, colour or quality is desired.

It is not advisable to double-Buff with birds bred from double-Buffs; if you do you may get their progeny feathery at the thighs and side of wings.

There is, I may say, a way to improve colour by double-yellowing; but here again one has to be careful to mate up birds that are perfect in type. Select a right high-coloured cock—turn the feather back, and see that the colour is carried well down. To this cock pair up what I term a lemon-coloured yellow hen; there are always such hens bred in our stock every year, being very pale in colour, indeed a little higher in colour than a good Buff. It stands to reason that the extra colour added from the hen's side blends well with that of the cock bird, and in most instances is shown in their own progeny. If it is not, depend upon it it will turn out so in the next mating. Double-yellowing I find is also useful in fining down birds that are coarse in heads, necks, thighs, etc. Buff hens bred from such a mating you will find the most useful for this purpose.

Now, for quality; you can get this from both the methods mentioned above. But by pairing a Buff hen from the double-Yellow cross to a nice coloured Buff cock, you run a double chance of reaching your desired goal.

The Advantages of Inbreeding.

Coming next to the matter of inbreeding; this is another valuable help for keeping up a stock. Systematically carried out, this and the other methods are helpful, but it must not be carried to excess, and must only be resorted to when needed and when one finds his birds perfect, or nearly perfect in all points required to make up a good Border. Never inbreed with birds which show an outstanding bad fault, or you will only be intensifying and strengthening the bad fault; on the other hand, when I have say an outstanding hen (for preference with me), I pair her up to her best son from the season's breeding. Should your mating thus be an improvement, then pair the hen next year to strange blood; the son in the same way; and pair up a son of the old hen to a daughter from the inbred cock. This should be all that is required to keep your strain pure unless now and again you pair cousins when their respective strong points and defective points suggest such a mating.

Always bear in mind to pair birds up, whether related or not, so as to balance the good points by any defects in a prospective mate from your inbred strain—one which you have handled for some years, and of which you know the peculiarities thoroughly. One can work wonders this way. I never introduce a bird from the outside of my birdroom unless I see in such a bird something my strain wants building up in, and which is a strong point in the bird before buying. I pay particular attention to the progeny of the bird of strange blood, if it is paired to a bird pretty well inbred, and the most typical at that, and I only keep for stock the birds that come nearest the point I am aiming to acquire. You are by this means more likely to keep the strange blood running well under control; and when any bad cross turns up, you can find the cause of it at once, and act accordingly at the next mating. Remember that, from the breeder's point of view, inbreeding improves the bird by developing the useful points, and suppressing those points which under the circumstances are useless.

In conclusion, let me say that I don't recommend young fanciers to try any of the above crosses until they have had a few years of experience; they should start in the usual way pairing Yellow to Buff, or vice versa, and keep in touch with some breeder to whom they can apply for the suitable bird likely to improve their stock. I have told you now all the principal points you should remember in the breeding of Borders, and as this paper is rather long, I must ask you to excuse me with regard to the next part, viz., staging; besides, this to my mind would be like sending coals to Newcastle, judging from what I have seen of some of your older fanciers; I know they can turn the birds out well, and seeing them at the job would be worth twice as much to you as anything I could pen or explain on paper. In closing, I wish your society every success.

Questions and Answers.

DOUBTS AND DIFFICULTIES SOLVED BY SPECIALISTS.

Queries will be answered under the following conditions:—

(1)—All questions must be clearly written in ink (or typewritten) on one side of paper, and must conclude with either the correct name of querist, or a pseudonym, or initials.

(2)—The proper name and address in full of querist must always be written on a separate sheet of paper, and enclosed with the query. In no case must the address appear on the query.

(3)—Queries intended for different specialists must not be written on the same sheet of paper.

(4)—Queries must not include or be included in orders for books, instructians re advertisements, or any other matter for publication.

(5)—The department to which the queries refer must be stated in bold letters on the left-hand corner of the query.

(6)—If an answer in the same week's issue is desired, queries must be posted to reach us by Monday's first post at latest. Queries will be dealt with in the order in which they are received, and only as space permits. The earlier queries are received the better attentian they are likely to have.

(7)—Queries relating to illnesses of birds, except enquiries as to cause of death (for which see Post Mortems) will be answered by return of post on receipt of a postal order for sixpence and an addressed stamped envelope. Queries of an ordinary nature will be answered by post, if desired, on rseeipt of a postal order for one shilling and a stamped addressed envelope.

(8)—All who require letters of complaints written to advertisers must state grounds for doing so clearly and fully, and enclase a fee of sixpence, otherwise their letters will not receive attention. All the fees received from this saurce will be handed over in full to the "Referee's" Poor Children's Dinner Fund (London).

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc., of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Borders, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his questions for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned.

CANARY QUERIES.

Birds Dying.

Birds Dying (E.T.S.).—Yes, Canaries certainly can develop contagious or infectious diseases during the moult. Their powers of resistance are naturally below par at this time which renders them even more than usually liable to contract disease. The symptoms point directly to septicaemia, and I would advise you to settle all dount on this point hy having a post-mortem on the next that dies. Get Dr. Clarke's handbook on "Septic Fever," which our manager will send you post free for 7d., and thoroughly digest the advice there given. Meantime keep all the apparently healthy stock as isolated as possible from the rest, and if any hird amongst this lot shows signs of illness, promptly return it, cage and all, to the infected stock to take its chance with them. Cut egg wholly out of the dietary for the rest of the winter, and use in its place a little crushed sponge cake, or plain biscuit, or a scrap of hread scalded in milk occasionally. Keep cages scrupulously clean, and dry and thoroughly disinfect all in which deaths occur. Treatment is practically useless, but you migbt give six drops of syrup of rhubarb and a crystal of sulphate of soda, the size of a small pea in the water every second day for a week, and on the alternate days four drops each of tincture of gentian, tincture of calumba, and aromatic sulphuric acid. Give this every alternate week for a time. It might help the birds to win against the hacilli, that is all—cure is out of the question.

Songless and Not Moulting.

W.H.H., Leeds.—(1) Judging by the symptoms shown I have no doubt the cocks which have not recommenced singing either took a chill whilst moulting, from which they have not recovered, or are now exposed to cold draughts or extremes of heat and cold. These causes must he removed as a preparatory step before any other treatment is adopted. See they are kept in a comfortable hut not over-heated place, and as equable as possible. Give a staple of two parts canary to one part summer rape. Every second day for a fortnight give half a teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake, with four drops of sherry and two of cod liver oil emulsion mixed in it and sprinkled with maw seed. On the alternate days give a similar quantity of a mixture of equal parts hemp, inga, millet and teazle, and a morsel of sweet apple or hananna. In the water give a pinch of Epsom salts for one day, and afterwards the chlorodyne mixture as advised to "Y.C. Query." (2) Keep this bird that has not moulted for two years in a fairly warm place. Feed on the same staple as above. Give the same quantity of crushed sponge cake every second day for a fortnight, but omit the oil and sherry, and dust it over instead with flour of sulphur each time. On the alternate days give a quarter teaspoonful of maw with the hananna. Limit diet to this. In the water give ten drops of syrup of buckthorn for two days, and afterwards 20 drops of whisky, as much chlorate of potash as will cover a threepenny piece, and a few shreds of meadow saffron every second day for a fortnight. If you are expert at the job give the bird a hand wash, using water rather warmer than usual, twice in a week at the commencement of the treatment. If not good at washing, a vapour bath, as described in Part IX. of "Our Canaries," would he helpful, but see the bird does not get a chill after-

A Variety.

Beginner.—(1) For all practical purposes all the terms you name applying to Rollers may be taken as synonymous, and of about equal value. They are not distinct varieties, and cannot even be regarded as distinct strains. (2) I do not suppose colour-feeding if properly carried out would affect the song of Rollers in any way. I have not found it do so in the case of ordinary trained singers to which I have given it. They sang as well and "wore as well" as those that never had any. But I never tried it on high-class contest singers. As a rule Rollers are never colour-fed, and cannot be said to "take" colour well, in my opinion, formed after feeding them experimentally. (3) You are right in the surmise that colour-feeding is only effective during the moult. When the moult is finished colour food has practically no effect as such. (4) A crystal of sulphate of iron about the size of a split pea, or double the size of a hemp seed, dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of water, is about the proper quantity to use for fixing colour at end of moult. (5) It is not the custom to keep all Rollers in closed boxes continually. Highly trained birds intended for contest singing are so kept a goodly portion of the time during the show season only, to prevent them "singing themselves out" too quickly, and ensure them performing well when staged in a contest. Besides this, birds that are getting too loud are put in them for a time, and such as have been singing hard for some time are put in now and again to force them to take a rest, and thus conserve their powers. Many thanks for kind remarks anent "Canary Breeding for Beginners." Glad you find it "just the thing."

Canaries in Flight (H.S.).—It depends entirely upon the size of the flight, which you do not mention, whether you would succeed by turning two cocks and four hens loose in it. According to the popular interpretation of a flight cage, I should say you would not. One cock and two hens would be nearer the mark. See reply to "G. F., Attleboro'," or write again and mention size of flight.

Canaries out of doors (Essex).—Under the circumstances you describe you may quite safely allow the birds to remain out in the shed through the winter. The temperature will doubtless get well below 45 degrees, but you need not let that worry you. Really hardy and normally reared Canaries, such as yours must be, are not such "delicate wrecks" as sometimes described.

Use of Flight Cage (G. F., Attleboro').—You would have a very good chance of success if you turned one cock and two hens into the flight 8ft. long for breeding next season. Put in four nesting places, but do not place them near together. If you intended removing the young to another flight as they get well on to seed you might put in three hens, and still have a fair chance of success. Still, it is always good policy to keep a little below rather than exceed the limit of accommodation.

Not Moulting (G. H. W.).—Treat the bird the same as advised to "W. H. H., Leeds (2)," but try the vapour bath before washing. If she shows no signs of moulting after a fortnight of this treatment, place her for a few days in a room with a temperature of 45 degrees, but be careful to see that this is fairly equable and quite free from draughts. If, as may happen, she falls deeply into moult, almost as soon as returned to a cool room, you may return her to her present place to finish off as soon as she has cast a good portion of her small feathers.

Growing Bald (Grainger).—Keep cage and perches perfectly clean. Allow bird to hathe freely when so disposed, but do not allow any other bird to hathe after her in the same water, nor introduce any other bird into her cage. Give 20 drops of whisky, as much sulphate of soda as will cover a sixpence, and half as much chlorate of potash in the water every second day for a week. Carefully anoint the bare places with Lanocylin three times a week for a month. Well moisten the skin with it, but avoid greasing the feathers, then wipe off and surplus with a pledget of cotton wool.

Great Results (S. Young).—Seventeen young reared hy and from one hen in a single season, and still nesting, is certainly uncommon, but still far from being unprecedented. But it is a result which no one "in the know" would really strive to obtain. In practically all cases it means the ruin of the ben for future seasons through exhausted vitality. Your best plan is to separate the pair forthwith, sacrificing any eggs she might have laid in this last attempt, and keep her in a fairly large cage hy herself, and out of hearing, if possihle, or, any way, out of sight, of the cock, until the end of next March, when you may put them together again if still in good health and ready for breeding.

Bald Hen (C. B. L. member).—As long as the hen keeps nicely and apparently well, I don't think you need trouble about the moult. She may complete this process next spring without any forcing. Still you may, if you wish, try the treatment advised to "W. H. H., Leeds (2)" except that instead of the sponge cake you should give a piece of bread and milk the size of a hazel nut, and dust the sulphur on to this. On the whole, I advise you to leave well alone, but give the hread and milk minus the sulphur all the same, until bird gets a little more plump. You probably used the Lanocylin too freely, but even so, it would do no harm beyond disfiguring the plumage. Give the following in the water for a week. In each tablespoonful dissolve a crystal of sulphate of soda, the size of a small pea, a crystal of sulphate of iron half as big, and add six drops of dilute sulphuric acid.

Cured of Wheezing (R. R. T.).—Am very glad to hear you have cured the birds of wheezing with the prescription from the "Canary" nutshell booklet, and was interested to learn that the trouble was not limited to birds which had been colour-fed. This being so, I fail to see why you should lay the trouble on the practice of colour-feeding. Ah me! As if the old dog had not sufficient charges brought against him already. One is almost forced to shed at least one tiny tear over his misdeeds. As a matter of fact it seems quite clear to me that the actual cause is the removal from the room facing south to one facing north. From the way you ask if my advice was meant for a working man away from home all day, I thought I had set you some tedious task, but on referring to the reply I really fail to see why even a man in those circumstances should not be able to carry out the instructions to the letter. And, then, is there no "Mrs." Workingman who might have carried them out? Eh?

A Report (Pit Laddie).—Thanks for report. Am glad to know birds are improving, and not surprised that you have found after all that my surmise as to the causes at work was correct. Continue the same treatment for the cock in alternate weeks for a full two months at least, but you will not, of course, need to repeat the tonic after the first doses you gave at the beginning. You might treat the hens the same as the cock for a fortnight, giving them the same mixture in the water, and the same bread and milk preparation. Also give them about half a teaspoonful of rape—this is the proper quantity—three times a week, and a small teaspoonful of the seed mixture once a week. Do not allow these birds to bathe except in quite mild weather. See if there is anything wrong with the claws of the young bird. If not, give the same bread and milk preparation as already advised for the others for a fortnight, and add 20 drops of chemical food to the water on alternate days. By the way, when writing again, use several sheets of ordinary note-paper, and number them in proper order in preference to one immensely long sheet of paper.

Keeping Sexes Together (J. McG.).—I do not advise you to keep cocks and hens together during the winter, as it is too apt to bring hens into forward breeding condition in the most treacherous part of our early spring weather. The result of this is very often disastrous. I know good fanciers who keep their breeding pairs together all the year rouud, and yet succeed well, but they have a very long experience, and are virtually masters of the circumstances under which they ride the hobby. The average fancier would in all probability fail dismally under such conditions. But even this is different to keeping the sexes together promiscuously. It will he much wiser to keep them in two groups—cocks in one, and hens in another.

A Suitable Mate (Learner).—Assuming you are correctly informed respecting the parentage of your bird and that the male parent had no Cinnamon blood in his veins, the green cock is very fair material for producing variegated birds, to which you have taken a fancy. As a mate for him, get a Clear Buff hen, bred from two Clears, for choice, and if also from two Buffs so much the better, but the parents of the chosen hen must be free from Cinnamon blood. Then you are practically certain to breed some nicely variegated birds, and also some self and broken Greens, of fine quality of plumage. Of course, you must see that the hens suit the cock in shape and type.

A Trio (E.M.).—(1) The Yorkshire cock which you say sprained his leg last summer will be quite suitable for breeding next season. If he is otherwise healthy and agile, the sprain, which should have quite passed off before now, will be no detriment. (2) This bird is clearly full of green blood. If the lighter parts of its plumage are yellow, mate it with a Clear Buff bred from two Clears, or one and one lightly ticked, then you will stand a chance of breeding a fair number of ticked or lightly variegated young from it, and possibly a rich coloured clear or two. If its lighter parts are buff, then use a clear Yellow, bred as above. (3) For winter feeding, see a detailed reply last week, also reply to "H. S. D." this week. You would find "Canary Breeding for Beginners" very useful for full details of this description. Our manager would send it you for 7d., post free.

Wheezes at Night (Y. C. Query).—This hen is probably still in a curable condition, in which case there will be no objection to breeding with her. See that she is kept in a comfortable temperature for a time, quite free from draughts, great variations, or unhealthy fumes. In addition to the ordinary seed diet, give a piece of bread and milk the size of a hazel nut, with three drops of a mixture of equal parts syrup of hypophosphites and syrup of iodide of iron on it, and sprinkled with maw seed. Give this every second day for a fortnight, and on the alternate days give 20 drops of the following mixture in the water, after having given a preliminary aperient of 10 drops of syrup of buckthorn for one day. Mixture: 2 drams each of glycerine and oxymel of Squills, 1 dram each of Chlorodyne and ipecac. wine, and eight grains of iodide of potassium. Ask your chemist to mix this for you. If bird is not quite well at end of fortuight, omit medicines for a week, and then repeat the above course.

Alarming Behaviour (F. Q.).—(1) The attack this bird had when you brought down his cage was due wholly to severe nervous shock—fright, pure and simple. It is not uncommon for Canaries whose cages are "skied," or hung near the ceiling and rarely unhung, to have these attacks more or less severe when the cages are suddenly brought down, and the birds examined more closely. Sometimes the attack ends in death, which is too sudden to allow of any remedy being applied. When it passes off the bird is practically as well as ever. The remedy is obvious: Keep on more familiar terms with your birds, so that they are not afraid of a human being at close quarters. (2) Put this bird in a comfortable place, of equable temperature, and free from cold draughts or damp. In addition to the usual seed diet, give half-a-teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake, with four drops of sherry and two of cod liver oil emulsion, well mixed in it, every second day for a week, and on the alternate days a quarter teaspoonful of maw. In the water give 20 drops of the chlorodyne mixture as advised to "Y.C. Query."

Scotch Fancy not Breeding (H. S. D.).—You ought to get Part VII. of "Our Canaries," and read the valuable contribution therein on this subject. Keep the hen in a fairly large cage or aviary not overstocked with perches, so that she will have to use some effort in getting about. Give a staple of plain Canary only, and in addition once a week or so give a small teaspoonful of crushed sponge cake, or egg food; twice a week a rather smaller quantity of mixed seed, as advised for winter treatment in replies last week, and occasionally a morsel of sweet fruit or carrot in lieu of green food. To remove the diarrhoea, give six drops of syrup of rhubarb, and as much Epsom salts as will cover a sixpence in the water for two consecutive days, and afterwards six drops of tincture of gentian, four of dilute sulphuric acid, and two of tincture of opium, daily until looseness is stopped. Keep cage and perches scrupulously clean.

BRITISH BIRDS, MULES AND HYBRIDS.

Answered by G. E. WESTON.

Food for a Waxwing.

J. M. Poynter.—Waxwings seem quite common and popular just now. A really good and economical stock food can be prepared by taking a dessertspoonful of crushed "Melox" (obtainable at all corn and seed stores), thoroughly soaking it with hot water, and then reducing it to a crumbly consistency by adding (dry) some good make of prepared insectile food, such as is advertised in our columns at about 1s. to 1s. 6d. per pound. Let the bird have ripe fruit and berries (black, privet, mountain ash, etc.); also some live food frequently (mealworms, gentles, and the like). See also the reply given "Miss Tovey" this week.

Feeding a Goldfinch.

J. Thomas.—I have often said that young Goldfinches (or any recently caught birds, for that matter) should have their seed crushed when first caged. I give crushed seed to my own for a considerable time after they have come into my possession. My stock mixture is teazle two parts, canary and linseed one part each. When about to feed I add an equal bulk of cracked hemp and a good proportion (about a quarter of the bulk) of well crushed safflower. These I crack fresh daily. At first I give a supply of niger seed in a separate dish, gradually reducing it, and then leaving it off entirely. The great point is to get really good, sound hemp seed. This is not so easy as many people think; and inferior seed will soon kill Goldfinches, which, of course, feed chiefly on hemp.

About a Woodlark.

W. Robinson.—The "Nutshell" you mention, No. 26, is now on sale. If you want to make your own food, it should be the stock food which I recommend for small insectivorous birds, viz., powdered sweet biscuit six parts, best ants' eggs two parts, dried flies and powdered silkworm pupæ one part each, meat meal half part, by measure. Take the quantity required of this, and mix it just crumbly moist with grated raw carrot, or finely chopped lettuce, watercress, or chickweed (use young leaves only), or cold mashed potato, varying it frequently. Very good insectile mixtures can be bought ready made; see advertisement columns. Osborne biscuits are good; equal parts biscuit and crumbled stale sponge cake, will be even better. It is necessary, of course, to give, in addition, live insect food (flies, spiders, wood-lice, ear-wigs, smooth caterpillars, ants' eggs, etc.) one can obtain, as in season. To the above stock mixture I frequently add, after damping, a teaspoonful or two of preserved egg-flake, or, more generally, part of a hard-boiled fresh egg, finely minced, and occasionally a little finely scraped raw lean mutton or beef. Give a little Canary and maw seed now and again, and a few groats (or some coarse oatmeal).

Thrush Food Again.

Miss Tovey.—I have often given my method of feeding any of the Thrushes cheaply, and at the same time well; it applies equally to Blackbirds. Get a bag of a good brand of puppy meal or dog food (such as "Melox" or Spratts); this costs but about a shilling for 7lbs., so is very economical. Crush about a dessertspoonful; put it in a cup and add just sufficient boiling water to thoroughly soften it; then mix in (dry) sufficient of the packet Thrush food you mention to bring it to the requisite crumbly moist state for feeding to the bird. The finished food does not want to be "sloppy"—a sticky mass—as no bird will relish it in this state. You will soon find out the right quantity to start to prepare for either one bird or three or four. It should be made fresh daily; in hot weather it must be. Of course, chopped greenfood, etc., ripe fruit, and the like can be given as usual.

Management of Chaffinch.

Beginner.—There is no need to crack the hempseed, but by all means crack the sunflower seed at first; and give him a mealworm now and again if he will eat it (pin it down to the perch at front of cage). Use the following stock mixture: Canary and teazle, two pints each; summer rape, charlock, and linseed half a pint each. To this a half-pint of sunflower could be added; or give the sunflower in a separate dish, say a heaped-up teaspoonful daily. Wild seed mixture and some good maker's special packet Finch mixture can be occasionally offered for a change, while sunflower heads (gathered from the garden), full of seed, thistle, and hardheads, seeding chickweed, groundsel and shepherd's purse should be freely given as in season. An occasional mealworm, flies, etc., are relished by most Chaffinches and are very good for them. My own birds, too, are very fond of a teaspoonful of insectile mixture (such as I prepare for my small soft-billed birds) now and again. This is specially good during the moult (and especially so if a few live ants' eggs are mixed with it), helping to bring them out in fine condition and "bloom."

A Bullfinch and Its Food.

A. B. Gill.—It is only natural that the bird should pick out all the hemp from the packet mixture; Bullies are passionately fond of it, but get very fat on it. Have you bought the "Nutshell" booklet on this bird? As regards the food when moulting. Bullies should have a free daily supply of all the fruits and berries with colour in them, especially blackberries (in both red and black stages), and privet berries; in addition to these you have straw, rasp, elder, mountain ash (rowan), dew and other berries, black currants, and cherries, etc., to say nothing of the wild seeding plants. I am so frequently recommending, such as ripe plantain, dock, thistles, heather tops (where possible), shepherd's-purse, chickweed, mouse-ear, groundsel tops, etc. Let your bird bathe freely. If your Bullie is lax in this respect, he must be lightly sprayed every day with a fine sprayer (such as barbers use for bay rhum, etc.), which may be bought from most fanciers' specialists advertising in our columns. Never drench the bird. The stock seed mixture should be canary three parts, teazle two parts, linseed and summer rape, one part each, by measure. Sunflower and safflower seeds should be offered fairly liberally, cracked, if necessary. The seed can be run through a seed mill. Don't give hemp; or very little.

BRITISH BIRD & HYBRID QUERISTS

should consult Houlton's great work, "Cage-Bird Hybrids" (7/6); Norman's "British Bird Manual" (2/3); or Part 1 "Hardbills" (1/1), Part 2 "Softbills" (1/1); "Aviaries, Bird-rooms, and Cages" (2/3); "Seeds, Foods, and Wild Plants" (1/2); "Secrets of Hybrid Breeding" (1/2); Dr. Creswell's "Hygiene of Bird-keeping" (1/1); Dr. Clarke's "Septic or Bird Fever" (7d.); "Colour-feeding" (3½d.); or the "Nutshell" booklets (2½d. each): No. 1 "Goldfinch," No. 2 "Linnet," No. 3 "Skylark," No. 4 "Song Thrush and Blackbird," No. 11 "Bullfinch," No. 13 "Chaffinch," No. 15 "Greenfinch," No. 22 "Siskin, Redpoll, and Twite," No. 6 "Ailing Birds and How to Cure them," No. 9 "Disinfection of Cages, Bird-rooms, etc.," No. 12 "How to Moult British Birds." All thoroughly practical and instructive. Prices quoted are post free from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S., etc.

Superb Tanager.

E. M. K.—Give Dinneford's Magnesia daily, so long as the voidings are not watery loose—one part magnesia, two parts water—in lieu of the ordinary drinking-water. When undue looseness occurs, only give the above once a week, and on other days put about one-third teaspoonful of Byno-phosphates into the daily supply of water. For the fruit portion of its dietary supply banana, grapes, etc., with a little orange as a change, once or twice a week. Continue to give the soft food mixture and live food (insects) as usual. Supply a milk-sop (rather sloppy) say one of the little round glasses (usually supplied with drawing-room cages) full daily; to consist of Nestle's milk, boiling water, crumbled sponge cake, and a little boney. You must guard carefully against a chill, at the same time there must be proper ventilation without draught—the temperature of any ordinary living room will suffice.

Ailing Budgerigar.

Lovebird.—Give the bird two drops of tasteless castor oil from the end of a quill direct to the mouth, and repeat this as necessary to keep the voidings bowels moving freely, but not to keep the voidings watery-loose. Get the following from your chemist: One part each ipecacuanha wine, oxymel of squills, and glycerine, and three parts distilled water; give two drops from the end of a quill daily till relief is given, or report again in about ten days. Diet as already advised; keep in a warmish room, and strictly out of draught. Do not give the Byno-phosphates just at present, wait till the breathing yields to treatment. Budgerigars are not lethargic in the aviary, they are on the wing on and off most of the day. However, your cage should suffice for them, though if it were possible to let them have a fly round the room occasionally it would be better for them. Hang a cocoa-nut husk in the cage for them; they may take an interest in this, and then take more exercise. They should have a leaf of lettuce (inner leaf) two or three times a week.

Blue-fronted Amazon (Kinton Foxe).—So long as you do not give tea, coffee, or milk sops, table scraps, or animal food of any kind, all the other items you name are quite wholesome. You do not fully quote the mixture from the Nutshell booklet, but the following should fully meet the needs of your birds: Two parts each (by measure) canary and white millet, and one part each hemp, maize, oats, dari, paddy rice, and sunflower seeds. Well mix, and keep a supply in the cage. Add a pinch of grit (not sand) to the daily supply of seed, and keep a piece of clean cuttlebone hanging in the cage. A leaf of fresh lettuce or other salad may be given occasionally.

Plants for Aviary (Nature).—I know of several aviaries which contain yew, but I am very doubtful of them, also of the mountain ash; there are so many which are quite safe that I should not include either. Bamboo, laurel, berberis, fir, Austrian pine, privet, hawthorn, rambler rose, any kind of fruit tree, and such climbers as wild clematis, hops, nasturtiums, and herbaceous plants, such as sunflowers, Michaelmas daisies, and such annuals as mignonette, cornflower. I should also include several clumps of dock, mallow, cow parsley. Clumps of ribbon grass, are both ornamental and useful plants

Firefinches, Will They Breed? (Exotic).— (1) Your seed diet is quite sufficient; supply all these, and leave the bird to choose, the variety is good for it. Keep a mixture by you of maw, lettuce, grass, teazle, plantain, mustard, charlock, and clover seeds, and supply a little twice weekly. (2) Yes. (3) Yes; they have been bred on several occasions in captivity in this country. To give foreign species a chance of breeding one pair only should be kept in each breeding cage, but out of the season, the birds you name may be kept altogether in a large flight cage.

FOREIGN BIRD QUERISTS

should consult Page's "Foreign Birds for Beginners" (1/1½); Arthur's "Budgerigars and Cockatiels" (6d.); Arthur's "Parrots for Pleasure and Profit" (7d.); "Aviaries, Bird-rooms, and Cages" (2/3); "Seeds, Foods, and Wild Plants" (1/2); Dr. Clarke's "Septic or Bird Fever" (7d.); Dr. Creswell's "Hygiene of Bird-keeping" (1/1); "Colour-feeding" (3½d.); or the "Nutshell" booklets (2½d. each): No. 6 "Ailing Birds and How to Cure them," No. 9 "The Disinfection of Cages, Bird-rooms, etc.," No. 14 "Gouldian Finches," No. 16 "Avadavats," No. 17 "The Grey Parrot," No. 18 "Budgerigars," No. 19 "The Pekin Robin," No. 20 "Waxbills." All thoroughly practical and instructive. Prices quoted are post free from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 2, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. Any bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

R. C.—Death from congestion of the lungs, following on chill induced by washing.

W. J. Silverthorn.—Enteritis, complicated with dysentery, due to irritant poison.

K. K.—Acute pneumonia.

GENERAL.

Answered by THE EDITOR.

A Photograph (A. H. Kirby).—We shall be pleased to find a corner in a future issue for the photograph you have been good enough to send us.

Press Cuttings (A. E. Long; Miss Pringle; E. T.; and Others).—Thanks for the newspaper cuttings sent us, which we will utilise if possible.

A Seed Crusher (L. Widdop).—We will have a drawing made of the machine, and then publish your letter. Thanks for writing us.

Belfast Show (J. E. Adams).—Thanks for the newspaper cutting; we had, however, a report already in type.

The Novice Status (Interested).—The ordinary selling classes are not taken into account when determining the novice status of an exhibitor.

Suggested Change of Name (A Fancier).—If we decide to change our name to "Cage Bird Comic Illustrated" (as you put it), we are, at any rate, assured of a valued contributor in your own sweet self.

Best Route (H. P. R.).—The cheapest (and probably best) way to get to the L.C.B.A. show from Euston is to take a motor-bus for Victoria Station, which passes along the Euston Road. The Hall is not far from Victoria Station.

A Suggestion (H. T. Bishop).—Please don't be apologetic; for we like readers to send us suggestions. We will give yours our best consideration; but, even if found practicable, we cannot do anything in the matter until the show season has passed and we are left with a little leisure.

ST. HELENS (Recreation).

The St. Helens Recreation F.A. usual members' show held Nov. 18th, Dining Rooms attached to Messrs. Pilkington's works. As only employees of Messrs. Pilkington are allowed to exhibit, we were quite surprised to see such a nice lot of birds staged, both for numbers and quality. We are informed that the society has a good financial basis. It would be a grand idea to run a small open show or put open classes on; it would pay, and would be reminiscent of the great shows St. Helens used to run. The society possess an efficient lot of fanciers, who all pulled together to make the show a success. Special note must be made of Messrs. Shufflebotham (the hon. sec.) and Little, who worked well in harness, having the cards up as soon as each class was judged. Messrs. Pilkington are patrons of the society, which means plenty of specials. Mr. Sam Woods, who is only a novice we hear, had quite a day out, his yellow Nor. cock bird taking special for best in show, best Nor. novice, best Nor., and best novice—quite a record for a new beginner. Best other than Canary went to Mr. Abbott's noted Thrush; best Hardbill, Messrs. Helen and Ashall; best Yorks., Mr. Little; best Yorks. novice, A. Little. Mr. J. W. Metcalfe judged, and his awards gave entire satisfaction.

Colour Changes in British Birds

Sir,—I should like to ask whether any fanciers have ever had the blaze of their Goldfinches moult white? I have one this year moulted snow-white; last year it had a scarlet blaze. Also, I saw one going as black as a crow all over, except the wing flights, which were perfectly white. Fed on the ordinary Finch mixture. Could any reader explain the cause? I have also a Blackbird which is coming whiter every moult; he is now about nine years old.

An Apology to Mr. Allan Chalmers (Kirkintilloch).

Sir,—Some little time ago I made a statement with regard to your honour as a fancier, and on investigating same I find I have misconstrued your name for that of another party. I am truly sorry for the incident, and I hereby beg to withdraw the statement made and humbly apologise to you for same. The statement, I can assure you, was made without any spleen or malice towards you, and you can rest assured that I will be more diplomatic in future. I trust you will accept this apology in the spirit in which it is given.

Yorkshire Union Water Tins.

Should the Tins Have Been Changed?

Sir,—I have found out, by the courtesy of Mr. J. Holroyd, of Great Horton, that I was disqualified at Manningham Show not, as was said on the slip of paper inserted in my box on being returned from that show, for "showing with wrong water tins." My tins were of the proper sort, only they had been blackened, which made them that they were not uniform—a very simple thing, I think. I always thought the Yorkshire Union was a union of friendship as well as to protect the birdkeeping hobby. I do think that if there had been any friendly feeling towards outside exhibitors—strangers, like myself—someone would have put me on two tins of the proper sort and not have let me be disqualified for so simple a matter. Anyhow, as I have remarked in one of my previous letters, I am not a disappointed novice, but one who, when put right on the water-tin subject, won two firsts and a special at Windhill Show on November 18 with the only two birds I sent to that show.

W. E. Fergusson.

The Chortle of an Anti-colourfoodite.

Sir,—Allow me to thank Mr. Weston and Mr. St. John for the sporting manner in which they read my letter, especially considering the great liberty I took in making sporting allusions in conjunction with their honoured names. I feel it my duty, Mr. Editor, to make a humble apology to Mr. Weston in particular. I should have known better than mention Mr. Weston's name in connection with the depraved environment of the racecourse (an environment which, to my everlasting disgrace, I am very partial to), as doubtless Mrs. Weston carefully peruses every line of Cage Birds, and I should not like her to think that her husband was disporting himself upon Newmarket's classic heath when most likely (as can be gathered from his personal characteristics so charmingly made public in his letter) he was attending the local "Band of Hope" or assisting the curate to wash watercress for the "toothless widows' tea-fight"; therefore permit me to apologise most humbly and sincerely. Mr. Pye evidently thinks I am fast approaching that state mentally when I should be carefully looked after—well, that may be. No doubt the idea that White Canaries should be "white fed" with some artificial stuff appears to Mr. Pye to emanate from the brain of a lunatic; well, I intended it should appear in that manner, because personally I am certain that all who favour colour-feeding, especially the colour-feeding of British birds, are more or less lunatics. I have nothing to say against the mental state of such men as Mr. W. Andrews, who, after forty years' experience, writes and states that he knows colour-feeding is harmful, but he has to colour-feed (and therefore injure) his birds to enable him successfully to compete for prizes under what I consider to be standards and conditions brought into fashion by "ignorants," if not imbeciles. Whatever one may think of Mr. Andrews, he is evidently not untruthful, and he shrinks from the meanest form of all hypocrisy, viz., that of laying to one's self to stifle and subdue the workings of one's own conscience. Again, in the article by Mr. W. Charleson, I find the statement: "As regards colour-feeding, this is a thing of which I am not in favour, but we have to do it if we want to stand much chance." Such statements as these prove to me that amongst "thinking fanciers" there is a good deal of animosity with regard to colour-feeding, but at present they are not strong enough to combat ignorance. Mr. St. John thinks colour-feeding has no harmful effect and welcomes scientific research. I also welcome scientific research, and I am equally confident as to what the verdict will be. How often do your writers, in answering queries, advise fanciers not to give too much of this or that seed? Why do they do this? Because in their opinion too much of the seed in question does harm; and yet seeds of various kinds are the natural food of seed-eaters. If it is necessary, then, to warn fanciers against natural food, how much more necessary it is to warn them against unnatural food. Let any fancier attempt to breed from "hot colour fed" birds and from ordinary German birds that have not been fed, and he will soon realise which have the soundest constitutions. In my opinion, most of the breeding troubles, such as non-sitting, non-feeding, sweating, etc., are due to inbred constitutional weaknesses caused fundamentally by colour-feeding. How many fanciers to-day are using "Borders" as foster-parents for young bred from colour-fed parents? To put it in a nutshell, there is nothing at all in a colour-fed bird; it is only dyed by an internal process, and will have to be dyed again at each successive moult. Our judges are not awarding prizes to the best birds; they are selecting (to a certain degree, of course) birds that have been successfully dyed by an expert dyer with the highest quality dye. It is the dye and the dyer that are gaining the prizes, not the birds. "A Lover of Birds" asks me, Why is a show Greenie bronze? I don't know. Let him ask the idiots who make them bronze and the fools who award them prizes. By the way, his ("A Lover of Birds") description of colour-fed birds as being like "badly coloured" plates is extremely apt. In conclusion, permit me to thank "Arcadian" for coming to my rescue. He realised the spirit in which my letter was written, and no doubt also realises that the best manner of treating ignorance is with ridicule. I shall no doubt, by means of this letter, bring a hornets' nest about my ears, but I do not fear; my shoulders are broad, and I can stand any amount of "heckling," and as the long winter evenings are now upon us, how can we fanciers better use our spare time than in the discussion of this vital question? I have not brought in the artistic side of the question, but as no doubt there are among your readers many of an artistic temperament, may I state that to me the "colour-fed" sections of the modern bird show are an artistic horror, an avicultural nightmare?

H. Moore.

P.S.—I see Miss (or is it Mrs.?) Clay states that her Canaries stand in the snow and sing. Surely a little "cayenne" would warm their little hearts and help them to withstand the cold much better. Why not try it? Would Miss Clay mind informing me just how many of her birds are suffering from asthma and how many hens she loses through egg-binding?

Sir,—The letters published in your valuable paper in reply to my letter which appeared on October 21 issue show what a diversity of opinion prevails about colour-feeding. I should like to ask Mr. H. Moore where I have said that my birds suffered from liver complaint? Mr. M., you have let your imagination run riot. My room contains 75 per cent. of colour-fed birds (and I have a few), and I venture to say Mr. Moore cannot boast of a much larger percentage, although he claims to be such a great advocate of colour-feeding. I am sorry no expert on diseases of birds has thought it worth while to publish his views and experience on the matter. I was hoping Mr. Yates would give us the benefit of his experience on "Does colour-feeding cause liver complaint?"

An Explanation from Alnwick.

Sir,—While thanking the exhibitors who supported us in our annual show last week, I must ask them to be lenient if their birds did not arrive home in good time. The committee did their best, but owing to the festivities at Alnwick Castle the traffic at the station was very congested, special trains having been run for the convenience of the guests (numbering some 900) coming from a distance. These unfortunately arrived at the time when the birds were to be despatched, hence the delay.

Budgerigars which Talk.

Sir,—Having read about talking Budgerigars, I should like to say I had the pleasure of hearing and seeing one a few weeks ago, the property of Mrs. Grudgfield, a local resident. This one is a cock bird and a show specimen. He talks all day long, and says, amongst other things: "Mother's pretty, pretty boy," "Mother's darling Budgie boy," "Kiss poor mother," "Pretty dear," "Pretty Pollie," "Kiss Marie," "Come on, be quick, kiss me," "Mother's pretty pet," "Mother's little boy," "Kiss Jack," "Pretty doggie," "Mother's pretty darling duck, ain't ye?" He talks very distinctly and plays with two marbles, which he pushes along on his sand tray, chattering the while. He also has a cotton reel fixed to his cage wire which he works treadmill fashion. This bird was also bought from Mr. James, who also bred Miss Sandell's one, as stated last week. Mr. James can now trace six Budgerigars bred and sold by him which talk. In each case the bird was sold singly and quite young. He still has the parents of these talkers and hopes to breed more from them. Mr. James has also bred this season just on 100 Linnet Mules, having had exceptional luck with them.

Canary Farming in the Open Air.

Sir,—I was very interested in the letter under the above heading, and wondered if the writer would kindly give her method of feeding in the breeding season. I am well up in the details of management in indoor rooms, but am thinking of breeding outdoors. I thank Miss Clay in anticipation Alleged Colour-fed Borders at Stirling Show.

Ought the Cages to be Marked?

Sir,—Being a visitor at Stirling Show, I was surprised to hear that the judge had been putting aside Borders for being colour-fed. This was all the talk at the show. I had a look round, and I was astonished that I could not find anything to show where a bird had been disqualified. I think that this way of disqualifying birds should be put a stop to. If the judge is of the opinion that a bird has been colour-fed, he should put a disqualified ticket on its cage, for the benefit of both exhibitors and visitors.

Interested Exhibitor.

A Plea for Natural Colour Classes.

Sir,—Will you please allow me space to ask secretaries why they do not always have a natural colour class at their shows? I am sure they would be well patronised, both in Norwich and Yorkshire classes. It is no hidden fact that, besides myself, there are a great many good sound fanciers who do not care to colour-feed, apart from the expense it entails. I should also like to ask club committees who have not yet made out their schedules just to try one class in Norwich and one in Yorkshires, as I am acquainted with many who do not colour-feed, so therefore do not stage any of their birds. It is very disheartening when we have real typical birds to know we have not a ghost of a chance among the colour-fed ones.

Arthur Athey.

Extraordinary Mishap at Stoke-on-Trent Show.

Non-attendance of the Judge.

Sir,—As no doubt your representative will make you aware, we were placed in a most awkward predicament through Mr. Wellings, the appointed judge, failing to fulfil his engagement, and as this is a matter which concerns those fanciers who exhibited at our show as well as ourselves, I should be obliged if you will allow me to ask Mr. Wellings for an explanation of his conduct. Mr. Wellings was perfectly aware of the date of the show; I have his answer accepting the appointment. The fixture has been advertised in your columns for months, and the week previous to the show I sent him a schedule, while on Tuesday, the 14th, I wrote informing him we had received a good entry (400), and would have everything ready for him to start judging at 10 a.m. We were able to do this, and at the time mentioned the first two classes were up ready for him to go over. As he did not turn up, we concluded he had missed his train. We met the next available train—11.46—but no Wellings; so back to the show room, where we held a consultation and decided to get someone to assist him should he turn up later. Myself and the chairman went to Etruria Station, where Mr. F. Bate is in the signal box, and obtained his consent to come as soon as possible, as his time was not up until 2 p.m. We went on to Newcastle to get his relief man to take him off earlier if possible. This was done, and Mr. Bate was able to get to the show room just before 2 p.m., and immediately got to work on the classes which ought to have been judged four hours previously. Mr. Henry Tams came into the room later, and we induced him to judge the members' and open novice classes, and some of the open classes in which he was not exhibiting. Of course, they were not able to finish without the aid of artificial light, and every credit must be given to these gentlemen for doing their best under most trying conditions. Just after judging was completed, the following letter was delivered to me:—"15, Salisbury Street, Prescot, Nov. 14 (post-mark Nov. 16). Dear Sir,—Mr. Wellings hopes to be with you on Friday, although he has met with a nasty accident, being thrown out of the trap. Will arrive at 9.18. Please have a good steward on.—I am, yours respectfully, E. Bibby; from Mr. Wellings." On the back of the envelope was written the words: "Be with you Friday." Apparently the person who wrote this letter was not clear as to which day Mr. Wellings should come to Stoke, but there is no doubt that Mr. Wellings knew perfectly well. There was a gentleman present at Stoke Show whom he told at Liverpool Show that he was judging at Stoke on the 16th, and I, with many others, cannot accept this trap accident tale from this person Bibby without further proof. If Mr. Wellings was sufficiently recovered from an accident as to come to Stoke on the Friday he was able to let us know that he could not come on the Thursday—the day on which the show was held. A most extraordinary feature of the affair is that I have received no further communication from Mr. Wellings, although I sent a telegram, on receipt of his letter, telling him the show was over, no use coming. I have written at some length on this matter, because it is only fair to my committee that exhibitors at Stoke Show should know that what happened was no fault of ours, and that we did the best we possibly could under the circumstances.

J. Pitchford.

Sec., Stoke, C.B.A.

Sir,—Mr. Wellings, having met with a serious accident on Nov. 14, was unable to fulfil his engagement at Stoke; also, his birds were absent from Prestou Show. Whilst out with the trap, the wheels skidded in the tram line, and he was thrown out, alighting on his head and shoulder. He was conveyed home, and was attended to by Dr. Bert Green. It was found the shoulder was seriously injured, but I am pleased to say he is on the way to recovery and hopes to be able to fulfil his engagements again now. Please publish this, as it may relieve some disappointed exhibitors at Stoke; as we have heard that there was great disappointment.

E. Bibby.

Is it Cruel to Keep Birds in Cages?

Sir,—Noting a letter in the current issue of Cage Birds from Mr. A. T. Suthren re the age of a couple of Blackbirds, I might state that some years ago my wife had a pair of wild-caught Thrushes which were turned fifteen years of age when they died. She also possessed a tame Sparrow (saved from a cat), which followed her about the house. My Yellowhammer, a Canary, and two young Greenfinches will bathe on the living-room table and feed from the hand. My children play with them on the rug in front of the fire, and they go back quite satisfied to their cages. Where's the cruelty, I wonder?

B. Pain.

Borders at Liverpool Show.

Sir,—Respecting the supposed to be colour-fed Borders at Liverpool Show, Mr. A. Wellings has not replied to my enquiries, so I would like him to know, and the readers of Cage Birds, that those birds were at Manchester Show under Mr. S. Hadwin as judge. They have also been out this last week-end—some to Preston under either Mr. Houlton or Mr. Rae as judge, and some to Sale under Mr. Cowgill. This latter gentleman, when my wife asked him whether in his opinion they showed any signs of colour-feed, replied that they would not be such a beautiful level colour right through if they had had any colour feed. I would also like the other two judges' opinions upon them at Manchester and Preston Shows.

Walter Bayley.

What Causes Short Entries?

Our Correspondent's Remedy is a Reduction of the Entry Fee.

Sir,—In glancing through your most interesting paper, Cage Birds, this week, I am very forcibly struck by the numerous secretaries who are lamenting the smallness of entries for their forthcoming shows. Now some of them even go so far as to suggest that exhibitors are losing some of their enthusiasm. Well, I may be hopelessly wrong, but I am going to suggest that perhaps these secretaries and members of the various show committees have (at least in my humble opinion) not yet grasped the reason why entries are—"falling-off," shall we say? I am of the candid opinion that the entrance fees are the chief cause of this apparent lack of enthusiasm, and, if I may suggest it, I should say 1s. per bird and, as an inducement for exhibitors, four birds for 3s. would be ample to charge. I daresay that my suggestions will be criticised by many older fanciers, as I am quite a novice at this most delightful hobby. I assure you, sir, it is not very often I run the risk of allowing myself to be set us as being of an interfering disposition, but at all cost I am going to run it this time, and, as to results—well, wait and see. Now, sir, there are, to my knowledge, hundreds of bird fanciers in South Wales who have probably (from the show point of view) never been heard of, yet at the same time have such birds that I feel sure would be "eye-openers" for a good many, and these beautiful creatures are never given the chance to "gather in" honours justly due to them! Why? Unfortunately, because their owners have not the means at their disposal to show to the bird-loving community of large the fruits of their labours. I was speaking only the other day to a very old fancier, and asked him if he anticipated exhibiting this year. The reply I got was as follows: "No, Mr. Morgan, it doesn't pay us poor chaps. It is all right for those who have plenty, because, by the time you pay 1s. 6d. per bird and carriage both ways, even if you are successful, there isn't much left, and if you are not—well, it means a lot to us." Now, this, I think, is a very forcible argument in favour of my contention. I venture to suggest that then, and not till then, will we see our secretaries coming up with smiling faces and remarking at the increase of entries at their shows. I go further, and without fear of contradiction say that the status of the Fancy will be raised to almost a state of perfection—all will be eligible to exhibit. I am not voicing my own personal grievance, but that of my less fortunate brother fanciers.

Ivor M. Morgan.

Hints on the Catching of Robins.

Sir,—In reply to "Yorkshire" on the catching of Robins, I may say I have always found them the easiest of any birds to catch. The old brick trap and a few bits of bread on a cold morning work wonders. Another good old method is the sieve set up with a stick and a few yards of string. The Robin hops boldly under, a sharp pull on the string, and he is yours. Personally I always liberate them straight away. Can any of your readers give me a hint or two as to the catching of Chaffinches? I find them very shy and difficult to get at.

JOHN CARTER.

The Fancy in Manchester and District.

Sir,—Is it true that at a recent members' show at one of the Manchester societies certain members came the night before the show, criticised other people's birds, and next morning brought their own birds? They are not worthy of the name of sportsmen. I am very pleased that Ardwick and Dist. have passed a rule that a show committee take all members' birds and stage them, the members not to handle them till after the show is open. They also have passed a rule (in accord with Mr. Downing) that any member showing in British classes, should they win firsts, still retain their place in the Novice Section with Canaries; and so it should be, for many a one has kept British and never a Canary. Now, novices, since the ball has been set rolling, why don't you all buck up and keep kicking it along? Surely you do not want one or two to fight all your battles for you? I believe Mr. Downing's letter, also mine, at a show last week caused a small "storm in a tea-cup."

A. E. LONG.

A Plea for a "Bit of Fat."

Sir,—Now that the winter is approaching, may I, as a great lover of birds, urge upon your readers to remember that little scraps of fat and table leavings placed regularly in the garden will draw many wild birds, and lead them to frequent the place. I always do this, as well as placing a large dish of water during dry weather, and my old garden is the haunt of Robins, Chaffinches, and, best loved of all, Tits of two or three kinds; while Robins, Blackbirds, and Thrushes rear young year after year. To avoid cats, the food can be placed upon a wooden board fixed upon a strong wooden centre leg with a pointed end driven into the ground. I have some fifty or sixty birds living in a large aviary in the same garden, and these seem also to draw the wild birds. My Canaries are some of the finest, and live outdoors all the year round, often waiting in winter to drink and bathe until I break ice, and flocking about me and settling on head and shoulders. I must add that I have taken every copy of your excellent paper for about five or six years.

A. LESTER MILLER.

Is Artificial Colouring of Birds Encouraged or Otherwise?

Sir,—I have visited some half-dozen cage bird shows within the last half-dozen weeks, and I am simply disgusted at the state of some of the exhibits, which seem to have been through the artist's hands previous to being staged on the show bench. Now I consider that show officials or clubs, who are responsible for the rules of their clubs could do much to help to decrease this unsportsmanlike habit by keeping the protest fee a little lower than some of them do. Just fancy one society, paying prize-money 10s., 5s., 2s. 6d., has a protest deposit of 5s., and another society, just paying a very little more than half of that prize-money, has a protest deposit of £1. Surely this club is expecting fanciers to visit their show with a lot of money to throw away—or, in other words, they do not want any bother with protests. Now, as far as I can see, this painting, as I may term it, is increasing instead of decreasing, and until something is done with the offenders, either one way or another, I look for entries decreasing also. I hope to hear the views of someone with a more able pen.

LANARKSHIRE NOVICE.

Gale and Oil Lamp Cause a Sad Loss.

Sir,—It is my misfortune to have to add my name to that already too long list of fanciers who have lost their birds by accident. My bird room is situated in my garden, and is heated by a system of hot-water pipes, the heat being generated by an oil stove. Being well aware of the dangerous nature of oil lamps in any form, I had it in an iron-cased box outside my bird room. However, during the gale we had here on Wednesday night, in spite of all precautions, my shed took fire, and although the damage done to the building was not great, I have lost the whole of my Norwich and British, both soft and hard bills, nearly forty in all, many entered at forthcoming shows and every one a pal. That to me is the hardest part of all, for although perhaps in time I shall be able to replace the birds, I shall have to wait a long time before I can cultivate the same confidence and affection in fresh birds that those I have lost always showed to me. Will secretaries kindly note that I shall have no birds to show this season? Schedules have a nasty way of reminding one of what might have been.

The Norwich Plainhead Club and the Derby Show.

Sir,—Will intending exhibitors at Derby Show kindly note that the Natural Colour classes are as follows:—Class 10, Natural Colour Cocks A.V.; Class 10a, Natural Colour Hens, A.V.; and kindly enter accordingly?

New Cage Bird Society for Colinton and Currie Parish.

Sir,—A public meeting was held in the Drill Hall, Juniper Green, on Nov. 18, Parish Councillor A. Bigbie in the chair, when it was proposed to form the above society, and the following committee were appointed:—President, Parish Councillor Mr. Begbie; secretary, Mr. Jas. Napier, Stuart's Buildings, Juniper Green; treasurer, Mr. James P. Rodger; committee, Messrs. H. Dickson, A. Davidson, J. Michie, J. Johnstone, and D. Campbell. Over twenty members were enrolled after the meeting. The membership fee was fixed at 3s. per year, and the society confined to the parishes of Colinton and Currie. The next meeting will be in the Drill Hall, Juniper Green, on Saturday, Dec. 2, at 8 p.m., when we hope to enrol a large number of new members.

JAMES NAPIER.

Bradford National Cage Bird Show.

A Great Charity Event Anticipated.

Sir,—Schedules for the great Bradford National Show should now be in the hands of all the Specialist Club members whose patronage has been obtained. Schedules have been sent to the different secretaries of affiliated Y.U. societies, so that members have nothing to do but just apply to the secretary of their own society and ask for a schedule. The reason for this method is not far to seek. The schedule requires 1d. postage, and it was felt that secretaries would willingly lend a hand in distributing these. All members of the Union should note that the entries close on Thursday, Nov. 30. Remember the huge classification for Yorkshire and all other varieties, and, above all, send on the required entries and make the show one which will ever be a source of gratification to Yorkshiremen to look back upon. Once and for all let it be established as the Crystal Palace Show of Yorkshire. A word to exhibitors will not be out of place. I would draw your attention to the names of officials constituting the various committees, with one object, namely, that of giving you confidence to enter the best specimens you possess, in the knowledge that men of great experience will be waiting to receive at the stations those birds coming by rail, others to stage them, and above all a railway committee consisting of exhibiting fanciers, who are fully alive to all their responsibilities in despatching the birds back to their owners in good time and good condition. The hall in which the show will be held is superb, embracing all the essential points required to give comfort to exhibits and exhibitors, with all the latest improvements as regards heating and ventilation. This perfect hall has only been secured after tremendous difficulty, and at enormous expense. It is within three minutes' walk of all the central stations in Bradford, and is just in the centre of the city itself. In addition to this, everybody who desires to partake of refreshments—dinner, luncheon, or tea—can do so at the show, and at a price which cannot be eclipsed outside. The catering is in the hands of one of the best firms in the city. Arrangements have been made with the railway companies for cheap excursions to be run on the Saturday, and special facilities to visitors desirous of spending a few hours at the show will be published in next week's CAGE BIRDS. The list of special prizes is a very large and gratifying one. Exhibitors will note with satisfaction that none of the judges have more than eight classes to judge, thereby ensuring exhibitors that their exhibits will not be "rushed" in the least. The whole of the committees have worked like Trojans, have put their heart and soul into everything, with the sole object of making the show a magnificent success. It remains with the exhibitors now to put on the finishing-touch. Beautiful diplomas have been purchased by the committee. May the show be a glorious success, and, above all, may the committeemen who have worked together so nobly and well have the satisfaction of handing a substantial sum of money to the Cinderella Fund for Poor Children, a desire which has permeated their minds throughout the five months that the show has been on the tapis. The committee will meet at the Market Tavern, Godwin St., Bradford, on Thursday, Nov. 30, at 7.30 p.m. to 11 p.m. to take entries. Yorkshiremen are expected to do their duty.

H. HILL, secretary.

Several letters unavoidably held over.

When I sent up an advt. for house-moulted British I had not my "CAGE BIRDS" with me to see price of advts. I had no idea advts. were so cheap, as I expected one insertion only instead of which I got three. I have had 307 replies, from which I have picked 19 birds. As far as possible, I have replied to all those from whom I got replies, but if any have been overlooked I trust they will excuse me under the circumstances. Many thanks for your attention, and if I wish to replenish my stock at any time, I shall certainly not hesitate to repeat my advt. in "C.B."—R. G. Clubbs (Glasgow).

Africa; Brown, Dalmellington; Webb, Wandsworth; Polleys, Barking; Garner, Southend; Bremner, Rodger, Angus, Alloa; Beaton, Kincardine; Alton, Kimberley; Lukey, Park, Falshaw, Ferguson, Phizacklea, Dalton.

More Hon. Secs.

I have again the pleasure of announcing additions as below to our list of local Honorary Secretaries.

Rugby, Mr. B. Pain, 13, William Street.
Wandsworth, Mr. Walter T. Webb, 38, Sudlow Road, Wandsworth, S.W.

Further Preference to League Members.

At the following shows, in addition to those named in last week's issue, members of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE will be admitted at a reduced charge, if wearing their badges or producing their membership receipt. The reductions are the same as announced last week, namely, threepence in the shilling admission charge, or twopence in the cases of sixpenny admission fees.

Many of the shows the reductions at which were announced in last week's issue are for future dates, and members and readers should please refer to that list as well as to the list below.

Dec. 1-2—LANCASTER PRIMROSE, Central Hall, Great John Street.
ULSTER O.S., Clarence Place Hall, May Street, Belfast.
Dec. 2—FORRES AND NORTHERN O.A., Mechanics' Institute, Forres.
KINGSWOOD, BRISTOL, Kingswood Hotel.
CLITHEROE.
PLUMSTEAD.
Dec. 6—FALMOUTH, Town Hall.
Dec. 6-7—WANDSWORTH, Bijou Hall, Spread Eagle Yard, High Street.
Dec. 8—HETTON-LE-HOLE.
BUSH HILL PARK.
Jan. 6—GUISBOROUGH.

Grimsby Goes One Better.

Not content with making a reduction similar to that made by the many societies already named, the Secretary of Grimsby and Cleethorpes R.C.C. writes: "At our meeting on Saturday the Committee decided to admit CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE members, if wearing a badge or producing a membership receipt, FREE OF ANY CHARGE." Here is a chance for Grimsby fanciers to familiarise themselves with the charming song of the "living musical boxes" known as Roller Canaries, and those who do not already know of the extraordinary qualities of the song of these wonderful little birds may look forward to something in the nature of a revelation. The show is to be held at the Adult School, Albert Street, Grimsby, on Dec. 1-2, and CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE members should make a note of the address and date.

A Good Cause.

The Secretary of BRADFORD NATIONAL, Mr. H. Hill, writes explaining that the whole of the profits of the show are to be handed over to the Cinderella Fund for poor children. In these circumstances I am sure that members of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE would not wish for any reduction, and I hope that every LEAGUE member in Bradford will attend this show, at the Central Baths, Morley Street, Bradford, and support so good a cause. In conveying the information, Mr. Hill says "Your idea is a good one, and I can see much all round benefit to be derived in pursuing such a course." That many other secretaries and committees are of the same opinion is evident from the length of the lists I have had the pleasure of publishing last week and this, and I hope I shall be able in due course to announce a similar arrangement with many of the shows which are yet to be held.

Dalton C.B.A. Nearly All in the League.

In forwarding the five names of Dalton members, which are included in the above list, Mr. Houldsworth, the Hon. Sec., writes:—"There are only about three members of our Society yet to join the LEAGUE, and I think I shall be able to get them in before long." It is to support such as this that CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE owes the progress to which it has made in the first few month of its existence, and the Dalton C.B.A. has reason to be congratulated upon its whole-heartedness in the cause which we all have so much at heart.

Posters for the Shows.

In response to the suggestions of several members, neat posters have been prepared conveying an invitation to visitors to shows to join CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE and assist to protect our hobby. Many Secretaries have already expressed their wish to have these posters for display at their exhibitions, and I shall be glad to forward copies to any applying for them. I hope, therefore, that all Secretaries will take advantage of the offer now made, and apply for the Posters forthwith.

Handbills for the Shows.

Many applications have been received from Hon. Secs. of Societies for a supply of our handbills for distribution, and parcels have been despatched to all applicants. A number will be sent gratis and post free to the Secretary of any forthcoming show who may write me for them, stating the number he will require. The name of the society will in each case be printed at the foot of the handbills sent. A copy of the bill was printed in our issue of Nov. 4.

OUR LEAGUE SEALS.

These pretty seals are printed in gold and colours in exact fascimile of our Badges, and are an ornament to envelopes, notepaper, postcards, billheads, etc. All members should use them; price eightpence per hundred, post free. Smaller quantities at the hundred rate, but with one penny extra for postage.

OUR FREE BOOKLETS.

I have still some of each of the sixpenny pamphlets on British Bird Culture and on Canary and Hybrid Culture, and, as long as they last, one of either will be sent gratis to all new members applying for a copy at the time of joining. Old members who have not yet had a copy may receive one on sending a penny stamp for postage. Only one copy of either book can be sent, and when the stock in hand is exhausted, I may not be able to get a fresh supply, so applications (with membership fee) should be sent to me without delay.

SUBSCRIPTION AND BADGES.

The subscription to CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE is one shilling annually, and the badges sixpence or one shilling. The sixpenny badges are in three forms: (1) a button for coat lapel, (2) a pendant for watch chain, (3) a brooch for lapel, cycling cap, or for lady's wear. The badges of one shilling each are mounted in 9-carat rolled-gold, and are in two forms only: (1) a pendant for watch chain, (2) a brooch for a lady or for cycling cap or coat lapel. Members should distinctly state which form they prefer.

JUNIOR BRANCH.

PATRONS.

Ladies or gentlemen who are in sympathy with the objects of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE may give practical expression to that sympathy by becoming PATRONS of the LEAGUE, and either making a lump sum donation to its funds or subscribing an annual amount of a guinea or upwards. One-half of such donation or subscription may be allotted to any individual object of the LEAGUE.

VICE-PRESIDENTS.

The qualification for Vice-Presidentship is an annual subscription of not less than half a guinea, and one-half of this subscription may be allotted to either the Literature Fund, the Defence Fund, or towards the purchase of special prizes to be given at any show nominated by the subscriber. Failing any such special allocation, the subscription will be devoted to the development and progressive work of the LEAGUE, to advertising its objects and promoting its ideals.

HENRY J. FULLJAMES,
154, FLEET STREET, LONDON, E.C.

Allow me to thank the officials of the Y.B.C.S. of Ireland for their prompt payment of prize money, writes Mr. C. J. Faith (Co. Down). I may also say that I was fortunate to win special for best Norwich (cock) and special for best hen.

We have been notified of the following corrections of show reports Southend and S.C.O.S. awards in several classes, Mr. Bunning (not Bunney), and in the novice Yorks yell. hen class, 2nd, Mr. E. W. COWDENBEATH.

A Good and Well-managed Exhibition.

Cowdenbeath C.B.S. first annual open show held 18th Nov., in the Masonic Hall, which is well suited for a cage bird show, being one of the best for light that we have seen. The show proved a great success. Scots Fancies were an exceptional lot for quality, some grand ones being staged. There was a fine display of Crests and Norwich, which took up a large part of the hall. Borders and Yorkshires, too, were a very fine display, and came in for much attention, while the Hybrids and British birds came up well in numbers, and were certainly a great attraction to the show. The hall, in the afternoon, was packed to the utmost, which was very gratifying to the office-bearers. Mr. J. R. Reid makes a right good secretary in every way. He was well supported by the president (Mr. Mitchell), the vice-president (Mr. Simpson), and a hard-working committee. Judges for Scots, Mr. Low; for Nor., Mr. Adams; for Borders and Yorks., Mr. McKenzie was engaged, but we were very sorry to learn that he could not come owing to a family bereavement, but they got a good substitute; for Hybrids and British, Mr. Goodfellow. The judges all got through in good time, and gave every satisfaction. Mr. Black won cup for best in show with a grand Scots yell. cock; Mr. C. Smith was runner-up with a varieg. yell. Norwich Plainhead; Mr. Arnott won the B.F.C. medal; and Messrs. Simpson and Baxter cup for most points over show.

CITY & SUBURBAN.

Sixteenth annual show held Nov. 17 and 18 in the fine hall of the Church Institute, Paddington, W. There was an excellent entry of 405 birds, and it is no exaggeration to say that the quality in all sections would be difficult to surpass, many noted metropolitan fanciers putting down splendid teams in competition for the Society's magnificent cups, challenge shield and other specials, which made a brave display in the hall and drew much admiration from the visitors. Unfortunately the weather was simply vile, heavy rain falling the greater part of the time, and this naturally militated against the "gate" being up to its usual standard. On the Saturday, though, a goodly crowd braved the elements. Mr. A. W. Curtis, as show manager, had everything in admirable order and the smoothness with which the show worked bore excellent testimony to his ability and the care he had lavished upon every detail. He is a real good fancier, of whom any society may be proud. The stewards, Messrs. H. W. Dickinson, A. W. Hart, F. Knight, E. C. Offord, W. Page, W. Prance, W. Pooley, W. Shepheld, and Thynne, must also be highly complimented upon the work they did so cheerfully and well, while Mr. W. G. Sanders, the very capable staging steward, and Mr. J. Chard, deserve special mention. Mr. V. Wynn, the popular late secretary, also did some good work in a quiet way. Several respected lady bird-lovers, Mrs. Maher, Mrs. Thynne, and Mrs. Weston, with Miss Lethbridge, earned the gratitude of everyone by the splendid manner in which they looked after the catering department. The chief special winners were: Challenge shield and Yorks. cup, J. P. Lloyd; Nor. bowl, F. Lathlieff; Coronation cup, F. Knight; Prince and Lassie cups and best Can. in show, A. Lazarus; best lady's Can., Mrs. Thynne; Mayfair, Harris and Wyse cups, and best lady's bird, best Hyb. and Brit., Mrs. Weston; best For., Hon. Mrs. Bourke; two Insectiv. cups, F. J. Evans; cup best Linnet, C. Botting; best amat. Can., H. W. Dickinson; best Novice, F. Lathlieff; Nov. points cup, Brit. E. C. Offord; the Weston points cup, W. Page. The judges were Messrs. J. Mackley (Can.), and C. Prior (the remainder) and we heard no grumbling concerning their decisions. We were pleased to learn that the membership roll, high as it is at present, continues to increase in fine style.

Mr. J. Mackley's Classes.

NOR. YELL. (CHAMP) (4): 1, 3, Curtis, wing, head and neck mkd., fine shape, good head, high quality, 3rd smaller, but typical, A1 quality; 2, Harper, grand typical specimen, well across perch, lovely head, neck and shoulders; vhc, Martin. WOODSIDE (Aberdeen).

Annual show of the Woodside O.S. held Burgh Hall, 18th. Entries showed a falling off compared with previous years, but a number of excellent exhibits were forward.. The feature of the exhibition was the capital display of Norwich. President is Mr. P. Stewart; Vice-President, Mr. Strachan; and Secretary, Mr. A. Thomson. These gentlemen had everything in perfect order, and are to be congratulated on their arrangements. The birds were nicely staged, at a convenieut height. Mr. Allan Marr was appointed to judge Nor., but he had to "cry off" at the last minute. His place was ably filled by Mr. W. Grewar (Forfar), who got through his work in a creditable manner, seeing that this was his first outing. Mr. W. Mitchell (Perth) took the remaining classes. Special for best unflig. Nor. was gained by Mr. Sandison; Mr. W. Allison, Hydes', also Sandiford's medal; Mr. A. Steele, Ramsden medal; special for most points in Small Brit., Mr. F. A. Watt. We are sorry to hear that Mr. A. Thomson is about to resign his post aa secretary. He has done a great amount of good for the Fancy and has worked hard for this particular society.

PENZANCE.

Penzance and Dist. F.A. Show, held Corn Exchange, Nov. 10 and 11. The hall, kindly lent by the Mayor (Howell Mabbett, Esq.), is a magnificent place for such a purpose, having plenty of light all round; it is also cosy and comfortable, and perfectly free from draughts. The staging was in every way perfect, and every bird could be seen without any trouble. We were sorry to see Crest and Cinn. classes cancelled. Where are the birds? There are plenty in Cornwall. Mules and Hybrids were a very hot lot, especially the Light Class, and in this section was found the best bird in show, Mr. F. Collins's well-known six-point Goldie Mule ("Sunbeam"). British birds, too, were a splendid lot, and were a hard task to judge; two sets of winners could easily have been picked out. The committee, Messrs. Gendall (chairman), Carne, Batten, Treganowan, Williams, Watkins, Warren, Phillips, and Sampson, are all good fanciers, and worked ungrudgingly in the interests of this fixture. The Hon. Secretary, Mr. W. C. Boddinar, is a hard worker; he is also a capital director, and is courteous and obliging. Under his guidance the Penzance Show will progress by leaps and bounds. Mr. W. G. Poole (Stratford-on-Avou) judged, and his awards gave every satisfaction. We also noticed prominently displayed posters of the CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE, while Mr. F. Collins, the Camborne and District Hon. Secretary of the League, was busy distributing the League leaflets. Gold medal for most points was won by Messrs. Rowe and Richards; special, value 10s. 6d. (given by Messrs. Fry and Sons) for 2nd points, Mr. F. Collins.

CAMBUSLANG.

Annual show held 4th Nov., Free Gardeners' Hall, an ideal place for a show of the kind, being well lighted and free from draughts. Mr. Brownlie (president), and Mr. McCulloch (sec.) were well supported by a hard working committee, who, one and all, were courteous and obliging, and had everything in apple-pie order. Mr. H. P. Hutchison (Barrhead) made the awards, and his decisions were well received. This society has just emerged from a trying season, through loss of members and a bad breeding season, but with a stout heart set to a steep hill they mean to surmount their little difficulties as only true and trusty fanciers can by binding themselves hard and fast one to another. Although the number of exhibits was down a bit this year, the quality in most cases was of a high standard, and the show undoubtedly a success.

The Critique.

YOUNG NOR.: 1, spl, Lindsay, neat and typical cl. buff, fine head, well balanced wings, nice quality feather. OLD CK.: 1, spl, Proudfoot, cl. buff, fine wings, good feather, well staged; 2, Haddow, fine head and neck; 3, Proudfoot, good nat. col., fine head and wing, carriage, well cut away behind; 4, Lindsay, good quality cl. yell., fine head and style. OLD HEN: 1, Haddow, tick buff, some thought lucky, being a bit long in barrel for a buff; 2, Proudfoot, small, but neat and typical cl. yell., well placed; 3, Lindsay, varieg. buff, fine size and substance, neat head, wings and tail; 4, Allan, fine size. YOUNG CREST OR C.B.: 1, 2, S. Lindsay, leader green crest, nice headpiece, fine radiation and droop, will be a good one when finished; 2, C.B., nice feather. YOUNG CL., Etc., BORD.: 1, sp, Pearce, very sweet, typical, neat head, well filled in neck, well braced wings, pipe tail; 2, S. Lindsay, very nice one. Hen: 1, J. Lindsay, sl. buff, nice style, good carriage; 2, 3, Brownlie, leader cl. yell., grand type and quality, best of feather, 3rd good feather, neat wings and tail; 4, Pearce, quite a nice one all over. A.O.V. BORD.: 1, Brownlie, fine level col., yell. varieg., neatly marked wings, nice type; 2, spl, 3, 4, Cougans, leader fine buff cinn., finely pencilled, grand quality feather, neat and typical spec., worth its place, 3rd varieg. buff, nicely staged; 4, another buff cinn. OLD BORD. CK.: 1, Pearce, real good one, tight and boxey in feather, sweet and typical; 2, 3, Brownlie, cl. yell. of fine quality feather, well staged, 3rd varieg. cinn. mkd., nice one; 4, Cougans, nice quality cl., might perhaps have gone up a peg. OLD HEN: 1, 2, Pearce, leader cl. buff, good feather, 2nd cl. yell., good quality and type, neat carriage of wings and tail; 3, Cougans, finely pencilled yell. green, good quality feather; 4, Brownlie, nice cl. yell. YOUNG DARK MULE: 1, spl, and cup, Pearce, dark buff Goldie Mule, shows cross well, put down in faultless condition; 2, 3, spl, Brownlie, 2nd quite as big as winner, but not up to col. yet, 3rd fine Jonque, in good trim; 4, Haddow, another Jonque of fine quality. YOUNG VAR. MULE: A fine class: 1, 3, Lindsay, leader fine sized yell., good deep col. and quality, in the opinion of many ought to have captured cup, a creditable one, 3rd nice buff, put down in spanking fine condition, well placed; 2, 4, Haddow, 2nd another real good Jonque, following hard on leader, 4th yet another nice one, well put down. GOLDFINCH: 1, spl, Haddow, grand little fellow, in fine col., rare square cut blaze, good whites and tanning, very stylish and steady, wins well; 2, S. Lindsay, another good one, well up in col. and markings; 3, Cougans, unsteady, rare depth of blaze, col.; 4, Proudfoot, steady, good one throughout. BULLIE HEN: 1, spl, Proudfoot, real tip top one, fine expansive deep jet cap and neat wing bars; 2, McCulloch, another topper for quality and staging; 3, Cougans, larger than 2nd, but not in the same faultless condition; 4, Haddow, quite a good exhibit. LINNET: 1, spl, 3, Haddow, 1st finely pencilled, steady spec., good nutty col. and fine whites, 3rd yet another good one, well staged; 2, Lindsay, another very good one, put down in fine trim, nicely pencilled, must have pressed hard; 4, Cougans, nice one. GREENFINCH: 1, 4, Proudfoot, 1st real good one, fine bold upstanding fellow, in the best of condition, well fed; 2, McCulloch, another good one for size and condition; 3, Lindsay, quite a fair one, but beaten here. LESSER REDPOLL: 1, spl, Brownlie, good size, finely pencilled h.m. exhibit, wins; 2, and 3, Haddow, leader really good field-moulted one, fine col. and markings, good bib, well placed, 3rd another well staged one; 4, Cougans, nice one, well staged. MEALY 'POLL, ETC.: 1, Brownlie, nice sized, steady, well pencilled, good exhibit, staged to perfection; 2, 3, McCulloch, leader nice Siskin, good col., fine dark cap and bib, 3rd another 'poll of nice size and condition; 4, Cougans, quite a nice Twite. MULING OR HYB. HEN: 1, McCulloch, tip-top Greenie hen, put down in faultless condition; 2, S. Lindsay, good one; 3, Proudfoot, not one of the largest, but every feather in its place, condition A1. A.O.V. SMALL BRIT.: 1, spl, Haddow, fine Yellowhammer, in rare trim, steady well shown, fine head markings, good body col; 2, 3, Cougans, two grand exhibits, leader fine steady, good coloured Chaffic, in rare bloom, 3rd rare good Bullie cock, fine dark well defined cap; 4, McCulloch, Yellowhammer. A.O.V. CAN.: 1, spl, 3, S. Lindsay, 1st nice green Crest, good top-piece, fine droop and radiation, well staged, easy win, 3rd another good Crest, rather lighter in build; 2, Allan, good Scots. Fancy, fine top end, nice reach and length of side. An interesting feature of the show is the duty of handing over the cup for best bird to the successful competitor, who, in this case, happened to be a young fancier in his first year. In the absence of the president, Mr. R. H. Livingstone was asked to hand over the cup. Mr. Livingstone wished the young fancier every success.

HARROGATE.

An Undeserved Poor Entry.

Harrogate C.B.S. 8th annual show, held Nov. 18th. The Society was again able to secure the Carlton Room, a magnificent place for a cage-bird show, with plenty of light, free from all draughts, and capable of being kept at a nice even temperature. Twenty classes were provided, which, we regret to say, filled badly, the response being only 232 entries. The open section in particular was poorly supported, and half prize-money had to be the order of the day. The novices were well provided for, and they responded well, both in quality and number of the exhibits. We might say here that the Society is going to hold an open show early in the New Year for novices only, and if they provide a good classification and advertise it well, we have no doubt but that success will result. The Sec., Mr. W. E. Fergusson, is new to his position, but he is all that could be desired, and he had everything in first-class order. This able fancier is a "Cage Bird League" man himself, also the majority of the members, and they did not forget to push its interests, for posters were placed everywhere. The birds were got upon their way home by 7 o'clock. The committee are a lot of good, hard-working fanciers, and the show manager, Mr. Gill, was always business-like and on the alert. Committee, Mr. Beilby, chairman, Mr. Walker, vice-chairman, and Messrs. Head, Lealman, Ireland, Houseman, and Gill, went about the packing in the evening in fine style—in fact, everything went like clockwork. We are very sorry so good a lot of fanciers were not better patronised by exhibitors. Mr. L. C. Casey won sp. for best hen in the open classes. Mr. Ramsden's eruct was won by Mr. S. Morley; Mr. G. Ireland won the Barnwell Trophy; Mr. Walker sp. for best yell. hen; Mr. Beilby, best buff hen; Mr. Ireland, best unflig.; Mr. Gill, best old bird; Mr. Thomas, most points in show. Mr. J. Bailey (Bradford) judged. His awards seemed to give general satisfaction, and he got through his work in good time. We hope there may not be any balance on the wrong side.

The Critique.

YORKS. CL. or TKD. YELL. (8): 1, Hall, wing tick, hot col., splendid size and shape, stands on a pair of good legs, straight as a gun; 2, Thomas, nice Yorkie, good quality and position, excellent length and col.; 3, Long, bigger bird, good one, but a little loose in feather; 4, Hutter; vhc, Morrison; hc, Stobart; c, Barrett. BUFF (6): 1, Wilkinson Bros., good win, tkd. head, splendid quality and col., grand length, straight as a line, good legs, a beauty; 2, Thomas, another topper, stands like a guardsman, nicely cut away, shade shorter than leader; 3, Morrison, good size and position, fine type, loses little in feather; 4, Hutter; vhc, Stobart; hc, Wrigglesworth. UNEVENLY MKD. AVONBRIDGE.

The Points Cup Won Outright.

Avonbridge O.S. 18th annual show held November 13th, in the Public School. The place is well adapted for such an exhibition, each section of the show having a hall to itself. The cage bird section had the centre hall, which is well lighted on both sides, with plenty of room for visitors to examine the different classes comfortably. The management was in the able hands of Messrs. Peter Gentleman and Robert Binnie, who were backed up by a few hard-working stewards, headed by their President, Vice-President, and Treasurer (Messrs. M. Steel, D. Lamond and R. Dunsmore). The entries all over were good, and the quality the best. The British bird and mule sections turned out well, 151 exhibits being staged. The Borders came next with 144 entries. The Norwich section was a little down on former years. In the Border Fancy section we were sorry to see a case of exhibits from Liverpool arrived too late for judging; however, they received the kind attention of the officials in charge. Mr. R. Gentleman won the handsome silver cup outright for most points over show, having won same twice in succession. A handsome special for second most points was won by Mr. J. Nicholson, who had a splendid team of Britishers on view, which were good winners in their respective classes. Mr. H. Wilson (Bannockburn) judged Nor. and Borders, and Mr. W. Sharp (Bathgate) Mules and British birds; and their awards left little room for grumbling.

GOVANHILL.

Sixth annual show of the Govanhill and Dis. O.A. Tennant; vice-president, Mr. J. McMichael; sec. and treasurer, Mr. C. Watson. Entries were a shade up compared with last year, and the quality quite up to the standard. Sec. Watson, who knows his business, had all the arrangements well in hand. Judges: Messrs. R. Wright (Greenock), W. Webster (Greenock), and R. Price (Barrhead), whose duties as judges were well received. There was a large turnout of visitors and breeders, and the show was a big success in every way, both for "gate" and entries. The best bird in hall was Mr. W. Wilson's buff cock, which wins cup and gold medal; runner up, silver medal, Mr. J. Vernall. The club is making very steady progress, and is very popular in the district. The officials are all well known breeders, and are fully determined to make their association a big success. Ex Councillor Dr. Garey, J.P., presented the prizes. He said afterwards that the most important part of the programme to his mind was that the members and friends thought they might in some way recognise Secretary Watson's work on behalf of the association. He had much pleasure therefore in handing over a purse, well filled, on behalf of the members and friends of the association. Mr. Watson suitably acknowledged the gift.

VALE OF LEVEN.

Cage birds, we are pleased to announce, have revived here. On 18th Nov. the first annual show was held in the Public Hall, Alexandria. The hall is admirably adapted for a cage bird show. We were delighted to see our friend, Mr. A. H. McLean, at the helm; a better man could not be wished for as secretary. He received his training in Glasgow, having been several times on the working committee of the City of Glasgow O.A. He was supported by an energetic committee, and everything was well arranged. Entries were 250, and the quality was exceptionally good. The show was, in fact, a big success. The hall was packed with visitors. Judges: Messrs. Connolly and Wright, whose awards appeared to please the majority.

BLYTH.

Blyth C.B.S. 5th annual show held Mission Hall, Goschen Street, November 11th, The Hall, is an ideal one, being large and free from draughts, and kept at a nice even temperature all day. Entries came up well; especially the Borders, some nice ones having to stand cardless. Judging was got over in good time, and the show was well patronised. In Mr. Rowell the society have an ideal secretary—one whose place it would be hard to fill; they also possess a lot of good honest fanciers as a committee. Mr. R. S. Bewick, Newcastle, and A. Hay, Berwick, judged, and their awards seemed to give general satisfaction. One little incident we had to note was a Yell. Yorks. taking spl. for best young Yorks in show; when judging for cup for best young bird in show we found the cup on a Buff Yorkie, already beaten for best Yorkie spl by the Yell.

The Critique.

YORKS. CL. YELL. (9): 1, spl, C. Taylor, takes cup for best in show, nice type and condition, hot col., wins well; 2, (no name), similar, fails only in col.; 3, Young, not quite ready, yet good one; vhc, and hc, Rowell and Younger. Happy Hours at Hull.

A GLORIOUS ENTRY.

The efforts of the officials meet with a record response.

Hull C.B.S. 17th annual show held Nov. 17 and 18. The new Corn Exchange, Market Place, in which the exhibits were admirably staged, is very spacious, splendidly lighted (top and side), lofty and well ventilated, and absolutely void of draughts. There was an excellent classification and capital prize money, which was guaranteed. The response was an entry of over 780 birds, thus creating a record, topping last year's total by a matter of 40 exhibits. Norwich as usual made a nice collection. Some really remarkable exhibits were on view. Yorkshires were truly very choice. The open novice Nor. and Yorks. classes, £3 limit, contained many bargains; one could easily have selected from among them a nice team, fit for any company. Mules and British birds were a remarkably fine lot, worth many a mile's journey to inspect. The buff Greenie-Can. (Martin and Archer) is a knock-out; also the Linnet-Bullie (Todd and Son). Foreign birds added tone to the festival. Members' classes contained some "cream," and appeared to us far better than last year's. The chairman, Mr. G. W. Oliver, is a worker and not a shirker; the amount of effort he puts forth on behalf of his society, one cannot over-estimate. Mr. F. H. Stamford acts as understudy, and in case of necessity would be quite capable of "filling the chair" in a praiseworthy manner. The hon. treas., Mr. F. S. Howe, is a true fancier, and the committee consist of Messrs. Bray, Frith, Brumby, A. Clayton, Longhorn, Parkes, Precious, Prentice, Potter, H. Sowden, and Stones. With such a list of well-known and willing workers, can one wonder at the excellent management? Mr. E. Ridley, the hon. sec., is always on the go, and keeps top side of his duties; he is extremely courteous and obliging, and the Hull society are highly favoured in being able to command the services of such an enthusiastic and genuine secretary. The stewards (who did really good work in a most practical manner) were Messrs. Potter, Prentice (Brit. Section), and Oliff and Mason (Can. Section). General helpers: Messrs. Howe, Stamford, Stones, Murray, Precious, and Frith. We sadly missed the familiar and jovial face of Mr. Jesse Calam. Little did we think at the last show that on the next occasion Hull would be minus such a personage. Special winners: Silver cup, for best current year bird (members), Mr. Mason; silver cup (Nov.), members' best unflig., Mr. A. Clayton; Ramsden's (open), E. R. Ridley; Ramsden's (members), F. F. Potter; Sandiford's, A. Humphries; best 1911 (members' yell. Nor.), G. Harland; buff, T. H. Mason; yell. hen, T. H. Mason; buff, G. Harland. Other specials: Messrs. C. W. Ware, H. Frith, T. H. Mason, A. Clayton, F. H. Stamford, J. Precious, L. Hope, W. E. Sowden, B. P. Stone, and H. Frith, Bray. The opening ceremony was performed by T. R. Ferens, M.P., in a very appropriate and encouraging speech, after which he was the recipient of a very handsome brass cage and Norwich Canary, presented by the society. Mr. W. T. Pepper, show manager, controlled affairs in wonderful style, and much of the success of the show is certainly due to his untiring exertions. The show-room was tastefully decorated with plants, which lent a pleasing effect. Seats were provided for visitors, and appeared to be fully appreciated. Everything went off smoothly and well, and we heard of no hitch whatever. Staging was A1, and all the birds could be seen at a glance. Judges: Messrs. J. Robson (Canaries), and J. Maddison (Brit. Mules and For.).

The Canary Classes.

CREST OR C.B. The Sensation of the Year.

OUR RECORD-BREAKING OFFER

FOR ONE WEEK ONLY.

LIVE BIRD LABELS AND WATCH COUPONS FOR NOTHING.

"CAGE BIRDS" NEXT ISSUE will be a GRAND DOUBLE NUMBER.

It will contain ¶ A magnificent coloured plate.
¶ A full and accurate report of the great L.C.B.A. Show.
¶ Reliable accounts of all other important shows.
¶ A host of articles of the utmost value to the progressive bird-keeper.

Orders for this number show that it will be in great demand; so that as a selling medium there will be nothing like it.

Now, Mr. Small Advertiser, WE OFFER YOU FREE:—
¶ A PACKET OF LIVE BIRD LABELS and TWO WATCH COUPONS for every advertisement (undisplayed and without headline), VALUE 1/-.
¶ A TREBLE SIZE PACKET OF LABELS and FOUR COUPONS for every undisplayed advertisement, without headline, VALUE 2/6.
¶ An Extra Big Packet of Labels and Six Coupons for every advertisement of the above nature, value 5/-.

SEE WHAT THESE MEAN TO YOU!

"Cage Birds" Live Bird Labels should be in every fancier's storecupboard. The use of them reduces risk of injury to birds in transit to a minimum. They are especially useful at this season. As for "Cage Birds" Watches, these, needless to say, are real good value.

NOTICE.—Adverts. close Tuesday next, Nov. 28th. Rates:—18 Words 6d., and ½d. per word thereafter.

SEIZE THE OPPORTUNITY and let us give you enough labels to last the season.

BUCKHAVEN.

Fourth annual show held November 18th, in the Free Gardeners' Hall. This venue is perfection, the light being splendid, and the hall free from draughts. The entry this year beat all previous ones, there being 150 more than last year, which is a record for this society. The management is in the capable hands of well-known fanciers, which no doubt helped greatly to make the show a success. The secretary, Mr. Lawrie (who is a great Foreign Bird enthusiast) deserves to be complimented upon the way he carried through his onerous duties, but he was ably supported by Mr. Henderson, the President, and Mr. Reilly, the assistant secretary. The B.F.C.C. medal was won by Mr. J. Craig with a very typical buff cock, and the B.F.C.C. novice medal by Messrs. J. and A. Duncan. Medal for best Nor. was captured by Mr. W. R. Dunn, with a yellow cock, which for type and colour would be hard to beat. The splendid silver cup for most points was won by the President. Judges: Border Fancy, Mr. Gollan Hislop: Nor., Mr. J. McLay; and Brit., Mr. A. Cochrane. CAGE BIRDS' LEAGUE bills and leaflets were well displayed, and we hope that good results will follow in a big increase of membership.

HEYWOOD.

Heywood and Dis. O.S. fifth annual show held Rechabite Hall, Nov. 11th, and was in every way a great success. The high quality of the birds staged reflects great credit on the members. Mr. A. Hirst (Accrington) who judged must have had a fairly busy time in getting through what proved a record entry. The attendance was good, and we were pleased to see friends from Bury and Rochdale present. The race for the cup and special (Fry's) was rather exciting; Messrs. Barlow, Wilson and Lees, ticing with 21 points each; Mr. Barlow just gaining the verdict by the nearest fraction of prize money over Mr. Wilson. Messrs. Wilson and Barlow also tied for most points throughout show with 63 points. The secretarial duties were very efficiently performed by Messrs. Meadowcroft and Barlow, assisted by Mr. R. Schofield (Treasurer).

SALE.

Sale and Dist. C.B.S. 5th annual open show, held Nov. 17th and 18th, at the Social Club. It is a great pity some arrangements cannot be made to avoid clashing of show dates. Preston being held on same date made a very decided difference to the number of entries here, especially in the Open Norwich classes, which were all cancelled. A special feature was the very fine team of Foreigners exhibited by Mr. J. M. Walsh. Amongst the visitors to the show we noticed Messrs. Hobson (secretary of Sheffield C.B.S.), J. Critchley (Sec. of Pendleton and Salford), J. Davey (Sec. of North Manchester) and Mrs. Davey, J. M. Walsh and Mrs. Walsh, Messrs. Brunskill, T. Harrison, W. Bayley, C. Blackshaw, J. Critchley, G. Lythgoe, W. Broughton, J. Slater, F. Washbourne, Field Bros., W. Fildes, A. G. Davis, and many other well-known fanciers. Mr. A. Royle, the secretary, had everything in good order, and he was ably assisted by the chairman, Mr. G. Dunkley, Mr. C. Wood, assistant secretary and treasurer, and Messrs. G. Alcock, T. Critchley, and J. Lee, who all worked like Trojans to make the show work smoothly. The railway birds were got off in good style, which is worthy of note. Messrs. T. Critchley and A. Holt acted as stewards to the judge, Mr. W. A. Cowgill (Bradford), whose placing of the cards met with general approval. Mr. J. M. Walsh won the champion cup for the second time; and Mr. C. Wood, the member's cup, also for 2nd time; Sandiford's medal, Mr. Joe Critchley. Mr. G. Dunkley was the winner for best Canary (members) and Mr. Gray for best British. This society is very fortunate in having such a good president in Phillip Smith, Esq., who is interesting himself in its welfare.

WALSALL.

Walsall C.B.S., first show, held Nov. 11th, at the White Hart Hotel, Caldmore. The event was confined to members with the exception of the Canary classes, which, on account of the society having as yet so few Canary fanciers were thrown open to the members of the Wolverhampton society, several members of which availed themselves of the opportunity of winning the specials offered and at the same time increasing the interest to visitors by staging a few recent winners in all-England competition; besides firing the enthusiasm of our fancier friends at Walsall to go in for breeding exhibition Canaries. Judging was in the very capable hands of Mr. J. A. Tonks (Wednesbury), his awards being very well received. The support extended by the general public was splendid, for the show room was crowded the whole of the evening, and the very enthusiastic secretary, Mr. F. Price, was very busy signing up new members.

Kilmarnock's Flourishing Young Society

Holds a Good All-Round Show: A Hard Tussle for the Silver Rose Bowl: Excellent Management.

That flourishing young Society, the Kilmarnock O.C.B.S., held their 5th annual show, Nov. 15th, in the Art Gallery Halls, London-road. The Halls are simply perfection from a fancier's standpoint, being capitally lit for showing on the exhibits to advantage, and the heating regulated to the required degree. Scotch Fancies did not turn up in great numbers, several classes having to be cancelled through lack of entries, but the quality was really good. Mr. Hunter again secures the Scotch Fancy Cup for best young bird, with a cock bred from the hen that won the same distinction for him last year, and a rattling good young bird he is. Another win for him, and Mr. Hunter becomes absolute owner of the Cup. We were pleased to hear that Mr. Findlay, of Darvel (a name to be conjured with in the Scotch Fancy world a number of years gone by) is again taking up his old hobby, and we wish him every success. The Crest Club held their club show here, and their usual numerous specials were competed for. In point of merit this section was a good bit ahead of anything we have seen for a very long time, but here, again, the classes were small numerically. Mr. Chalmers must have had not a little difficulty in arriving at his awards, as in some cases the birds were hard to separate. Plainheads were also good, and though smaller classes than we would have liked, some grand birds from a very wide radius were on exhibition. Yorks. had a fair classification, and here we were pleased to note that all classes were full, so that no half prize money has to be chronicled in this section. Borders were a hot lot, although not numerous, and were excellently handled by Bailie Lambie. The Mule, British and Foreign Bird section brought out some stormers, and were a big attraction. There was a grand tussle for the silver rose bowl for the best young bird in the show bred by exhibitor. The competition lay between four grand birds, viz., Crest, Plainhead, Green Border, and 6-pointed yellow Goldie Mule; the blue riband went ultimately to Mr. Dale's Goldie Mule. Taken all over the show was a success, thanks mainly to the untiring energies of their worthy secretary. Than Mr. Guthrie there is no better general that we know; in fact, he is just the right man in the right place. He had the best of assistance from the President, Mr. Cram, and from Vice-presidents Messrs. Watson, Muir, and Adamson. The Committeemen are all good fanciers, some of them right at the top in their various sections, and exhibitors will appreciate what that means when they place their entries under their care. Amongst these we noticed such well-known experts as Messrs. Smellie, Noble, Calderwood, Willison, McCaw, Train, Johnstone, Jamieson, Hutchison, Candlish, Strathcarn. The judging was in the capable hands of Messrs. W. Webster and W. Edgar, Scotch Fancies; Mr. A. Chalmers, Crests; Mr. G. Mitchell, Plainheads; Mr. J. B. Paterson, Yorks.; Bailie Lambie, Borders; and Mr. Bald, British and For.; and the awards of each met with general approval.

The Critique.

ALNWICK.

Open show in connection with the Alnwick and Dist. H.S. held Town Hall Nov. 4. Six classes were provided for cage birds, and they averaged over 12 per class. Messrs. Atkinson and Seely took special for best hird. Borders were a nice lot, but some of them were just a wee bit soft; yet the judge managed to spot prominent winners. In Mr. T. Ternent the society possesses a hard-working secretary; and an able committee was doing justice to the cage bird section. Mr. A. Dippie (Morpeth) judged. The show was well patronised.

NOR. CK. (12): 1, spl, and spl for best bird, vhc, Atkinson and Seely, cl., yell., topper for shape, grand level col., nice head and chest; 2, 4, Dixon, buff and var. yell., buff of rare size, nice type; 3, Smailes, cl. yell., a wee shade slack in feather, otherwise good; hc, Hay; c, Foster and Heslop. HEN (11): 1, spl, 2, c, Dixon, grand team, leading with a cl. buff, lovely type, rare body; 2nd, yell., similar in type, rich in feather; 3, Miller, cl. buff, hot col., very shapely, not quite so smooth in feather; 4, hc, Smailes, var. buff, nice hen, likely-looking lady for stock; vhc, Nesbit and Wright. BORD. CK. (12): 1, spl, 2, 3, Purvis, grand team, led by a yell. ticked, gay and jaunty, lovely position, best of head and wings, 2nd cl. buff, very stylish, 3rd buff marked, correct type, looking a little soft to-day; 4, Miller, cl. buff, good one for type and colour; vhc, Atkinson and Seeley; hc, Smailes; c, Leightly. HEN (10): 1, spl, vhc, Aston, yell., rare quality, fine jaunty style, shapely chest, feathers fitting like gloves; 2, 4, Purvis, 2nd cl. buff, neat head and wings, rare pipe tail; 3, Atkinson and Seeley, Buff, correct type, nice carriage, if anything a little too wild; hc, c, Cairns. YORKS (10): 1, spl, Atkinson and Seeley, yell. unflg., hot col., lovely wings and carriage, looks like Morpeth winner; 2, vhc, c, Cairns, nice team, leading with a fine lengthy buff, beaten only in quality; 3, Leightly, yell., very stylish; 4, hc, Moffitt, leading with a yell. ticked, stands like a soldier. A.O.V. BLACKWOOD, N.B.

Eighth annual show of the Blackwood (N.B.) O.A. held 13th Nov., Southfield Hall and St. John's School. Office Bearers: President, Mr. A. Brown; vice-president, Mr. T. Jackson; treasurer, Mr. W. Johnstone; secretary, Mr. James Hamilton; committee, Messrs. J. Tate, J. Chalmers, John Hamilton, G. Sommerville, A. Clayton, J. Thomson, Jas. Jackson, S. Pate, W. Steele, R. Sandilands, D. Davidson, W. Jackson, G. Good, D. Hamey, and J. McCold, in the cage bird section. The classes numbered 32. Scotch Fancies and Borders were well to the front, some excellent birds being staged. Norwich and British were a creditable turn out. The entries throughout were quite up to last year's, and of nice even quality. In the Scotch Fancy Section a handsome silver cup, presented by Arthur Kirk, Esq., for best young bird bred by exhibitor, was won by Mr. Allerdice (Wishaw), closely followed by Mr. T. Jackson, as runner up. In the Border section, silver cup and medals were won by Mr. J. Paterson, who was also runner up in this section. Mr. Smith judged the Scotch Fancies, Mr. Gilchrist Borders, and Mr. Pettigrew Norwich and British, and their awards seemed to give general satisfaction. Mr. Hamilton, who makes an admirable secretary, had every arrangement made for both the comfort of exhibits and visitors.

PRESTON.

Preston O.S. annual open show, held Nov. 17 and 18, in the St. Wilfred's Rooms, Corporation Street. The room is not what could be called ideal, but it is entirely free from the cold winds, is well lighted by electricity, and has a rare good light for judging. The Society save about £5 by moving from the old show room, and this is a great factor to be reckoned with. The staging is admirable; each exhibit could be seen without exertion. The Norwich were ranged round the room, and the open cages were staged in the centre—a good idea this. The Greens had a room to themselves with the light striking right on them; this is a tip for other societies, as Green Canaries require plenty of light to show to advantage. Some societies put the Greens in any corner, and this has been resented by the Green men more than once. The schedule was cut down considerably this year, owing to the financial loss on some of the classes that Preston have kept going for so long. Entries were only slightly less than last year's, so the show should pay for itself. The attendance was really good on the Friday, and sales were above the average. Being in the midst of the Norwich breeders, no wonder there was such keen competition amongst the chubby ones. The unlighted classes contained some glorious exhibits; almost the size of the adult birds. The unlighted hen class was an eye opener, but many of the exhibits were put out as cocks. The amateurs turned up in force; some of the exhibits would have held their ground with the champions. The Yorks were quite a failure in point of numbers. Preston being so well served by the railways, we did expect to see a larger number of Yorks; however, the quality made up for the small number. There was a grand list of specials. Mr. Fowler won best members' Yellow; Mr. Barton sp. for best Buff; Sandiford's, Mr. Issot; medal for hottest fed, Miss Scott. A slight mistake occurred in the Foul Buff Nor. Green class, the numbers being slightly mixed. Mr. Abbot was credited with first prize, but this should go to Mr. Harding, an enthusiast from Wellingboro', who has, we hear, just purchased the whole of Mr. Deacon's Norwich Greens. Mr. Leeming, the secretary, had everything in order. His untiring efforts to please everybody are a great credit to the society. Mr. P. Waring had charge of the show room, and every bird came under his eyes. We noticed that all were well fed and watered. The above had great help-mates in Messrs. Marsh, Cooper, Pike Bros., and T. H. Dent. Mr. Houlton judged Borders, Yorks., and Nor. Greens, Hybrids, Brit., and foreign birds, and Mr. J. H. Roe the remainder. Borders were very good, and some excellent quality was seen. Greens, both Yorks and Nor., were really fine, and the classes filled remarkably.

Mr. Roe's Classes.

BLACKWOOD, Concluded.

QUEEN'S PARK (London).

Seventh annual show held Nov. 11, Emmanuel Hall, Harrow Road. Entries were slightly below the previous year's, the Norwich and British sections being answerable for nearly the whole of the deficit. As usual, the Yorks. novices were in the majority. The exhibits were a very level lot, and quality grand. The novices' exhibits were beyond the usual for quality. Mr. J. Robson judged. The stewards were Messrs. C. Pattison, Hawes, Lawrence, and Lewis, all fanciers; they were very painstaking in looking after the exhibits and their wants. The weather was very bad, which accounts for the falling off in the "gate" money, the amount taken being only half that of the previous year. Mr. J. C. Birch (the sec.) is deserving of great praise for his painstaking and successful efforts on behalf of the show.

Stoke-on-Trent C.B.S. First Show a Success

HALL ACCOMMODATION SEVERELY TAXED.

Splendid Entry; Judge fails to appear; Two well-known fanciers step into the breach.

The first annual exhibition of the above society took place on November 16th, in the large Assembly Room of the Red Lion Hotel, which was severely taxed to comfortably accommodate the splendid entry of about 400 exhibits, a good response to the nice classification that was provided. The birds were well staged, and all was ready for an early start for judging, but alas! no judge was there to officiate on them. Mr. A. Wellings had been engaged, but did not put in an appearance. This very naturally gave rise to much concern and anxiety on the part of the officials and committee, who waited until the morning was well nigh spent. Eventually the services of Mr. F. Bate (Stoke), and Mr. H. Tams (Longton) were requisitioned, and a start was made shortly before two o'clock. But for this unfortunate incident, everything passed off well, and the committee have every reason to congratulate themselves upon the great success of their first venture.

The Norwich were considered the finest collection of the "chubby 'uns" ever seen in the Potteries. They were certainly a very choice lot indeed, consequently competition was very keen. The special for best bird in this section was awarded to Mr. Hall's very fine Buff. Yorks also were a fine collection, hardly so numerous as the Norwich, but not one whit behind in quality, this being one of the shows held under the patronage of the Midland Counties Y.C.C. for the champion trophy. We should have been pleased to see entries from a few more of this club's members (only three competed). Come, ye M.C.Y.C.C.-ites, surely you are not going to simply look on and reduce the race for the championship to the two leading exhibitors? Special for best Yorks was won by Mr. Victor Williams, with his unevenly marked Yell., a charming bird, shown in the best possible condition. Three classes were scheduled for Mules, but the one for A.O.V. Mule was cancelled—the only class in the show, by the way. The winner in the light class was a lovely Greenie-Can., just lightly marked on cheeks and wing, a new face for Messrs. Tams and Son. The British section was exceptionally fine from a quality point. Several exceptionally good Goldies—quite outstanding birds—were on view. Linnets were also a grand lot. Special for best Hardbill was won by Mr. Brotherhood's well-known Bramble.

For the management we have nothing but the highest praise—a grand body of willing workers, who put their whole energy into the show. "Success" was their motto, and right well did they carry the work through. They had every reason to feel elated over their initial venture, and everything worked out as smooth as the proverbial mill-pond. They were very fortunate in the way of "specials," some lovely "tit-bits" being among the fine collection, notably the framed oil painting for most points in the open classes, a charming picture, the envy of many exhibitors. Some big teams were sent, evidently with a view to securing this valuable prize, which was eventually won by Mr. Victor Williams, with a grand total of ninety-eight points. The water colour for second most points was secured by Messrs. Tams and Son, while another water-colour for third fell to Mr. W. Vardy's lot. Sandiford's medal was won by Mr. Roberts; Hyde's spl. by Mr. Salt; spl. most points by member, Messrs. Pitchford and Stocker; ditto with one variety, Mr. Davis. Mr. J. Pitchford held the secretarial reins, and we consider the society is exceptionally well favoured in having the services of such an experienced and practical fancier at their disposal. Mr. Pitchford carried out his duties in first-rate style. Mr. Henry Tams judged open novice, members, foreign and Softhill British, Mr. Fred Bate taking the remainder, and they did right well under trying circumstances.

CROOK (Original) (Co. Durham).

Seventh annual show, held November 18th, Mechanics' Hall. Although the society is a mixed one, the cage bird section have a hall specially allocated to themselves. This place is in every way suitable for the holding of a cage bird show, being roomy and well lighted, free from draughts, with a good light at night. Entries were on about an average with last year, totalling 250 in 26 classes, compared with 300 in 32 classes last year. The secretary is Mr. John Horner, but as his duties take him more into the other sections of the show, the work of looking after the cage birds, and doing the clerical work in connection therewith, fell upon the willing shoulders of Mr. J. Siddle (of Messrs. Siddle and Dawson), and right well did he carry out his duties. Courteous, tactful, and most obliging, he also appears to have a full grasp of his duties, and consequently everything went off in tip-top style, without the slightest hitch, judging being completed and the cards up in smart time. Mr. Siddle was ably assisted by other well-known fanciers, Messrs. Joe Cuthbertson, Walt. Brown, M. Dawson, and one or two others, whose names we do not know, all doing their best to make the show a success. We were sorry to hear that Mr. Fred. Brown, who acted as secretary of the cage bird section last year is in indifferent health; we wish him a speedy and complete recovery. In the members' section Mr. Joe Cuthbertson won special for best bird, with a very nice Buff Nor., also the members' cup for the third time, it now becoming his own property. At the conclusion of the show the birds were packed and dispatched home in good time, and we noticed Mr. W. Rutherford, of West Roddymoor, working very hard packing and getting the birds away. We are pleased to record a grand attendance of visitors, the hall being packed during the afternoon and evening, and we hope the expectations of the committee in regard to the finances will be fully realised. Mr. H. W. Battye judged.

The Critique.

NOR. YELL. ENFIELD.

Enfield F.A. 13th annual show, held Drill Hall, Nov. 18th, in very unpropitious weather. Special for best in show was awarded to Mr. Shepherd's beautiful variegated crest, Mr. Tickner taking the special for best bird bred by a member. We noticed several exhibits passed in the non-fed classes, one being exceptionally 'ot. There was a larger entry than at any previous show. The birds were well staged, and every attention bestowed on them by the secretaries, Messrs. Ebben and Dartnall, who had all the arrangements well in hand. Mr. A. E. Enfield judged.

KILMARNOCK C.B.F.C.

The 37th annual exhibition of Kilmarnock C.B.F.C. was held in the Co-operative Hall, Nov. 4, and was a success. Entries numbered 320, all of rare quality. Mr. Munro, the hon. pres., gave a very handsome gold medal for most points over the show, which was won by Mr. W. G. Muir for having secured the leading awards in the Norwich section, he having gained 21 prizes with 22 exhibits, viz., five firsts, five seconds, five thirds, four fourths, and two fifths, also two specials. Mr. Muir is to be congratulated on his success. The cup winners were: Scotch Fancy, Mr. J. Allan; Crest., Mr. J. Noble; Norwich, Mr. W. G. Muir; Bord., Mr. W. Crosbie; Mule, Mr. R. Dale; Brit. and For., Mr. W. Crosbie; for best bird in show, Mr. T. McCall. The secretarial duties were admirably carried out by Mr. R. McCaw, and he was assisted by a splendid committee. The show was well patronised by fanciers and the public. Judges: Mr. J. McLay (Kirkintilloch), for Norwich; Mr. W. Mossie (Annbank), for Border Fancy; and for Mules, British, and Foreign, Mr. Gavin Alston.

TIDESWELL.

Annual show of the Tideswell C.B. Improvement Soc., held Nov. 18th. The Bagshaw Hall, in which the exhibits were housed, is light, spacious, void of draughts, and altogether a most suitable venue for such a function. Our visit to this historical Derbyshire hamlet, with its quaintly built houses, its noted church erected by the Romans, its delightful dales and Switzerland-like hills, impressed us greatly, and fanciers should not only send their entries here, but visit the place, when they would be amply repaid. The President is S. Bagshaw, Esq., and the Treasurers Messrs. W. Millward and T. Fox—a trio of genuine workers. The Committee are a band of most excellent fanciers, who work hand in hand, doing their utmost to ensure success. Mr. W. S. Flint, the chairman, controls in fine style, assisted in no mean manner by Mr. T. A. Lomas, who proves an able understudy. The worthy Secs., Messrs. A. Flint and W. S. Swarbrick, know to a nicety how to manage an open fixture. They are extremely courteous and obliging, and "Tidsey" is lucky in possessing a couple such as these, to drive straight and sure. Nor. and Yorks. made a nice collection, but we are sorry to say they were not very numerous. Far better response should have been in evidence. There need be no fear of sending your most valuable specimens here; the birds are looked after in an up-to-date fashion, and are well cared for. Crests and C.B.'s were good; also the Mules, British and Foreign. We were agreeably surprised to see the quality put down by the local fanciers. Some birds of fine substance and shape, with magnificent feather and colour were staged. Competition was exceedingly keen, congratulations were very free. The members are truly the most jovial and enthusiastic lot we have had the pleasure of spending a short time with. Staging was carried out in a very neat fashion, and every bird could be seen at a glance. The management throughout was superb. Mr. A. Hirst judged, and his awards were promptly affixed to the cages by that old and respected fancier, Mr. E. L. Payne, who has officiated in this capacity, with every credit, for many years past. Specials: Points, Messrs. Admitt and Driver. Sheppersen, Robertshaw, Cockeram, Moore, Tams and Sons, Gaunt, and Baxby; Ramsden's cruet, Mr. J. H. Longstone; local medal for best unflig. yell. Nor., F. Millward; best buff, A. Flint; best yell. Yorks., T. A. Lomas; buff, A. Flint; best bred by a member, F. Millward; points, Nor., W. Millward; Yorks., T. A. Lomas; Novice, Messrs. J. Slack and W. Hartle, tie; Brit., W. S. Swarbrick.

WINDHILL.

Windhill, Shipley O.S. annual exhibition held in the Carnegie Library Hall, Nov. 18th. Entries did not come up very well, only amounting to 371 in the 26 classes provided, which means a financial loss. The Carnegie Hall is one of the best places it is possible to have for a show and would hold a large number of birds; it has splendid light and all conveniences. This year the secretary staged the birds somewhat differently to other times, having them in tiers all round the room, thus leaving plenty of room for the visitors in the centre. Mr. J. Cook, the secretary, had matters well in hand, and prize money was paid out during the afternoon to the winners present, a fact that speaks well for his attention to his secretarial duties. In his general work he was ably assisted by Messrs. M. Broadley, P. Gunn, W. B. Atkinson, Spencer, Garnett, Taylor and others as stewards. Mr. John Broadley, the veteran judge officiated, his awards giving general satisfaction.

GALASHIELS.

FIFTY-FIRST ANNUAL SHOW.

The 51st "Crystal Palace show of the Borders," held November 15th, and taken all over the entries were well up to former years. Scotch Fancies as usual opened the programme, but although allotted classes for every variety the entry was anything but a satisfactory one, some of the classes having to be cancelled. A well-known breeder judged, and if the executive cut the classes down in favour of better paying varieties, fanciers will have only themselves to blame, as show committees cannot year after year run classes at a loss for any section of the Fancy. The birds on the whole were good, although we have seen better outstanding specimens. The clears were keenly contested, some good ones being out, while the variegs. and green were also good. We were sorry to hear that Mr. Noble's buff cock bird died shortly after arrival. Mr. W. Rodgers (Colliuton) judged, and his awards were well received. Borders were strong in numbers, and extra good in quality, and the judge had a difficult task to separate the winners, the verdict in many cases being a mere toss up or a win on condition. Mr. J. Young (Allanton) judged, and his awards were of a satisfactory nature. Norwich, Mules and British birds were the feature of the show—strong classes in numbers and extra good in quality, and the task of judging here was a rather difficult one owing to the many varieties included. However, the judge, Mr. J. W. Nicholson (Carlisle), who made his maiden venture, seemed to be at home, and his awards on the whole were well received. Mr. C. Lugton again had the secretarial reins in hand, and as usual had everything in apple-pie order, being ably assisted by Mr. J. Brown, the worthy treasurer, and backed up by an enthusiastic committee. The Hall is an ideal one for a show; it is free from draughts and well lighted, while the crowd of visitors indicated that the gala had come to stay for a few more years.

COVENTRY O.S.

Coventry O.S. 35th annual open show, held headquarters, the Sydenham Palace, Ford-st., Nov. 18th. The room is noted by fanciers in the district as being one of the best in the kingdom. The entry was a good one, and the quality of the exhibits far ahead of that of previous years. The British birds made a grand display. No doubt this was due to the show having the British Bird and Mule Club's patronage, many of the best birds in the country putting in an appearance. The total number of entries was 410. Competition was keen, which made no light task for the judge. There were 39 classes, all of which stood. The Nor. section made a fine display, but we were sorry to see the Yorks. poor in numbers. In the Crest and Crestbred section were some noted winners. Mr. J. Robson judged. The management was in the capable hands of Mr. A. J. Barrett, the popular secretary, who is to be congratulated on his business methods.

PEMBROKE DOCK.

County of Pembroke F.A. annual show held November 15th in the Market Hall. It brought together a very interesting collection of the feathered family. The exhibits were very nicely staged at a good height, with beautiful decorations. Mr. J. N. Harrison judged, and his awards seemed to be very well received. The committee, under the able leadership of the secretary, Mr. A. W. Lewis, worked hard and had everything in good order. The weather was simply wretched, as it rained all day, and no doubt reduced the gate money very much.

Practical Handbooks for Bird Lovers.

Brief particulars of some of "Cage Birds" SPECIAL PUBLICATIONS for keepers of birds, with post free prices.

CANARY BREEDING FOR BEGINNERS, 7d.—By Claude St. John. A Practical, up-to-date guide to Canary breeding, designed specially for the use of the beginner. Deals very fully with the choice, sexing, and mating of the birds, feeding for condition, the cages and their fittings, the bird-room, egg-food, nest-building, rearing and moulting the young, colour-feeding, training for show, and all the difficulties likely to confront the breeder.

PARROTS FOR PLEASURE AND PROFIT, 7d.—By C. P. Arthur. A practical handbook, dealing with the keeping, feeding, and general treatment of the Grey, the Amazon, etc. It explains how to sex these birds, the treatment of newly imported specimens, and cures for their various ills.

SEEDS, FOODS, AND WILD PLANTS FOR CAGE BIRDS, 1/2. — By various leading authors. Full information on the seeds suitable for all cage birds, their food values, uses, etc., with descriptions and illustrations of the wild plants indispensable to the successful keeping of British and other birds.

HOUSE'S CANARY MANUAL, 1/2.—By C. A. House. A thorough, practical guide to the general management and breeding of Canaries, dealing fully with the breeding, etc., of every member of the Canary family, including the Roller (or Singing) Canary. An illustration of each bird, by the master Canary artist, Mr. H. Norman; exhaustive chapters on aviaries and cages, breeding procedure, moulting, exhibiting, diseases, and seeds—a compendium of knowledge.

SUDGERIGARS AND COCKATEELS, 6d.—By C. P. Arthur. The breeding of Budgerigars and Cockateels is recognised as one of the most profitable and pleasure-giving sides of foreign bird keeping. This eminent authority gives very full details upon how to keep, feed, breed, tame, and teach them to talk.

FOREIGN BIRDS FOR BEGINNERS, 1/1½.—By W. T. Page, F.Z.S., etc., Foreign Bird Expert to "Cage Birds." A highly instructive Manual. It contains a magnificent coloured plate and a number of black and white illustrations. Indispensable to all keepers of Foreign Birds. Replete with useful hints.

BRITISH BIRD MANUAL, 2/3 (cloth bound).—By H. Norman; or may be had in two parts. Part 1: "Hardbills," and Part 2: "Softbills." Either Part, price 1/1, post free. Each part contains a beautiful and life-like coloured plate and numerous illustrations of birds and cages. Up-to-date information on the keeping of British Birds; full of extremely valuable hints.

COLOUR FEEDING OF CANARIES AND OTHER BIRDS, 3½d.—By J. W. Ramsden. Tells you how to mix the colour-food, and how to moult the birds to get the richest possible colour.

THE STOCK BOCK, 7d.—By G. E. Weston. Of our invaluable "Breeding Room Register" a well-known fancier has said:—"It makes bird-breeding easy." No breeder of birds can possibly afford to be without it. It simplifies the operations in the bird-room and makes it possible for everyone, even the veriest novice, to breed his birds as they should be bred. Contains both Pedigree, Breeding, Young Bird, and Show Registers of simple and unique character, in addition to useful account pages, and many invaluable "Hints for Emergencies."

AVIARIES, BIRD-ROOMS, AND CAGES, 2/3 (cloth gilt).—By H. Norman. Contains ten lovely full-page photographic plates. A practical guide which deals thoroughly with the proper Building, Fitting, and Management of Aviaries and Bird-rooms, and the making of Cages.

YORKSHIRE CANARIES, 1/1½.—By H. W. Battye (Past President of the Yorkshire Union). Absolutely the very best Handbook dealing with the Yorkshire and its sub-varieties. Contains complete instructions upon Pairing, Breeding, Moulting, and successful Exhibiting, also how to treat in both health and disease.

NORWICH CANARIES, 1/1.—By C. A. House. Tells the fancier all that he needs to know to enable him to become successful as a breeder and exhibitor of the Norwich Plainhead. The chapters on "Forming a Stud," and "How to Produce the Ideal" are worth the cost of the whole book many times over.

BIRDS OF THE COUNTRYSIDE, 5/4.—By Frank Finn, B.A., F.Z.S. A handbook to the wild life of all our familiar British birds; their appearance and habits accurately described. With 12 beautiful coloured plates, and 113 photographic illustrations. A charming gift book.

PETS, AND HOW TO KEEP THEM, 5/4.—By Frank Finn, B.A., F.Z.S. Gives the correct method of housing, feeding, and managing every kind of pet; all sorts of animals are dealt with—monkeys, dogs, cats, lizards, tortoises, also gold and other fancy fish, while there is a large section devoted to birds. Contains many coloured plates and photographs. Another charming gift book.

FANCIERS' PRINTING.—Fanciers requiring business notepaper, postcards, trade envelopes, etc., should write us for a quotation. We are now in a position to supply these at specially low rates combined with first-class work. Artistic memos., with block of any desired bird, and fancier's name, address, and 12 words of description. 250 2/-, 500 2/6, carriage paid.

THE SECRETS OF HYBRID BREEDING REVEALED AND EXPLAINED.—By many notable Mule and Hybrid Breeders. Among the contributors are such well-known breeders as Messrs. R. Colton, W. H. Vale, C. Boulton, C. J. Ward, J. Beswick, G. Lander, T. H. Kinch, T. Smith, etc. This Handbook, which contains 212 pages, 7 inches by 5, is brimful of the most practical information on the highly interesting subject of Hybrid Breeding. Price 1/-, post free 1/2.

CAGE-BIRD HYBRIDS.—Published in 8 Monthly Parts at 6d. each, post free 7d. Complete bound in cloth, 7/6 carriage paid. This great work is written by Charles Houlton, an authority with a reputation extending over 25 years as a leading exhibitor and a leading expert and judge; Associate editors, G. E. Weston and C. A. House). Magnificently illustrated by that great bird artist, H. Norman. There are no less than sixteen coloured and sixteen art plates in this work. Each plate is a perfect study of an individual Hybrid. Every plate shows the correct colour, the correct shape, the present day type and general characteristics of a modern Hybrid. The practical and comprehensive work for which all Hybrid breeders have been waiting.

DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers In all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insisted upon.

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting question of carriage. But in the absence of other arraugements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10.—DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

IMPORTANT NOTE.—Two or more Advertisements coming from the same advertiser, even if sent in different names, are reckoned together, and, after the first Eighteen words, are charged at two words a penny, but no single advertisement, even if accompanied by others, will be charged at less than the minimum price, viz., Sixpence.

Headlines or Footlines, 6d., 9d., 1/-, 1/6, according to size.

Small prepaid advertisements of a general nature and not connected in any way with the Cage Bird Trade are inserted at the rate of ½d. per word throughout. Minimum 12 words 6d.

Advertisements must in all cases bear the bona fide name and address of the advertiser, and no advertisement will be inserted if addressed to a receiving office, or similar place of call.

PREPAID ADVERTISEMENTS

Postal Orders must be sent as far as possible. All moneys should be made payable to F. CARL.

The Proprietor reserves the right to refuse any advertisement, or to cancel any advertisement ordered for a series, at any time, without assigning any reason for so doing.

Advertisements close Tuesdays first post in each week, and should be sent to the advertisement Manager, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London. Terms for Display Advertisements on application.

REPEATING OF ADVERTISEMENTS.

READ A FEW OPINIONS.

Wonderful at the Price.

66, Hythe Road, Milton Regis, Nov., 1911. —Pleased to let you know the cage, etc., arrived safe and I am very pleased with it. It is wonderful at the price.—H. J. Marsh to W. Rudd. 94, Old St., Ludlow, Nov., 1911.—The cages and fittings arrived this morning and are very satisfactory.—G. D. Acton to W. Rudd. 47, Frederick Road, Edgbaston, Birmingham, Nov., 1911.—Bird cage arrived safely without damage. It is very nice and woodwork beautifully smooth and well finished. Am very pleased with it.—E. F. Mewis to W. Rudd. 4, Greens Court, Middle Street, Old Brompton, Nov., 1911. I must just say that the net you sent Mr. Redgrave is a most magnificent one. I cannot think how you can make them for the price. It is strong and much bigger and wider than the one we have had.—W. J. Maddox to W. Rudd.

WILLIAM RUDD,

The Bird Specialist, NORWICH.

but hundreds upon hundreds of testimonials have been published in this paper from purchasers of my catching appliances. I do not wish to boast, but have no hesitation in saying that I have published more testimonials in one week than any other net maker has in a year. Surely this fact should prove to you who is really the man to supply genuine articles at rock bottom prices. Everything I sell is guaranteed exactly as described, and you are at liberty to smash them up if you find them not so, and I will refund every penny of your money. Clap-nets made from superfine thread netting, ¾in. mesh, 3 yards long, 5½ft. deep and 4ft. fly, 4/- pair, ditto 4 yards, 5/-; 5 yards, 6/-; 6 yards, 7/-; 7 yards, 8/-; 8 yards, 9/-; 9 yards, 10/-; 10 yards, 11/- per pair. All clap-nets have two nets to the pair, each net guaranteed size as stated, and all are fitted complete with hemp lines, stave poles, and pegs ready for immediate use. These nets are the only clap-nets on the market that are geared or armed all round, and have no old-fashioned socket and iron arrangement about them, the fittings I supply being far better and easier to work. Sparrow-nets, made with extra stout ¾ mesh netting, fitted on best quality bamboo poles, with latest improved elbows, 15ft. poles, 5/6; 17ft., 6/-; 19ft., 6/6 complete. Latest improved self-acting spring net traps (all metal, not a particle of wood about them) 24ins. long 18ins. wide, 1/- each, ditto 18 by 14ins., 9d. each. These net traps are different to any other on the market, and although far larger, may be carried in the pocket, and are invisible when set. May be used with call bird inside them, and do not go off with a bang. Carriage on these traps, 3d. extra. Round or square topped call cages, all wire tops and wood bottoms, 4d. each, 3/- dozen. Loose thread netting, as used in above clap-nets, 7ft. deep, 3d. yard, 9ft. deep, 4d. yard, 12ft. deep, 5d. yard. Lark netting, 1¼in. mesh, 10ft. deep, 5d. yard. Extra stout netting for use on rough ground, ¾ mesh, 9ft. deep, 5d. yard; ¾in. mesh netting, 8ft. deep, 5d. yard; all netting post free. Real original Japanese bird lime, guaranteed absolutely strongest made, and only lime to hold birds in rain or fog, ½lb. 6d., ¼lb. 10d., 1lb. 1/6; sample 3d., all postfree. Please note this is the original Japanese lime as advertised and sold by myself only for years past, and must not be confused with any other so-called Japanese lime offered by persons who have merely copied name of my lime, but cannot copy quality (see testimonials below). Genuine hand-spun pure hemp, pull lines, guaranteed strong as boat lines, and not to stretch or snarl, 68 yards long, ¼lb. weight, 1/4 each, carriage paid. Lark nets, stave poles, flirt pegs, and everything required by catchers always in stock, but before you buy a stitch of anything send stamp for my full printed list, which gives hints on net making. Please note everything I sell is on approval, an dmoney refunded in full if every satisfaction not given. If you want genuine articles, send to the man who knows what is required for successful catching, but be sure to send for price list.

Whether you simply keep birds for the pleasure of their song and the constant charm of their companionship in the home, or you keep them for exhibition and competition purposes and the profit that can be obtained from their marketing, this work affords you all the information that you can desire. The writers of the work are men of the most intimate knowledge of bird life and bird-keeping—men of large experience in the handling of birds—who possess the art of imparting the fullest information in clear and understandable language, while the splendid illustrations are all drawn from actual life in the case of the birds, and in respect to cages, aviaries and everything required in bird-keeping, the pictures and diagrams are such as fully explain every detail.

Before You Purchase

a Siberian Goldfinch, kindly read below. I claim to hold the largest stock of genuine Siberian cock Goldfinches (not hens) in England to-day. These birds come direct to me, and no man in England gets the pick of them but myself, and to prove this I offer £10 to any dealer in England who can prove he has had pick of my birds, either before or since they came into my possession. Regular readers will have noticed that while others were saying they expected Siberians at any moment, I actually had mine on the market, and some of them in customers' hands before they were expected to arrive. I have a really magnificent stock of the genuine Siberian cock Goldfinches, every bird in full song, price 5/- each, seven for 25/-; selected birds, very large, with good broad skulls, deep square blaze, good tannings and moonings, well buttoned and correct wing carriage, and polished like a new silk hat, 7/6 and 10/- each. Among the birds are a few cage-moulted cocks, price 7/6 each; one cock, with peculiar blue blaze instead of red, highest offer accepted; several very nice peathroated cocks, 7/6 each, and one very handsome square blazed, straight cut, Cheveral cock, 10/-; if others get the pick of the birds as they pretend, how it is they do not get the Cheverals, etc.? All will be sent on week's approval at my risk; cash or deposit system as usual, and money refunded if every satisfaction not given. For the information of other dealers, I may say the next lot of Siberians reach me on Dec. 15th or 16th; they will now know when to expect them.

TRY FRED ALLEN, OF HULL

Beware of spurious imitations, I am bound to make this statement, as my advertisement is being copied by many. Send your cash to "Cage Birds," and your order to me, and have any of my birds on 7 days' approval. Surely if I can give satisfaction to the leading exhibitors and judges, I can give satisfaction to anyone. Nearly every dealer claims to be the direct importer of Siberian Goldfinches, but it is only to catch you. We have ships coming into the port of Hull from all parts of the world. An officer on a Wilson liner is bringing me the largest and best birds every journey, therefore I am able to send you extra large cock Siberian Goldfinches, with extra deep square cut blaze, broad heads, richly tanned, real gem, 4/6, 5/6 each, a few that can win anywhere, 7/6 each; German hen Bullfinches, 2/- each; English peartree cock Goldfinches, sure mulers and prize winners, 2/6, 3/- each; a few gems, cannot be beaten, A1 colour, 4/- and 5/- each; Linnets, will sing anywhere, grand colour and size, 1/- and 1/6; Norwich type cock Linnets, well pencilled, show well, real gems, 2/- each; these birds can win anywhere, and are certain mulers. Look! cock Linnet, taught under my undefeated champion of England, 2/- each, with new contest cage and book of secrets, 3/6 lot; one note is worth the money, having refused £10 for my champion, everybody welcome to hear him. I have a Canary, sings pure quality Linnet notes, one of the best, price 30/-; cock Larks, will sing anywhere, 1/- each; one, a gem, 1/6; giant cock Bullfinches, real gems, magnificent colour, 2/6, 3/- each; giant cock Greenfinches, grand shape and colour, 1/- and 1/6; Lesser Redpoll, gem, 1/6; cock Chaffinch, can win, only 1/-; beautiful Yellow Bunting, grand head markings, 1/-; one, a topper, 1/6; cock Twite, well laced, only 1/-; cock Reed Bunting, can win anywhere, a gem, 2/-; giant Snow Buntings, stand well over perch, real gems, feather tight as wax, can win anywhere, 1/6, 2/-, and a few toppers, 2/6 each; house-moulted Linnets, will sing anywhere, 5/6, 7/6, 10/6 each. I am now booking orders for real Siberian hen Bullfinches, specially picked out of hundreds, expected to arrive in nine days, prices as usual, 5/6, 6/6; gems, 7/6; please write for lists of testimonials; all birds guaranteed as advertised, and ready for immediate showing. I have no agents: Fred Allen, The Bird Specialist and Judge, 156, Porter-st., Hull.

CAN YOU ANSWER

the following questions in the affirmative? Are you getting full value for your money from your present dealer? Is price right, quality of the best, are the birds you receive exactly what the advertisement leads you to expect, and do you always get business-like treatment? If so, you have no need to read further, as no man can expect more, but if you are not altogether satisfied, this advert. will tell you how to obtain that satisfaction you cannot get elsewhere. My conditions of sale are these: Everything I sell is sent on approval on deposit rules of this paper, or if cash is sent direct to me I take all risk, and unless birds are in every way satisfactory they only have to be returned, and back comes the whole of your money promptly and cheerfully without question or comment. Plain and straight-forward enough, is it not? I have a splendid stock of genuine Worcestershire cock Goldfinches in pink of health and condition at 2/- each, 3 5/-, 6 9/-. Specially selected larger cocks guaranteed in song, 2/6 and 3/- each. Real exhibition specimens, with full complement of show points, 5/- and 7/6 each. Hen Goldfinches 1/- each, three 2/6, six 4/-. I also have a grand lot of twice cage-moulted white-legged cock Goldfinches, guaranteed mule breeders, finger tame and full song, 6/-, 7/6, 10/- each. Splendid lot cock Bullfinches, all netted birds, 2/- each, three 5/-, six 9/-, twelve 16/-. Specially selected show specimens, 3/-, 4/-, 5/- each. Hen Bullfinches 1/- each. Specially selected large rich coloured hens, 1/6 and 2/- each. Few specially picked hen Bullfinches, aviary moulted, and been flying with Canaries since Sept. last, 2/6 each. Genuine hand-reared German hen Bullfinches, feed from fingers, and ideal Hybrid breeders, 5/- each. Cock Siskins, in full song, and very steady, 2/- each, 3 5/-. Hen Siskins 1/- each, 3 2/6. Large handsome cock Greenfinches 6d. each, three 1/-, six 1/6. Selected yellow cocks, very large, for exhibition or breeding, 1/- and 2/- each. Immense stock of cock brown Linnets, every one guaranteed rose red breasted and nut brown backs, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/6. Specially selected steady cocks for muling or contest singing, and warranted now in song, 1/- each, 3 2/-, 6 3/6, 12 6/-. Exquisitely pencilled cocks of correct type and colour for exhibition, 1/6, 2/-, 2/6 each. These are same sort of Linnets as the scores of dozens I send weekly into North Country for contest singing, and I have sold more contest winners than any man alive. I supply the majority of Lancashire, Yorkshire and Durham dealers, who say they cannot get Linnets anywhere to equal mine. Cock Chaffinches 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-. Cock or hen Redpolls, 6d. each, three 1/3, six 2/-. Genuine cock Snow Buntings 1/- each, three 2/-, six 3/6, twelve 6/-. Hens 8d. each, three 1/6. True pairs 1/6. Few extra special, very large and white, cocks, correctly marked and fit to win, 2/6 each. Magnificent lot cock Skylarks, in perfect condition, 8d. each, three 1/6, six 2/6, twelve 4/-. Specially picked cocks in song, 1/- and 1/6 each. Please note, every Lark I sell is guaranteed a cock, and plump and healthy, not half hens or razor chested. Genuine hand-reared Larks, finger tame and in free song, 5/-, 7/6, and 10/- each. All birds are guaranteed exactly as described and are properly netted in County of Worcester by expert catchers employed solely by myself, and all are thoroughly on hard seed before sent out. Customers advised of dispatch in all cases. See other advts. of mine for testimonials, etc., and note name and address of England's Premier Bird Dealer, who has no connection whatever with any other advertiser.

FIRST-CLASS SEIFERT ROLLERS
for breeding, one of the best strains in Germany, self-bred, deep toned cocks, beautiful rolls, many variations of tours, 20/-, 25/-, hens 5/- each; reply card: Lieutenant Loock, Hannover, Husarenstrasse 21. Direct line London, 16 hours.

The Man in Possession

of all his faculties must see that unless there was really something about the Leipzig Roller that is not possessed by the ordinary Roller, I could not go on publishing such remarkable testimonials as I do week after week. What I claim for them is this: The Leipzig Roller has a greater variety of song than the ordinary Roller, is better value at a lower price, and, unlike many of the Rollers, does not lose its song after first moult, but retains it for years. I want you to test the truth of my statements by having a Leipzig Roller from me, and an ordinary Roller from elsewhere at any higher price; test them side by side for a week, and keep the one which suits you best. I have just received the largest consignment of Rollers ever sent into England to one dealer, and all are in absolutely superb condition and song, and have long hollow and double rolls, sweet silvery trills, soft roulades, water-bubble runs, piccolo trills, jug-jug of Nightingale bell, harp, flute, and gong notes, etc., etc., and guaranteed entirely free from any harsh or objectionable notes whatever, price 7s. and 8s. each; special Bandmasters, which excel in the deep bass and hollow bell rolls, 10/-, and 12/6 each: hens, guaranteed exactly same strain, 2/- each, 3/6 couple. I also have a limited quantity of real contest Rollers, which have a very rich, soft and melodious song, price 15/- each. These contest birds are of purest blood Germany can boast of, and are gems of very first water, honest value at 50/- each. To really know how good the Leipzig Roller as a song is, you must have one on week's trial, but following letters give a faint idea. "Newtown, Leeds, Nov. 22. Sir,—The 19 Rollers you sent us have been very satisfactory to all our members, and also others who have heard them. I write this on behalf of members and myself that they are the finest lot of Rollers that have ever been sent to the Prince Albert Inn Linnet and Canary Association.—Yours, E. Wood, Hon. Sec." "The Bank, St. Mary's, Scilly Isles, Nov. 27. Sir,—Leipzig Roller I had from you three years ago turned out A1. Please send another.—Yours, C. Solomon." "9, Claremont Terrace, Longsight, Oldham, Nov. 27. —Sir,—Received Roller Saturday, and he started singing as soon as put into cage. I shall want another shortly.—Yours, R. Butterworth." "11, Fernie St., Maryhill, Glasgow, Nov. 27. Sir,—Received Roller in first-class condition, and I must thank you for such a fine singer. He started singing 15 minutes after arrival.—Yours, E. Leggett, Jun." "28, Sarow Row, Ebbw Vale, Nov. 25. Sir,—Received two Rollers safe, and am very pleased with them; they are doing well.—Yours, C. Price." "1, George St., Harwich, Nov. 27. Sir,—Received bird safe, with great satisfaction. I am indeed pleased with its singing.—Yours, A. Atkinson." "6, Side Row, Gt. Preston, Woodlesford, Leeds, Nov. 25. Sir,—Please send another Leipzig Roller. I received others safe and Roller is singing grand.—Yours, L. Longbottom." "65, Balfour Rd., Normanton, Derby, Nov. 25th. Sir,—I have had the Roller a week, and am highly pleased with it. Thanking you for sending such a lovely songster.—Yours, G. Taylor." "6, Side Row, Gt. Preston, Leeds, Nov. 21. Sir,—Please send Roller at 12/6, and a hen to match. A friend has heard mine, and got me to send for one like it. The Roller I have is singing grand day and gaslight.—Yours, L. Longbottom." "26, Butler St., Belfast, Nov. 21. Sir,—Roller is a great and wonderful songster for the price, 10/-. The only comparison is it is like a Prima Donna compared to a chorus girl to the rest of song birds.—Yours, J. McLaughlin." "Beacon, near Camborne, Cornwall, Nov. 14. Sir,—Received Leipzig Roller safely, and it is a pleasure to hear it sing. All my friends say he is a fine bird.—Yours, B. Pearce." Please note all genuine Leipzig Rollers are stamped on wing "Hans Weber Leipzig," and are sent out spick and span, and as clean as the proverbial new pin, in special travelling cages, with seed and water inside on full week's trial at my risk on receipt of cash or deposit system of CAGE BIRDS, and fullest satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded in full.

"Doncaster.—Well pleased with bird; can sell for double." 5 racks, 45 cages, 12 show cages, cases, accessories: J. Lucas, 11, Bedford Avenue, Whalley Range, Manchester.

THE YORKSHIRE BREEDERS' SOCIETY.

The above society has been formed to supply Yorkshire Canaries direct from the breeders to fanciers, instead of allowing dealers to show and sell them as their own strains. Particulars as to how each bird has been bred will be given, and as we hold some of the best pedigree strains living, purchasers can rely on getting the very best blood obtainable. We can supply breeding sets (cock and 2 hens) at 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, per set; pairs, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, upwards; cocks, 6/-, and hens 4/-; also exhibition birds at reasonable prices. Travelling cages 3d. extra. Terms cash with order or deposit system: state wants to "Secretary," 40, Springcliffe, Manningham, Bradford, Yorkshire.

"More Winners This Week."

With 14 entries last week my wins were 6 firsts, 2 specials, 2 seconds, 1 fourth, etc. See reports of Ilkeston, Stamford, and Brighouse in this issue. My customers are also winning. Read following from 17, Queen Street, Stirling: "Birds arrived in good condition. The hen won 1st and special, and cock 2nd. The pair I had from you last season also won 1st and 2nd. Thanking you for honest dealings.—J. Crawford to L. Dykes." Another from High Lane, Hayle, Cornwall, 26/11/11: "Just a line to inform you I am well pleased with the bird I purchased recently. He won 2nd at Penzance last week. Shall recommend you to all I know who want good Yorkshires.—P. Oatey to L. Dykes." Scores similar received recently and filed for inspection at any time. Best strain in the Fancy. See show reports all through season. Blood is bound to tell, and if you want something to do well for you, I can supply you with same blood as above winners. Very choice lot still for disposal; and every bird cold-room bred. Long, stylish Yorkshire Cocks, for stock, at 6/-, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each. Smart typical Hens at 4/-, 6/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each. Pairs selected to breed the best at 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/-, 30/- per pair upwards. Birds that cannot be purchased at double the prices later on.

Also some that can win at small shows. Cocks or Hens, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each. Others fit for the keenest competition, including several recent winners, at most reasonable prices. Travelling cages 3d. extra. All on 7 days' approval on receipt of cash, or deposit system. Please state wants. Satisfaction guaranteed. Inspection invited at any time. Illustrated Price List Post Free.

Value for Money!

PROOF POSITIVE HERE GIVEN—

A LETTER WORTH READING.

The Hospitals, Aberdeen Poor House, Old Mill, Aberdeen.

To Mr. W. Rudd.

Dear Sir,—Birds arrived safely at 2 p.m. yesterday. I have seen them to-day and they are as "fresh as daisies." I beg to thank you for their prompt despatch. Friends smiled at me sending so far for them when I might have got them at my own door, so to speak, but I preferred placing and leaving my order to the discretion of one whom I knew would treat me fairly and give me good value for my money, and I have not been disappointed. I am more than pleased with what you have sent me and will gladly recommend you to my friends. Again thanking you.—I am, yours faithfully, Dr. Clifford T. Bell, Medical Officer.

1911. Nov.—5, Benfield Road, Meersbrook. Bird arrived safely. I am very pleased with it. Thanking you for your attention.—R. Lane to W. Rudd.

QUITE WORTH DOUBLE.

1911. Nov.—Scientific Hall, Amlwch. Glad to tell you that I received the bird safe, and it's coming on wonderfully. I think it quite worth double the price.—R. M. Looms to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—24, Crovil, Gardenstown, Banff. Birds received to-day in splendid condition. Am very pleased with them. Quite exceeded my expectations.—W. Johnston to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—12, Dungar Terrace, Kingstown, Co. Dubliu. The Bullfinch arrived safely Saturday morning. It is healthy and in good condition and gives every satisfaction.—D. E. Humphrey to W. Rudd.

OBTAINED WHAT, ETC.

1911. Nov.—24, Alice Street, Neath. I received birds safe and in excellent condition, and I am glad that I dealt with you, because by doing so I obtained what is not often got—complete satisfaction.—J. Cox to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—Rothley Grange, Leicester. Java Sparrow arrived yesterday safe and looking well. It was beautifully packed.—J. Robinson to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—62a, Eastgate Street, Stalford. I received the bird quite safe. Am pleased with it. It commenced singing on the day of arrival. —W. Godwin to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—Woodside, Arbeadie, Beauchery. Bird arrived all safe. It is a beauty. He is singing grand. I may need another one from you shortly. I am sure to recommend you to others. —R. Douald to W. Rudd.

EVERYTHING SATISFACTORY.

1911. Nov.—Bury St. Edmunds. Many thanks. Birds and everything arrived quite safely and most satisfactory.—G. M'Cullum to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—136, Southwark Park Road, Bermondsey, London. Received the Canary quite safe and highly pleased with it. I shall not forget to recommend to others. The bird had not been in the house an hour before it sang.—R. Beard to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—90, Limpsfield Road, Brightside, Sheffield. Bird arrived safe. Am pleased with it. Very lively bird.—W. Oakden to W. Rudd.

THEY WON'T BELIEVE ME.

1911. Nov.—18, Summer Road, Harrow. Last August twelvemonth I bought from you a Norwich cock Canary. I paid 7/6 for it. I have been meaning to write to you for some time to tell you that I am absolutely delighted with the bird. I would not sell it for its weight in gold. It sings so well. When I tell people the price I paid for it they won't believe me.—E. Short to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—2, Grauville Terrace, Halsemere Avenue, West Ealing. The Canaries arrived safe and well. I am very pleased with them. I am sure you have matched them properly.—T. Knight to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—115, Perth Road, Barking. Bird arrived safe. Thanking you, as it has turned out quite satisfactory. Singing beautifully.—Mr. Baldwin to W. Rudd.

EVERY SATISFACTION.

1911. Nov.—Farrholmes, Derwent. The Crestbred hen arrived on Saturday, and has given great satisfaction.—J. Evans to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—3, Norwich Street, Wisbech. I received birds safe and sound, and with which I am very pleased. I hope to give you another order before long.—L. Courts to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—6, Mathew Street, Glyncorrwg. Bird arrived safe. It is singing beautifully.—J. Hern to W. Rudd.

SHAPE, SIZE, GOOD VALUE FOR MONEY.

1911. Nov.—39, Stevenage Road, East Ham, London. Birds to hand and seem a nice shape and size. Good value for money.—E. Foakes to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—Inniskeen, Co. Monaghan. Thanks for bird. It arrived in splendid condition and I am highly pleased with it. As Mr. Graham ordered both birds and did the corespondence, I think the least I might do now to let you know I got it all right, and should I be able in future to secure any orders for you, I will only be too happy to do so.—C. Jameson to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—Treorchy. Received bird safe in good condition. I cannot praise it sufficiently. It's a beauty.—W. Davies to W. Rudd.

FAR BETTER, ETC.

1911. Nov.—25, Waterloo Road, Wellington, Somerset. Birds arrived safe and I am quite pleased with them. They are far better than I expected for such a low price. I shall be pleased to deal with you any time I require anything in the bird line.—W. H. Thorne to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—17, Victoria Street, Westminster, London. Mule arrived safe and sound this morning. He is a little beauty. With thanks.—C. Corry to W. Rudd.

NO ONE COULD WISH, ETC.

1911. Nov.—31, Longfellow Street, Lodge Lane, Liverpool. I received the bird quite safe in splendid condition, and I am more than satisfied with it. No one could wish for better value for money.—B. Hearn to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—The Asylum, Downpatrick. The hen Canary arrived in very good conditiou. I am so pleased with her that I am sending you a P.O. for 3/9 for another hen.—J. Cotter to W. Rudd.

VERY HIGHLY PLEASED.

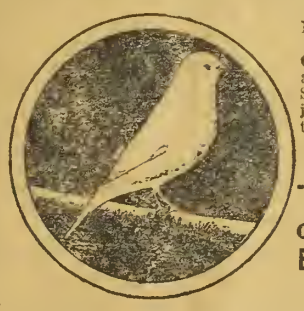
1911. Nov.—3, Hilltown, Dundee. Birds arrived quite safe and in splendid condition, and I am very highly pleased with them both. Shall be very pleased to send to you again.—C. T. Puffitt to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—51, Marina, St. Leonards-on-Sea. The Bullfinch arrived safely this morning and I am very pleased with it.—S. Jones to W. Rudd.

NEARLY TWO YEARS AGO AND NEVER STOPPED SINGING.

1911. Nov.—3, Old London Road, Penrith. I am pleased to tell you that the Hartz Roller you sent me nearly two years ago is a splendid bird and singing well.—W. Bartou to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—2, Grafton Street, Chorley. The bird arrived Saturday. I must say it is a splendid songster and is very satisfactory. Should I want any more I will send to you again and will recommend you to my friends.—H. Lewis to W. Rudd.



1911. Nov.—22, Luton Road, Chatham. Thank you much for the careful way in which you sent the two hen Canaries, which have arrived safely. I am quite satisfied with them.—H. Parham to W. Rudd.

DON'T WISH FOR A BETTER.

1911. Nov.—Overstrand Hotel, Cromer. The Seifert cock I had from you has given every satisfaction. A better bird I could not wish for. —H. Dyball to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—6, Mains Street, Lockerbie. Yellow Yorkshire hen arrived all safe and I am well pleased with it. You will always have my future orders.—W. Chambers to W. Rudd.

1911. Nov.—Coston Rectory, Melton Mowbray. The Roller Canary you sent me has got through his moult well and is again delighting us with his beautiful song, which is much admired by all who hear it.—Mrs. Hughes to W. Rudd.

Norwich Cocks, 5/-, 6/6, 6/6, 7/6, 10/6. Hens, 2/6 and 3/6 each. Pairs, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6. Good Muling Hens for Muling, 2/6 each. Note: some real good cocks, fed, and for show, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, superb. Offered by some (who, by the way, do not possess them at all) at twice and three times the price. Hens to match, 4/6, 5/6, 7/6. Some really exceptional value in these hens. Don't take my word; just send for one as proof. An immense and unique collection to select from, such as nowhere else in the world can be seen.

These are Yorkshires, Not Balls of Feather or Crossbreds, but the Best Value that has ever been sent out.

YORKSHIRE COCKS, 5/-, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/-. HENS, 2/6, 3/6, 4/6, 5/6, 7/6, 10/6, 15/-. PAIRS FOR BREEDING, 7/6, 8/6, 9/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-. I respectfully ask you to allow me the opportunity to send one or more of this variety on approval against any others advertised, whatever claims may be made for them. I am not at all afraid of the result. Such is the best proof I or anyone breathing can offer you. I sell the winners instead of showing them, and that makes all the difference did you but know it as I do.

WONDERFUL VALUE IN SONGSTERS. But if you want a good singing cock at 3/6 go to the "Land Sharks," and find you have got a common German hen, not worth its carriage. Whether they call them Norwich, Yorkshires, or Hartz Mountains, the poor little German or Common Belgian hen has to do duty for all. I offer specially selected songsters, every bird proved and tested, either in Norwich, Yorkshire, Hartz, Border, or Lizard, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6. Cages 3d. extra.

CRESTS AND CRESTBREDS.

CRESTED COCKS, 8/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/-, 40/-, 60/-. CRESTED HENS, 5/-, 6/6, 8/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/-, to 60/-. CRESTED-BRED COCKS, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/-. CRESTED BRED HENS, 4/6, 8/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/-, upwards. CLEAR, 8/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/-, 40/-, 50/-. GREEN, 8/6, 10/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/-. Pairs matched for Crest Breeding, one Crested and one Crested Bred, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/-, 40/-, 60/-, 80/-. For Cinnamons, Lizards, Dutch and French Frills, Scotch-Fancies, Border Fancies, etc., see my free list, with Easy Payment System, by joining my Original Bird Club. Distance no object.

Birds all on approval, and cages in all cases charged 3d. extra.

WINNING YORKSHIRES AND NORWICH.

My birds supply their own testimonials as to their quality. All I need do is to refer you to the reports of all the leading championship shows week by week I have won over 170 prizes during October and November, 1911, including 1sts at most of the leading shows. Every prize has been won in open championship shows in hottest competition.

Week by week my customers are also winning in open competition with birds supplied by me. Proof of this is open for the inspection of my numerous visitors.

Remember, all my winners are for sale, or I can supply you with some clinking stock or exhibition birds bred from them, and at a workingman's price.

I am now sending out good typical cocks at 6/-, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/-, 30/- each. Grand hens, true to type and feathered like wax at 3/-, 4/-, 5/-, 6/-, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/- each. Matched pairs, which I have personally paired with a view to breeding winners, at 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/-, 40/-, 50/- per pair.

I have also some large thick-set Norwich, the right stamp, well over perch, with good heads and fronts, at same price as Yorkshires.

SEIFERT ROLLERS, in full rolling song, at 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each. Hens, same strain, 2/6, 3/6, 5/- each.

SIBERIAN GOLDFINCH COCKS. Large consignment just arrived. I never had a better lot. Big fine, bold birds, many of them can win in hot competition. Prices, 5/6, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/-, 12/6 each. Let me send you one on approval. Birders, Crests, Belgians, Mules, etc., etc., also in stock. Every bird sent on 7 days' approval at my risk. Inspection invited any day but Sunday.

EASY PAYMENTS TO GENUINE FANCIERS.

Birds sent out on receipt of first payment. Send a P.C. for my illustrated catalogue, with full particulars, and remember I give a guarantee of absolute satisfaction to every customer or return every penny of cash paid. Travelling cages 3d. extra in all cases.

It pays me well to serve you well, and it pays you well to let me serve you well. My motive is to give you such good sound value for money that you cannot resist sending me your further orders and telling your brother fanciers of the astounding value I give. I do not profess to send singing cocks at hen prices, but I do claim to send such birds that will stand the most severe criticism and comparison. I have supplied the most sceptical fanciers, and given them every satisfaction; in fact, after thoroughly examining my birds they are compelled to admit they are more than satisfied. Just you call and have a look at my birds. You will not be pressed to buy, or, if you cannot come, send full particulars of your requirements and I will send you the birds on seven days' approval at my risk, and pay the return carriage if there should possibly be one that does not meet with your approval. I allow you 7 days to fully examine and thoroughly test the quality of my birds before you decide to keep them. It is impossible to make more favourable and advantageous terms. You will readily understand why I have no dissatisfied customers. I guarantee every customer full satisfaction. Do not be misled with ordinary birds with fancy names at fancy prices. Let me send you high-class birds at ordinary prices. My matched pairs of Yorkshires and Norwich at 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, and 15/- pair are extraordinary value. My stock includes the following, all well moulted, cocks in song, my famous German songsters, the working man's friend; cocks that will sing by day and by gaslight, loud, free, continuous songsters; every bird tested before sending out. Cocks, 4/6, 5/-, 5/6, 6/- each; matched pairs for breeding songsters, 6/-, 6/6, 7/6, 8/-. Genuine trained St. Andreasburg Rollers, with full change of song by day and artificial light, bred and trained by leading contest winners in their home land, with full volume of song, free from harsh or choppy notes, cocks, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each; hens, 2/-, 2/6, 3/- each. High-class long slim typical Yorkshires, in all colours, clean moulted, cocks 5/-, 5/6, 6/-, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6; a few extra good specimens for exhibition, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-; accurately matched pairs for breeding, 7/6, 8/6, 9/6, 10/6, 12/6; superior quality, lengthy hens, 2/-, 2/6, 3/-, 3/6, 4/6. Plainhead Norwich, thick-set, cobby stylish Norwich, in all colours, quality that will astound you, especially at the prices; clean moulted cocks, in song, 5/-, 5/6, 6/-, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6 each; grand quality hens, 2/-, 2/6, 3/-, 3/6, 4/- each; matched breeding pairs, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6; neat travelling cages, 3d. each. You really must see these birds to be convinced of their value, for it is utterly impossible for small breeders or dealers to sell such quality at the prices; all birds on seven days' approval at my risk, and I pay carriage back if you should not be satisfied: E. L. Storey, Practical Bird Specialist, Crowle, Doncaster.

PARROT PROBLEM

solved. For full proofs send postcard at once for my large book, "Parrot Prattle." This is the most wonderful book ever offered free of all charge to all Parrot fanciers. (This "Parrot Prattle" is registered copyright, and all infringers and imitators will be proceeded against). It contains hundreds of testimonials from all parts with full names and addresses, many interesting facts, and gives valuable advice and hints to all Parrot buyers. Full details of our original system of selling Parrots on four weeks' trial, at our risk, which we were the first to introduce. We sell Parrots of all descriptions on four weeks' trial, at our risk, before settlement. Cheapest and best in the Kingdom, and any Parrot sold by us and not giving full satisfaction, will be exchanged any time within twelve months. Remember we lead and others try to follow. Write to other dealers as well as us, and judge for yourselves. Lists of Parrots for sale and above book post free on receipt of postcard. Telephone No. 40 Morecambe.

Singing Contests.

LEEDS.

Weekly Linnet singing contest, held Old Bird House, King's Head, Shannon Street, Nov. 26, when 38 of the best picked birds in Leeds sang. 1st and 2nd divided between T. Stead and Wigfield 3rd and 4th, Butler. Judges, Messrs. S. Hardcastle, A. Jennings, Walt. Naylor. Notice.—A Canary contest at above house Dec. 3rd, when three good prizes will be given, according to the number of birds. First pair to be on nail at 7.45 prompt.—T. C. Summers, Hon. Sec.

Quality singing contest, held Skinners Arms, Nov. 25th, when 19 birds sang. 1st, Turner; 2nd, Sellars; 3rd, Ward. Judges, Messrs. Sissons, Hullen, and Clayton. Also Nov. 26th, grand contest. 33 birds (best in Yorks.). There was a crowded house when the first 2 birds faced the judges. We had the finest sing ever heard. The two champions met and the round of singing was like German Rollers singing. Messrs. Ward and Turner had several offers for their birds, but they refused. 1, Ward; 2, Turner; 3, Sellars. Judges, Messrs. Biss, Hullam. On Dec. 3rd an open match for Canaries at 8.—C. Clayton, hon. sec.

NEWTOWN (Leeds).

Week-end contest for Linnets held Nov. 26th, Prince Albert Inn, 15 birds entered for quality singing only. Judges, Messrs. E. Wood and J. Smith. 1st, C. Lorriman; 2nd, J. Chippendale; 3rd, P. Madden. Also a Roller Canary contest, when 10 birds entered. Judges, Messrs. J. Smith and P. Maddon. Timekeeper, Mr. E. Wood. 1st, Stubbs; 2nd, Tuke; 3rd, Chippendale.—E. Wood, hon. sec.

LEIGH.

Delegates' meeting held as arranged, Boat House Hotel, Nov. 18th. Following delegates present: Blackburn, represented by Messrs. Dobson and Topping; Wigan by Messrs. J. Ashurst and another; Leigh by Messrs. J. McAllister and J. W. Jones; Salford by Messrs. B. Warton and J. Green; Tyldesley by Messrs. J. Kennedy. Whole of the business of previous meetings gone through, and one alteration made, i.e., the timing of birds. It was decided to do away with waggers on the walls and to introduce tappers in time of singing. The other rules, etc., I will give in next report. Am pleased to say I now hold the guarantee money for the following clubs: Blackburn, Wigan, Leigh, Salford and Tyldesley. Also decided, to hold another delegates' meeting at Tyldesley after the contest, Dec. 9th, when I shall read out rules in full, as drawn up by the delegates. Globe Inn Linnet Club will hold a contest, Dec. 2nd, Globe Inn, Bradshawgate, for members only, singing to commence at 2 o'c.—J. M. Allister, hon. sec.

SALFORD.

Meeting held Boat House Hotel, Nov. 26th. Chairman Mr. H. Cootes, all being pleased to see him after his serious illness. Delegates Messrs. Wharton and Cain gave their report of the business done on behalf of the club under the affiliations, and they give great praise to the officials of it in getting every club to have the support of all the best Linnet fanciers in Lancashire to further singing contests. Decided, to extend contest on Dec. 2nd to all club members and any fancier in Manchester and Salford and the surrounding districts; this will give the novices a chance of competing. First prize, copper kettle; 2nd prize, pair of ornaments; 3rd prize, given by Mr. Cootes; 4th prize by Mr. Pearson—for time singing only. First pair up 2 o'c. We hope to see Linnet fanciers wishing to join. Secretary will be glad to give information to anyone who will write him at 40, Vernon-st., Gorton.—B. Wharton, hon. sec.

TYLDESLEY.

An open-to-all-England Linnet contest, Dec. 9, at the Union Arms, Tyldesley, for time and quality, when we hope to see many of our old friends from far and near; all welcome.—J. Harrison, Sec.

Club Reports.

SUNDERLAND C.B.A.

Meeting held Nov. 17, Mr. Farrer in chair. Agreed to admit members of CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE to our open show, at a reduced rate. Subs. were received from Messrs. Grimshaw and Hunt towards our show, and I shall be pleased to acknowledge further subscriptions and specials. Will members please put their best efforts forward in this direction? At next meeting schedule will be finally considered before being placed in the printer's hands.—J. Jeffrey, Hon. Sec.

EDINBURGH AND DIST. C.B.S.

Meeting held 21st Nov., president Mr. Charleton presiding over a capital attendance. Stewards for first annual show appointed, namely, Messrs. Thomson, Bankier, Porteous, McNiven, and G. Mackie. Messrs. W. Whitefield and Easter appointed auditors. Decided to have prize cards published by the Leith Printing Co. Mr. G. Brown offered to present special cards gratuitously, the offer being accepted with great acclamation. Thereafter Mr. A. W. Watson presented Mr. G. Mackie with a gold medal, being the most successful competitor in the novice section of recent monthly show.—J. I. Mackie, Sec.

STOKE-ON-TRENT C.B.A.

Meeting held Nov. 27th, capital attendance. Prize money (over £7) and specials distributed amongst members. Further arrangements made for club show and cup competition at Newcastle, Dec. 26th. Mr. F. J. Weaver (Wolverhampton) was elected judge. A nice lot of special prizes were promised, and three additional classes provided, making 23 altogether. The attitude of Mr. Wellings re failure to fulfil judging engagement at the open show was warmly commented on, and the secretary was instructed to try to obtain an explanation through the Fancy Press. Mr. R. Smith was elected a member of the society.—J. Pitchford, Hon. Sec.

NORTHERN YORKS C.C.

Meeting and table show held November 15th, Mr. F. C. Crawhall presiding. Mr. J. Curry (one of our Vice-Presidents) kindly proposed to give a travelling case and 4 show cages, same to be sold at our next meeting, money so raised to go to club funds. The Chairman gave his lecture on the staging of the birds. This was listened to with great attention, the lecturer going into every little detail in connection with his subject. Mr. T. B. Tomlinson judged. Messrs. Crawhall and Tomlinson were heartily thanked for their services. Decided, to hold next table show, December 13th, Mr. J. Shepher judge.—R. Tindale, Hon. Sec.

EDINBURGH OPEN O.A.

Schedules for our show on 8th and 9th Dec., have been sent out. Fanciers overlooked should please make application without delay. Or send us entries and we will classify. Closing date Dec. 2nd. Scotch Fancy classes number twenty-one, four of which are selling. Belgian classes number three (under patronage of U.K.B.C.A.). Splendid list of special prizes, both open and members. Membership, 2/6, including free admission to show and members' specials. Will those gentlemen who have kindly presented prizes, cash or value, forward by the 8th December, so that we can hand over to winners at show. The committee extend a very cordial invitation to fanciers to visit our exhibition.—J. R. Meikle, Sec., 51, Lothian Rd.

GLOSSOP, HADFIELD C.B.S.

Meeting held at Mr. A. Deakins', 59, Hague Street, Glossop, November 20th. The President, Mr. W. Lawton, occupied the chair, and there was a fairly good attendance. Considerable steps were taken in making our show, December 16th, a gigantic success. Mr. Handel Olhouse (Glossop) was elected a member. Mr. J. W. Ramsden (London) has generously granted a silver-plated jam jar and spoon as a special in exchange for coupons that our members have handed in to me. Members please note this special is for the best fed bird colour-fed solely on Ramsden's pure pepper. Competitors must write Ramsden's against each competing entry. Also decided to have a dinner at the rooms after show. All members and members' wives and sweethearts invited. Intending participators must give in their names at next meeting, Dec. 5th, and at the same time deposit money.—E. Thompson, Sec.

BIRMINGHAM AND DISTRICT.

Result of Inter-Club Competition.

The following is the result of the inter-club cup competition between the City of Birmingham C.B.S., West Bromwich C.B.S., and Wolverhampton C.B.S. (20 highest awards by each society at each of the three shows only counted):—

Show.	City of Birmingham C.B.S.	West Brom. wich C.B.S.	Wolverhampton C.B.S.
Birmingham ...	123	73½	59
Wolverhampton	105	73½	89
West Bromwich	102	95	94
	330 points.	244 points.	242 points.

Most points for winners (and cup holder). J. A. Eckersley, Esq. (president), runner-up, P. V. Williams, Esq. Wolverhampton Society's gold medal and Mr. Weaver's novice medal, Mr. J. Gibbons (Wolverhampton secretary).—J. H de Maillet, competition Secretary.

BIRKENHEAD C.F.A.

Meeting held headquarters 21st Nov., with a good attendance. Mr. Burns (chairman) made a few remarks on what the society could do if all members would put their shoulders to the wheel. Mr. Young, who was to give the washing demonstration, found everything quite ready when he arrived. Before commencing, he explained what was required in the way of materials and water, the water in Cheshire districts being very hard. When you start to wash the bird, he said, get them through it as quickly as possible. The lecture was appreciated by all. In connection with the washing competition, Mr. Bird tried his hand; he has a very useful way, but is a little bit heavy handed; when he had nearly finished the bird got away, so it had to go through the tub again. Mr. G. Martin said it was getting late, and he would get the bird through as soon as possible. After the birds were dry, we called upon Mr. Caine to tell us which was the best washed bird (he had not seen them washed). His awards met with general approval: Mr. Morton 1, Mr. Bird 2. Old bird show, December 9th, is to be held at the Co-op Hall. Our friends who have seen it say it is one of the best halls. Our chairman, Mr. Burns, hopes we will give the judge something to do, as he is a local judge, and well-known to all in Liverpool. Mr. Jones proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Young.—A. E. Lloyd, Sec.

FALKIRK (Good Intent) C.B.A.

Last monthly meeting for the season held Oddfellows' Hall, November 25th, Mr. J. Muir presiding. The evening was taken up by arranging specials; and finally settling matters for annual show. General meeting, Dec. 23rd.—W. Clubb, Sec.

OLDHAM AND DISTRICT C.B.S.

Table show of Norwich Canaries at our next meeting, Dec. 12; also a class for Mules and Hybrids, and Mr. Thomas Young has kindly consented to judge the same. There will, too, be a class for Norwich hens, any colour. After judging there will be a debate on the varieties shown. I am hoping to have a good entry, also a good number of visitors. I was extremely sorry we had such a poor turn up at our Lancs. and Lizard show, when Messrs. Steeple and Fitton carried off the specials without competition, which I think speaks badly for those keeping the variety. So Norwich fanciers take the hint and turn up with your entries.—Jas. Cope, Hon. Sec.

We hear that Mr. J. Kershaw is to judge at the first show of the Denbigh Society on December 14th.

At Frome Show, we are told, a very dainty souvenir prize card is to be given to the winners at the show.

The annual open show of the Coventry O.S. will be held on Nov. 16, 1912, writes Mr. A. J. Barratt, the hon. sec.

We hear that the eleven classes provided for cage birds at Denbigh Show on Dec. 19 are to be judged by Mr. J. Kershaw (Llanwrst).

Entries are extremely short, and it is very near closing time, write Messrs. C. W. Oakley and C. Gratton, hon. secs., Matlock F.S.

Narberth Show is being held under Cage Bird Union rules, and it is hoped bird fanciers will patronise us, writes Mr. Jas. Owen, the sec.

I think your posters are a great attraction in advertising a show and a credit to Mr. Norman, your artist, writes Mr. A. W. Bacon, sec., Redhill C.B.S.

A mistake occurs in Ilkeston catalogue, writes Mr. J. Baker (Melbourne). Class 10, Norwich Novice, reads John Barker, 1st and 2nd; it should read John Baker.

Kindly note my change of address, writes Mr. H. Ferris, from 24, Ravensdon Street, Kennington Park Road, to 7, Frederick Crescent, Vassall Road, North Brixton, London.

We have decided on Nov. 3 and 5, 1912, for our annual open show, writes Mr. A. Freestone, sec. of the Leicester Hand-in-Hand C.B.S. Will other secretaries please note to avoid clashing?

Kindly note my change of address, writes Mr. C. W. Law, sec. of the London and Provincial O.S., from Highgate to Brimley House, Woodhouse Road, North Finchley.

Entries for our show, Dec. 7 and 8, will be received up to first post Monday morning (Dec. 4), but I cannot possibly receive them any later, writes Mr. Thos. Mayne, sec., Larne and Dis. C.B.A.

Many thanks for the bird plates you sent me. I got second prize with my fancy dress. I cut the birds all out, and put them flying all over the dress, and very pretty they looked.—Mrs. S. Durose (Uttoxeter).

Fanciers wishing to see one of the best confined shows in Scotland, visit Shettleston and District Cage Bird Society's fourth annual show on Saturday, Dec. 9th, in Hill Street Hall; admisison 3d.—(Advt.)

At the annual meeting of the Cork and Provincial C.B.S, I was elected hon. sec., writes Mr. J. Cottrell, 2, Ann's Ville, Friars Walk, Cork. The show, which was previously fixed for Dec. 6 and 7, was postponed to Feb. 14 and 15, 1912.

Owing to the illness of the secretary, the Newcastle C.B.S. meeting is postponed until Dec. 14, writes Mr. R. Tindale, the hon. assist. sec. I am pleased to state that Mr. Atkinson is still improving, although not yet able to leave his room.

I have taken CAGE BIRDS since I started bird-keeping twelve months ago, and must say it is a splendid one. From it I have gained a great amount of knowledge about the breeding and feeding of birds.—L. A. Cornes (Folkestone).

Mr. W. H. Mugford, sec. of the London C.B.A., writes: Prize cards not having come to hand from the printers, will be sent with prize money. Those who were not in the money will receive same as soon as I can possibly engross their names on them.

At the recent Lowestoft C.B.S. show Mr. Rackham, the popular secretary, was, we hear, successful in winning outright the challenge cup presented to the society by Mrs. R. Leach in 1907. Having won it three times in succession, it now becomes his own property.

We only learned after schedule had been posted to fanciers that Mr. R. Taylor (Preston) would not be able to judge at our show on Dec. 1, writes Mr. R. Trimble, sec. of the Ulster O.A. We, however, secured the services of Mr. J. W. Metcalfe (Liverpool).

Mr. C. A. O'Reilly, the well-known Dublin breeder and exhibitor, not only won first and special prize for best Yorkshire in show, at the Dublin P. and C.B.A. Show, but also the much coveted Drummond Challenge Cup, which Mr. O'Reilly has now won outright, becoming his own property.

We had a dance after the recent show, writes Mr. J. R. Chestney, hon. sec., Cramlington C.B.S., to augment the funds, and this was fairly well attended. It was our first open show, and we consider everything went off satisfactorily. We will in all probability have additional open classes next year.

Crystal Palace Show, Feb. 2 to 6. Record classification. Many new classes, including classes for Appliances, Cages, Decorated Cages, Novice Borders, three classes for Rollers, etc., etc. The Committee of the L. and P.O.S. have decided to accept entries from their members at the reduced fee of 1s. 6d.—(Advt.)

Metropolitan bird-lovers should not overlook the annual show in North London held this Friday and Saturday, Dec. 1 and 2, in the Library, Church Street, Stoke Newington. We hear there is an excellent entry. Electric trams from all parts of London, and motor buses on the Stamford Hill route, pass the hall.

An important monthly meeting will be held at the Mechanics' Institute, Stratford, E., on Dec. 8, at 8 p.m., writes Mr. W. G. Rogers, hon. sec. of the Great Eastern Railway F. and F.S. Final arrangements for annual show, Jan. 16, will be made. I shall be glad to receive all unpaid subs., also some more specials.

I am judging on Dec. 2 the Crewe Society's members' show, writes Mr. Chas. Houlton, and a night show of the Widnes Society on Thursday promoted to try and resuscitate the society; also the Ardwick, etc., Society's members' show on Dec. 9; the Liverpool (Amalgamated) on Dec. 16; and Hatto Heath, St. Helens, on Jan. 20.

Exhibitors should not overlook Sheffield and Dist. C.B.S. Show on Dec. 9 with its grand classification, excellent prize-money, and many cash specials. We hear that Mr. J. C. Barnes, one of the judges-elect, is presenting two silver medals for novices (Yorks and Nor.). Now, novices, send on your entries, and provide him with as hard a task as possible.

At Ilkeston Show last Saturday Mr. J. C Barnes (Sheffield), the judge, declared the exhibition to be the best he had ever seen at this Midland town. For the last six or seven years Mr. B. has visited the show (placing the cards on five occasions). Truly it was a grand show and excellently managed; a better worked and smoother running affair we have seldom seen.

It was a surprise for me to find my clear body dark-crested hen depicted on the front page of CAGE BIRDS of Nov. 25. Allow me to thank you for same. I might say I bred the bird myself. She has been shown ten times, and has taken first each time, also the W.C.O.S. Cup last year. I should also like to thank the local Crest fanciers who have helped me in the past.—Harry Coath (Plymouth).

We regret that we have to dispose of practically the whole of our stock, but it is unavoidable, writes Mr. J. Hopkins, of Messrs. J. and J. Hopkins, the well-known Norwich exhibitors, of Bolton. We hope to resume again in full force in the course of a year or two. I am resigning from the secretaryship of the Norwich Plainhead Club after Blackburn Show, at which show I understand my successor is to be appointed.

Thanks for splendid report of our All-England Show, writes Mr. T. Bishop, sec. of the Sheffield O.S. Our members were delighted. I am pleased to report a net profit of £10 on the show after an expenditure of £111. Our Nest Feather Show was a success, and the All-England Show was a success, so we are looking forward to the Dec. 2 show doing the hat trick and finishing the first year of the society successfully from a financial standpoint.

A small but very important error has crept into the report of the South Birmingham O.S., writes Mr. J. Sheppard, the hon. sec. The report states that the list of specials closed at two; this should read twenty-two. We have had two more presented, making twenty-four up to time of writing. We shall welcome any fancier at the meeting at Sydenham Hotel, Small Heath, on Dec. 13, as several have handed their names in for nomination. The schedule is now ready, and a very attractive programme it is.

Please accept our best thanks for the splendid report of Cowdenbeath Show, writes Mr. J. R. Reid, the sec. We have had a good many letters from exhibitors, and I beg to thank them all for the kind things they have said. My Committee assure Mr. P. McKenzie, Kelso, (who was prevented from judging at our show owing to a bereavement) of our sympathy in his loss. We also beg to thank Mr. J. Hutcheson, Dysart, who officiated in his stead on very short notice, and so helped us out of a difficulty. We hope that exhibitors will overlook any of our shortcomings, as we are confident that with the experience we have gained at our first attempt we will do better in another year. The magnificent entry of over 600 undoubtedly was justification for our action in breaking away from the Poultry Society and catering for Cage Birds only. We wish CAGE BIRDS further success.

We have been notified of the following corrections to show reports:—Wimbledon, winner of Whittome Cup for best unflighted Norwich, Mr. H. Dixon (not runner-up for same), who was also runner-up for Warley's Cup for best unflighted Canary; High Blantyre, best bird in hall, Mr. J. Wilson (not Mr. W. Wilson); Darlington, 4, vhc, in Nor. Cl. Yell. Ck. class, Mr. J. Barnes (not Freeman), who won he and c; also in hen, 1st prize, Mr. J. Barnes (not Baines); Peterborough, 2nd prize in Yellow hen and hc in Classes 8 and 11, Mr. Fennell (not Hennell); Bontnewydd, 1st prize, Greypate class, R. E. Griffith; Govanhill in the yellow hens, 1st, 2nd, spl, Mr. W. Wilson (not Watson); Blackwood, 3rd in Redpoll, etc., class, Mr. G. Haldane (not Bruce); Bournemouth, 1st in the clear buff Norwich class, Mr. Morris and 2nd Mr. Folwell (not 1, Cutler and 2, Morris; an error in catalogue).

Allow me to thank all who helped us by sending entries to our show, writes Mr. J. P. Leeming, sec., Preston O.S. All birds were in the railway companies' hands by seven o'clock, and I trust they arrived home safely. Winners of members' specials; Best bird, Messrs. Treugove and Son; the P.O.S. Cup, Mr. H. F. Marsh, the C. Blackhurst cup, Messrs. Leeming Bros.; Novice Cup for best unflighted and spl. for best buff cock, Mr. T. Barton.

The November issue of "Bird Notes," the journal of the Foreign Bird Club, is especially interesting. The frontispiece is a charming coloured plate by Mr. Goodchild of the Crimson-banded Whydah, and Mr. Page contributes an article on the bird and its equally rare relative the Jackson's or Drooping-tailed Whydah. Mr. Page also continues his account of his visits to the aviaries of Dr. Amsler and Mr. Brooke, and other articles include "Aviary Notes," by the Hon. Mary C. Hawke; "The Breeding of Green Cardinals," by Mr. Gerald E. Rattigan; and of Hybrids between the Pennant and Rosella Parrakeets, by Mr. J. Sumner Marriner; "The Brown-necked Parrot," by Mr. J. H. Newman; "Bird-life through the Camera," by Mr. H. Willford, etc.

OBITUARY.

Mr. JAMES BALSHAW (Harpurhey).

It is with the deepest regret, writes Mr. J. Davey, hon. sec. of the North Manchester C.B.S., that I have to announce the death of Mr. Jas. Balshaw, who passed away on Nov. 21 after a painful illness, aged 55 years. He was one of the founders of our society, for which, as president, he worked very hard to make it a success. He always had a kind word or a smile for all he knew, and he was ever ready to help the novices with his experience. He was also a past member of the Manchester and N.C. O.S. and a past officer in the Waverley Lodge of the R.A.O.B., whose members attended the funeral and performed the last rites of their Order. He was interred at Bradford Cemetery on Nov. 25. I am sure all fanciers will join us in offering their sympathy to the relatives of the deceased gentleman.

A Correction.

In our account of the sales at the L.C.B.A. Show we mention that Mr. Maxwell's Melba Finches were claimed at £7 15s.; this should have read Violet-eared Waxbills.

The Duke of Richmond Wins.

At the recent show at Chichester (reported in this issue) the Duke of Richmond exhibited some Norwich and Yorkshire Canaries, and it is pleasing to note that his Grace succeeded in coming out at the head of the class in each variety.

Golden Eagle in Pembrokeshire.

A golden Eagle has been seen at Crigran, in the beautiful valley of Cemaes, Pembrokeshire (about two miles from the place where I reported to you some three years ago one had been shot), writes Mr. D. J. Thomas. It is to be hoped that this one will not share the same fate.

A Laudable Ambition.

Whilst at Doncaster Show we gleaned that friend Bescoby, the indefatigable sec., had fully made up his mind not to relinquish his efforts until this world-famed racing centre became a power in the land as regards an up-to-date bird show. He is in earnest, and surrounded as he is by so many excellent fanciers, a great achievement is bound to follow. He has our hearty good wishes.

Chance for Novices at Sheffield.

Members' entry fee for the Sheffield C.B.S. Open Show on Dec. 9 is 1s. each cage, writes Mr. J. Woolhouse, the assist. sec., and all members visiting the show will receive a catalogue free. We are anticipating a good entry, and as we are giving novice exhibitors seven classes (four Yorks and three Norwich), we trust they will encourage the management.

Looking Ahead.

It was decided at our last meeting, writes Mr. J. H. Elwell, sec., Old Shildon Workmen's Club C.B.S., that we have our next show on our old date (the same since the commencement of our society), Nov. 9 and 10, 1912. The balance sheet was read, and gave great satisfaction to all, leaving a balance of £10 on the show; so fanciers look out for a good schedule for next year and give us your support.

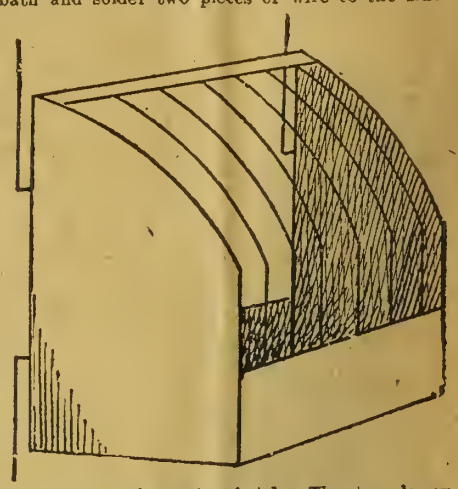
A Tame Canary.

The caretaker of the Eastwood W.M.C. and Institute is the possessor of perhaps the tamest Canary in Yorkshire, says the "Rotherham Express." The bird flies about the club, alights, and sits comfortably on the members' shoulders, heads or hands, and even occasionally takes to outdoor exercise, always returning home at dusk. The bird is only 1911 bred. When placed in a cage the songster refuses to eat, and sulks until taken out again. Needless to say, the club members are extremely proud of their feathered novelty.

I had over 80 replies from my last advt. in "Cage Birds."—J. A. Robinson (Windermere).

I am pleased to say I had too many application in reply to my advertisement in "Cage Birds" to be able to answer all by post.—J. Wright (Birmingham).

I did exceedingly well last time I advertised in "Cage Birds." I had orders from North of Scotland, and South of England, which shows your paper is well circulated. I also testify as to their being good class customers, which is what we want.—F. Cockerill.



Illustrated Ideas

No. 552.

Sent by Mr. J. Henderson, 186, Camp hel Buildings, Westminster Bridge Road, S E

I enclose a sketch of a simple device that I have in use and find acts admirably. It is impossible with this to knock the bath off the cage by its accidentally coming into contact with the bottom or side. Get an ordinary bath and solder two pieces of wire to the side of same, as shown in sketch. The two lower ones are the ordinary wires which are on the bath when bought, made so as to fix bath on cage. Push the top wires up first (that is, those which you have had to solder on); then lower the bath into position.—J. Henderson.

No Need to Despair.

"They gave a White Canary first over a beautiful Cinnamon Crest at the Crystal Palace," remarked an old breeder of the latter variety, "and I gave up the Cinnamon Crests after that." The White Canaries are to have a special class this year at the Palace, so our friend must reconsider his decision. Pity the Cinnamon Crest class had to be cancelled at the L.C.B.A.

Veterans at the L.C.B.A.

We should like to have listened at that little meeting between those veterans of the Crest Fancy, Messrs. T. J. King and G. E. Russell. No doubt they talked of the old days when Tom (of Cheltenham) bought of George (of Brierley Hill) a Crest hen that bred three winners in one nest! Aye, and bought her for about sixty shillings. They were fine Crests in those days, too. What must the merits of the winning Young Crest at the L.C.B.A. have been to provoke T. J. K. to say: "This is the best young Crest I ever saw, and I've given it the special for best Crest in show"?

Pleasingly Decorated Cages.

It was pleasing to see the unending array of cages relieved in places by tasteful decoration of the interiors of some of the temporary homes of the exhibits. Something of the sort has been at times done in the past, but nothing has ever approached the exquisite tastefulness of the decoration of the cage of the Hon. Mrs. Bourke's sweet little Purple Sugar Bird, 2nd prize in its class. A spray of real orchids of pale chrome yellow formed all the decoration, but the delightful contrast between the colour of these flowers and the deep blue iridescent plumage of the bird was the admiration of every one. The roomy cage in which M. Pauwels exhibited his grand pair of Wall-creepers was covered at back and ends with a simulation of a stone-wall—a most appropriate furnishing indeed. A nice little hen Bearded Reedling, shown by Miss Shepherd, had its cage partially filled by a spray of autumn leaves, and Mr. Askew's Little Owl was exhibited in a cage tastefully lined with virgin cork and ivy leaves. We hope this is only a foretaste of what is to come in the class specially provided at the Palace for appropriately decorated cages.

A Fight for Albinos.

An interesting reference is made in the "Pall Mall Gazette" to the much-talked-of Yellow Ring-necked Parrakeet exhibited by Mr. A. Ezra. It points out the fact that a similar freak-coloured Ring-neck was at the Zoo some twenty years ago, and accounts for their rarity as follows:—

"The natives of India are keen Parrot-fanciers, and snap up these yellow varieties at high prices, just as our bird-fanciers here do with white Blackbirds. A case is known in which there used to be quite a fight among the local natives to secure the young of a pair of green Parrakeets in the Patna district, which bred year after year in the same tree, and always raised a yellow brood. No doubt these remarkable parents have long since been gathered to their ancestry, for yellow Parrakeets have been unobtainable in India for years past. One curious thing about such varieties is that if they have pink eyes—as the specimen now under discussion has—the yellow colour will be permanent, but if the eyes have the normal black pupil, the plumage will often display a disconcerting tendency to revert to the original green of the parent stock when its wearer undergoes a moult."

A MAGNIFICENT DISPLAY OF BIRDS AT THE HORTICULTURAL HALL.

Special Descriptive Account and Critique.

The L.C.B.A. Smashes its own Record; Splendid Show in all Departments; Sensational Hybrid on View; Gorgeous Feast of Tropical Birds.

The 23rd annual show of the London Cage Bird Association, held Nov. 24, 25 and 27, in the Horticultural Hall, proved in practically every respect a magnificent success. The entry was a record, being 2,262, against 2,014 last year, an increase of 248. This, almost needless to say, is the prime essential which goes to the making of a success; and, above all, the extra entries received were in sections which have been so lamentably weak at L.C.B.A. shows of recent years, viz., the seedeating and insectivorous British birds, and, in a lesser degree, the Hybrids. The increase in the entry is all the more satisfactory when one considers that no cage classes were provided this year, the entries in this section therefore being lost to the Society.

Progression and Retrogression.

Very few classes had to be cancelled. The Norwich Greens and the Belgians had the unenviable distinction of being the worst supported sections in the hall—24 birds in four classes, and 13 in three classes respectively. Even the Lizards managed to average over seven per class, and the Lancashires over ten! No London Fancies were entered, and only four Dutch Frills were on view. The Frills had a class for "birds bred in England," but only one entry was received for it. There seems quite a "slump" in what may be termed the "outside varieties" of the Canary family. The Cinnamons also mustered poorly; still, only two classes were scheduled for them. The Crests were good, while the Yorkshire, Norwich, and Roller classes were just splendid. We noticed that the open novice classes received enthusiastic support, and paid their way—not 'arf. The Borders were a little disappointing; we expected to see more of these now very popular birds. The Hybrid and British and foreign bird sections were magnificent so far as quality went, and excellently well supported, though the unusually extended classification made it difficult to get a "paying" entry. The selling, price limit and stock classes had wonderful entries, and the rule allowing the removal of birds from these at time of purchase was much appreciated.

The huge array of birds was very nicely displayed around the hall, and this handsome and spacious structure looked charming to a degree, especially when thronged with bird-lovers intent on inspecting the feathered beauties disporting themselves behind the prize-cards. The Horticultural Hall, as we have had occasion to remark before, is quite an ideal place for a bird-show—in size, in light, and in comfort, it is absolutely prefection. We were sorry to hear that the attendance on the opening day and the early part of Saturday was not quite as good as usual. The daily papers, working overtime to prove either (a) that the Insurance Bill is the one thing capble of transforming earth into Heaven, or (b) that the Insurance Bill is the sure thing to drive us to—well, emigrate, have not given the usual prominent notices to the show, we were told, and this, of course is likely to have adversely affected the attendance of the general public. On the Saturday evening, however, the place, capacious though it is, was just about packed. My word! what a crowd. On the closing day (Monday) the weather took an unfortunate turn, snow, sleet, and rain being unpleasantly in evidence. We trust, however, that the financial report will be found to be favourable.

Broad Shoulders Wanted and Found.

The brunt of the managerial work again fell upon the shoulders of Messrs. Mugford and Tyson, and the past experience of these two gentlemen in the art of running successful bird shows stood them in good stead, the excellence and thoroughness of the arrangements bearing eloquent testimony to their skilled and practised methods. Naturally they were both looking a trifle fagged at the close, though working on with unabated vigour. The many hours they sacrificed to the interests of the show—especially Mr. Mugford, upon whom fell the bulk of the preliminary clerical work—can only be vaguely guessed at, but no doubt the magnificent exhibition that resulted would be thought ample compensation by both of them. Mr. R. L. Crisp (the President) than whom there can be no more popular gentleman connected with our hobby, lent valuable aid, though not feeling quite up to "show form," as be expressed it. Mr. Crisp is the personification of courtesy, and his geniality and good nature are greatly appreciated by the many fanciers brought into contact with him in his official capacity. The chairman of committee, Mr T. Miller, also got through a deal of excellent work. The L.C.B.A. is very fortunate indeed in its leading quartette of officials.

The members and committee answered the "call to arms" in force, and worked cheerfully and well at the heavy task of receiving and despatching the exhibits. The hall was cleared in splendid fashion, methodically, quickly, and without a hitch. Amongst those lending a hand we noticed Messrs. F. Boxall, H. W. Dickinson, F. J. Evans, J. Franz, Hathaway, Horton, F. Knight, C. F. Mitchell, T. Miller, F. W. Owen, T. C. Pickard, H. Peverall, R. J. Pretty, W. A. Shepherd, F. Smith, H. Smith, J. Turner, Wallington, and J. W. Wright. Mr. and Mrs. Thynne, and several young fanciers, including two of Mr. Tyson's sons, Master Wright and Master Pickard, also gave appreciated assistance.

Enriching the Coffers.

A considerable sum of money flowed into the sales office, and though no birds were claimed at what may be termed sensational prices, we were informed that the total would no doubt prove up to that of previous years, and reach well over £200. Many well-known personages in society made purchases, Lady Faudel-Phillips (late Lady Mayoress) succumbing to the charms of a Superb Tanager, amongst others. A large number of the foreign birds were claimed at prices ranging from £2 to £7 15s., the latter sum being paid for Mr. Maxwell's Melba Finches. There was a good demand for Crests and Crest-breds, Mr. Franz's winning C.B. finding a new owner at £7 10s., and Mr. T. Taylor's commended Crest at the same figure. Mr. Mugford also lost both Crests and C.B.'s at from £5 to £10. Mr. Randall's winning Roller Canary in the champion class was claimed at £10, and Miss Reeves' sensational Greenfinch-Chaffinch Hybrid at £10 10s. An unnoticed Yorkshire shown by Mr. Rennie was claimed at £6 6s. Many other Canaries also changed ownership at good figures. Amongst the British claimed we noticed: Hawfinch (£3), Greenfinch (£2), Lesser Redpoll (32s. 6d.), and Linnet (50s.). There was quite a rush of buyers on the Monday evening towards the close of the show.

Amongst the stall-holders we noticed Messrs. Trower and Co., Messrs. W. A. Rudd and Co., and Messrs. Hyde and Co., each of these firms having splendid displays of high-class seeds, foods, and other specialities for which they are famous. The King Anti-Redmite Perch Co. also had an interesting exhibit of this very useful little article, and Mr. Dawson, "the Chelsea Naturalist," a fine show of birds, cages, etc. Business was brisk, we heard, with all the stall-holders. Mr. Dawson took over £30 from two customers, including £20 for a talking Grey Parrot. CAGE BIRDS' stall was in its usual position, and our practical books, coloured plates, etc., were in great demand, the very useful and cheap "Nutshell" series of booklets dealing with almost all kinds of birds being greatly appreciated.

Two Important Departments.

The birds were fed upon seeds and food supplied by Messrs. Trower and Co., and that old and skilful fancier, Mr. J. Dewhurst, had charge of the feeding department. The condition of the birds at the close of the show bore testimony to the excellence of the attention and the food they received. In the Foreign section, those two well-known enthusiasts, Messrs. T. Miller and S. M. Townsend gave the birds unremitting attention.

During judging the light was very bright and good, and the conditions altogether favourable, though some of the birds seemed to be temporarily affected by the chill in the air, a cold snap of weather having suddenly descended upon the metropolis. The gentlemen to undertake the onerous duties of determining the various winners were Messrs. H. D. Astley (Foreign), S. L. Cocks (Brit. Insectiv.), M. Jacquemin, F. A. Lester, J. Lyon, and C. Roehl (Rollers), E. J. Lamb (Hybrids), D. A. S. Longden (Brit. Seedeaters), P. Mason (Yorks), W. Vardy (Nor.), T. J. King (Crests), and J. Robson (Various Canaries). Their awards on the whole seemed popular, though, as is only to be expected in such a vast show, a few expressions of dissent at some of the placings were heard.

The "Money-bags" of Canarydom.

The Crests and Crestbreds do not seem to vary much in numbers from year to year, and on the present occasion may be said to have been up to the average in this respect and a little above the average in quality. With such noted breeders patronising the fixture as Messrs. Bale, Evins Bros., Bewick, Taylor, Tyson, Greenwood and Burson, Franz, Shearman, Lazarus and Brotherton, birds representative of the best in Crestdom to-day were bound to be found on the benches. The Horticultural Hall Show, too, generally supplies us with at least one sensational bird, and this turned up in the young Crest exhibited by Messrs. Greenwood and Burson. Of superlative excellence in all points and with a really marvellous headpiece, this bird was the cynosure of all eyes, its fortunate owners coming in for the congratulations of everyone interested in the section. We heard that offers in the region of £40 were being mooted by one or two who had a fancy for seeing the youngster gracing their own bird-rooms. The class for Cinnamon Crest or C.B. had to be cancelled, only two entries being made therein. Mr. T. J. King, that old and respected breeder, judged the section, and with just one or two exceptions his awards seemed well approved.

A Word to the Wise!

The entry in open champion Norwich Plainheads totalled 89 in 7 classes; not a bad muster this. The weakest classes were those for marked or variegated birds—a most regrettable illustration, we think, of the unwise policy which has been pursued for some years past of neglecting to encourage these birds when entered in general competition in Norwich Plainhead classes. For what is to be done without them in the breeding room; and if, by reason of discouragement, they are not bred to pitch of show perfection in point of type, quality, and colour, is not their value as stock birds greatly depreciated? Depend upon it, the idea that heavily variegated, etc., Norwich must necessarily be coarse and long in feather, from an exhibition point of view, and consequently kept in the stock room, is absurd and suicidal. The constant cry for "clear and lightly ticked" does not pay in the long run. So far as we saw, there was nothing of a really sensational character staged. Yellows were, as a rule, well on a level, in point of general merit, with the buffs. Perhaps the most noticeable were the winning yellows of Messrs. T. Irons and J. Banbury, the clear buff of Mr. E. Baker's, the team sent up from Devonport by Mr. W. Collings, and Mr. A. Keech's yellow hens. We are getting better heads, but there seemed quite a number of otherwise good birds to be seen with loose thigh and rump feathers, and showing an inclination to squareness behind the legs. We heard it said that much of this looseness at the thighs is due to the dry weather experienced during the moult.

The open novice classes were a little disappointing, we thought, as to quality, and this, after allowing as wide a margin as comparison with the champions demands. The task of judging was consequently heavier. Some very nice and taking birds were to be found here and there, but, truth to tell, there was nothing to really startle one in this section beyond the large entry of 126 in six classes—an average of 21 per class. This is splendid, and speaks well for the enthusiasm of the novice breeders of Norwich Plainheads.

Praise for the Yorkshires.

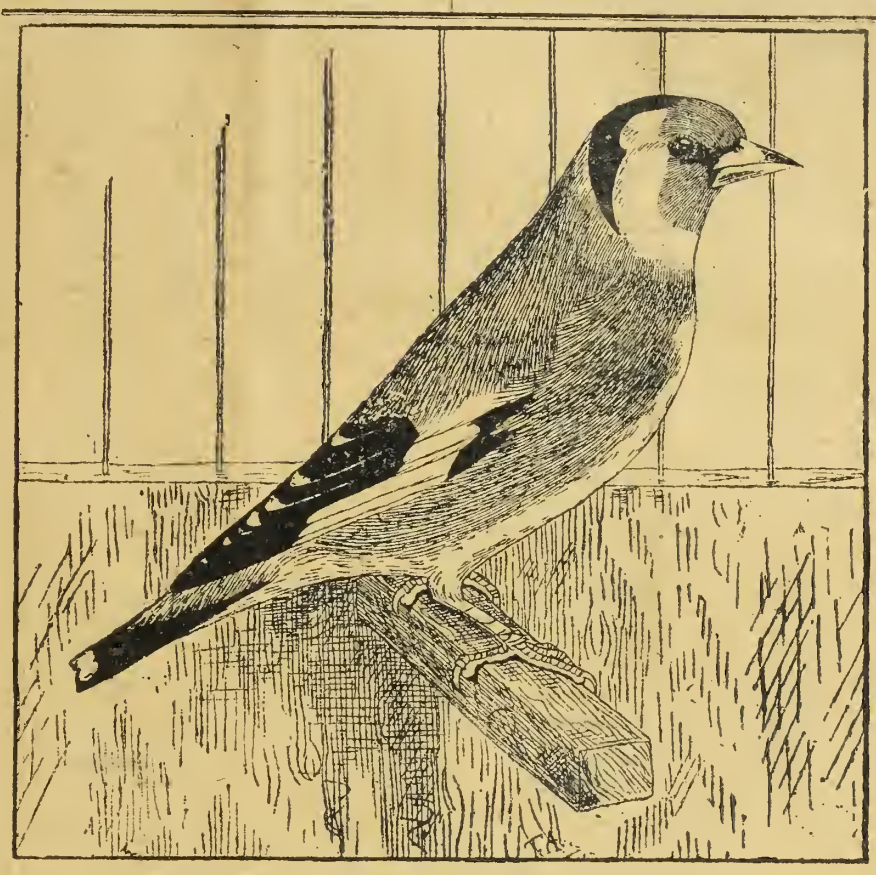
We hardly know how to praise sufficiently the breeders of the "long and slim 'uns" (mostly southern men) for the grand display of the variety. We believe we shall not be overstating the facts when we say that it was the best collection ever seen in the Metropolis. Within the last few years there has been without doubt a great advance in certain points which were particularly weak in the southern Yorkshires, and birds possessing these points to perfection were plentiful at the Horticultural hall, we might almost say, "common." We refer particularly to length and head qualities. In dealing with the collection Mr. Mason had a most difficult task, and some just praise must be given him for the way in which he handled them. In the morning when the judging took place the birds were rather "down," and a bit open in feather, but as the hall warmed during the day they were seen at their best, and yet in spite of this, very few holes could be picked in his awards. The classes generally were very well filled, the highest being the unflighted, which totalled 26 charmers. In this class, Mr. H. H. Towers' Clear Buff secured the leading honour. Behind him were several birds that could give him a few points as regards length and cleanness of run, but he was so beautifully packed and rounded and put down in such lovely condition that we think he deserved his position. The same exhibitor repeated his last year's performance by winning in the marked hen class, with his noted Cinnamon mark. In the Clear Yellow cock class, there was nothing to beat Mr. R. L. Crisp's bird. It was a most difficult matter to find fault with him—truly a Yorkie all over. He won several specials. There was a good deal of excitement just previous to the show as to who would lead on points for the S.Y.C.C.'s big special. Messrs. Easterling and Carson and Messrs. Hawes Bros. were running close, but one of the fine birds put down by Messrs. Easterling and Carson failed to catch the judge's eye, consequently Messrs. Hawes Bros. romped home with wins in every class but the unflighted. Their birds certainly looked grand, and were evidently "trained to the hour." Other well-known fanciers who managed to get in the money were Messrs. Rorke, Allen, Cook, Phipps and Huxley, Richards, and Brown and Son.

The open novice Yorkshire classes had a good entry—108 in six classes. The quality here was very level, and some most stylish birds were to be found doing battle. There were few, if any, cases which would justify the remark, "This bird is first and the rest are nowhere." In this section, by an oversight, the judge unfortunately put into the prizes a clear yellow in the class for cinnamon or green-marked birds.

Fountains of Colour.

Coming to the Yorkshire Greens, we had here a feast of symmetry and colour. Fortunately the light was good while these were being judged, consequently colour played a very important part in the decisions, but the type all through was so good that in many cases richness and soundness of colour turned the scales. We particularly noticed that the majority of the birds were selfs, and that very few foul marked birds were in the money. The lovely Buff put down by Mr. T. Rowlands was a real gem. The Yellows were grand, very bright and rich in colour, and there was a similarity in the shade all through, which is seldom seen. Evidently breeders are giving great attention to this attractive variety. The principal winners were Messrs. Benson, McDermott, Nimmo, McNulty, Hughes and Handley, etc.

The Norwich Green classes did not fill so well; somehow these birds do not appear to be so popular with breeders as the other varieties of Greens. The birds were decidedly green, but they give one the impression that after all they are only dark variegated birds of the Norwich type. Among them were certainly some lovely specimens, the Yellows in particular appealing to all lovers of colour. In these classes Mr. L. Harding, of Wellingboro, made no mistake. He had winners in every class, and left very little to be divided between Messrs. Lawson, Walker and Barker. Four exhibitors filled these classes between them.



Lost, Stolen or Strayed?

Where, oh! where, were the Cinnamons? A dozen in two classes is not very flattering to the admirers of these one time favourites. For certain reasons, which we need not go into, they have not advanced in popularity, particularly in the south. Among the dozen were a few good birds as regard colour and quality of feather, but the majority lacked the substance we generally look for in high-class birds of the variety. Mr. Nason's Yellow cock was undoubtedly a good specimen, and Mr. Pope, the popular Western Counties O.S. secretary, staged a lovely hen, quite a youngster, that should do some good later on.

Among the two thousand odd exhibits one almost required a pair of opera glasses to find the big Dutch Frills! Two classes cancelled, and only four exhibits in the one left standing! Yet the variety gave much promise and hope for the future some two or three years ago. Truly we are a conservative race. The winner, staged by Mr. G. W. Maisey, stood out from his fellows, and is certainly a fine specimen.

Something out of the Ordinary.

On the other hand, the giants of the Canary tribe, the Lancashires, made quite an imposing array. There were four classes provided, and these filled very well, and attracted a good deal of attention from the fanciers who knew anything about them—their commanding appearance stamps them at once as something uncommon in the Canary tribe. The winning Yellow coppy, exhibited by Mr. Fitton, was a grand bold bird, with a good top, but we thought Mr. F. J. Green's bird was quite as good in coppy, and commanded a greater length of side and wing

MR. OTTO PUCK'S SIBERIAN GOLDFINCH.
Fourth Prize in the Continental Class at the Horticultural Hall.

The Plainheads were a lovely lot, grand in outline, size and appearance. In these classes Messrs. Nason (Yellow), and Vickery (Buff) staged the winners; they were both closely pressed by two beauties owned by Mr. Fitton.

The Lizards were a fine collection for quality, although attracting little notice from the fanciers down south. As a matter of fact, far more interest was taken in these spangled beauties by the ordinary visitors than by the followers of the Canary cult. There is certainly no decadence in the beauty of these charmers; the spangling in the majority of the exhibits was about perfection, while the winners excelled in body work and soundness of colouring. Some of the Golds were delightful specimens, perfect rows of "work" following each other so evenly that they are almost mathematically correct. Mr. Dewsnap won in clear caps in both Gold and Silvers, and no fault could be found with either. The two classes for Lizards of any age were not a success, only seven exhibits turning up.

There were three nice little classes of Belgians, the one for young birds securing the majority of the entries, and among these birds were certainly some promising specimens. The winner was a beauty, belonging to Mr. Horrill, of Barnstaple, the town that furnished the major portion of the exhibits. Other exhibitors were Messrs. Baker, Hunt, Barrett and Walmsley.

The "Wee Gems" in the South.

The Border classes filled only fairly well. We were glad to see that the Cinnamon and evenly-marked classes had their share of entries. That old even-marked breeder, Mr. Geo. Meekley, of Carlisle, won hands down with a delightful Yellow, very even in markings, and of good type, although a shade fine in neck. Such specimens require some getting, and deserve all the prizes they win. A grand Yellow sent by Mr. R. H. Sampson was a good first in his class. He is typical and beautifully rounded—no angles anywhere. This class contained other very fine specimens, although many of them were evidently young birds, and therefore somewhat lacking in size and fullness. The Buffs were a grand collection, and several previous winners were unplaced, including Mr. McGuffie's lovely bird, 1st Swansea; but the winner belonging to Mr. D. Jenkins was a topper, and rightly placed. The same exhibitor won in Yellow hens, with a sweet lady that has been at the front before this season. The Buff hens, we thought, were not up to usual standard. The variegated class was quite a disappointment, this, as a rule, containing several toppers. One of the best birds in the show was undoubtedly the grand Cinnamon put down by Mr. R. Christer, of Wallsend-on-Tyne; for type and quality he could easily hold his own with the Clears, and he has the most delightful even tone of Cinnamon colour imaginable. The Greens were also good, the winners being staged by Mr. J. Johnson, of Wallsend-on-Tyne, and Mrs. McGregor, of London, two good birds. The novice classes were distinctly good, although many of the exhibits were somewhat too cobby

Horticultural Hall Show.

Catching up with Germany.

The Roller section was one of the great successes of the show, averaging 28 birds in the seven classes provided, the novice class for young birds, with 55 entries, being the largest in the hall. It was the club show of the British Roller C.C., and a magnificent list of special prizes had been got together for the occasion. The birds were very comfortably housed in an annexe to the large hall, and the display aroused great interest amongst the visitors, most of whom were both surprised at and pleased with the song of the little choristers in the houses with the folding doors—it is "so delightfully different," we heard one lady remark. The birds were admirably cared for by a special band of stewards, prominent amongst them being Messrs. Fisher, Randall, Schulter, Slade, Gloeckner, Rochl, Mooney, Neugebauer, Veen, Pope, Williams, and Dr. Read, with Mr. Norris, the popular and hardworking sec. of the B.R.C.C. The song continues to progress towards technical perfection, the tours and purity of delivery of the champion birds (bred and trained in England, mark you) being considered by competent listeners equal to those of the majority of the best Rollers to be found in Germany, while the novice birds, too, were excellent in these respects. The judges had a hard task.

Many Good : One Superlative.

The Hybrid section contrasted happily, both in regard to the number and quality of the exhibits, with the display of last year. Each class contained its "champions" and the great majority secured a really fine total of exhibits. Magnificent teams were sent by Messrs. Martin and Archer, and Mr. A. H. Shellam, while Miss Reeves and Messrs. Lawrence, McQuiston, Pearce, Pope, Andrews, Davies and Ramsden also staged some notable examples of the hybrid-breeder's art. To Miss Reeves, however, fell the chief honours, this lady exhibiting an absolute novelty, a Greenfinch-Chaffinch hybrid, the first of its kind, it is safe to say, to see light of day. Its genuineness cannot be questioned; it is plainly evidenced in the plumage and build of the bird. As was only to be expected, this Hybrid attracted an extraordinary amount of attention; further, it was claimed at catalogue price, £10 10s. We hope Miss Reeves may succeed in showing us further unique hybrids; she certainly has been splendidly successful in the past. A bird which gave rise to difference of opinion was a lightly marked Linnet Mule, which a number of old fanciers seemed to think simply a rare-feathered Linnet; the judge, however, placed it third in its class. Mr. G. E. Weston also placed on view (not, of course, for competition) his "three-quarter" Mule (said to have been bred from cock Goldfinch and hen Goldie Mule) and this naturally aroused discussion. Most of the views expressed were favourable to the bird, its appearance certainly fully bearing out its claim; even the doubters had to admit that it was a rare puzzle, and showing more Goldfinch characteristics by far than any Goldie-Can. Mule yet seen. The judge of this section, Mr. E. J. Lamb, was making his debut, and his awards were very well received indeed.

Our Native Birds Good & Interesting

The British bird section had on the whole a fine entry, a very welcome improvement on the last show. The extended classification certainly merits the support of keepers of our native birds. It was the club show of the National British Bird and Mule Club, but we have not heard the result of the points competitions at the time of penning these lines. In the Hardbill section the outstanding bird was the Goldfinch exhibited by Mr. A. P. Hurst, a real bonny Finch at all points. There were grand birds, however, in all the classes. The Bullfinches were easily the best we have seen so far this season, and the Greenfinches and Siskins were well above the average. Mr. Longden's awards seemed to be received with favour; we heard very little criticism concerning his placings. Mr. Cocks, who judged the Softbills, also was happy in his selections, adverse comments upon them being few and far between. Perhaps the feature of this section was the class of albino and rare-feathered birds, no fewer than 22 "freaks" being entered therein, including six lovely examples from the aviaries of Mr. W. R. Temple. The Hon. Mrs. Bourke achieved a notable feat, winning first with a cock Dartford Warbler in its class, and first with a hen in the class for representatives of the gentler sex. Both are lovely birds and were beautifully staged. The class for Continental birds was extremely interesting, the winners, a true pair of Wall Creepers, most artistically staged by Mons. Pauwels, being (to the writer at least) the finest and most attractive exhibits in the whole section. Mr. Maxwell's Red-breasted Flycatcher came in a good second. The class for Hawks, Owls, etc., contained only three entries, and we venture to think might very well be dropped. The Novice classes drew a pretty good entry, though that for Softbills had to be cancelled.

The Gorgeous Foreigners.

In this section the show was certainly an all-round success. Most of the classes were well filled, while the number of rare species, many quite new to the show bench, was abnormal. One of these, a dainty little creature in palish-blue and black, one of the rarest birds, if not the rarest, in the show, had to be content with hc! We do not think it yet possesses a popular name, and it is by no means easy to give it one, but from comparison with the well-known Blue Sugarbird, Palish-blue Sugarbird would about suit this species. We believe Mr. Townsend's fine exhibit to be the first living specimen to reach this country. One feature the writer was pleased to note was the fact that the entries in the Common Seedeater class were a record for many years, and most of the exhibits were in finest condition. The Parrot and Parrakeet classes were certainly down in point of numbers, but the entrants were mostly uncommon species. Messrs. Pauwels, Maxwell, Townsend, and Ezra, and the Hon. Mrs. Bourke and Mrs. K. Leslie Miller all had good teams of rare and exquisitely feathered gems, well staged and in finest trim. The management of the show was all that could be desired, and thoroughly deserved the record success it achieved. The writer was able to greet birdy acquaintances from the far North as well as the extreme South of the British Isles, besides making the acquaintance of many new ones, including fellow-members of more than one foreign natural history society. The universal remark was that the Foreign Bird Section was a record, and brought together one of the finest and rarest lots of foreign birds ever exhibited. Mr. H. D. Astley, F.Z.S., judged. His task was a heavy one indeed, and there was some murmuring at the awards in one or two classes. The L.C.B.A. are to be congratulated on the success which rewarded their efforts; also the exhibitors on the rarity and grand condition in which their birds were staged.

CRESTS AND CRESTBREDS.

Judge, Mr. T. J. King.

BUFF CREST CK. (13): 1, Tyson, tail and wing mkd., good bird for substance, very thick-set throughout, excellent quality feather, crest of huge size, well built up, but not quite pleasing in formation, little twisted; 2, Greenwood and Burson, lightly varieg., another fine bodied bird, crest beautifully neat and well finished, beaten only in expanse, good leafy texture; 3, Lazarus, cl. body, well-known winner, in new hands, real bonny bird, big, round crest, very neat and well drooped, close up; 4, Evins Bros., smart, finely built bird, carrying a well-radiated good-sized headpiece, little out at centre, splendid quality feather; vhc, hc, Day; c, Sadd; we noted two birds, No. 7, Bale, and No. 13, Taylor, which it was hard to understand being left out. HEN (11): 1, vhc, Evins Bros., "Dusky Queen," fitting name for as fine a hen as we have seen for some time, almost green, with an immense headpiece, built up of broad, well-ribbed feather, correct at centre, very evenly radiated, lovely droop and finish, she wins well; 2, Franz, also a wonderfully good hen, big and well-clothed body, topped by a very large and neat crest, correct and well finished at all points, quality of feather absolutely A1; 3, Shearman, nice big crest, distinguished by an exceptionally good frontal and rare good texture of feather, excellent body substance; 4, Lazarus, green, the City and Suburban winner, little short of body substance, but magnificent feather texture and a large beautifully rounded and drooped crest, pressed 3rd hard; hc, Jonas; c, Taylor, good one, soon claimed at £7 10s. BUFF, C.B. CK., GREEN OR FOUL (15): 1, Franz, good at all points, rare thick-set body, tremendous skull, good rise and lashing, excellent broad feather and heaps of it, also quickly claimed at £7 10s.; 2, Evins Bros., hardly so bold in head formation, but equal at all other points, magnificent texture of feather, splendid body and skull; 3, Tyson, remarkable width of head, grand entrance and dome, apparently carries a wealth of feather, bonny, big built bird; 4, Slade, fine substance, grand bold rising head, nice texture of feather, inclined to be horned at back; vhc, Taylor, very good; hc, Mrs. Haysom; c, Hesketh; abs., Gale (2). A.O.V. BUFF (9): 1, Bale, very fine varieg., grand body, wealth of feather of A1 quality, grand head for entrance and rise, well browed, inclined to be pinched at the back; 2, Evins Bros., lightly varieg., splendid body, feather of the right kind, and plenty of it, bold, wide, correct shaped skull, nice bird; 3, Bewick, light varieg., grandly domed head, very prominent lashing, well over beak, real good body, plenty of feather everywhere, close up; 4, vhc, Taylor, two noble-looking birds, 4th has a lovely head; hc, Harrison; c, Franz, clinking fine bird very low down. BUFF HEN (10): We are afraid the judge went a little astray here, the general opinion being that the 3rd bird won comfortably, while the 1st should have been placed third: 1, 2, vhc, Tyson, magnificent trio, excelling in all the points of high-class Crestbreds, wonderful body substance, exceptionally bold in head and carrying any amount of feather, we preferred the 2nd as being the best in quality; 3, Bewick, the celebrated "Duchess," absolutely ideal, nothing better can very well be imagined, extra large and thick-set in frame, with marvellously wide, bold skull, grand dome and lashing, while in colour and texture of plumage this "high-born lady" was easily superior to any of her rivals; 4, Evins Bros., not the huge size of the leading trio, but very meritorious all-round, excelling in profusion and quality of feather; hc, Hesketh; c, Taylor, lovely clear. YELL. CREST (9): 1, Taylor, champion grizzle crest, exceptionally large and thickly built for a yellow, beautiful radiation and droop, grand body; 2, Evins Bros., very fine wing and tail mkd. hen, good sized crest, lovely veiny feather, little weak at one side; 3, 4, Howard, both good all-round birds, hardly so expansive in crest; vhc, Shearman; hc, Sadd; c, Mrs. Litchfield; abs., Bewick. YELL. C.-B. (8): 1, Gilbert, real fine bird, rare substance and quality, bold, well-lashed head, profusely feathered, trifle horned; 2, 4, Brotherton, clinking good one, splendid substance and shape, bonny skull for width and rise, carries heaps of feather, 4th very smart, loses a little in feather; 3, Evins Bros., not equal in skull, though with quite a good head, nice bold body, lot of excellent qual. feather; vhc, Hesketh; hc, Lazarus, this bird looked value for a higher card; c, Slade. YOUNG BUFF CREST (10): 1, several spls, Greenwood and Burson, undoubtedly the gem of the collection, the best youngster we have seen for many a long while, the envy of everybody, varieg. dark crest, rare substance and shape of body, clothed with very leafy feather and topped by a crest that is an eye-opener for size and neatness, not a feather awry, thickly packed, beautifully drooped, radiated from a perfect centre and well finished at the edge, deserving of all its honours; 2, Taylor, lightly varieg., apparently a hen and a grand one, too, fine frame, exceptionally large and neat crest, magnificent texture of feather, excels in frontal and droop; 3, Evins Bros., cl. body, dk., really splendid quality, fine expansive crest, inclined to twist a little, should make up into a grand bird; 4, vhc, Gale, two nice youngsters, beaten in size and shape of headpiece, but birds well above the average in merit; hc, Shearman; c, Law. YOUNG BUFF C.-B. (9): 1, 3, Taylor, leader very feathery, clear, magnificent body and head, well cushioned and lashed, wealth of feather everywhere, 3rd very fine big varieg., grand skull; 2, Day, really nice lightly varieg., splendid body, wide, well-domed head, grand feather properties; 4, Brotherton, pressed hard, lovely head, the correct texture of feather and plenty of it, fine bold body; vhc, hc, Shearman; c, Turner; No. 1, Evins Bros., looked a good bird. NOVICE CREST (15): 1, Wallace, wing mkd., dk crest beautiful all-round bird, has substance and qual. and fine expansive crest, very neat and well-drooped; 2, Wharam, also a bulky bird of excellent quality, quite equal in size of crest, nice leafy feather, but few pens still at centre; 3, hc, Pickard, leader grizzle, very nice and neat, fine expansive headpiece, staged in grand form, very close up; 4, Shepherd, another grizzle, practically equal to those above it, an excellent quartette; vhc, White; c, Twigg; abs., Campbell. C.-B. (13): 1, 4, White, very fine cl. yell. leading, excels in quality, splendid body and a grand dome skull, well clothed, 4th varieg., good in all properties; 2, Shepherd, magnificent varieg., rare wide skull, well cushioned and lashed, texture of feather A1, bonny bird; 3, vhc, Pickard, two splendid exhibits, leader almost green, wonderful feather properties and substance; hc, Twigg; c, Miss Hewat. LIMIT CREST, £3 17): 1, Harrison; 2, Hesketh; 3, Evins Bros.; 4, Taylor. C.-B. (13): 1, Taylor; 2, Evins Bros.; 3, Tyson; 4, Marshall; abs., Harrison.

THE YORKSHIRE CLASSES.

Judge : Mr. F. Mason.

YORKS., CL., CK. (19): 1, Crisp, slim type, takes position well, lovely head, very straight and smart, good wings and tail; 2, 3, hc, Hawes Bros., 2, a shade heavier in build, but typical, splendid back and wings, very hot col., grand quality feather; 3, another neat one, not over large, but perfect type, sweet head, shoulders, wings and tail, tip-top quality; 4, Easterling and Carson, smart, good size, nice wings and tail; vhc, Rorke; c, Cook. BUFF (13): 1, Knight, grand specimen, wonderful length and quality, nice clean cut bird, perfect wings; 2, 3, 4, Hawes Bros., 2, neat specimen, shapely, good head and shoulders, hardly so nicely finished in front as winner, 3, a shade stout, but wonderful quality, very clean run, capital shoulder, 4, a gem, for col. and quality, grand position, neat head; vhc, Slade; hc, Easterling and Carson; c, Allen. MKD. CK. (17): 1, 2, c, Hawes Bros., wing and eye-mkd., wonderful length, very neat head, clean cut, well balanced, on good legs, 2, neat yell., grand position, nice head, good shoulders, perfect wings and tail; 3, Brown and Son, hardly so large, but wonderful type, slim, yet showing nice bit of shoulder; 4, vhc, Towers, Buff Cinn. mkd., rare quality, a gem for type and style; hc, Whitwham. YELL. HEN (16): 1, 2, 4, Hawes Bros., 1, slim and cleanly cut, good head, nice bit of shoulder, good, well braced wings, neat tail, 2, slim, neat specimen, grand quality, beautifully rounded back and front, 4, smart upstanding bird of grand quality and lovely type; 3, Green, fine position, rare length, not quite so neat in wings as winner; vhc, Crisp; hc, Easterling. BUFF (23): 1, 4, Hawes Bros., neat specimen, good length, nice head and neck, good back, grand quality, 4, neat, upstanding specimen, lovely back, wings and tail; 2, Rorke, shapely, neat type, capital shoulders and back, well balanced, grand quality and col.; 3, vhc, Easterling and Carson, wonderful quality, grand wings and tail, good head and shoulders, a wee bit stout to leaders; hc, Brown and Son; c, Allen. MKD. (16): 1, vhc, Towers, smart and upstanding, grand shoulders, very clean cut and smart, perfect wings; 2, Allen, another Cinn. marked, perfect quality, rare length and style, lovely head, beautifully staged; 3, 4, Hawes Bros., 3, wing and neck mkd. Yell., grand shape, A1 position, very clean run to a good tail, 4, bigger, not quite so neat, good position, grand quality; hc, Rorke; c, Rennie. UNFLIG. (26): 1, Towers, grand lengthy Buff leading, lovely type, clean cut, stands well on good legs; 2, Cook, long, nice clean run, good shoulders, fine position, grand col. and quality; 3, Lockett, wing mkd. Yell., good size, capital shoulders, well filled back, neat in wing, hot col.; 4, vhc, Allen, lovely Buff, typical, stands well; hc, c, Whitwham. No. 11 and 12, Parrott, we liked well. OPEN NOVICE CL. OR TKD. YELL. (21): 1, Lloyd, splendid feather, level col., neat head, well proportioned, good whip and nice behind leg; 2, Matthews, cin. tick, trifle more neck than leader, shows itself for all it is worth, lovely quality; 3, Shepherd, full of fire, grand carriage, not quite so well on leg as leaders; 4, Bamber, travels well, nice bit of swagger, fine type, grand feather; vhc, Hutton, well folded wings, close tail, moves well; hc, Wright, rare length, good style; c, Pinnell. BUFF (15): 1, Shepherd, beautiful feather, rare style, grand taper, wings well carried, real nice one; 2, Skinner, scarcely so long as leader, but grand action, full of go, beauty for qual.; 3, Tebb, we liked much, stands up like a guardsman, fine length, plenty behind leg, but crosses its wings at tips on occasions; 4, Glanville, slimmer in build, but hardly the finish of those above it, nice position; vhc, Hunt, very good all round; hc, Salter, all qual. again; c, Styles. CIN. OR GREEN MKD. (9): 1, Bush, yell., grand position, capped, and marked on one wing, well cleaned off at thighs, neat head and nice neck, good one; 2, Tebb, nearly green jonque, slashing bird for fire, as these sort usually are, lovely qual.; 3, Phipps' and Huxley, sweet yell., marked neck, beautiful feather, good behind perch; 4, Richards, a stylish little cl. yell., evidently in the wrong class; vhc, Potton, vgtd., nice length and stand; hc Skinner, raking capped yell., nice on the leg, good feather; c, Bennett. HENS YELL. (18): 1, Shepherd, stylish young lady, very nice length, quality and nerve; 2, Hunt, also a grand hen, stands up well, nicely proportioned; 3, Lloyd, another beauty, very similar bird to 2nd, little to choose; 4, Richards, vgtd., good length and pose; vhc, Bennett, heavily vgtd., full of excellent qualities; hc, Carpenter, neat, good pose; c, Atkinson, pretty clear. BUFF (13): 1, Matthews, cin., vgtd., most beautiful feather, grand length and style, well proportioned, really good one; 2, Fletcher, clear, grand action, fine head and neck, lovely quality; 3, 4, Skinner, fine action, gets well up on the leg, rare qual., nice hen; 4, clear, another very fine hen; vhc, Thomas, very sweet, nice wing carriage; hc, Atkinson, good clear; c, Cundy. UNFLIG. (30): 1, Lloyd, yell. rattling style, clean moulded, braces its wings closely, neat head and neck, good tail; 2, Shepherd, smart buff, good length, nervy, nice wing carriage, clean at waist; 3, Atkinson, buff flatters in col, good legs, nice feather and action; 4, Bush, yell., has a habit of getting across the perch, otherwise very nice bird; vhc, Bennett, good length and feather; hc, Tebb, we liked for style, etc.; c, Reynolds. YORKS, GREENS, YELL. (11): 1, McDermott, grand long specimen, good position, very fine wings, rare depth of col., pencilled to perfection; 2, c, Rowlands, fine position, good head and shoulders, nice and clean cut, well up on legs, sound rich col.; 3, Benson, grand even col., nice shoulder, neat tail, good wing carriage; 4, hc, Nimmo, slim, good straight bird, very rich col.; vhc, McNulty. BUFF (13): 1, Rowlands, rare length and type, beautifully rounded, neat head and shoulders, grand quality and col.; 2, McNulty, smaller but A1 type, good shoulders, nice head and neck, good wings and tail; 3, Davie, large, grand col. bird, A1 position, slim type, good head, stands well; 4, McDermott, foul tail, typical, good head and shoulders, rich col.; vhc, hc, Young; c, Nimmo. YELL. HEN (14): 1, Benson, rare length and type, neat carriage, good wings, handles well, rich, deep level col., carried right through; 2, Rowlands, another beauty for depth and richness of col., grand position, good wings and tail; 3, Hughes, smaller, but equally as rich in col., neat head, nice back and wings; 4, Handley, neat, good position, lovely shade of col.; vhc hc, Nimmo; c, McNulty. BUFF (12): 1, Handley, long, upstanding bird, on good legs, beautifully rounded fine head, shoulders and back, perfect wings and tail, nice tone of col.; 2, 4, Rowlands, 2, foul tail, grand position, neat and typical, lovely head, shade richer in col. than winner; 4, neat nice size and type, good position and quality; 3, Benson, another well-rounded specimen, very sound col., lovely quality; vhc, Nimmo; hc, Davie; c, Le Rossignol.

THE OPEN NORWICH CLASSES.

Judge, Mr. W. Vardy.

NOR. CL. YELL. (14): 1, Irons, very full chest, grand head, short flights and tail, perhaps a little loose at rump, but a gem, grand rich col., and qual.; 2, Gill and Pethick, lovely qual. and col. nice head, cut a trifle square at rump, fine substance; 3, 4, Baker, latter best type, but scarcely enough substance, rich level col.; 3, magnificent qual., grand head and chest, just a wee bit long in flights.; vhc, Richardson, carries itself grandly, bonny type; hc, Col. Routh, rich col., good qual.; c, Rippon. BUFF (19): 1, Collings, full rich under col., just a little pinched over beak, grand chest, nicely covered wings, well frosted, very pretty exhibit; 2, Baker, chubbier and shorter in body, flights and tail than winner, beautifully mealed feather, very clean at rump and thighs, very close on winner's heels; 3, Harding, another grand qual. bird, splendidly frosted, showing a sharp and pleasing contrast to the under colour, bold chest, good head, close as wax in feather; 4, Middleton, full of quality, nice substance, good shape, trifle flat in col.; vhc, Gill and Pethick, lovely feather, hardly so bold at chest as leaders; hc, Irons; c, Law, full of qual., right good one. MKD., ETC., YELL. (8): 1, Baker, var., lovely feather, close as wax and shining like glass, really beautiful specimen of the variety; 2, Ellis, heavily var., lovely depth of colour, the right sort of feather, would be a gold mine amongst some typical buff hens; 3, vhc, Gill and Pethick, grizzled on both wings, thick set, rich col., grand head, but a bit free in feather; 4, Litchfield and Sons, full of col., hardly stout enough at chest, and yet really excellent type; hc, Shore, grizzled wings, beautiful qual., level col.; c, Keech, grand type of bird. BUFF (5): and we have seen much better classes of this variety; 1, Collings, good shape, nice head and wing carriage, lovely under colour, beautifully gauged, very fine bird; 2, Baker, lovely tone of feather, splendid under col., but has a nasty habit of showing fight to one through the cage wires, which prevents its true worth being properly appraised; 3, Gill and Pethick, bonny shape, lovely head and chest, hardly the quality of leaders, yet beautifully frosted; 4, Cleaves, rich col., grand qual., wee bit long in barrel, nice head; vhc, Pigg, splendid feather, good chest, beautifully finished, but little weak in head; hc Shore; c, Keech. HENS, YELL. (10): 1, 4, Keech, two bonny hens, the leader, varieg.; 4, clean, winner has the best head of the two, both lovely in qual., the winner being as close feathered as a Java, both good in shape, the winner excelling in that respect; 2, Baker, grand typical clear, richer even in quality than winner, though fails just a trifle in head; 3, Ellis, nice body, head and neck, full of quality, level with colour; vhc, Collings, lovely col., full of qual., has a slightly damaged tail, which probably kept her back; hc, Gill and Pethick, grand front and carriage, scarcely so deep in colour; c, Dr. McConaghey, rich qual., nice col., vgtd. BUFF (16): 1, Ellis, vgtd., close as wax in feather, rich in under colour, nicely mealed, short close fitting wings and tail, very shapely and stylish; 2, Collings, vgtd., grand chubby body, gets well across the perch, level back, wide bold chest, grand head, short flights and tail, pressed hard, a hen that needs some setting back anywhere; 3, Wilson, another beautiful hen for shape, most delightfully silky feather, bold chest and neck, good one; 4, Schneider, grand texture of feather, nice shape of body, bit smaller in head and neck; vhc, Keech, lovely frosting, feather like silk, neat shape; hc, McConaghey, good variegated, close feather, nice colour; c, Rippon, full front, close as wax, we liked very much. UNFLIG. (17): 1, Banbury, truly grand yell., of the loveliest qual., fed to perfection, magnificently full wing covering, bold chubby body, clean at rump, short wings and tail, fine head, should make a topper; 2, Dr. McConaghey, yell., hardly such a good shape as winner, but rare qual. and substance, neat head, beautifully neat sweet hen; 3, Collings, lovely buff, marked on side of neck, we liked all round as well as 1st, equally as good body characteristics (buff against yell.) splendid head, neck, flights and tail, full of quality; extra 3, Keech, lovely buff, with the best of quality, bonny shape, grandly carried flights and short tail; 4, Godfrey, yell. ticked on wing, rich level col, neat head, not quite the substance of the leaders, but a grand one; vhc, Baker, heavily vgtd, buff, good shape and qual.; hc, Gill and Pethick, bold chest, lovely qual.; c, Richardson. OPEN NOVICE NOR. CL. OR TKD. YELL. (17): 1, Davis, good in col., full chest and neck, nice head, excellent qual. of feather; 2, Fuller, also good in build, nice in qual., col. well up and level; 3, Steed, grand in col., rare qual., but trifle long in flights, nice one; 4, F. Knight, fine chested bird, soft silky feather, neat head; vhc, Tomsett, good in qual., and col.; hc, Alpe, rare qual.; c, Gamage, good head and chest, stands up from the perch a little too much. BUFF (19): 1, F. Knight, fine qual. of feather, with good under colour, very stout chest, neat head, short flights and tail, good one; 2, Steed, feather sits closely and well, nice under col., bold head, generally typical; 3, Parr, bird with good wings and tail, soft and silky in feather, neat head nice col.; 4, George, very similar, hard to separate; vhc, Wicksham, another well built bird of good qual.; hc, Davis, neat shape, grand under col., but a little stilty; c, Lathlieff, MKD. ETC., YELL. (8): 1, Bales, vgtd., very neat and not thin, as some often are, fine head, nice tone of col.; 2, Kenyon, heavily vgtd., dense col., silky feather, nice type; 3, Steed, bold front, lovely feather, level back, good one; 4, Alpe, grand col., vgtd., nice body shape, rare qual. of feather; vhc, Bartram, vgtd., good in qual. and col., trifle free in feather; hc, Ebbage; c, Cheal. BUFF (10): 1, George, got its position by reason of finish, a cobby bird, bold, rare qual., as was also 2, Steed, to which the same remarks apply, equal at all points; 3, Mitchell, bold in front, short in body, good qual., bit loose behind legs; 4, Bales, lovely close fitting feather, neat head, good neck; vhc, Gamage, very neat bird, nice shape and col.; hc, Cheal, lovely buff green, bonny type, the right shade of col. for breeding; c, Ebbage, nice all through. HENS (35): 1, Ebbage, buff, good bird, large stout chest, but in feather seemed rather harsh; 2, Steed, vgtd. yell. neat and nice in feather, short wings and tail, good col.; 3, Lohr, buff, plenty of chest, good qual.; c, 4, Byne, very neat, lovely feather, bonny little hen; vhc, Hatter, grand feather, nice shape, we liked as well as some of the leaders; hc, Johnson,

THE MULES AND HYBRIDS.

Judge : Mr. E. J. Lamb.

CLEAR, ETC. (5): 1, Martin and Archer, the well-known clear Linnet, a gem, without any doubt, staged in beautiful form; 2, Lawrence, apparently a clear Goldie-Can., splendid bird for col. and quality, in grand bloom, good size and shape; 3, Shellam, cl. Greenie, bonny big bird, rare quality of feather, in nice form; 4, Gilbert, also apparently a clear Goldie-Can., shade smaller than 2nd, about equal in all other points, good Mule; vhc, Middleton. VARIEG. GOLDIE-CAN. (16): 1, Pearce, "Prince Charlie," exceptionally big and good jonque, almost 6-pointed, moulted into grand col. and condition, will take stopping; 2, Martin and Archer, the noted unevenmkd., in lovely order, was 1st at the last Palace show, with the winner here, then in poor condition, second to it; 3, Miss Joseph, very hot col. jonque, 3-pointed, loses in size, but a most attractive and good exhibit; 4, Botting, lightly variег. jonque, larger and better in shape, beaten in col. and polish, very promising bird; vhc, McVittie; hc, Smith; c, Lawson. A.O.V. VARIEG. (4): 1, Martin and Archer, Greenie-Can., grizzled on neck, another exceptionally nice exhibit, also in the pink of condition; 2, Tams and Son, neck mkd. Greenie-Can., very good bird, just a trifle smaller; 3, Pitchford and Stocker, entered as a lightly variег. Lin.-Can., gave rise to a deal of controversy, many holding it to he a colour-fed freak-feathered Linnet and not a Mule, It would be interesting to hear how it was bred; 4, Lawson, fairly good variег. Lin.-Can., very nice condition. DARK GOLDIE (21): 1, Shellam, magnificent jonque, ablaze with col. and shining like plate-glass, good size and shape, hot one in every respect, will take some beating; 2, 3, 4, Martin and Archer, leader also a jonque, perhaps the higger and shapelier bird of the two, but well dusted for colour and polish, 3rd and 4th two very fine buffs, massive and shapely, good blazes; vhc, McLaren; hc, Ramsden; c, Best. DK. LINNET (18): 1, Shellam, another topper for col. and quality, absolutely red-hot, plumage like silk, very big and stylish, another hard nut to crack; 2, 4, Pope, two very massive, fine coloured birds, in beautiful condition; we rather preferred the 4th to its stable companion, will do some winning; 3, Pickles, also a very attractive Mule, rare depth of col., but not quite so clean and rich in tone, good size and style; vhc, Lawrence, we liked, very bonny buff, great size; hc, Bell; c, Ramsden; abs., McQuiston. A.O.V. DK. (26): 1, McQuiston, one of the best buff Greenies we have seen, beautiful shape and style, lovely head, marvel for colour and sheen, wins hands down; 2, c, Andrews, remarkably large Redpoll-Can., bred from a Mealy Poll, good shape, non-fed, excellent quality, and nice and tight in feather; 3, Miss Bousfield, beautifully rich, clean-coloured jonque Siskin, in grand condition, markings and size both excellent; 4, Buckingham, Redpoll (bred from Lesser), we take to be the well-known winner, looking in fine fettle; vhc, Brunskill; hc, Smith; abs., Pickles; some fine birds had to stand cardless, notably Nos. 16 (Coffey) and 21 (Davies), grand Greenie-Cans., also 9 (Nicholson and Son), splendid Sisk.-Can., not hot enough in col. BULLF. HYB. (9): 1, Shellam, Canary-Bullie, exceedingly good in size, shape and markings, marvellously fiery col., plumage like silk, a champion exhibit; 2, Davies, Gold.-Bull., another lovely exhibit from Wales, grand size and shape, splendid flush of col.; 3, Lawrence, also Can.-Bull., if anything a trifle larger than the winner, grand markings, but takes a back seat when it comes to col.; 4, Pearce, hen Redpoll-Bull., very well built, nice condition, but surely lucky in this company; vhc, Grainger Bros.,; hc, c, Martin and Archer, two excellent exhibits. A.O.V. HYB. (13): 1, spl., Miss Reeves, the sensation of the section, bred from Greenfinch cock and Chaffinch hen, shows the parentage plainly, very attractive, steady as possible, lovely condition, truly a triumph for its owner, soon found a new home at catalogue price, £10 10s.; 2, McQuiston, most charming Goldie-Redpoll, beauty for col. and condition, fine example of cross; 3, Ramsden, gem of a Greenfinch-Redpoll, about the best we have seen for col. and quality, very shapely and stylish, in lovely form; 4, Vale; sombre-col'd., hut rare Twite-Greenfinch, in very nice condition; vhc, Coffey, nice Bramble-Chaffinch; hc, Botting, really fine Sisk.-Redpoll; c, Martin and Archer, grand Sisk.-Greenfinch, but lost a flight or two. PAIRS (17): 1, 4, Cooper, leaders cock Yellowhammer and hen Bramblefinch, two real nice birds, very steady, well staged, 4th Goldie-Greenie, fine couple; 2, c, Page, Greenie-Bullie, rattling good pair, splendidly matched, had rather hard lines, wa thought; 3, hc, Askew, bonny rich col., ck. Goldie and a fine hen Siskin leading, condition A1; vhc, Gunnell; abs., Andrews; No. 1, Hayter, and No. 9, Caunt, "wrong class," both the hen Bullies being too large, in the judge's opinion.

THE BRITISH BIRDS.

Judge, Mr. D. A. S. Longden.

GOLDFINCH (19): 1, spl, Hurst, getting well known now, wins again here quite comfortably, grand stamp of bird, large, beautifully polished, steady as a rock, huge expanse of blaze, well cnt, rich in col., although a trifle too dark, splendidly marked all over; 2, Prior, beaten in polish of feather, but should improve, fine stamp of Finch, with a lovely square-cut face, rich and pure in col., grand buttons and moons, these two held the same positions at Wimbledon; 3, Tams and Son, big, upstanding bird, well mkd. all over, nicely tanued, good-sized blaze, but not yet up in col. and polish; 4, Pitchford and Stocker, equal to the winner in condition, splendid col. and markings, nice-sized, clean-cut blaze, we preferred for 3rd; vhc, Herbert, good Finch, not yet ready; hc, Routh; c, Heal; abs., Blackett. Some grand birds failed to get placed owing to their backward condition. BULLFINCH (19): 1, McQuiston, very beautiful bird, trifle narrow in cap, but faultless in other respects, extremely rich and even on breast, lovely back and bars, sleek as a Sunday "topper," and very steady; 2, Williams, fine, thick-set bird, the correct type, lovely cap, back and bars, not a feather out of place, but well beaten in breast col., although good and level in this respect; 3, Sharp, another gem, perhaps a shade small, but in quality and silkiness of plumage he can almost give the winner a few points, while his breast is equally rich, must have pressed hard; 4, Woods, the noted winner (Nottingham, Hull, etc.), and very close up here, splendid cap, shape, style and col., about perfect, four grand birds; vhc, Wark; hc, Brunskill; c, Hinds; "wrong class," Jones, jun., much too big to pass muster in a class for Britishers. SISKIN (21): 1, Casemore, regular little swell, fine size and col (natural), delightful shape and carriage, nice bib, exceptionally good flank lacing, wins; 2, Grahame, good, big, colour-fed bird, shows some bib, very shapely, well mkd. all over, tight and sleek in plumage; 3, Maxwell, very large, nat. col., splendid shape, stylish, in fine condition, well mkd., but no bib; 4, Francis, sweet non-fed, very good shape and style, in lovely condition; vhc, Miss Bousfield; hc, Heal; c, Barley; No. 21, Sharp, soft in condition, but looked a good one; No. 16, Andrews, grand bird, we liked for a place; No. 6, Bell, one of the most remarkable Siskins we ever saw, huge, very black bib, very black cap, and very yellow body col. LINNET (21): 1, vhc, McQuiston, leader big, stylish, upstanding bird, good in head and whites, fine sound col., very well pencilled, nice condition, though a little harsh in feather near the neck; 2, Gay, paler in col. and somewhat smaller, but more distinct in pencilling and carrying a lovely bloom, steady as a top, fine shape and style; 3, Marley, splendid size, shape and pencilling, better in polish and tightness of feather than either of the leaders, rich nutty col., very good bird, shade open at breast, grand wings; 4, Sharp, rare size and shape, lovely head, profusion of small but distinct pencilling, good col., close up, claimed at £2 10s.; hc, Francis; c, Brighty. GREENFINCH (24): 1, 4, Francis, bonny big thick-set non-fed bird, grand chest and head, lovely tone of col., soon claimed at £2, 4th also a real nice Greenie; 2, Harris, gem for quality and condition, hot fed, shines like silk, fine size and shape, close up, good wings and tail; 3, Tams and Son, very fine bold bird, nicely fed, grand head and chest, splendid condition, not far behind; vhc, Lawrence, equal to any for size, shape and col., but nervous and had broken wing flights; hc, Cadman Bros., fine bird, trifle dark in col.; c, Ford, grand class; No. 5, looking somewhat soft. CHAFFINCH (11): 1, vhc, hc, Marley, three clinking good birds, leader excels in colour and markings, fine head and chest, very tight and glossy in plumage; 2, Francis, also a fine fellow, almost equal in colour and polish, lovely shape, size and style, splendid markings; 3, Cadman Bros., very thick-set and shapely, beautifully tight in feather, nice col., will improve yet, not quite so forward as leaders; 4, Lawrence, very rich tone of col., grand wings, splendid head and chest, pressed hard, but a little short of polish; c, Hurst, grand Chaffic, very low down. TWITE OR MEALY REDPOLL (16): 1, Marley, good sized Twite, lovely col. and polish, full of work all over, very stylish; 2, McQuiston, big bold Mealy, grand shape, nice bib, bit deficient in flank lacing, very fine condition; 3, Harris, best Twite in class for size and shape, grandly marked, but well beaten for bloom and tightness of feather; 4, Bancroft, another rattling good Mealy, loses only a little in bib, very nice condition; vhc, c, Francis; hc, Hayter; absent, Bell. REDPOLL, LESSER (17): 1, c, Marley, h.m., excels in size and in width of skull, wonderful head, lovely col. and condition, well laced, but none too good in bib; 2, Jeffreys, h.m., smaller, but a gem at all points, splendid bib and lacing, very rich colour, we were inclined to prefer for first, very near thing; 3, Pickles, f.m., hot col., grandly pencilled, nice bib, in splendid condition, excellent size, shape and style; 4, Miss Bousfield, h.m., very sound in col., excels in lacing, fair bib, lovely shape and condition; vhc, Nicholson and Son, splendid type and markings; hc, Walsh; "wrong class," Keymer Bros., too much like a small Mealy. HAWFINCH (10): 1, Harris, last year's Palace winner, grand bird at all points, excels in col. and qual., coming into fine form; 2, c, Francis, big, bold bird, lovely condition, fine bib and wings, claimed at £3; 3, Hurst, very bold and thick-set, grand head, not up in bloom yet, should do well later on; 4, Grahame, close up, fine polish and col., well marked; vhc, hc, Marley. BRAMBLEFINCH (10): 1, 3, Marley, we could not see eye-to-eye with the judge over this award, the winner is admittedly a good bird for size and shape, but got first place on account of the density of its hood and colour generally, the explanation being, we venture to think, that it has never moulted this autumn, we preferred the 3rd bird, a bonny bold, shapely Bramble, very clean cut markings, well spangled, rich col.; 2, Bancroft, fine stylish bird, beautifully mkd., good size and col., carries a lovely sheen; 4, vhc, Francis, two good ones, leader excels in spangling and lacing, splendid shape and size; hc, Lawrence, another real bonny bird; c, Botting. BUNTINGS (7): 1, McQuiston, topping Cornbunting, splendid markings, very good carriage, beautifully polished plumage, will improve a little in col., as steady as could be desired; 2, 3, Graname, grand pair, "nd beautifully marked Yellowbunting, rich yellow cap and throat, fed to a nicety, good back markings, well defined head marks; 3rd fine Cirl Bunting, good cheek and throat markings, fine silky plumage; both well staged; 4, Botting, Lapland Bunting, freshly caught, in nice feather, rather restless; vhc, Nicholson and Son, another fine Cornbunting; hc, Cadman; No. 3, Morlock (Cirl), marked "absent" in catalogue, got mixed up in another class. CROSSBILL. TITS, ETC. (6): Class which gave plenty of scope for an interesting variety of birds. 1, Frostick, capital

CANARY VARIATIONS.

An article written round the Coloured Plate (by Mr. H. Norman) which accompanies this Double Number.

By CLAUDE ST. JOHN.

The Editor has asked me to make a few comments upon the charming coloured plate presented with to-day's issue of CAGE BIRDS. Looking backward over past special issues one cannot fail to realise the great difficulty of always keeping a little, even though it be but one short step in advance of the best that has been done in the past. But earnest endeavour surmounts all obstacles, and it will be conceded by one and all that this latest addition to CAGE BIRDS' picture gallery is not merely a little step, but a big stride in advance of all previous efforts.

It was surely a happy thought to select these three breeds—the Lancashire, the Scotch Fancy, and the Lizard—as representative examples of the variation of type which is to be found in the race of domesticated Canaries, for each possesses unique qualities, and is a distinct variation.

The Lancashire Canary.

Taking each variety separately we have first the massive and lordly Lancashire, which is truly the giant of the Canary tribe, being, as a breed, the largest Canary we possess. As its name implies it is at home in the county Palatine. How, when, or whence it came there is nothing now to show, but there can be very little room for doubt that it originated from the old Dutch Canary, of which several varieties existed on the Continent.

The noble, commanding appearance of the ideal specimen has been well depicted by Mr. Norman on this plate. Great length, not less than 8ins. over all; large and massive body, abundance of feather; long, well-carried wings; stout, strong legs, with a bold upstanding position, are essential characteristics of the breed. It occurs in Plainhead and Crested varieties, but in this breed the Crest is termed a "Coppy." Describing the two varieties in the pages of "Our Canaries," Mr. Barker Clegg, one of its oldest exponents says: "The Coppy should have abundance of nice frontal, flowing forward in 'horseshoe' fashion, lying well down with beautiful radiation and shape; grand upstanding birds, on pairs of strong legs, with a majestic carriage, and the feather as close on the body as a moleskin. The Plainheads show to perfection their gigantic properties, equal, and at times surpassing the Coppy."

The horseshoe shape of the crest is well shown on the plate, and in this particular the bird differs materially from the Norwich Crest, which radiates evenly all round.

In the same work—Part XI., page 243—comparing the birds of to-day with those of former years, Mr. J. Garner says: "There were some grand birds in the old days, just as there are now, and I have some magnificent stuffed specimens as good as the present-day birds. But upon the whole they are better to-day in head, neck, coppy, and substance."

Double-buffing is largely resorted to in this breed to keep up size, substance, and feather, but must not be carried too far. On this point Mr. E. Lowe writes in "Our Canaries": "My experience in double-buffing has been most successful. . . . My plan is to keep the best young cock bird, either Coppy or Plainhead, from this pairing, and pair back to a Yellow Coppy or Plainhead, as the case may be." By this method, he tells us he has bred three yellow cocks in one nest, one of which was a great winner, and the father of the Yellow Plainhead cock that won the diploma at the Palace in 1909.

The Lancashire has been used extensively in crossing to build up old or help to make new varieties. It has helped to make the Yorkshire, and to its influence we owe the chief beauty, size, and lovely headgear of the modern Crest and Crest-bred.

The Scotch Fancy.

Another grand typical specimen of its breed is the Scotch Fancy shown in the top right-hand corner of the plate. This modern development of the old-time "Glasgow Don," or "bird o' circle" as it was often termed, is still, in a living sense, Scotland's pride, and always seems as much an emblem of the land "ayand the Tweed" as the kilt and the bagpipe. It is a bird of position, the pose depicted by the artist showing the bird as it should appear when "in position" in its show cage. When placed in the show cage, and requested, so to speak, to get in position, it will, when properly trained, at once take to the perch, and will be seen to get a good businesslike grip of the spar, brace itself for action, as it were, then the tail is brought forward, reaching well under the perch, the shoulders elevated, and the head dropped below the line of the top of the shoulders, and thrust outwards to the fullest possible extent of its neck, the beak pointing forward, as though the bird were endeavouring to reach something beyond the tip of its beak. Over all is a sense of nervous tremor and excitement, as though the bird was consciously striving to do its very best.

Large size is a valuable asset in a Scotch Fancy, but must always play a secondary part to the more essential points, as shape, nerve, action, and reach. Mr. R. G. Joliffe, in "Our Canaries," says: "Ordinary specimens should measure from 6ins. to 7½ins. or even 8ins. in length . . . . but few may be found to exceed 7ins., which may be accepted as the average size." Mr. W. McClure, who has bred the bird from the days of the "Don" type, writes in the same place: "The Belgian was introduced to give more prominence to the shoulder and droop of the head . . . . and has given the Scotch Fancy more top, ... but at the expense of size and length of body, and the birds are more tapered, or pear-shaped, now than in the old days."

Unfortunately, space will not permit me to quote more extensively from the work in question by leading breeders, but I must add one more extract from the notes of that veteran breeder, Mr. R. Findlay: "In mating Scotch Fancies get a cock with prominent shoulders, long neck, and small head, with a tendency to keep the head well down; if he does not keep his head below the line of the top of his shoulders when you handle the cage, do not mate him. . . . Beware of thin-chested, thick-necked birds, with stiff back and tail—better not have them. This type can ruin a good stock for years to come."

The Lizard Canary.

In the lower right-hand corner of the plate is shown a sweet specimen of the lovely bespangled Lizard. In size and substance it is almost the antithesis of its neighbour on the opposite corner—the Lancashire—being one of the smallest, but not quite the smallest, breeds we have. Curiously enough it also enjoys the greatest measure of popularity in and around the cotton weaving districts of Lancashire and neighbourhood. It is another of our old breeds which still remain with us, being contemporaneous with the London Fancy in its early days, and traceable almost, if not quite, to the dawn of the Canary Fancy in England.

Mr. Levi Butterworth, in some interesting reminiscences, contributed to the pages of "Our Canaries," tells us that his grandfather, who would now have been considerably over a hundred years old, used to breed these birds in his young days, when they were known only as "Mooned 'uns," the black spotted markings we now term "spangling" being known in those early days as "mooning."

The Lizard is a one-year show bird, in this respect, and in the curious change from nestling to show plumage it possesses points in common with the London Fancy. The beautiful spangling on its plumage only appears at the first moult, and deteriorates more or less at the second and each succeeding moult, so that a bird in its nestling plumage is not a show bird at all, and after the second moult it is very rarely able to compete with the least chance of success against full-plumaged show birds. It therefore follows that in this breed there are no "old stagers" to carry off the premier honours year after year.

Spangling and ground colour are the most essential features, being allotted 30 to 15 points respectively, or a total of 45 points out of a possible 100. The cap or thumb-nail patch of light colour on the crown, comes next in importance, with 10 points value, the same value being given to the wings and tail and to size.

The whole top of the head within this well-defined boundary of the cap should be perfectly free from the least speck of colour in a clear capped bird. If only a single coloured feather occurs on this space, or any irregularity of outline allowing dark colour to intrude upon it, the specimen will be a broken capped bird.

The ground colour must be a rich, deep, and pure golden yellow, or mealy buff, though in this breed the terms yellow and buff are supplanted by the words gold and silver respectively. It should also be as free as possible from mossiness or cloudiness, which may cause the "work," or spangling, to lose its distinct character and appear to merge gradually into the ground colour. This would be a most serious blemish, as the spangles should at all times stand out boldly, showing a well-defined and clean-cut outline.

The ideal form of spangling is shown on the plate. On the upper surface it should begin with very small spots near the base of the skull, just below the back of the cap, and run down the neck and over the back in well-defined lines, or rows, each spangle gradually increasing in size as the rows approach the centre of the back. The lacing on the breast must also be clearly defined, and as profuse as possible, extending down the breast, sides, and waist, and on to the thighs.

I can give only one more brief quotation from the pages of "Our Canaries," and I choose an extract from the pen of that erstwhile most successful exhibitor of Lizards, Mr. F. W. Baker. But every lover of the breed should get Part XII. of that work for the mass of information it contains from all the best known breeders. Mr. Baker writes: "In selecting stock for breeding purposes choose the largest and broadest backed birds, for without width of body, it is impossible to get a sufficient quantity of those beautiful rows of spangles thereon; whilst only birds with a good ground colour, and nice bright black wings; tail and spangling, should be selected. Whatever you do, avoid birds with a 'grizzled,' or grey wing and tail, and a dull muddy spangle. I would much rather breed from a bird with a white feather or two in the wing or tail—the remainder being black—than the above.

"If you want to breed good Lizards you must use an abundance of broken-capped stock birds; otherwise you will obtain a superabundance of over-capped, bald-faced, and pied winged and tailed birds, which will prove worse than a pest in your aviaries."

THE SENSATIONAL GREENFINCH-CHAFFINCH HYBRID.

Drawn by] [H. Goodchild.

OUR LATEST HYBRID.

A brief account of the Greenfinch-Chaffinch bred by Miss Reeves.

One of the most notable birds in the recent Horticultural Hall Show, and certainly the chief object of interest to the many bird-keepers who engage in the more-or-less difficult art of hybrid-breeding, was the example of the Greenfinch-Chaffinch cross exhibited by Miss Janette Reeves, awarded first prize in its class, also the diploma for best, and the special for rarest, hybrid in the hall.

The first public appearance of this bird had been eagerly anticipated by the many fanciers aware of its existence, and little knots of enthusiasts congregated round its cage practically from the opening to the close of the exhibition. Personally I did not meet with a single knowledgeable person who expressed doubts as to the authenticity of the bird. At the same time, I must say that I heard of one fancier (or was it two?), who seemed undecided whether to accept this specimen as really being bred from a cock Greenfinch and a hen Chaffinch.

My own impression (evidently shared by the judge) is that the bird carries ample evidence in its appearance, markings, and colouration to confirm its parentage, even without taking into account the statement of its breeder.

Mr. Goodchild's drawing gives one an exact idea of the bird's shape and outward characteristics, apart, of course, from colour. The exceptionally thickened (swollen), yet pointed, beak is just what one would expect to find in the offspring of Greenfinch-Chaffinch parents; the legs are thickened, too; these comparisons being made from the Chaffinch point of view. The markings of the wings are a combination of those peculiar to the bird's two parents, the "whites" of the Chaffinch being, as one would expect, very prominent, but of a pale yellow tone of colour. In fact, this pale yellow is prominent in various parts of the body (near the eyes, on the throat and belly, and at the edge of wing and tail feathers). On the upper breast the red of the Chaffinch is distinctly to be seen; and the wings and back are suffused with green, this colour being especially strong on the rump.

It is a most attractive bird in shape and manner, being as tame as the proverbial kitten. In colouring it cannot be termed brilliant, but undoubtedly will improve in this respect (in common with other Hybrids) at its next moult—no, sir, I am not suggesting that it should be colour-fed.

To sum up: It is my deliberate opinion that this bird is what it is claimed to be, a hybrid between Greenfinch and Chaffinch. It seems a little startling, true. But Miss Reeves has most original methods of her own in dealing with the problems of hybrid breeding, and in our next issue I will try to give readers a brief account of them. A few seasons ago, in company with several fellow-members of the N.B.B. and M.C., I had the pleasure of visiting Miss Reeves' home and seeing in their nestling plumage the Bramblefinch-Chaffinch Hybrids she had then bred. I have had this Greenfinch-Chaffinch Hybrid in my possession since the L.C.B.A. Show, and my first impressions are more than confirmed. I well remember the story of the South Sea Islander who claimed to have white blood in his veins because certain of his forefathers dined off roast missionary; but there is no need to tell double-meaning tales of this kind in connection with the bird under notice. Miss Reeves is to be heartily congratulated on her latest success.

G. E. WESTON.

Young Herons.

The nestling Heron is a curious little creature covered with greyish down, having long, erect, ashy-grey plumes upon the head. In due course, feathers follow this down, but the bird has to moult again before acquiring the adult plumage.

A Rook Puts Out Matches.

Some years ago we possessed a Rook, writes a contributor to a northern contemporary, and one of the wonderful things about it was the way it had of putting out lighted matches. By chance one of us threw a lighted match on the floor, and we were surprised to see the Rook run over and raise the match with his beak, and put it under his wing, and, when it was out, let it drop to the floor. We used to, after this, throw lighted matches down to the floor, and, to our amusement, we would see him put them out. If we continued it any length of time he always used to put the matches out.

NOTE.—If an answer is required concerning the proper mating, etc., of Norwich, Yorkshires, Crests, Cinnamons, Greens, Borders, Lizards, Scotch or any other variety of the Canary family, we shall, should the querist desire us to do so, be pleased to submit his questions for answer to some leading specialist of the day on the variety concerned.

CANARY QUERIES.

Birds Flying Loose.

New Beginner.—You should be able to get the best results both in number and quality from a room of the size you name by fitting it up with rack and breeding cages, and keeping the birds together in pairs during the breeding season in the manner usually adopted. This, of course, would naturally entail much more attention, and some expense in putting in the fittings, but you would be able to run a much larger stock of birds. To keep them flying loose you could start the season with three cocks and twelve hens, and hang up in various positions, not too near each other, from fifteen to twenty nesting sites. The floor should be covered an inch in depth with clean gritty sand—clean river sand, sea sand, or builder's sand, with a little of a more gritty kind mixed with it are suitable—or sawdust may be used instead, and the sand supplied in one or two shallow boxes. A variety of perches and twiggy boughs should be fixed up around the place. For full details of fitting up such a room, however, get the early parts of "Our Canaries," which treats the matter thoroughly. "Canary Breeding for Beginners" (see inset advert) also deals with the subject. It would be advisable to fit up a room at once and turn hens in for the winter, providing you first overcome the dampness you mention. It is very important to remove this, as it is most inimical to the welfare of any birds you put in the room. Apart from this the room is quite suitable for your purpose. If the damp exists in the structure of the walls I believe you could obtain a particular kind of wall covering to render it ineffectual. It would also be wise to have the leads properly examined. Otherwise it may possibly arise through insufficient ventilation when the remedy is obvious. Whatever the cause it should be removed, and you might do worse than get the advice of a builder on the spot as to the cause and remedy of the dampness.

Keeping Sexes Together (H. S.).—By keeping the hens together in the flight cage, and the cocks separately in each compartment of the double-breeder you are doing quite right, and I certainly do not advise you to turn the cocks into the flight for the sake of the extra exercise they would get. Keep them as you are now doing until time to prepare for mating next spring. This course must have naturally suggested itself from my last reply, I trust.

Sample of Sand (Sand).—The sand is totally unfit for use in bird cages, quite apart from its having been used in a foundry, which doubtless greatly increases its objectionable qualities, even if it does not render it very risky or dangerous. It is considerably too fine and powdery to be of any real service to the birds and seems to hold a tenacious black dust which would quickly make the birds appear disreputable objects.

Will He Sing? (F. H. L.).—Yes, if the Roller is really a cock he will evolve a tolerably decent type of song, similar to the song of any ordinary untrained Canary, even though he never has the privilege of hearing a "schoolmaster," but it goes, as a matter of course, that a tutor would be most advantageous. If the bird got through his moult fairly early he should really have been in good song by this time. Get the Nutshell booklet on the "Roller," and see if you are treating him correctly.

Sore Feet (L. Z. S.).—You should have said in what way the sore footedness seems to affect the general health. It is more likely to be the reverse of this. Still, try the following treatment for a fortnight, and if not better then, write again, and give full particulars of the symptoms. Every third day bathe the legs and feet in a warm solution of horacic acid—small teaspoonful of the acid in a tea saucerful of warm water. Whilst bathing carefully remove all dirt and filth, and also any scale that may become quite loose, and make feet as clean as possible. Then dry them, and anoint freely with zinc ointment, again gently wiping off all superfluous grease before releasing bird. In the drinking water give as much Epsom salts as will cover a sixpence, and ten drops of lemon juice every second day for a week, and in the next week six drops of tincture of gentian and four of dilute sulphuric acid every second day.

Sneezing Yorkshires (Cymro).—You do not say whether the shed is heated or not. If it is, you must be careful to see that it is not overheated at one time, and correspondingly cold at another; also that it is free from fumes. If none of these causes exist, and the place keeps fairly equable, I should say the bird gets little chills on the journeys to and from shows, or, possibly, may be affected now and again by spending a day and night or two in a show room that is much above the temperature to which it is generally accustomed. In this case the only reasonable course would be to bring it indoors and keep it in a cosy, though not necessarily very warm place, as long as the show season lasts. Give 20 drops of whisky, six of glycerine, and two of eucalyptus oil in the water, well shaken together, two days in every three for a week. This should remove the effects, but the most important point is to discover and remove the cause.

Limit of Cold (Maconachy).—I really should not care to dogmatise about what "ought to be" the limit of cold room, by which I take it you mean the lowest degree it should be allowed to reach, for Crests in winter. There are so many opinions and different strains vary greatly owing to their "bringing up." But this I do say, that about 45 degrees is a very suitable temperature for any variety of Canary, including Crests. My own Crests are kept in a room indoors in which no form of artificial heat is ever used, and which probably gets well below 40 degrees—perhaps occasionally nearer 30—and they thrive very well indeed, and are singularly free from wheeziness; at least, all that are of my own breeding. But, candidly, you must not expect all Crests to flourish under such conditions, neither do I think it wise to try how much cold they will bear, unless you know their breeding. To be on the safe side, keep as near the above-named temperature as possible.

Disposing of Stock (T. W.).—The most profitable way depends to some extent upon the quality of birds bred, but chiefly on your own business capacity. To sell them first hand, singly, or in pairs or trios, is undoubtedly the most profitable to the vendor, and the highest of all profits must accrue by working up a connection to sell to local fanciers. This is not really difficult in many places when the stock consist of purely singing birds. In this case the hens should be disposed of as early as possible, at a cheap rate—say from 1s. to 1s. 6d. each—and the cocks as opportunities offer as soon as they are in stout song. If the stock is pure bred fancy breeds, you need to make some reputation as a breeder by exhibiting successfully from time to time, or you could enter birds at moderate prices either in selling or open classes, so that visitors to the shows might claim them. In this way you would be making a reputation for yourself, opening up a market for your stock, and selling birds at reasonable paying prices, all at the same time. Of course, you cannot overlook the fact that by keeping a small advertisement in our columns, or a breeder's card in the ANNUAL you will help yourself immensely in opening a market for your stock.

Answered by G. E. WESTON.

A Goldfinch (A. Harris).—Have you tried moving the bird into a warm room, if at present in an unheated one; or from warm to cold, as the case may be? Give the Goldie a course of the medicine advised W. T. Blair in this issue. He will be alright for muling with next year if he makes a good recovery.

A Mating Matter (No Nom-de-plume).—You should withdraw the wired slide on two days a week, and let the couple run together. The mixed seed will not hurt the cock Canary. If the hen Bullie is inclined to act roughly towards the Canary, don't separate them again until this antagonistic feeling has worn off, which may take 3 or 4 days. Your cage is a very nice size, but personally I prefer one wired at the front only.

Sexing of British Birds (Britishers).—Practically all of CAGE BIRDS books dealing with British birds will give you advice upon sexing. I do not know of any work which deals solely with the latter subject, nor of one giving coloured plates of the cocks and hens, unless it be works costing many sovereigns. The ordinary ornithological works, however, are not very helpful; the majority, for instance, say that the cock and hen Goldfinch are "alike in plumage." But fanciers know of certain sexual differences, though, of course, they are but trifling, taking the birds as a whole.

A Wild Mule (Untamable).—It does not injure a bird to cut its flight feathers; it spoils its appearance, of course. Young Mules are always more or less wild and reckless; some steady down at their first moult, but many do not sober down until their second moult. Keep the bird in a moderate sized box cage in a room wherein people are constantly moving about. A change for a day or so now and then in a show cage would assist.

The Case of a Linnet (W. T. Blair).—I am afraid you have let things drag on for rather too long a time. Give the bird plenty of maw seed; while a mixture of equal parts thistle, dandelion, white lettuce and gold of pleasure would be helpful (a teaspoonful daily). This is in addition to its ordinary seed. Get half-an-ounce of crystals of citrate of iron and quinine from a chemist and dissolve as much as will just cover a threepenny bit in two tablespoonfuls of drinking water. Give fresh daily, and in a glass or earthenware vessel. Keep this up for at least 10 to 12 days.

Condition of Song Thrushes (Lax).—The usual cause of the condition you mention is the absence of facilities for bathing. Show Thrushes should be kept in large cages, which will hold a big dish filled with water; or a large bath should be hung upon the cage door. Birds which can bathe ad libitum are never slack in feather, providing their general health is good. Try a course of the citrate of iron and quinine crystals as advised W. T. Blair this week, only use three table-spoonfuls of water instead of two. I should not give too many earthworms or mealworms; the cockroaches are all right.

Blackbird and Goldfinches (No Nom-de-plume).—I advise you to get the "Nutshell" booklet dealing with the Blackbird (post free 2½d. from CAGE BIRDS) which will give you much fuller advice upon feeding and management than I could possibly do in this column. With regard to the three Goldfinches it seems odd that they should be "in very good condition" (as you say) on arrival, yet all die the next day. What on earth did you do to cause them to take their departure so hurriedly?

A Skylark (Wire).—Your method of feeding seems to be good. I have no doubt the trouble dates from the moult, apt to be a trying time for any bird. Get from a good chemist a small quantity of combined extract of malt and hypophosphites and well mix a small teaspoonful into the Lark's daily supply of soft food. Keep this up for at least a fortnight, and I think you will find a great improvement in its general condition. I am assuming that its surroundings are clean, and that it is not being pestered by bird-lice.

About a Blackcap (American).—(1) The amount of food is alright. Give a mild dose of sulphate of soda now and again, every 10 days or so—as much as will, when crushed, just cover a sixpence, dissolved in three tablespoonfuls of drinking water, leaving it on the cage one day. (2) No harm in bathing, providing he does not get soaked on cold, damp days, and then hang around in a wet condition. He can't get much of a wetting in the drinker, I presume. (3) How long has he been caged? If house-moulted he ought to be singing ere this. (4) The bath is the thing to tighten up a bird's feathers. The Black-cap usually appears to be carrying his wings a little loosely; that is to say, he does not keep them tightly braced to his back like a blue-blooded prize-winning Norwich Canary.

Woodlarks (Lark Bill).—You do not tell me how you are feeding your Skylarks, but if you are using a good quality stock-food, there will be no need to give your Woodlarks anything different. They like young green shoots (such as rape seedlings), plenty of live insects of all kinds when obtainable, likewise gentles and live ants' eggs, and a little seed now and again, such as canary and maw, and coarse oatmeal. They do well in an ordinary Lark cage, preferably of the "runner" type, as large as possible. Put one perch in it, from back to front, and about five-eighths of an inch wide (not less). Pleased to know you think CAGE BIRDS such a grand paper.

A Greenfinch (Miss Williams).—I am a wee bit surprised that you should find it necessary to ask whether a hen Greenfinch is of any use as a mule or hybrid breeder, for I have so often stated that she is the best (easiest) to deal with of all the hen Finches, and many other writers have said the same thing. I certainly think, however, that if Greenfinch-Canary Mules are desired the plan to obtain the highest class birds is to mate a good cock Greenfe with a good yellow Norwich type ben Canary. You will find very full information upon the feeding and management of the Greenfinch in the "Nutshell" booklet published by CAGE BIRDS (post free, 2½d.). Write for a copy; you will be pleased with it.

Cuckoos (Mrs. Sarjeant).—I am deeply grieved to hear of the unfortunate accident which has robbed you of your finest young Cuckoo. You must not take it too much to heart, however. It is not humanly possible to foresee and provide against such happenings, and no shadow of blame attaches to yourself. I should not continue to give egg after the birds have grown up; or not regularly in any considerable quantity. It is not necessary to do so. I should regularly give a mild dose of sulphate of soda, say once a week. I find the majority of insectivorous birds, large and small, benefited by it. By-the-way, I am sure you have nothing to "complain" about in respect to the keeping of Cuckoos, for I know that the majority of people who have tried them have never had half the success you yourself manage to command. Shall be pleased to hear of your muling schemes in due course.

Bearded Tits and Hawfinches (R.J.C.).—Bearded Reedlings are not difficult birds to keep. An excellent article, by Mr. Morris, dealing with their management appeared some few weeks ago in CAGE BIRDS. Did you not read it? Diet; A good quality insectile mixture prepared in the usual way; add a good dash of maw seed every other day, and medium oatmeal once a week; some live-food, according to season. A good cage for a pair would be a box pattern one about 24in. long by 16 high by 11 wide (not less). A pair will be found much more interesting than one bird. An adult Hawfinch will do well if given equal parts Finch mixture and white sunflower. They like a mealworm or two now and again, and most of them relish a little soft food (prepared insectile food), and green food occasionally. They are fond of berries, such as hawthorn, privet, and mountain ash.

A Trio (Beginner).—(1) The bird laws of Dorset are not known to me. Send three stamps to Messrs. Wyman, Ltd., printers, Fetter Lane, London, E.C., and ask them to send you a copy of the Wild Birds Protection Act of 1880 and a copy of the latest by-law for Dorset. Then you will be able to see for yourself what birds can be caught and what are protected. (2) How can you breed Bullfinches for show? I'm afraid I don't quite know. Anyway, I think you will find it much more easy to buy your winners from the bird-shops. Are you under the impression that it is easy to breed and rear Bullfinches in a cage? There's nothing like trying, of course, and you would be well advised to pair a rich-breasted cock, possessing a thick neck, wide chest, and broad head, with a hen excelling in the same points and of a brownish (not grey) tone of body colour—both British, of course, and good in size. (3) It is not a good time of the year to stock an aviary. You would be well advised to wait until the spring is approaching. You can mix the Finches together, providing you put in true pairs and no odd (i.e., unmated) birds. The question of "fighting" depends a good deal on the size of the aviary and the number of birds you put into it; you give me no information on these points.

FOREIGN BIRDS.

Answered by WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S., etc.

A Feather Puller.

Naked.—Am afraid you have applied too late, and that the habit has become too pronounced. While the bird is in this state, of course, it should be kept in a room which has a fire at least during the day, and put a cover round the sides of the cage only at night. Spray the bird twice weekly with chilled quassia solution, using a "mist" sprayer for the purpose. Keep its bowels moving freely (voidings must not be watery-loose) by occasional doses of Dinneford's Magnesia—one teaspoonful to two tablespoonfuls of water. The movement of the bowels must regulate the frequency of the doses. When not giving the magnesia, put one teaspoonful of Bynophosphates into the daily supply of drinking water. A few hours after using the sprayer, rub a little of Spratt's "Pennakura" over the bare areas. Diet, in addition to the seed mixture, supply daily ripe fruit, nuts, and plain biscuit, and keep a piece of clean cuttlebone hanging in the cage. Seed mixture: Get one pint each Canary and white millet seeds, and quarter pint each hemp, sunflower, maize, wheat, oats, and paddy rice, and one gill grit (not sand). Mix well together and keep a supply in the cage. Of course, you can procure any quantity you choose, so that above proportion is observed. Treat as above for a month, then report progress.

Madagascar Weaver (H. W. B.)—The principal dietary should be canary and white millet, also spray millet. In addition, supply green food (lettuce at this season); a little apple is a good substitute if the bird will take it; a pinch of Foreign Bird Mixture may be given twice a week, and two or three meal-worms daily. Grit, cuttlebone and water for drinking and bathing must be regularly supplied. The cage should be large enough for the bird to get reasonable exercise.

FOREIGN BIRD QUERISTS

should consult Page's "Foreign Birds for Beginners" (1/1½); Arthur's "Budgerigars and Cockatiels" (6d.); Arthur's "Parrots for Pleasure and Profit" (7d.); "Aviaries, Bird-rooms, and Cages" (2/3); "Seeds, Foods, and Wild Plants" (1/2); Dr. Clarke's "Septic or Bird Fever" (7d.); Dr. Creswell's "Hygiene of Bird-keeping" (1/1); "Colour-feeding" (3½d.); or the "Nutshell" booklets (2½d. each): No. 6 "Ailing Birds and How to Cure them," No. 9 "The Disinfection of Cages, Bird-rooms, etc.," No. 14 "Gouldian Finches," No. 16 "Avadavats," No. 17 "The Grey Parrot," No. 18 "Budgerigars," No. 19 "The Pekin Robin," No. 20 "Waxbills." All thoroughly practical and instructive. Prices quoted are post free from "Cage Birds," 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

Zebra Finches Dying (L. Z. S.).—When a succession of deaths occur like this, a body should be sent in for post mortem examination (see rules), as it would certainly appear that some infectious complaint had got among your stock—if not, I presume pneumonia has been responsible. In an all glass aviary the fluctuation of temperature is very great, and the recent sharp changes might easily work much mischief. I should advise you to screw boards to the sash-bars of roof (inside), protecting the ends so that birds cannot get between boards and glass—cover at least half the roof up so—this will be better for the birds both summer and winter. Your dietary is ample; be sure and send the next body for P.M. examination. It is well to scour out such aviaries with some dilute disinfectant (Jeyes' is good and safe), both before and at the end of the breeding season.

Is it a Festive? (Nemo.).—No, it certainly is not. From your description your bird is the very uncommon Green-cheeked Amazon, though a much better name would be Crimson, or Red-crowned Amazon. This species, of which I have not seen a specimen for many years, is nevertheless well-known, though not often obtainable. It is a Columbian species, and should be a very handsome bird. Value depends largely upon condition and ability to find a purchaser who desires uncommon species. If in fair condition, good feather, etc., say 80s. to 100s., though it is not always easy to find purchasers for costly species.

Foods, etc. (F. A. B.).—(1) There is often a list of foods in our advert. pages; look back through a few issues, but if you cannot find what you want, send me a stamped addressed envelope per Editor. (2) I cannot tell you from this measurement, but if you ascertain the floor area of your aviary and allow one square foot for each bird, the size of a Norwich Canary (you can keep two birds the size of a Waxbill in same space), you will not go far wrong. Avadavats (common and Green), Orange-cheeked, Golden-breasted, and St. Helena Waxbills; Bib, Zebra, Spice, Green Singing, Grey Singing, and Ruficauda Finches, also Cordon Bleus, would give you a handsome and interesting series of birds. (3) I consider the space too circumscribed to mix the species of Green. (4) Unless the area of aviary is very large, the Shama should be caged separately.

Bishops, etc. (Fredu).—Bishops (Weavers) are continually building, but it is very seldom they get any "forrader." An odd male in a roomy cage will cover the front wires and perches with fruits of his industry, but even in large aviaries, only occasionally do they lay, or rear their young. Unless there are eggs already in the nest, I should drive the birds in at night, and it is very doubtful indeed if young could now be reared even if hatched during such weather as recently. As regards the Cordon Bleus, I should certainly separate the sexes, keeping the hens together in one cage and the cocks in another, if possible in separate rooms, where they will neither see nor hear each other.

Crossing Cutthroat and Canary (A. L. Corner).—It is not an impossible cross, but certainly a very improbable one, get a small Norwich or Hartz hen if you wish to make the attempt, and use a double-breeding cage with the partitions removed. But you may keep them together more than one season before an attempt is made or you might succeed the first season. Why not try two foreign birds, say, Zebra Finch and Silverhill, or Spice Finch and Bengalese, or Bronze and Magpie Mannikin, or Grey and Green Singing Finches, or Cutthroat and Red-headed Finch. The Grey and Green Singing Finches, Alario Finch, and the St. Helena Seed-eater, have all been successfully crossed with the Canary. Put the birds together as soon as it is convenient, and do not examine too closely into their domestic arrangements.

Grey Parrot (T. Williams).—You have done quite right in stopping the milk dieting. For one day put into the drinking water (the quantity you mention) three drops of tincture of opium and repeat this after an interval of two days. Follow this by putting half-a-teaspoonful of Parrish's Chemical Food into the drinking water (usual quantity), and continue this for some time, say for a month, then let me know the result, but if there should be any signs of constipation, give three drops of tasteless castor oil at once, repeating the dose, if necessary, with one day intervals till proper relief is given. Diet as advised in our previous reply, but crush some cuttlebone to the size of hemp seed and mix a little with the daily supply of seed, also, keep a piece of clean cuttlebone continually in the cage.

Budgerigars (Anxious).—The Nutshell booklet is quite clear; it goes without saying that one does not commence breeding operations in the winter, neither should one attempt to induce them to breed at this season. When making a start, spring is the time, but they often take some months to settle down, and often do not start till quite late in the year. Budgerigars are not Canaries: they breed more freely in a small crowd; they do not need pairing; the custom is to put in an equal number of each sex and leave them to mate. Leave your birds as they are. You can leave in the husk, and sooner or later they will go to nest for you. As to diet and treatment, follow the directions in the Nutshell. If you have a spare room, cover the walls with branches, put in 3 pairs, and leave them to themselves; they breed nearly all the year round once they make a start.

POST MORTEMS.

Mr. G. Yates, M.R.C.V.S., 2, College Road, Harrow, Middlesex, will examine and report upon dead cage birds for a fee of 1s. 6d. each bird; for reply direct, 2s. 6d.; analysis, 21s. Subjects for post mortem examination must be sent packed in a box direct to Mr. Yates, with the fee, this and any accompanying letter being kept from contact with the dead bird. Send by letter-post; it is cheaper and quicker than parcel post. Any bodies sent to the office of this paper will be thrown away, and if a fee is enclosed the loss will be the sender's.

GENERAL.

Answered by THE EDITOR.

Kings Lynn and Leath O.S. Shows (No Name, and Interested).—We have reports in type, which will be published at the earliest possible moment. Pressure upon our space at this season of the year is very severe indeed. We must naturally give preference to the reports of those shows which patrouise our advertisement columns.

Newspaper Cuttings (E. Edwards, S. W. Hobbs, W. H. S., C. H., M. H., and others).—Accept our best thanks for the newspaper cuttings you have been good enough to send us.

Canary Keeping (F. B.).—We shall hope to publish your interesting letter in our next issue.

Mahogany Stain; and a Stain on our Character (Kay).—We agree with the old proverb that "The shoemaker should stick to his last." We do not believe in recommending something which we have never tried; and our knowledge of the painting trade in general, and mahogany stains in particular, is nil. We are puzzled why you should object to our correspondence columns being thrown open for the purpose of one fancier lending a helping hand to another. We are afraid we do not see eye to eye with you; and while we respect your motives in writing us, you must please allow us to have our own opinions concerning the management of CAGE BIRDS. We only wish we possessed half the knowledge you seem to expect of us.

*A Goldfinch Deceived.

We have a Goldfinch. It is so tame that when my mother wants to clean the cage out she lets the bird fly about the sitting room. It will settle on the clock, and when it sees its reflection in the looking-glass it will peck at the glass as if trying to fight its reflection. My father will put a saucer on the table, and the bird will wash itself in it. It is a very amusing bird, and will perch on my mother's head.—Ralph Weale (aged 12 years), 21, Gold Croft, Yeovil.

*Linnet Returns Home.

About three months ago father bought a Canary-reared Linnet from a friend who lives about a quarter of a mile away, and as he was cleaning the cage out one morning about a fortnight ago it flew out and he failed to catch it. The next morning he was surprised to hear his friend say that he had caught it against the window outside trying to get back to the room where it was reared.—Sent by Stella Evans (aged 12), Pentre Cottage, Llanfyllin, Oswestry.

Bullie's Preference.

As a friend of mine at Haywards Heath was trying to catch some Bullfinches he heard one calling in a wood close by, and on pulling his brace bird up he found it was his own Bullfinch; it had got loose and flown into the wood. He tried to catch it, but as he went to catch hold of it it kept flying further into the wood; so he gave it up for a bad job, left his nets, and went home to get his dinner. On his return, to his surprise his hen Bullfinch was on its stick again enjoying its food. So my friend pulled his nets over and caught it again.—Sent by Agnes Hook (age 12), Dairy Farm, Lindfield Sussex.

In the Courts.

TROUBLE OVER A MULE AT DUBLIN.

At Dublin, on Nov. 24, before Mr. Macinerney, William J. Birso summoned Patrick Mulcahy for the uulawful detention of a Greenfinch-Canary Mule. Mr. Kelly appeared for complainant, and Mr. Smith for defendant.

Mr. Kelly said the plaintiff was a gentleman who took an interest in birds, and the defendant, in addition to being a birdfancier, was a champion pugilist, who had appeared in many battles in Dublin, including one with the celebrated "Coffee Cooler." Both were interested in an exhibition held Nov. 2 and 3 under the auspices of the Cage Bird Society of Ireland. It was the rule of the exhibitiou that the birds had to be entered at a price which visitors to the show were entitled to purchase the birds. The complainant had this bird, which he had bought for three guineas, entered, and by some mistake the sale price set opposite this particular bird was the sum of 12s. 6d. On the morning of Nov. 2 a gentleman named Mr. Dawson came along, and thought he would be gettiug a bargain if he bought the bird. The secretary of the exhibition explained to him that the price opposite the bird was a mistake, aud Mr. Dawsou was a sufficient sportsman not to insist on the completion of the bargain. Later on in the day Mr. Birse came into the show, and there was a conversation between him and Mr. Holley (secretary). Mr. Birse, as a result, bought in his own bird, and put up a notice on the cage with the word "Sold." On the evening of Nov. 3 Mr. Mulcahy came in, accompanied by a number of friends, and sought the secretary, Mr. Holley, and said to him, "I am going to buy that bird," and iuisisted upon getting the bird for the 12s. 6d. Mr. Holley said to him, "You cannot buy that bird, as it is sold, and there is an announcement over the cage that the bird is sold." Mr. Mulcahy, backed up by the other men to a large extent, frightened Mr. Holley, and they said, "We must have it," and they suggested that there had not been a genuine transfer of the bird from the exhibition the previous evening. Mr. Mulcahy's attitude became menacing towards Mr. Holley, who, uo doubt, was frightened by this pugilist, aud afraid of personal violeuce, allowed him to take the bird. Mr. Mulcahy said that he would give back the bird to Mr. Birse, but that he wanted to give him a good "cooling." Mr. Mulcahy subsequently met Mr. Holley, and he said to him: "I am going to exhibit the bird at Dundalk Show, and then I will return it to Mr. Birse. At the Dundalk Show Mr. Mulcahy put ou a reserve price of £50, and he had uot yet returned the bird to Mr. Birse.

Mr. Holley bore out the statemeut by Mr. Kelly as to the transaction by Mr. Dawson and Mr. Mulcahy and himself. Mr. Birse bought in his own bird from witness, offeriug £1, for which witness had not change. A label marked "Sold" was then put over the bird. Subsequently Mulcahy went to witness and iusisted on putting down a deposit for the bird. There were some other men with Mulcahy, aud they assumed a threatening attitude. Mulcahy said he would like to give Birse a "cooling." Fearing a disturbance at the show, he allowed him to take the bird.

Mr. Birse stated he bought the bird with a Canary from a Mr. Tighe, of Sligo, in April, 1910, for £3 5s., but the other bird was worth nothing.

Mr. Smith: My friend Mr. Kelly mentioned about a coloured boxer; my client never had boxing gloves on in his life.—Mr. Kelly: I am told now it was his brother who fought the "Coffee Cooler." (Laughter).

Patrick Mulcahy (defendant) stated that he never said a word about giving Birse a "cooling." There was no label marked "Sold" on the cage when he bought the bird. The bird was worth only 12s. 6d.—Mr. Kelly: Would you sell it now for 12s. 6d. —I would.

Mr. Macinerney: Very well; I'll give an order that you return the bird. The real owner gets it back, no matter what the value. I'll give an order against defendant also for £1 costs.—"Dublin Evening Mail."

LARKHALL C.B.A.

Third annual social, held Miners' Hall, Nov. 18, and was a great success. Over 30 members and friends sat down to an excellent repast. Mr. Rundell (president) occupied the chair, and in a few well-chosen remarks complimented the society on the success of the late show, and also of the present gathering. After the cups and special prizes had been handed over to the various winners, a large and varied programme was gone through. This was ably sustained by Mr. and Master Hyslop, Master Berry, Mr. G. Pollock, Mr. McIntyre, and Mr. Hamilton. The usual votes of thanks and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" brought to a close one of the best meetings in the history of the society.

LONDON AND COUNTIES A.C.B.

Meeting, held Nov. 18, "Earl Cathcart", Osnaburgh Street, N.W., Mr. H. J. Pearce presiding over a fair attendance, to hear Mr. Gardner's lecture. We were disappointed, as a communication had been received stating he was unavoidably prevented from attending. Four new members were elected, and specials won at autumn show distributed to the winners present. A balance sheet of the show was presented, showing a profit of 2s. 9d., which was considered very satisfactory. The show of pairs matched for breeding was fixed for January 20, and Mr. G. Gardner elected judge. Mr. H. Bell promised a paper in the Norwich Plainhead, at next meeting, and Mr. E. Pretty at some future meeting on the bird room medicine chest.

GREEN CANARY ASSOCIATION.

Meeting held Nov. 23rd, Oldham Hall, Liverpool, Mr. F. Handley in chair. Mr. L. F. Harding (Wellingborough) was nominated for membership. The old show business was attended to, and the following arrangements made, subject to confirmation: Date, January 13th; place, Caledonian Schools; judges, Messrs. A. G. Davis and J. W. Bancroft; liberal classification; specials to be allotted by committee. Table show of Green Nor. held, but only ten birds were staged, and in the absence of Mr. J. Walker, the judge, Mr. Handley kindly placed the cards. Dec. 28th, table show of Green Borders.—Geo. Green, Hon. Sec.

METROPOLITAN C.B.A.

Meeting held All Saints Parochial Hall, Battersea Park, November 18th. A report of the annual show was read showing a balance on the right side. A good "gate" had helped much towards this. The winners in the cup competitions for the year were also announced as follows: Champion section, Mr. Moore, 40 points; Mr. King (runner-up), 37. Novice section, Mr. McMillan, 39; Mr. J. W. Burgess (runner-up), 36. Ladies' section, Mrs. Denham, 30; Mrs. L. M. Thynne, 26 (case of silver spoons. British section, Mr. Hall, 25; Mr. Best (runner-up), 24. Trowers' medal, Mr. J. Smith. 10s. 6d. most points in novice Border sections for the year, Mr. J. W. Burgess. Decided to have a lecture on Dec. 16th, and the cups, etc., be given away.—G. Harwood, Hon. Sec.

DUNFERMLINE AND DIST. C.B.S.

Third annual "smoker" held November 15th proved a decided success. Mr. J. Rankine (President) presided, and read over the financial statement of the last show, disclosing a balance of over £5. The chairman in a neat speech handed over the cup and rose bowls to Messrs. Howie, McCarey and Campbell, who each suitably replied. A capital musical programme was well sustained by the various members, while gramophone selections were rendered by Mr. Doreuncus. The much respected member, Mr. W. Rolland, gave a detailed account of the Fancy in Dunfermline for over 30 years back. Votes of thanks were proposed by Mr. McLaren and the secretary. The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" concluded a very enjoyable night.—R. T. Campbell. Sec.

Correspondence.

Is it a Sale or Borrowing?

Sir,—I was at a meeting when this question arose: A man buys birds on the condition that after the show season is over he sells the birds back to the man whom he had bought them from. Will some of your readers tell me if this is borrowing birds or not, and would it be allowed by any union or society?

Extra Classes at the 1912 Crystal Palace Show.

Sir,—Since writing you with reference to the classification at the above show, the following classes have been added to the list:—Roller: Champion Young Bird; ditto Novice Young Bird; ditto Any Age; Foul Cinnamons; Hybrid, 30s. limit class; Appliances; Border Fancy: Novice, Buff A.V.; ditto Yellow A.V. It is too late to consider engaging a Welsh judge, as the judges were elected at the last meeting of the L. and P.O.S. Committee.

White Canaries Freely Bred in New Zealand.

Sir,—At the end of last seasou I wrote telling you I had reared nine pure white Canaries. I will send you a photo of these nine birds (taken in one cage), and also a photo of four of them, clear oocks, which took first prize for cage of four birds at our Wellington (N.Z.) Show. It may interest your readers to learn that I am having a very successful start this season, as I have already 28 young white Canaries (reared from the nine I bred last year), all very healthy and doing well, 13 of them having left the nest. All these are bred in an outdoor aviary, and as the season is only just starting, aud the weather has been exceptionally cold, wet, and windy, I am glad to see that they are a strong and hardy strain. I think I may quite claim to have established the type, as the white heus mated to white cocks breed true to colour, the young being all white, without a coloured one amongst them. I have had five such nests from them already. Some of the young have grey ticks (or wing marks), but I have many which are quite clear. My total white birds, young and old, number 37. I shall hope to write to you at the end of the season telling you my results for the year.

(MRS.) MAUD S. MARTIN.

The Chortle of an Anti-colourfoodite.

Sir,—Having read the interesting, if not quite to the point, letters on the above subject in your valuable weekly, may I, with your permission, state a few facts from my own experience? On looking up my breeding card for 1910, I find that I reared 69 youngsters from eight hens and four cocks. This season (1911) I have reared 85 young from twelve heus and six cocks. The parents of these youngsters were all colour-fed. In season 1910 I took three rounds from five hens and two rounds from three hens. This last season I took three rounds from five heus and two rounds from seven hens. Each hen has brought her own young up from hatching till ready to leave the nest, without the aid of the cock bird. I never had a heu egg-bound, nor lost one from auy other cause during the last two breeding seasons, notwithstanding that all my birds are kept the year round in an outside bird-room, without any heat whatever. Your correspondent, Mr. Moore, seems to forget that feeders are mostly used by breeders of such birds as the Laucashire, Crest, Belgian, and Scots Fancy, birds that are not supposed to be colour-fed. I for one hope we shall have this colour-feeding question thrashed out once and for all, without so much unnecessary sarcasm, but with facts.

S. ENGLAND.

A Novel Proposal.

Sir,—It is with the greatest interest that I have read the letters written by Mr. Harris on the colour-feeding question. Now I also can lay claim to being a novice, as far as successful exhibiting comes in, and have been one for two years or more now. I can generally get amongst the money, but, alas! that long-sought-for first has not yet arrived, and does not seem to me to ever be any nearer, and I have often been tempted to give my hobby up. Now what do I blame as the reason for my non-success? Simply this: the birds are not colour-fed, and what I get from the critics is this "Fine bird; he ought to be fed though," "He would be great if he were fed," "You should feed him." I have a Goldie Mule which has been out twice and got two thirds, and the judge at one show distinctly told me that had he been fed he would have won. I always understood that a bird had to be put down clean and in its natural condition. Now is a Bird in its natural colour when it has been dyed into something else? Why are Bronze Greenfinches winning? Is a Green a Bronze? Now, Mr. Editor, I would offer a suggestion, and I offer it in all seriousness: that secretaries take a vote of all exhibitors at their shows as to whether they are in favour of colour-feeding or not. This can easily be done by exhibitors stating on the back of entry forms whether they are in favour of it or not; and if show promoters stand by the decision of their exhibitors I am certain there will be no colour-fed classes in twelve months time. I have not yet come into contact with one single person who has replied in the affirmative to my question: "Are you in favour of colour-feeding?" Their replies are: "Certainly not," but they all finish up with: "We have to do it to do any good." All have sad stories to relate of the grand birds they have lost through it. Ask Mr. St. John, Mr. Weston, and all the other experts which is the best food for their pets, colour food or natural? How would all these colour-foodists like to be put on it themselves for a month or so? In conclusion, let me say: Stop the colour-feeding and increase your entries. I also thank Mr. Moore for the way in which he has taken this matter up. I hope other fanciers will take the matter up, and not let it drop this time. Let's have it thrashed out. Which is it to be, showing your birds dyed into distortionate colours, or shown in their beautiful natural colours?

GEORGE WIGGINS.

The Mishap at Stoke-on-Trent Show.

Sir,—I do not know if Mr. Wellings expects us to be satisfied with the letter from Mr. E. Bibby published in your last issue; if so, he is much mistaken. Apparently his policy is to say as little as possible, but there is much about the affair that has yet to be explained. I would like Mr. Wellings to give an answer to the following: If an accident prevented him from comiug to judge at Stoke on the 16th, why were we not advised of it, so that we could engage someone else? Nine people out of ten would have wired or written us to that effect; instead of this, all we get is a letter posted on the day of the show, saying he will come the next day. Surely Mr. Wellings would know that it was no earthly use coming on Friday to judge at a one-day show held on the Thursday. And why the request to have a good steward on? The failure of Mr. Wellings to fulfil his engagement has resulted in a financial loss to us, in addition to trouble and disappointment. We had to turn lots of visitors away in the afternoon, as we could not have the hall crowded while judging was on; catalogues were late, and had to be sold at a reduced price through having no awards printed in. We did not sell a single bird, visitors not having the opportunity of looking over the exhibits as they otherwise would have done. I hope Mr. Wellings will give an explanation, if he thinks it advisable; otherwise fanciers will have their own opinions about the whole affair.

J. PITCHFORD.

Sir,—I notice a letter from Mr. E. Bibby informing readers that Mr. A. Wellings was unable to fulfil his engagement at Stoke owing to an accident on Nov. 14, and the writer further says "his birds were absent from Preston Show," meaning, I presume, Mr. A. Wellings' Starling and Thrush. Now, I feel positive I saw them at Preston Show on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 18, in Class 31 (A.V. Insectivorous), Nos. 4 and 5, cardless. I remarked to another fancier about them being so far down, seeing that the same birds were at Manchester on Oct. 18 standing 2nd Thrush and vhc Starling. Perhaps Mr. Wellings sent these two birds along to Preston without informing Mr. Bibby that he had done so. When birds entered for competition iu a show are not sent, their cage numbers are generally marked "absent" in the catalogue; but these birds are not so marked in Preston catalogue.

JOHN ENGLAND.

Budgerigars which Talk.

Sir,—Having read with interest in CAGE BIRDS of the last two weeks' issues about talking Budgerigars, I would like to say I have bred many that have made first-class talkers. There is one now in Isleworth that I bred last summer, and it says over twenty words most distinctly. It could be heard by anyone communicating with me. What is wanted is a young cock bird (I find cocks make the best talkers) and a suitable cage; and if auyone wants amusement, just hang up a cotton reel iu the cage, and if possible fix a small piece of looking glass on the cage, and the bird's antics will quite reward anyone taking the trouble.

J. SAPSFORD.

Sir,—I have a fine Budgerigar which I bought of Mr. James. The bird's favourite spot is a looking-glass. When I open the cage he will fly to the looking-glass. Then he will look in and say, "Pretty little Joey!" and lots of other things which I have taught him, and he is admired by everybody.

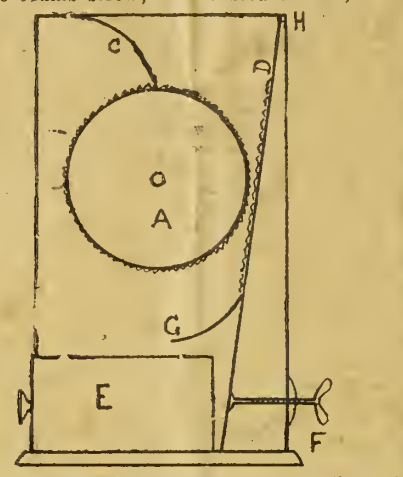
The £4 4s. Cup at Stamford Show.

Sir,—I enclose copy of a letter received from Mr. Smith, the winner of our cup, and should be obliged if you will find room for same if possible.

A. HARRISON, hon. sec.

[Copy.]



Erdington, nr. Birmingham.

SIR,—The cup arrived safely this morning. Really, I am at a loss to express my pleasure on opening the case to find such a very fine cup. As a rule the advertised value and the real value are different altogther, but with your special one is astounded at the good value. Please accept my very best thanks and make a note of me for a special when making up your next schedule.

A Substantial Adjustable Seed Crusher.

Sir,—In reply to "Querist" re seed crusher, the one I am sending a sketch of I made myself, and have had it in use every day for the last seven years. "A" is the roller covered with puuched tin all over. "B" is a piece of tin with a piece of brass tubing soldered on for the spindle to go through; "C" is a piece of bent tin; "D" an adjustable board moved by the thumb screw; "E" a seed drawer; "F" a thumb screw for the adjustable board; "G" a piece of tin bent to shape to shoot the seed into the drawer; and "H" a small hinge. The handle screws on to the spindle. The adjustable board has a piece of punched tin on it so as to face the roller. I hope this will be found to answer the purpose.

Two Sections: Upper the mill, lower the roller and handle.

W. MILLER.

Judging Foreign Birds at the L.C.B.A. Show.

Sir,—Perhaps I might be permitted to say that I found my task of judging, in some classes, even harder than last year. When one has such birds as Raggi's Bird of Paradise (by-the bye, the g's are soft, and not pronounced as in the word rag!), a Fairy Blue Bird [Irene turcosa], an Indian Kingfisher, a Coppersmith Barbet, a Loo-Choo, and a Japanese Redbreast, etc., etc., in one class; one can, so long as each bird is in good condition, only be guided by one's individual taste and liking. One exhibitor, when I had finished, said: "Would you give the preference to an old crow?" pointing to what is, after all, a superb specimen of Raggi's Paradise Bird. The Paradise Birds are allied to the Crow family, but I could not, for instance, pass over the beautiful Blue Jays, which I took to be Cyonocitta diademata, although they, too, are allied to the same genus. But perhaps the above remark was a joking one! As a matter of fact, the bird I would have taken before all others was Mrs. Miller's superb Japanese Redbreast [Erithacus Akahige]. It appealed to me strongly, and was, moreover, in magnificent condition and beautifully exhibited. As to the special prizes, it was absolutely impossible to properly give the award to the rarest bird in the show. It was a matter to some extent of individual opinion. Mr. Townsend's Blue Dacnis, the Fairy Blue Bird, the Paradise Bird, the Amethyst-rumped Sau Bird, the Indian Kingfisher, the Blue Crowned Jays, the Japanese Redbreast, and also the Loo-Choo Robins, etc., are all what might be called rare birds; and it was nearly a case of tossing for the award! I think everyone must have been struck by Mrs. Bourke's Purple Sugar-Bird, whose beauty was enhanced by sprays of clear yellow orchids within the cage, carrying on the colour of the tiny bird's legs, an extremely artistic effect! Let me conclude by assuring several exhibitors that I should like to have awarded prizes to many birds which had to be labelled v.h.c., but which deserved more important affixes, and so to have pleased everyone, which I am well aware I must have failed to do!

The Bradford National Cage Bird Show.

Railway Facilities.

Sir,—The L. and Y., Midland, and G.N. Railways have decided to run all their ordinary cheap Saturday excursions to Bradford for the above show, from all the principal centres in Yorkshire, Lancashire, and the North. Visitors who intend spending a few hours at the show will thus be enabled to do so at a reduced rate. With regard to cheap excursions from London, we have been unable to obtain any concession, and I am afraid that unless we were in a position to guarantee a specified number who would travel from London to the show that we are helpless to do anything in the matter. To all who intend visiting the show, which promises to be a magnificent affair, may I offer, on behalf of the committee, a hearty invitation. This is the Yorkshiremen's first attempt at a National Show, and I feel sure that fanciers outside the county will respond to the appeal, which has already been made in various forms, and give them that whole-hearted support which this venture certainly deserves. We are extending the closing of entries until Monday morning, Dec. 4, first post, and hope that fanciers will send on their entries at once, and the same will be classified by us. Exhibits from a distance will, if the exhibitors wish it, be taken care of by various members of the committee over the week-end, and returned by the first trains on the Monday morning.

Colour-fed or Non-colour-fed?

A Border Fancy Problem.

Sir,—In reply to Mr. W. Bayley, kindly allow me to say through your columns that I judged Borders at Preston, and did not find any occasion to leave out any exhibit on account of being colour-fed. I know there is room for controversy with regard to what is strictly meant as being "colour-fed." I have heard much difference of opinion expressed on the subject, and whilst some think a Border is colour-fed if given anything whatever beyond plain seeds, others declare that "colour-feeding" means the use of any prepared colour foods—including hot cayenne—placed on the market, which may be bought and used; and others are ready to allow that any plants or flower-heads given in the natural form, just as it is grown, such as nasturtium flowers, marigolds, dandelion heads, thistles, various hardheads, etc., do not constitute "colour-feeding." I realise, of course, that there is very fine material for discussion in this.

CHAS. HOULTON.

Sir,—Mr. W. Bayley asks for the opinion of those who had previously judged his birds this year. I judged them at Manchester, and also saw them at Liverpool, and in my opinion there was not the slightest suspicion of colour food about any of them. Certainly some of the birds were very rich and deep in colour, but the colour was quite natural aud perfectly consistent with the idea of colour breeding, especially where a good percentage of dark blood is used. Further, I think it is impossible for anyone to colour-feed, even in a slight degree, and retain the tone of colour seen in a natural coloured specimen. Neither yellows nor buffs are naturally red in tone, and I have yet to see the colour food which does not give a reddish tinge to the birds fed on it, whether they be yellows or buffs.

S. HADWIN.

Sir,—It seems to take a great deal to convince Mr. Bayley over his Borders. I thought the remarks in your paper would have been quite enough to satisfy him. The talk of the show was that the Borders were "ablaze with colour." What more does Mr. Bayley want? It was not my opinion only; but the opinion of the general Fancy. In the same report it mentioned remarks that were made at Manchester Show on the colour of the Borders. These remarks did not come from me; neither did I pen the remarks at Liverpool Show. So Mr. Bayley gets the opinion of other fanciers as well as me! With respect to Mr. Bayley asking the opinion of other judges, neither the other judges nor I will know if they have had the same birds under them that were left out at Liverpool. No matter what answer he gets from other judges, it will not alter my opinion, and I do not think it will alter the opinion of those that made the remarks at Liverpool. Those who exhibit Borders will not stand losing their chance through Borders that are "ablaze with colour." Now, Mr. Bayley, you have got the opinion of others at Liverpool and Manchester; so be content.

A. WELLINGS.

P.S.—Please mention that I will answer about the mishap at Stoke next week, as I can use my hand a little now.

L.C.B.A. Show Novice Protests.

Sir,—Kindly make it known that we much regret it is impossible to act on anonymous protests, and that if our anonymous correspondent (he or she) will write in a proper manner and produce proof (a catalogue with awards of the show will suffice) the matter will be brought forward and dealt with.

Mugford and Tyson, Show Managers.

A New Society for Aintree and Fazakerley and District.

Sir,—A meeting of local fanciers interested in cage birds, poultry, pigeons, etc., has been arranged for Dec. 11, at 8 p.m., in the Church Hall, Long Lane, Fazakerley, when the Vicar (the Rev. T. H. Senior) will preside. Any fancier within a radius of ten miles is heartily invited to attend and give the scheme a great send-off; or, if desirous of joining and unable to attend, please send name to mo at 58, Loug Lane, Fazakerley, Liverpool.

J. Anderson.

Is the Stonehouse C.B. and F.H.S. to be Allowed to Die?

Sir,—Owing to some of our members going out of the Fancy and others leaving the district, I am afraid we will be unable to continue our society unless we are able to get a few good working members. A meeting to consider the question will be held in the anteroom of the Public Hall on Dec. 9 at 7 p.m. All fanciers around the district are earnestly requested to attend. Our membership is open to a ten-mile radius. Any fancier wishing for information regarding our society may have same by applying to me. Members expelled from other societies need not apply.

Uniform Show Cages for Border Fancies.

Dissatisfaction at Fife Shows.

Sir,—Will you allow me space in your valuable paper to express my views on the above, as there is a great deal of dissatisfaction caused at some of the Fife shows. I think if the uniform cage was adopted it would do away with a great deal of this grumbling, and young fanciers like myself would take a greater interest in the hobby. I may state that last year at Kirkcaldy Show I was having a conversation with a gentleman who has judged two or three shows in this district, and he could tell me all the owners of the exhibits without the assistance of a catalogue while the judge was giving the awards. I asked him how he knew. The reply was: "Oh, I know the cages they show in." I may also draw attention to the dissatisfaction of some of the exhibitors at Dysart Show through birds with "channel" (gravel) in the bottoms of their cages. "Good awards" was the cry of some of the spectators, but, being a spectator myself, and also an exhibitor, I may state that I thought the birds mentioned were in their right places. Still, I think this system should be stopped. If it is to be channel, sawdust, or roughts, let it be one thing only. The same happens with spars, fountains, and seed boxes. I would suggest where the B.F.C.C. patronage is given the committees of shows should have power to disqualify all exhibits unless shown in a uniform cage. I see the annual general meeting of the Club is to be held at Carlisle on Jan. 1, 1912. I hope some of the fanciers will give this system support.

Justice.

The Return of Exhibits from the Recent Crook Show.

Sir,—Owing to pressure of business I do not exhibit much, but when I do so I like to receive something like fair treatment. On Nov. 13 I sent two entries to the secretary, Crook Original Society, with the following proviso attached: "These entries are sent subject to the birds being returned to the Middlesbrough Station by the train arriving not later than 9.17 p.m. on the day of show." I sent messenger to meet this train; birds did not arrive. Only one more train, due ten minutes after midnight. Consequently, after closing of business, I had to trudge through the wet two miles there and back to the station (a very disagreeable thing for a woman to have to do). The birds did not arrive even then, and as there is no connection by rail on a Sunday morning between Crook and Middlesbrough, I gave the birds up, not expecting them until Monday. But some other fanciers who had birds at the above show went on the Sunday morning on the off chance that the birds might have arrived. They had done so. One of the gentlemen acted the Good Samaritan, paid carriage for my birds, and brought them to my residence (for which kind act I heartily thank the gentleman). Otherwise the birds would have laid closed up in the travelling case till about noon on the Monday. The condition they would have been in by that time will be easily imagined by those who have any knowledge of Canaries. I have reason to know that the birds, instead of arriving at Middlesbrough by the 9.17 p.m. train, were not delivered to the station at Crook till 9 p.m. the day of show. I take it the receiving of labels, etc., by me constitutes a contract; therefore why did not the secretary fulfil his part of same, or else not have accepted the entries? Small wonder entries fall short when such treatment is meted out to fanciers. It is not pleasant to pay entry fees and railway charges, and then receive your birds home more dead than alive, hours beyond their proper time.

(Mrs.) M. Hinchcliffe-Turner.

A Plea for Non-colour-fed Classes.

Sir,—Personally, I do not care for colour-feeding, and there are hundreds of other fanciers who are in the same boat. Why do not the people who object to colour-feeding support shows who give natural colour classes? If they did, societies would be pleased to put them on. Last year we (Frome) put on two classes; yet neither of them was half filled. This year we are giving it a final trial. Who will help?

C. I. Young.

The Carriage of Live Birds.

A Protest Against the 50 per cent. Special Charge.

Sir,—When the railway companies made the above increase there appeared many indignant letters from various fanciers. Apparently the writers have given up hope, for there is now an ominous silence. Who are the responsible persons to take up this matter? Cannot Cage Birds League approach the railway companies on the subject? I feel sure every fancier resents the added charge, yet no proper steps are being taken to obtain the much-desired reduction. In my opinion the railway companies would obtain double the traffic if they returned to the old rate, for many exchanges of small value are now avoided owing to the heavy carriage incurred. I am a railway servant myself, but from personal experience I fail to see why the 50 per cent. increase should have been made at all. Being a railway servant I prefer not to disclose my name and address, but I trust my letter will be read by some responsible fancier, who will make an effort to get the railway companies to reduce their charges. It is out of all reason and grossly unfair to a working-man fancier—or a fancier of means, for the matter of that—to charge 6d. for a box containing a live bird, whereas you can send a large crate of pigeons for the same sum. I am surprised the large dealers have not made an effort to obtain a reduction, for it must make a good bit of difference to them in a year. We are fast approaching the end of this year, and I should much like to see the old rate in operation for the year 1912.

Carriage Key.

[We are in complete sympathy with our correspondent's object, but apparently he is unaware of the fact that the Cage Bird Union moved in the matter two or three years ago (in conjunction with societies devoted to other live-stock hobbies), but without obtaining any concession from the railway companies. The Loudon Federation of C.B.S. has also at quite recent date issued petition forms for signature (also invoking the aid of other cage bird societies), presenting the petition at the headquarters of the railways, but without the desired result. We believe the companies are unwilling to reduce the rate either for ordinary parcels or for show hampers, so far as small live birds are concerned.—Editor.]

Wild-Bird Life.

Wild Birds Coming South.

During the winter months we have more birds around the homestead than in summer. Wild birds must have food and warmth, and it is for that the Fieldfares and Redwings migrate from the frozen North, the Wildfowl come down to the open waters of the southern rivers and marshes, and the Blackbirds and Thrushes forsake the wooded hills and seek the shelter of our gardens and orchards. Migration is purely natural, and acts for the general preservation of the species. It is not confined to bird life alone. In America and Africa there are periodical movements of wild animals, the Laplander and reindeer migrate together, all in search of food and more genial conditions. Modern observations have failed to upset the original and simple theory that food and warmth are the prime factors that cause this annual movement. And so the Blackbirds, Thrushes, Finches, and Robins seek the shelter and warmth of our gardens during the most trying period of the year. The hard plumage of the Starling appears to make him almost impervious to cold. 'Tis true, he seeks the lower meadows and marshes, but the house and garden have no attractions for him until the snow lies thickly upon his usual haunts. Although the plumage is hard and glossy, the Starling has an underlying covering of almost downy texture, and is much more warmly clad than one would imagine at first sight. In the writer's garden the Blackbirds are particularly numerous—and quarrelsome. This is a trait in the Blackbird's character not so conspicuous in the Thrushes. As winter really sets in we get as regularly as possible big flocks of Thrushes which have probably journeyed from the North. These have just arrived, and numbers of them crowd the garden and adjoining meadowland. Among them are a few Redwings. One of these ventured upon the lawn, and when perched on the fence appeared at first like a huge Robin, so bright was the ruddy patch on the side. Fieldfares are plentiful in the open, but do not come so near the house as the other Thrushes.

CAGE BIRDS LEAGUE

Something the League will NOT do: A Misconception Dispelled: Membership Steadily Increasing.

NOTES BY THE SECRETARY.

Patrons: Mrs. TINNISWOOD MILLER, London; The Hon. MARY HAWKE, Tadcaster; Sir R. J. CORBET, Bart., Shrewsbury; E. J. BROOK, Esq., Ecclefechan; the Rev. C. H. RAYNOR, Maldon; A. EZRA, Esq., London. Vice-Presidents: Mrs. M. B. PARTRIDGE, Worthing; Miss C. M. E. HILL, Exeter; H. D. ASTLEY, Esq., M.A., F.Z.S., M.B.O.U., Newbury; C. E. RATTIGAN, Esq., London; C. CUSHNY, Esq., London; J. MACE, Esq., Sheffield; W. H. RAVEN, Esq., Nottingham.

Our Week's Membership List.

Our current week's list includes the names of the following ladies and gentlemen. I am sure that members will be especially pleased to see amongst us my old friend, Mr. Thos. Heath, the well-known judge, an old-time manager of Crystal Palace shows, and for many years quite at the head of breeders and exhibitors of Champion Crest Canaries.

Mrs. Giddy, Highgate; Miss Kendal, Tavistock Square; Messrs Pass, Hucknall; Winton, Dundee; Bailey, Parkgate; Roberts, Carnarvon; Dawson, Chelsea; Alton, Sutton; T. Heath, Beckenham; Rudd, Bishopsgate; Puck, Chingford; Thrower, Westminster; Wilcox, Strange, King's Cross; Barnett, Thornley; Maggs, Hambrook; Hudson, Willesden; Bibb, Camden Town; C. Heath, Dartford; Miller, Bowburn; Pain, Rugby; Johnson, Southport; Reeve, St. John's Wood; Eley, Mumbles; MacKuarry, Oban; Bamsey, Derby; Croshy, Scunthorpe; Dowling, Bradford; Adams, Long Acre; Radley, Holyhead; etc.

Addition to Hon. Sec. List.

This week I have to announce a further addition, as under.

Southend-on-Sea, Mr. P. T. Garner, 102, Baxter Avenue.

Further Preference to League Members.

At the following shows, in addition to those in our previous lists, members of Cage Birds League will be admitted at a reduced charge, if wearing their badges or producing their membership receipt. — The reductions are the same as announced last week, namely, threepence in the shilling admission charge, or twopence in the cases of sixpenny admission fees.

Many of the shows the reductions at which were announced in former lists are for future dates, and members and readers should please refer to those lists as well as to the one below.

Dec. 9.—SHEFFIELD C.B.S., Montgomery Hall.
Dec. 9.—DALTON-IN-FURNESS.
Dec. 16.—FELINFOEL.
Dec. 23.—HEBDEN BRIDGE.
Dec. 23.—PELTON FELL.
Dec. 26.—NORTH WALES C.B.S. Assembly Rooms, Market Street, Carnarvon.
1912.
Jan. 12-13.—SUNDERLAND.

Admission Free to Our Members.

Following the example of Grimsby, the Committee of the following shows will welcome Cage Birds League members free of charge.

Dec. 2.—ROTHERHAM. Mail-Coach Inn, Wellgate.
Dec. 9.—SHETTLESTON.

A Misconception Dispelled.

Some little time since I published the fact that in an interview I had with a north country reader, I gathered that there was in existence an idea that Cage Birds League had the ambition to become a governing body, and that as soon as it had enrolled a sufficient number of members it would endeavour to make its presence felt by establishing rules and regulations for the governance of the Cage-bird Fancy in general. I was at the time able to disabuse the mind of the gentleman in question, and, through him, that of the society he represented; but I find, to my regret, that the erroneous idea named still exists in some degree. I should like, therefore, to call the attention not only of the members of the League, but of every reader of our organ, Cage Birds, to the following extract from our "Summary of the Aims and Objects of Cage Birds League":—

It should be very clearly understood that this League will in no sense aspire to be a governing or controlling body, and will not interfere or conflict with any club or society at present in existence. Its sole idea will be to work in the best interests of bird-keeping and of those who make bird-keeping their hobby.

The objects of the League may briefly be defined as follows:—

(1) To form a bond of good fellowship and union between bird-keepers all over the world.

(2) To inculcate the principles by which birds suited to captivity may be kept under humane and proper conditions.

(3) To act as a League of Defence and Protection.

Nothing in the above-quoted extract would seem to be capable of being misunderstood, and I hope its republication here will dispel once for all any idea that Cage Birds League has any ambition to do other than that which it set out to do. In the three objects named there is a field of work which is sufficiently wide for all our efforts. In all these directions Cage Birds League has already made very substantial progress, and there will be no ceasing of its endeavours to attain its ideals. The universal support of bird-keepers in general, whether members of societies or not, is essential to its continued well-being, and it is for this reason that I am anxious to disperse any misunderstanding.

Our List of Local Hon. Secs. and "Cage Birds" Annual.

Mr. W. J. Grant, local hon. sec. for Taunton, writes: "As I take it that a full list of hon. secs. of the League will appear in Cage Birds Annual for 1912, I would like to suggest that all willing to act as such should send in their names at once, in order to assist publication. From this list fanciers could consolidate their interests in their particular districts, and could join in correspondence or enquiry in any local matter." I am glad to say that I shall be able to arrange for this being given, and shall be glad to include in the list the names of any gentlemen willing to act for districts not yet represented. Names should be sent in at once, as the Annual is already in course of production.

POSTERS FOR THE SHOWS.

In response to the suggestions of several members, neat posters have been prepared conveying an invitation to visitors to shows to join Cage Birds League and assist to protect our hobby. I shall be glad to forward copies to anyone applying for them. I hope, therefore, that all secretaries will take advantage of the offer now made, and apply for the posters forthwith.

HANDBILLS FOR THE SHOWS.

Many applications have been received from Hon. Secs. of Societies for a supply of our handbills for distribution, and parcels have been despatched to all applicants. A number will be sent gratis and post free to the Secretary of any forthcoming show who may write me for them, stating the number he will require. The name of the society will in each case be printed at the foot of the handbills sent. A copy of the bill was printed in our issue of Nov. 4.

OUR LEAGUE SEALS.

These pretty seals are printed in gold and colours in exact fascimile of our Badges, and are an ornament to envelopes, notepaper, postcards, billheads, etc. All members should use them; price eightpence per hundred, post free. Smaller quantities at the hundred rate, but with one penny extra for postage.

OUR FREE BOOKLETS.

I have still some of each of the sixpenny pamphlets on British Bird Culturo and on Canary and Hybrid Culture, and, as long as they last, one of either will be sent gratis to all new members applying for a copy at the time of joining. Old members who have not yet had a copy may receive one on sending a penny stamp for postage. Only one copy of either book can be sent, and when the stock in hand is exhausted, I may not be able to get a fresh supply, so applications (with membership fee) should be sent to me without delay.

SUBSCRIPTION AND BADGES.

The subscription to Cage Birds League is one shilling annually, and the badges sixpence or one shilling. The sixpenny badges are in three forms: (1) a button for coat lapel, (2) a pendant for watch chain, (3) a brooch for lapel, cycling cap, or for lady's wear. The badges at one shilling each are mounted in 9-carat rolled-gold, and are in two forms only: (1) a pendant for watch chain, (2) a brooch for a lady or for cycling cap or coat lapel. Members should distinctly state which form they prefer.

JUNIOR BRANCH.

VICE-PRESIDENTS.

The qualification for Vice-Presidentship is an annual subscription of not less than half a guinea, and one-half of this subscription may be allotted to either the Literature Fund, the Defence Fund, or towards the purchase of special prizes to be given at any show nominated by the subscriber. Failing any such special allocation, the subscription will be devoted to the development and progressive work of the League, to advertising its objects and promoting its ideals.

PATRONS.

Ladies or gentlemen who are in sympathy with the objects of Cage Birds League may give practical expression to that sympathy by becoming Patrons of the League, and either making a lump sum donation to its funds or subscribing an annual amount of a guinea or upwards. One-half of such donation or subscription may be allotted to any individual object of the League.

Henry J. Fulljames,

STRATFORD & E. LONDON F.S.

Well-attended meeting held Nov. 24, Mr. T. Threlford (vice-president) in chair. Prizes won at late Y.S. show presented. Mr. Threlford spoke of his long connection with the soc., having been general sec. in 1896. He was pleased to hear the society was again on the road to prosperity under the secretaryship of Mr. Maxey, who was himself a very old member. Mr. T. then kindly gave a donation to the funds, and said if a whist drive was promoted he would give some prizes. Several specials for the annual show were promised, and the hon. sec. will be glad to have other promises. Secretary mentioned there was a small balance on the right side from the Y.S. show, and he would be glad to receive cash for tickets still outstanding, so that a full statement of accounts could be rendered at the next committee meeting. New members proposed: Messrs. R. D. Steward (Vancouver), W. Harris (Leytonstone), Terril (Maryland Point).—W. Maxey, hon. sec.

By. WESLEY T. PAGE, F.Z.S.

(See Frontispiece this Week.)

Perhaps I had better preface these remarks by stating that there were many other notabilities among the Foreign birds at the L.C.B.A. show equally striking with those which are the subject of these notes, but some of them have already received notice in CAGE BIRDS, and when one realises that all the following are new to the show bench this season, it will be seen that only a small representative selection can be made on this occasion. Count Raggi's Bird of Paradise, Jackson's Whydah, Black and Yellow Grosbeak, Palish-Blue Sugar-bird, Indian Yellow-cheeked Hill-Tit, Long-crested Mexican Jays, Indian Redstart, Orange-crested Fruit-Pigeons, Japanese Robin, Dusky Thrush, Coppersmith Barbet, Blue-throated Flycatcher, Indian Kingfisher, Fairy Blue Bird, Indian White-eye (?)

Count Raggi's Bird of Paradise.

Of living aviculturists Mr. E. J. Brook undoubtedly possesses the finest collection (private or public) of Birds of Paradise in this country, while Mons. Pauwels enjoys that distinction on the Continent. I believe. Birds of Paradise do not require great heat, but must have plenty of fresh air, and caution must be exercised in the matter of associating them with other birds. For instance, Raggi's Bird of Paradise (Paradisea raggiana) in Mr. Brook's aviaries would not agree with his mate, and, after a battle royal, died from the effects of a blow she gave him. They are almost omnivorous as to diet, being both insectivorous and frugivorous, and also do not disdain any mouse or small bird they can capture.

The specimen described in these notes was the centre of attraction at the show, and the subject of many notices in the daily Press; it was in perfect condition, and full breeding plumage. Its form and the ordinary placement of its adornments and plumes are well shown in Mr. Goodchild's characteristic drawing on our front page; but when the male is displaying to his mate these are brought forward and spread out; the wings also are spread, and a tremulous movement of the whole plumage takes place, the bird appearing a bundle of nerves.

The female lacks the adornment of the male, and is quite plain in comparison. Birds of Paradise are really gaudily-dressed Crows, some of them being gorgeous indeed, and are natives of New Guinea and surrounding countries.

It is difficult to describe briefly the plumage of this or any other bird of Paradise, but if those of my readers who were unable to visit the show and see the bird will read these sketchy notes, with Mr. Goodchild's drawing before them, they will have a good general idea of this grand bird. The head and neck are buffish-straw colour (the plumage is very light with a velvety texture); forehead, ear-coverts, cheeks, and throat glistening metallic green; chin black with a greenish sheen; entire back and wings deep ruddy chestnut-brown, the lesser coverts being edged with buffish-straw colour, and the shafts of the quills bright reddish; tail rich ruddy-brown, the shafts of the two central feathers, extending thread-like, nearly 20 inches in length; the under-surface is ruddy-brown, paler in centre of abdomen, with a small shield of rich velvety purple-brown in the fore-neck and chest; the flank feathers are elongated into two large tufts of plumes, 12 or more inches long, and of a rich crimson brown hue, becoming whitish-brown at the tips; bill pale grey with a pearly sheen; feet ruddy brown; iris yellow. Mons. Pauwel's fine specimen was very steady and not at all abashed by the fixed gaze of the crowd of admiring onlookers mostly near its roomy cage. Words fail one adequately to describe these regal birds, and Mons. Pauwels is to be congratulated on the perfect condition and vigour of his fine specimen. It was deservedly first in its class.

Fairy Blue Bird.

While I am of opinion that Mons. Pauwel's exquisitely beautiful specimen of the Fairy Blue Bird (Irena turcosa) is turcosa, a definite pronouncement is very difficult without a close comparison, as several of the species are only to be distinguished by the shade or tint of the blue areas. A reference to the illustration will indicate the elegant form of this bird, while when one sees it disporting in a roomy flight this feature is much enhanced, and though a fairly large bird (8½ inches over all), its elegant form and glowing, glistening plumage make its popular name most appropriate and descriptive.

The upper surface of the adult male is a rich purplish-cobalt blue, glistening in the light with a turquoise-like sheen; quill and tail feathers rich velvety-black; lores, cheek above the eyes, sides of face, neck, and whole of under surface deep black; under-tail coverts, purplish-cobalt; bill and feet black. The eye is very striking, the iris being ruby-red, and even this colour designation does not fully indicate its glowing brilliance.

Here again excellence of plumage and vigorous health aided to exemplify the glorious beauty of the bird, which, owing to keen competition, only took third and special, having to give way to the Bird of Paradise and a very rare Japanese Robin. Like the preceding species, this is its first appearance on an English bench. Diet: Insectile mixture, fruit and live insects. It is a native of Java.

Yellow-cheeked Hill-Tit.

All Tits make charming pets, either as cage or aviary birds, and this Indian species (the Yellow-cheeked Hill Tit—Machlolopus xanthogenys), exhibited by Mr. Tinniswood Miller, is an exceptionally attractive one, and, save that the yellow areas are of a lighter hue, a good sketchy description will be to describe it simply as a miniature Green Cardinal. It is one of the huge consignment collected and brought over by Mr. W. Frost in the early part of the summer of this year. Most of the Tits do well on a diet of seed, soft food, live insects, nuts, and fruit. Their antics are very interesting and amusing, even within the compass of a cage, but much more so in a roomy natural aviary; their fearless and confiding nature soon accommodates itself to the conditions of captivity, and the birds soon become familiar with their owners and roam about their person when permitted to do so. This species is new to the show bench this season, and Mr. Miller's specimen was in faultless condition.

Lutino Ring-necked Parrakeet.

This is the first colour variety of this species I have seen, and it was one of the rarest birds in the show. It is a true Lutino (Palaeornis torquatus, var. luteus), having pink eyes, and is not merely a temporary phase likely to revert to normal plumage at the next moult; it is a young male, and after the moult its neck will probably be adorned by the ring common to the species; the entire plumage is clear yellow, with the merest suspicion of green on base of quill and tail feathers. All colour varieties are interesting, and it is to be hoped that when adult a mate will be found for it, and its progeny carefully paired over the course of a year or two. The beautiful Blue Budgerigar is the result of careful selection painstakingly persisted in; why not some similar result with this species?

The bill and feet were of the normal colour of young birds of this species. Mr. Ezra is to be congratulated on the acquisition of such a rarity, and it is to be hoped it will live to moult into adult plumage and to reproduce its kind, though it is very possible that the majority, if not all of these, would be of normal plumage.

Blue-throated Flycatcher.

All the Flycatchers are interesting and fascinating birds, under whatever conditions they are kept—cage, room, or aviary. Moreover, they are not unduly difficult to keep, thriving on a good insectile mixture, and live insects. All the members of the group are of graceful form, with beautiful and iridescent plumage. The Blue-throated (Cyornis rubeculoides) is certainly not one of the least beautiful of its genus; while it has all the fascinating demeanour of the English Robin—fearless, confiding, and self-assertive. This, combined with lovely plumage, soon endears them to all bird-lovers.

The male Blue-throated Flycatcher has the upper parts dark blue, with forehead and eye streak of glistening blue; the under parts are ferruginous, merging into whitish at the vent. Total length, 5¾ inches.

It breeds in the Himalayas, and, according to Oates, the nest is constructed of moss and lichens, and placed in a hole in a tree, bank, or rock.

This specimen was staged by Mr. C. T. Maxwell in his usual faultless manner, the plumage being very tight and silken. Its vigour was also very apparent. It is a delightful species for anyone desirous of obtaining a beautiful, confiding and engaging pet bird. When contributing notes of notable birds at week-end shows, I always feel the need of apologising for their sketchy nature, but, as they must of necessity be written against time, this is unavoidable, also occasional slight errors of nomenclature.

ROUND THE SHOWS.

LLANELLY.

Seventh annual show of Llanelly C.B.S., held Nov. 28th, Market Hall. The Llanelly fanciers are a very enthusiastic lot, and did everything in their power for the comfort of the exhibits, which were staged in tiers at just the correct height to be easily seen; and the hall being large and splendidly lighted, having a glass roof and side windows, it was indeed a pleasure to be able to examine the exhibits. The chairman, Mr. T. Jenkins, and vice-chairman, Mr. W. H. Reynolds, were ably assisted by a hard working committee in Messrs. T. J. Gregory, W. Jones, H. Evans, W. J. Harry, T. J. Gregory, senr., D. R. Jones, Wm. Bowen, Danl. Davies, H. Gregory, Ben Evans, Sam Jones, E. H. Williams, D. J. Thomas, Sam Lewis, T. Bennett, and T. Williams. The show manager, Mr. T. J. Gregory, was here, there, and everywhere, and to his untiring energy no little of the success of the show was due. The secretarial duties were very ably carried out by Mr. Danl. John. Llanelly are indeed lucky to have such a courteous official for secretary. He is a hard worker, and nothing seems too much trouble for him. Unfortunately entries did not come up as well as was expected, owing the very generous classification offered, and if exhibitors will not respond when the chance is offered, then they have only themselves to blame if classes are cut out another year. Mr. J. H. Roe judged Canaries, and Mr. H. Norman the British and Mules. The British birds as usual were a good collection, for the local fanciers are keen upon this section. Linnets were undoubtedly the pick of the show, both in numbers and merit, two really good classes being on view.

READING.

Tenth annual show of the Reading and Dis. C.B.S., held Nov. 29th, in the Palmer Hall, a large and well adapted room for a bird show, being quite free from draughts. The quality all round was excellent, some tiptop exhibits being put down. We were particularly pleased to see how strong the novice classes were, a very healthy sign in any society; not only were the classes well filled, but they had quality as well. All the exhibits had the best attention from a good body of keen fanciers. Mr. J. Brooker is the chairman of a good sound committee, including Messrs. Vince, Yates, Fraser, Styles, Dearlove, Tremlett, Laurence, Smith, Maisey, Albury, Cox and Allen. Mr. W. H. Pyke discharged the secretarial duties in a most capable manner, and we think the Society are fortunate in having such an efficient, painstaking and courteous official. The awards were made by Mr. J. H. Payne.

WINDSOR.

Windsor C.B. Soc. held their 3rd annual show, Albert Institute, Nov. 29th. Entries were fairly good, although not so many as there should be considering the fine classification. The quality was alright, many Yorkies being quite high class, and some real good Nor. were staged. The members' birds showed up well, and some really high-class birds were staged in both the Canary and British bird sections. The show was packed with visitors, and a good "gate" should assist the society. In Mr. E. A. Stackland they have a first-class secretary, who has everything in grand working order. He was ably assisted by Messrs. Turner, Hutson, May, Baker, and Simms. Mr. J. Robson judged Canaries and British, and Mr. Wesley T. Page, the foreign birds.

EPSOM.

The number of cage birds at the Epsom F.S. annual show, held Nov. 29, was not over large, as this show clashed with several others. This show is always well managed, having a few good cage bird men on the committee who look after the interests of this section. Mr. Brassey makes a very obliging sec., and is well supported by his committee. Special for best bird went to Mr. G. W. Saunders' grand unflig. buff Nor., first in the unflighted class at the recent Horticultural Hall Show. Mr. E. J. Lamb was runner-up with a nice Linnet Bullie Mr. H. Norman judged.

The Critique.

YELL. YORKS (6): 1, Mrs. Ballard, neck ticked yell., fine length, stands well, good head and shoulders, rare length of wing; 2, 3, Stroud, 2 hotter col., good length and shoulders, neat wings, not quite so good in neck and head as winner; 3, lovely col. and quality, good head, capital shoulder; vhc, Britton; hc, Wheeler; c, Alford. BUFF (6): 1, Mrs. Ballard, a beauty for length and position, neat head and neck, capital back and wings, good tail; 2, vhc, Miss Hall, quite as good in shape and carriage, lovely quality feather; 3, Wheeler, cap mkd., rare length, lovely quality, good back and tail; hc, c, Stroud. MEMBERS—YELL. YORKS (6): 1, 2, hc, Truelove, 1 fine and long, good wings, AI quality, 2 wing marked, grand length; 3, vhc, Soper, smart cl., nice type and quality; c, Lock. GRAVESEND.

Annual show, open to a radius of twelve miles, held Nov. 29 and 30, in the large room at the Bat and Ball Cricket Ground. The entry was a poor one, most of the classes unfortunately being cancelled. Mr. Billett judged.

NOR. (18): 1, 2, vhc, hc, Stewart, winner nice type and condition, good level col., nice feather, 2nd marked head and wing; hc, nice level col., good chest, lovely quality, wo niked; 3, res, Barcham, 3rd typ. Nor., nice level col., tight as wax; vhc, hc, Taylor. YORKS (4): 1, withheld; 2, Burnett, long and slim, stands well; 3, Taylor, not quite so long, very nice and straight; res, Webb; vhc, Edmonds. MULE (5): 1, Edmonds, nice Goldfinch-Canary, easy win; 2, Stewart, Greenfinch-Can., nice feather, well shown; 3, withheld; 4, Hasler, nice Goldfinch-Can.; vhc, Ducie.

I have sold all my feeders and several Scots Fancies after two insertions in your widely read paper, CAGE BIRDS. I was more than surprised at the number of enquiries I had from all over the country, asking for birds on approval. Although I did not feel inclined to send Scots Fancies as far as Ireland and England on approval, yet I felt pleased to see that the Scots Fancy is kept and bred over a much larger area than some would have me believe.—J. Wood (Glasgow).

Horticultural Hall Show.

Nuthatch, well shown, good size, clear blue back and good white throat, which shows off the reddish breast, in grand order; 2, Rattigan, sweet pair of Long-tailed Tits, perfect in feather, very prettily marked, interesting exhibit; 3, Lawrence, nice Crossbill, very steady, cage-moulted bird, showing the yellow plumage instead of red, as in the wild state, good size; 4, Taylor, charming Crested Tit, rare visitor in the South, exceptionally well marked at throat, fine crest; vhc, Tams, cock House Sparrow, rare size, very tame, in perfect feather, evidently living on the "fat of the land" suits this gentleman; No. 1, Taylor, absent.

Judge, Mr. S. L. Cocks.

BLACKBIRD (10): A double set of winners might well have been found here: 1, vhc, Marley, topping Blackie, wonderful size, very lustrous plumage, jet black, with a rich crocus bill and eye cere, shows himself to perfection, wins well; vhc, very stylish, tame as one could wish; 2, Hawksby, a good specimen, hardly as shapely as winner, and a trifle smaller, rich orange bill, good eye cere; 3, hc, Blackett, 3, very shapely, shows well, little to choose between this and 2nd, paler in bill, nicely staged, latter sound coloured; c, Maxwell, in good feather. STARLING (7): 1, Lean and Son, large, lustrous bird, well spotted, lovely sheen throughout, stands up straight on perches; 2, Laidlow, another well spotted bird, stands well up, lustrous green and purple feathering; 3, Collins, rare big bird, beautiful purple sheen on breast, well spotted from throat downwards, we liked much; 4, hc, Lott, both very heavily spotted all over, 4th, rare size, in first class order; vhc, Alton and Thompson, large, well spangled bird; c, Marley, one of the purple variety, very showy. SKYLARK (6): 1, F. Walsh, rare chested bird, well mkd., good bold carriage, capital tone of col., in fine fettle, nicely staged; 2, 4, Lott, not much to choose between these two, both large birds, standing well up, but both lose a trifle in col. to 1st; 3, Evans, very steady Lark, but loses all round to leaders, behind in markings and not quite so large; vhc, hc, Blackett, both promising specimens, smaller and paler in col. WOODLARK, ETC. (10): A very good class, containing two Rock Pipits, birds seldom exhibited: 1, hc, Frostick, 1, topping Tree Pipit, rich col. and dense pencillings, lovely throat mks., well staged, latter very tame cage-moulted Shore Lark; 2, 3, vhc, c, Lott, 2, capital Shore Lark, good col. for cage-moulted specimen, nice size, tight as wax, 3rd well marked Meadow Pipit, splendid order, rare size, vhc, good Rock Pipit, a larger species than the Meadow Pipit, and more heavily marked, giving it a much darker appearance; c, Wood Lark, nice eye-mark, well pencilled breast; 4, Dewhurst, Rock Pipit, dense markings, good size, a trifle unsteady; No. 6, Askew, best coloured Shore Lark in class. NIGHTINGALE (8): 1, hc, Hon. Mrs. Bourke, 1, grand 'Gale, an old winner, rare col. and size, and as tame as could possibly be, beautifully staged, a real gem; hc, another capital 'Gale, in perfect condition; 2, Puck, lovely Blaekcap, tight as possible in feather, good size, fine silky texture of feather, very steady; 3, Jackson, another bonny 'Gale, good size, in faultless condition, not such good carriage as 1st, probably younger; 4, Maxwell, Blackcap, very nice cap, more of a bluish tint of plumage than 2nd, good size, shown in the usual high condition; vhc, Vale, nice 'Gale, good col., in perfect feather; c, Frostick, Blackcap, in perfect feather, rather restless. SMALL INSECTIV. (WRYNECK, ETC.) (10): A very interesting variety class, containing no less than three Dartford Warblers (a species unknown to the show bench a few seasons ago), Waxwings, Wryneck, and Black Redstart, now competing with them; 1, Hon. Mrs. Bourke, again successful with a capital Dartford Warbler, apparently a younger bird than 3rd, very perky, but not so tight in feather, very promising bird, we heard it remarked; 2, Miss Bousfield, Waxwing, a real gem, full of condition, rich yellow and red tips to flights, beautiful silky plumage, shown to perfection; 3, Frostick, Dartford Warbler, faultlessly shown, very tight in feather and colours better defined than winner, but appears to be a shade smaller owing no doubt to its condition; 4, Maxwell, Wryneck, rich colours, well defined, well laced and marked on breast, good size, looking a little "soft" we thought; vhc, Evans, again a Dartford Warbler, a bird of the year we should say, has secured many prizes; hc, Francis, well shown Waxwing, again in tip-top condition and feather; c, Taylor, Black Redstart, very good specimen, but fond of the cage bottom. Class 155, marked cancelled in catalogue, but contained a very interesting Lesser Spotted Woodpecker, with a 1st on its cage, belonging to Mr. John Frostick, seemed to attract plenty of attention. CHOUGH, ETC. (9): A well mixed class, represented by the four usual species: 1, McQuiston, Chough heads class, a fine specimen, with a lovely glossy black plumage, legs and beak a shade paler in depth of colour than some; 2, Mrs. Lawrence, champion Magpie, very clear in whites, good head, fine long tail, plenty of the greenish, shown in faultless feather; 3, Bowler, rich coloured Jay, good size, clear blue wings and good shaped head, carries plenty of bloom; 4, vhc, Askew, 4, one of the best Jackdaws we have seen for a long time, shines like ebony, a real topper, latter nice Magpie, not far behind 2nd in perfect feather; hc, Dewhurst, Jay, very tame. A.O.S., SMALL INSECTIV. (5): Here again was a well mixed class, "Bobbie" competing with the Willow and Sedge Warblers: 1, Maxwell, Sedge Warbler, nice size and col., well defined eye mark, very sleek in feather, well shown; 2, Maggs, Willow Warbler, as tight as wax, perfect feather, a good rich green back; 3, Puck, grand Greater Whitethroat, rare size, splendid feather, very sprightly, a topper, in the pink of condition; 4, Mrs. Frostick, Bonny Robin, very large, rich col. (colour fed we heard), would be hard to beat by his own species; vhc, Taylor, capital Redstart, rich throat and breast, nicely frosted, good white crescent on forehead. A.S. HENS (except Song Thrush) (16): An unusual occurrence to find two Dartford Warblers in competition with Finches: 1, Hon. Mrs. Bourke, a gem of a Dartford Warbler, in perfect condition and feather, very sprightly little lady, seemed quite happy in her roomy cage, to the casual observer there is little distinction between the male and female of this species; 2, Ford, Corn Bunting, exceedingly tame, wanted to fight us when we attempted to make her move, good size, nicely marked throat; 3, Dewhurst, Greater Spotted Woodpecker, in fine fettle, appeared quite content in its cork-lined cage, was hammering the cork as we took notes; 4, Marley, Siskin, good size, nicely marked on flanks, capital wing bars, a rich col. for its sex; vhc, Castree, Ring Ousel, in perfect feather, rather unsuitably staged, the perches being too far apart, the hen of this species is seldom seen on the bench; hc, Loader, bonny Bullie, grand ebony cap, good flights and snow white rump. A1 condition; c, Cadman Bros., very steady Snow Bunting; No. 6, Miss Smith, grand Chaffinch, we liked; No. 7, Martin and Archer, Dartford Warbler, seems to have injured her left foot; absent, Andrews, Nos. 15 and 16. PIED ALBINO ETC. (22): A wonderful collection, the like of which we do not remember seeing before in such numbers, no less than 19 out of the 22 entries facing the judge. Robins, Blackbirds, Linnets, Starling, Bullies, Chaffinch, and Sparrows competing: 1, P. Walsh, with a grand Silver Starling, shows spangling at tips of the feathers and looks very pretty, an old winner; 2, Pinnell, cock Bullfinch (catalogued as a Blackbird), pure white, with a delicate pink tint on the cheeks and breast, beak flesh colour, in perfect feather (some thought a dark blue colour for the cage would shew it off to better advantage than green); 3, Longlands, beautiful Albino Blackbird, with the normal coloured orange bill, large bird, very steady; 4, vhc, hc, Temple, 4, pretty Robin, white, with a delicate reddish tint on the forehead, cheeks and breast, in good feather, except tail slightly frayed; vhc, Albino Sparrow, exceptionally tame, in perfect order, hc, Albino Blackbird, yellow bill; c, Smith, pretty Cinn.-Linnet, shows pencillings as in a normal coloured bird. A number of very interesting freaks were on view, particularly No. 21, cock Chaffinch, heavily mottled with creamy white on head, breast wing, and tail coverts, while the back was a rich yellow, would have proved a puzzle if exhibited in the Hybrid class by mistake; No. 17, a cock Bullfinch, with red breast, but delicate pink and white cap and white in flights. A.S. EUROPEAN BIRDS (not in N.B.B. and M.C. list) (8): This class provided quite the attraction in the section, in M. Pauwels' lovely pair of Wall Creepers, the last exhibited was a single specimen exhibited some years ago by Mr. Maxwell; 1, hc, M. Pauwels, 1, grand pair of Wallcreepers, shown to perfection, in a large cage, with imitation rockwork at the back, plumage of the male ash grey, with rich crimson wing coverts, long curved bill, hen same col., but less brilliant, hc, described as a "Sunfinch," very similar to a large Snow Bunting, head greyish, and under parts grey, probably a "Snowfinch"; 2, Maxwell, Redbreasted Flycatcher, unique exhibit, and a very dainty little fellow, ashy brown, with the upper breast orange red and under parts white; 3, Dewhurst, Rosy Pastor, a member of the Starling family, seemed weak in the legs; 4, Puck, topping Russian Goldfinch, in tip-top order, rich blaze, nicely mooned, good tanning; vhc, c, Martin and Archer, vhc, another rare bird, a two-barred Crossbill, housemoulted no doubt, as it shows the orange instead of red colouring, c, very fine Ortolan Bunting, rare size; No. 3, Icterine Warbler, similar to the Willow Warbler, but much larger. HAWKS, OWLS, etc. (3): This is another new class at this show, and only contained three entries. If well filled, would prove an attraction, as few people can see these birds at close quarters: 1, Shepherd, Kestrel Hawk, in perfect feather, seemed quite at home, was enjoying a piece of beef which it held in its talons; 2, Wilson, Tawny Owl, who sat as still as a rock and blinked, a rare large cage bird, with doubtless a large appetite; 3, Askew, Little Owl, who "snapped" as we took our notes, tastily shown in a cork and ivy lined cage, very clean in plumage, an interesting bird. OPEN NOVICE GOLDFINCH OR BULLFINCH (15): 1, Clements, Goldfinch, very typical specimen, good square blaze, splendid wing bars and moons, well tanned; 2, Butler, Goldie, another beauty, not quite such a square under blaze, and more lightly tanned in breast, good rich hack and wing bars; 3, Wade, nice Bullie, good black cap, fine blue back and clear wing bars, very steady for a field-moulted bird, correct type; 4, May, Goldie, we liked very much, well up in col., capital buttons and moons, nicely tanned, as good a colour as any in class; vhc, Cooper, capital Bullie, splendid cap, rich breast col., good clear back; hc, Maitland, another stylish Bullie, good cobby bird; c, Raby, useful Goldie. LINNET, SISKIN, TWITE, OR REDPOLL (15): 1, Hedley, stylish Linnet, good rich col., fine back markings, rather indistinct pencillings on breast and throat markings, in good condition; 2, Raby, nat. col. Siskin, very fair col., well mkd., nice cap and wing bars, hardly a trace of bib; 3, hc, Sadler, 3rd, rich col. Twite, good pencilling, fair size, shows whites in flights very well, hc, a Linnet, in good feather; 4, Copeland, Linnet, too small for keen competition, nicely pencilled, carries plenty of bloom; vhc, Oliver, bonny Siskin, nice col., very distinct thigh pencillings; c, Woodcock, Lesser Redpoll, in good order. A.O.S. FINCH, ETC. (5): 1, Simants, nice Reed Bunting, in good feather; 2, Hedley, very fair Bramble, good head, well spangled, nice rich breast col.; 3, Miss Bowles, Chaffinch, shows whites well, good bold chest, a little unsteady; 4, Smyth, really good Greenie for col.; No. 4, absent (Hatter).

THE FOREIGN BIRDS.

Judge, Mr. H. D. Astley.

BUDGERIGARS, LOVEBIRDS, ETC. (6). The feature of this class was Mr. Townsend's veteran Blue-crowned Hanging Parrot; this was a marvel of colour, and its tight and silken plumage unsurpassable: 1 spl, Townsend, Blue-crowned Hanging Parrot; 2, Meadows, an excellent pair of Black-cheeked Lovebirds; 3, Mackenzie, another good pair of B.C. Lovebirds; 4, vhc, Edmunds, pairs of Yellow and Green Budgerigars. A.S. PARRAKEETS (9). Some of the exhibits, in the writer's opinion, were somewhat hardly treated, especially a very rare yellow variety (lutino) of the Ring-necked Parrakeet, a young bird, and also very beautiful; it certainly merited a higher position. Another uncommon exhibit was Mr. William's uncommon Blue-crowned Conure and also Mr. Cooper's Rock Grass Parrakeet: 1, Edmunds, Brown's Parrakeet, nice and tight; 2, vhc, C. T. Maxwell, good Elegant Grass Parrakeet, very tight plumage, but was minus a claw; and a perfect pair of White-winged Parrakeets; 3, S. Williams, jun., very uncommon Blue-crowned Conure, this bird was evidently very dissatisfied both with judge and public; 4, R. Pauwels, very uncommon Uvean Parrakeet, very rich colour; vhc, Mrs. K. Leslie Miller, perfect Blue-bonnet Parrakeet, rich colour, plumage very tight and silken; vhc, C. Cooper, Rock Grass Parrakeet, rare, hardly treated. LORIES AND LORIKEETS (2). It was most disappointing that the first response to a special class for the Brush-tongued Parrots was so small. The Association's enterprise deserved a different result. This, the writer feels assured, is a class that will fill well if it is maintained; 1, R. Pauwels, Brown-throated Lorikeets, a beautiful and rare exhibit, these enjoyed a few hours of liberty in the spacious hall, but were fortunately recaptured; 2, Mackenzie, fine Ceram or Yellow-backed Lory, a blaze of colour. PARROTS, COCKATOOS, ETC. (5). Out of this small entry four of the exhibits were rare and all in good condition. Mrs. Miller had out two exceptionally fine exhibits, a perfect Hawk-headed Parrakeet, our choice for first, and a very uncommon Ash-fronted Amazon Parrot (C. ochroptera), our choice for second; the Rev. C. H. Raynor's rare Everett's Parrot and veterna Meyer's Parrot following, but with such birds to deal with, the judge's position is not an enviable one; and in such company Mr. Ditchfield's lovely B.F. Amazon was distinctly lucky, we thought, to carry off third prize: 1, 2, Rev. G. H. Raynor's Everett's and Meyer's Parrots; 4, vhc, Mrs. K. Leslie Miller, rare Ashy-fronted Amazon and equally uncommon Hawk-headed Parrot; 3, J. Ditchfield, Blue-fronted Amazon, in beautiful condition. WAXBILLS, ETC. (23). One was pleased to see such a grand entry and meet so many of the beautiful but freely imported species. In the writer's opinion it is a mistake to award vhc, hc, and c cards in such numbers; we opine that if the birds in exceptional condition had been singled out for the distinction, exhibitors generally would have been better pleased, for where practically everyone gets a card there is no distinction! 1, 3, and c, R. J. Watts, lovely pairs of Green Avadavats and Gold-breasted Waxbills, in perfect feather and col., and a good Cordon Bleu: 2, Beresford, Cordon Bleu, in good feather and col., but a trifle lucky; 4, Mortlock, good pair Orange-cheeked Waxbills; vhc, Rev. J. Paterson, perfect Green Avadavat; S. Beaty, good Combassou; Miss Smyth, Madagascar Weaver; C. H. Row, excellent pair Golden-breasted Waxbills; F. Howe, very fine Golden-breasted Waxbills and perfect Orange-cheeked Waxbills, gems; and C. T. Maxwell; Rev. J. Paterson, one of the most perfect pairs of Tricolour Mannikins we have seen; G. W. Leavers, very good pair Ribbon Finches; C. G. S. Woodcock, Grey Java Sparrows; F. Howe, White-headed Mannikins and St. Helena Waxbill, perfect condition; A. C. Young, Cutthroats; J. Dewhurst, Cordon Bleu; R. J. Watts, Cordon Bleu; Col. Routh, Zebra Finches. WAXBILLS, FINCHES, ETC. (12). This class contained such beautiful Seed-eaters as Violet-eared Waxbills, Melba Finches (? probably two species), Crimson Finch, and Blue-breasted Waxbills, all of which have been decidedly difficult to obtain of recent years. 1, 2, spl, vhc, C. T. Maxwell, Violet-eared Waxbills, very rich colour, plumage very tight and silky, and an equally good pair of Blue-breasted Waxbills; 2, 3, F. Howe, very fine Melba Finch, markings sharply defined and colour very rich, and lovely Crimson Finch, grand colour; 4, c, Col. J. Routh, Violet-eared Waxbills and Melba Finches, both pairs a little soft, and Waxbills not through moult; vhc, J. C. W. Meadows, nice Aurora Finch; hc, S. Beaty, good Firefinch; c, Miss St. A. Wait, Blue-breasted Waxbill; and L. M. Wade, Magpie Mannikin. GRASSFINCHES, WEAVERS, ETC. (17). The feature of this class was Mr. Maxwell's Jackson's Whydah, which has only once previously appeared on the show-bench, and two pairs of Australian Fire-tailed Finches, a species known to aviculturists for many years, but for some years, till quite recently, has been unobtainable: 1, W. R. Temple, grand pair of Fire-tailed Finches, without a flaw, lovely colour and distinct markings; 2, C. H. Row, another good pair of Fire-tails, very little behind the first prize winners; 3, 4, and hc, C. T. Maxwell, Jackson's Whydah (might have been higher) —rare and interesting exhibit; good Tri-coloured Parrot Finch, and richly coloured Painted Finch—a grand trio; vhc, Miss Bousfield, Diamond Sparrow; C. H. Row, Red-headed Gouldian Finch; F. Howe, Parrot Finch, one of the best we have seen; J. Mackenzie, Black-headed Gouldian Finch; J. M. Walsh, Scaly-crowned Finch, very uncommon, flawless; R. J. Watts, Diamond Finches; hc, S. Beaty, perfect pair of Red-headed Finches, rich colour, markings very clear; A. G. Kyle, Long-tailed Grassfinches; A. C. Young, grand pair Ruficauda Finches; Col. Routh, best pairs of Ruficauda and Masked Finches we have seen; c, Dr. Hetley, Diamond Finch. GROSBEAKS, TRUE FINCHES, ETC. (14). The chastely beautiful Rainbow Bunting appeared once more, as beautiful as ever, and though on the opening day it was looking a hit "off colour," it soon improved and showed its perfect condition. A good and richly coloured pair of the hetter known Nonpareil Buntings were exhibited by Dr. Hetley, and Mr. Maxwell exhibited an uncommon Colombian Siskin, which carried off premier honours, and the rare Black-cheeked Cardinal: 1, spl, and 3, C. T. Maxwell, Colombian Siskin, in exquisite condition, rich black above and golden-yellow below, and Black-cheeked Cardinal, very rare, in beautiful feather; 2, Mrs. K. Leslie Miller, Rainbow Bunting, a superh gem, which retains the beautiful natural colour of its rainbow-hued garment in captivity; 4, J. M. Walsh, Green Cardinal, rich colour, very tight and steady; vhc, Dr. Hetley, grand pair of Nonpareil Buntings, very rich colour, perfect; hc, Rev. J. Paterson, Green Singing Finch; B. C. Brears, lovely Lavender Finch; c, H. T. Gibbs, good Pintail Nonpareil; W. Andrews, Green Singing Finch. TANAGERS (5). Rather a disappointing entry, surely a class for the freely Imported Tanagers should command a better entry than this! The enterprise of the management must meet with a better response than this if it is to be maintained: 1, W. T. Rogers, Blue Tanager, perfect in every way—there are several sub-species of the Blue Tanager, of which the above is probably sub-species leucoptera; 2, R. J. Watts, Superb Tanager, very rich colour; 3, C. T. Maxwell, another beautiful Superb Tanager; 4, J. M. Walsh, yet another Superb —all three being exceptionally richly coloured birds, varying about as placed. A.O.S. TANAGERS (10). This class, while containing nothing really new, included many rare and uncommon gems of the beautiful family Tanagridae. A beautiful and rare Gold and Green Tanager (Calliste flava) was shown by Mr. S. M. Townsend in exquisite condition; while Mrs. Miller staged a lovely Emeral-spotted Tanager—the gem of the class—the principal colouration is bright green, washed in parts with golden yellow and regularly spotted with black; the centre of the body below is whitish, merging into the green sides of body. Another rarity, which appeared last season, was Lady Pilkington's unique Blue and Black Tanager (Tanagrella cyanomelaeno), whose name aptly describes its iridescent hues of plumage; this, and a lovely Festive Tanager, staged hy Mr. C. T. Maxwell were the pick of the class. Mr. Maxwell also staged the uncommon Pretre's Tanager: 1, S. M. Townsend, Gold and Green Tanager, perfect, very tight and steady; 2, vhc, and c, C. T. Maxwell Pretre's, Maroon and Festive Tanagers, a grand trio; 3 and vhc, Lady Pilkington, All Green, and Blue and Black Tanager, the latter rare but not tight in plumage; 4, Mrs. K. Leslie Miller, Emerald-spotted Tanager, a perfect picture, our choice for 2nd, very hardly treated; vhc, J. M. Walsh, Black-throated Tanager (C. thoracia), should have been higher; vhc, Lady Pilkington, Blue and Black Tanager, very rare, rather loose in feather; hc, Hon. Mrs. Bourke, good pair Necklace Tanagers; Miss V. Bromwich, Archbishop Tanager. SUGAR BIRDS, ETC. (16). This class alone was worth a long journey to see, and undoubtedly Mr. Ezra's exquisite Amethyst-rumped Sunbird was the most noticeable. But the most rare was Mr. S. M. Townsend's Palish-blue Sugar Bird, a first appearance, and we believe the first living specimen of its kind to reach this country. It is smaller than the well-known Blue, and at first we took it to be coerulicolor, but without comparing it with skins we do not care to make a definite pronouncement; it is either Daenis nigriceps or angelica; its small size causes us to take it to be angelica. It was hard luck on Mr. S. M. Townsend that it should have been overlooked by the judge. Another rare exhibit was Miss Clare's rare Indian White-eye, an nvinry bred specimen, in perfect condition, but not fully mature plumage. We were pleased to see once more, after a lapse of some years, the lovely African White-eye. A feature of the class was the exquisite staging of the Hon. Mrs. Bourke's Purple Sugarbird, the cage being garnished with yellow orchids, a most suitable setting, constituting a lovely picture: 1 and two spls, A. Ezra, Amethyst-rumped Sunbird, a tiny feathered exquisite, whose colours vary through every shade of lilac, purple, and green, according to the angle at which the light strikes it—not a feather out of place, deserves its position; 2, vhc, and hc, Hon. Mrs. Bourke, richly coloured Purple Sugarbird, grandly staged; Purple Sunbird, not quite in full colour; and Blue Sugarbird, looking a wee bit soft; 3, vhc (3), hc, and c, C. T. Maxwell, Purple Sunbird, very tight, but out of colour; Purple Sugarbird, a gem; Banana Quit, rare and perfect; Rufous-throated Sugarbird, grand colour! African White-eyes, nice pair, but will look better a little later, and a good Blue-winged Fruitsucker—a grand sextet; 4, vhc, and hc, S. M. Townsend, the veteran Yellow-winged Sugarbird, its equal has certainly never been staged; Jerdon's Bulhul, lovely and rare, and a lovely Palish-blue Sugarbird, a dainty gem in a glistening garment of bright blue and black; hc, W. T. Rogers, Gold-fronted Fruitsucker; c, Miss Clare, Indian White-eye, rare and perfect, not well staged; G. Rattigan, Blue-winged Fruitsucker. PEKIN ROBINS, JAYS, ETC. (8). The notable exhibit in this class was Mons. Pauwels' lovely and unique Long-crested Mexican Jays (Cyanocitto coronata)—beautiful indeed, the general colour is blue, iridescent in parts, with two white eye-streaks and two white streaks extending from base of upper mandible to centre of crown, the crest is long and pendulous; the other exhibits were all well-known species: 1 and spl, R. Pauwels, Long-crested Mexican Jays, in perfect condition, plumage very tight and silky; 2, O. Puck, grand Shama; 3, W. A. Shepherd, Hill Mynah in superb condition; 4, C. Cushney, good Purple Starling; vhc, D. Gollan, nice Pekin Robin. A nice pair of Lesser Hill Mynahs (very talkative) also competed. A.O.S. (24). Columns might easily be occupied in describing the rarities in this grand class, Mons. Pauwels' Count Raggi's Bird of Paradise was a grand sight and one of the attractions of the show, as also was his exquisite Fairy Blue-bird, both figured and noticed elsewhere; Mrs. K. L. Miller's exquisite team of Japanese Robin (Erithacus akahige) and Loo-choo Robin (E. komodori), and pair of Verditer Flycatchers, were all rare and exquisitely beautiful. Mr. A. Ezra also exhibited the Loo-choo and Japanese Robins; the former was seen on the bench last year, but the Japanese Robin is quite new, and closely resembles the English Robin, but the red is not so bright and the underside of body is a darker grey; Miss V. Bromwich also exhibited an uncommon Hauswell's Hangnest. Mr. Maxwell also had out a fine team, Blue-throated Flycatcher, Ruby-throat, Coppersmith Barbet and Trogan; Mr. Townsend staged a lovely Indian Kingfisher (Halcyon symrnensis), its plumage being a lovely contrast of mahogany-brown, pure white and richest blue; 1, spl, and 3, R. Pauwels, Count Raggi's Bird of Paradise, in full colour and exquisite condition; and Fairy Blue Bird (Irena turcosa), a marvel of beauty in its shining garment of black and blue; 2, and vhc, Mrs. K. Leslie Miller, 2nd Japanese Robin, Loo-choo Robin, very fine, richer colour than the bird exhibited in 1910; and a grand pair of Verditer Flycatchers, a grand team; 4, hc, and spl (2), C. T. Maxwell, Coppersmith Barbet, an interesting and unique exhibit which strikes one at first as being all face, as not only is the head large for the bird, but all the bird's colouration is confined to the head, Ruby-throat, and a Blue-throated Flycatcher, an exquisite and rare species; vhc, A. Ezra, Japanese and Loo-choo Robins; T. Miller, lovely and unique Yellow-cheeked Hill Tit; Miss V. Bromwich, Blue-bearded Jays; J. M. Walsh, White-eye-browed Wood Swallow; S. M. Townsend, a unique Indian Kingfisher; hc, W. T. Rogers, Dusky Thrush (T. leucomelas), very uncommon; Miss V. Bromwich, Hauswell's Hanguest; Mrs. J. Frostick, White-crested Jay Thrush; c, Miss L. Clare, Silver-eared Mesia. A good specimen of the common Indian Redstart also competed. FOR. HYB. (3): Mons. Pauwells, gathered premier honours with his interesting Pleske-Azure Tit hybrid (Parus pleskei x P. cyanus); it is a wild hybrid, and is pale blue above and white below, variegated with typical darker facial, back, and wing markings. Mr. G. J. Troughton took second and third prizes with two Zebra Finch and Silverbill Hybrids; these were described as Zebra Waxbill and Silverbill in catalogue, but the parentage of the Zehra Finch is unmistakable, and will be even clearer after they have moulted out. PAIRS FOR HYB. BREEDING (5): 1 and 3, C. T. Maxwell, Silver-eared Mesia and Blue-winged Siva; Firefinch and Vinaceous Firefinch; 2, W. R. Temple, Fire-tailed Finch and Sydney Waxbill; vhc, Rev. J. Paterson, Black-headed Nun and Chestnut-breasted Finch.

THE MEMBERS' CLASSES.

As was to be expected, the members' sections contained some remarkably good birds. Mr. Knight (Cambridge) put down a lovely unflighted Yorks which played havoc in the special list.

DUNDEE.

A Good and Well-Conducted Show.

City of Dundee and Dist. C.B.S. annual open show, held in the Gymnasium Hall, Ward Road, Nov. 25th. The hall is a splendid one for the purpose, being well lighted on every side. The exhibits were staged right round, and were well protected from draughts by a screen, there being plenty of room for visitors in the centre to view the birds with comfort. The Society is blessed with a first-class executive, the President, Mr. Herschell, being present, while the genial vice-president, Mr. D. Low, was at everyone's command, and did much to make the show a success from an exhibitor's point of view. The Hon. Sec. (Mr. Alex. Miller) is a grand worker, and had all his arrangements made in good time, and his ability made him an ideal show manager. There was a good attendance of fanciers, and several sales took place. The entry was down a bit on last year, 469 birds being staged, but though fewer the quality in every section was of the best, many big winners being forward, and competition was keen. Crests, though not strong in numbers, were a grand show, the Scottish Crest Club medal going to Mr. Veitch with his grand C.B. hen, and the Crest Members' Cup to Mr. Cairns, with a nice young Crest. Norwich, also small in number, were a first class lot, the Scottish P.C. medal being won by Mr. G. Mitchell, while the medal for cocks was also won by Mr. Mitchell. Mr. Hope won the members' cup for best Scotch Fancy cock, and Mr. Henderson the cup for hens. Cup for best Brit., Mr. A. R. Towns, with a dandy Redstart; Hyde's, Mr. D. Low. Judges, for Crests and C.B., Mr. J. Young (Rutherglen); Nor., Mr. W. Hampton (Brechin); Scotch Fancies, Messrs. J. Stenhouse (Kelty) and J. Strachan (Arbroath); Borders, Mr. T. Arnott (Kirkcaldy); Mules and British, Mr. R. V. Raine (Cathcart); and their decisions were well received.

DUBLIN.

Eleventh annual show of the Dublin C.B., etc., Association, held in the Concert Rooms, Rotunda, Nov. 22nd and 23rd. The entries, when one considers that this show was clashing with another fixture which had the patronage of the specialist clubs, was very good; especially may this be said of the Yorks, and the quality generally was far better than we expected. The birds were very nicely staged and all the exhibits were carefully attended to by the hard-working and courteous secretary, Mr. Gibson, and a willing band of workers on the committee. The hall is beautifully lighted, well ventilated, and free from draughts. It is to be regretted the Irish shows cannot be arranged so as not to clash, as this kind of thing only tends to shortness of entries. Mr. Cowgill (Bradford) placed the cards, and we heard no grumbling.

LEIGH (Lancs).

Members' show held Nov. 18, Assembly Room, Railway Hotel—just a nice room for such a show. There were just over 100 entries, and amongst these were to be seen some excellent Norwich. Yorkshires were also very stylish, especially the winning cl. yell., which secured special for best bird in show. Crests included several very good birds. Eybrids, too, were good, and the British bird class brought together a good class of 14. Mr. Charleson, the hon. sec., had the show in hand, and carried out his duties in a prompt manner. Some good specials, in addition to cash prizes, were competed for, and caused keen competition. The open Linnet class was a capital one, and most of the birds were shown in hop cages, as the class was made up largely of birds belonging to the Linnet Singing Clubs around this district. The birds were in very ripe condition, singing all the afternoon, and for all they were worth. Quite a large number of fanciers were in attendance. Mr. Chas. Houlton judged, and his awards were very well received.

LAUNCESTON.

A very nice collection of birds were gathered in the Meat Market on Nov. 28th, and the quality also was good. Six classes were provided for the locals, which contained 66 exhibits, and a capital lot they were, making quite the best even seen at this fixture. Mr. Reed made a most able and courteous secretary, and he was well backed up by his committee, thus all the arrangements were carried out in good form. Mr. C. A. House judged.

HIGHGATE AND HAMPSTEAD, C.B.S.

Annual show held Nov. 10th and 11th in Spencer Hall. Three hundred and fifty entries is a splendid total to muster by a society which has only been four years in existence. It is astonishing what grand results may spring from small beginnings; and societies grow and flourish when there is capable guidance and unity amongst the members. It would seem the Highgate and Hampstead Society is singularly fortunate in this respect. Mr. C. W. Law, who fills the secretarial chair is one of the best. It is quite true that Mr. Law found the foundations "well and truly laid," but he is a gentleman of tact, ability and enthusiasm, and he has built wisely and well. As secretary, too, of the L and P.O.S., Mr. Law has the advantage of wide experience, which he uses to the full on behalf of both societies. The society has also amongst its officers men of the widest and longest experience. Mr. G. Gardner is its chairman of committee, while on the membership roll are such names to conjure with as Messrs. W. Shakespeare, J. Oldaker, G. E. Weston, etc. The committee are all excellent workers and ungrudgingly give their support. The cups and specials are both handsome, numerous and judiciously arranged in competition. The President's cup was won by Mr. H. F. Jones' slashing variegated buff Yorks. cock. The award was a popular one. Mr. C. W. Law won the shield with a very nice typical buff Norwich. The British, although nice, did not strike us as quite equal to those of former years. The arrangements were first rate, the staging as convenient as the space would allow, and the tasteful arrangement of pot plants (by Mr. Knight) added colour and cheerfulness to the whole. The attendance of fanciers was very large, and would probably have been more so, but for the dreadfully wet night on Saturday. Mr. Geo. Gardner judged, and had a really hard five hours' work in a treacherous light. But as stewards these old hands, Messrs. J. Oldaker, W. Shakespeare, and Walmsley, helped greatly. Winners of specials: President's cup, H. T. Jones; Points cup, Lovegrove and Lovegrove; Challenge Shield and silver plated teapot, C. W. Law; teapot, Hyde and Jones; British bird points special, Amat. and Nov. section, Mrs. Giddy; other specials: Messrs. Kent, J. Jones, Appleby, Johnson, Street, Law, Wills, A. Knight, Clarke and Locke, Wakefield, Bush, Hyde, Byne, Lovegrove and Lovegrove, Mound, Tatten, Shakespeare, Bell, W. Knigbt, W. Gilbert, Cowie and Elton, A. W. Hardiman, W. Armstrong, W. Day, Mrs. Giddy, Mrs. Wood, G. Street, W. G Byne, and W. H. Wills.

GLASGOW (West End).

Glasgow West End C.B.A. 2nd annual show held November 18th, Co-operative Hall, St. George's Cross. Whether it was the good weather or the success of the venture we do not know, but on looking around it was not difficult to see there was ample room for a smile of satisfaction, as the hall, although comfortable, was (owing to the large increase in entries) much too small for the large crowd. The committeemen, who are all well-known fanciers, are to be congratulated on their success. The secretary (the popular Mr. W. Proudfoot) hits the mark every time, and has every detail well arranged; and his civility and jovial nature seem to weld the members into a block of harmonious fanciersbip. Judges: Messrs. Sloan (Glasgow), J. F. Dewar and L. T. Arrigbi (Edinburgh) and as grumbling was conspicuous by its absence, we may take it their awards were well received.

The Critique.

YOUNG BIRDS: CREST: 1, Young, massive body, plenty of feather, fine droop and radiation, nice youngster; 2, Thomson, good size, tight feather, just lacks the top of winner. LUDLOW.

Fifth annual show of the Ludlow C.B.S. held Nov. 23rd, in the Town Hall, a splendid place for a bird show, being roomy, well lighted, and free from draughts. The exhibits were nicely staged round the room, and were thoroughly well cared for by a committee of genuine fanciers, of whom Mr. E. H. Wood is the chairman. The quality all through was excellent, and the entry in advance of last year. We were pleased to see a great improvement in the quality of the members' classes. Mr. Dyke's team of Yorks. did not arrive until the whole of the judging was nearly completed. Mr. W. T. Woof makes an admirable secretary, being methodical, courteous, and obliging, and he received valuable assistance from the assistant secretary, Mr. P. H. Oakes, who has held the reins in former years. The awards were made by Mr. J. H. Payne.

INVERURIE.

Inverurie C.B.S. 1st annual open show held Chelsea Hall, 25th November. Office hearers: President, Mr. J. C. Dressel; Treasurer, Mr. J. Walker; Secretary, Mr. J. Simpson; Committee, Messrs. A. Kelman, J. McKenzie, R. Philip, J. Shoolbraid, W. Tough, H. Troup, and J. Watt. The classes numbered 29. Some very fine Norwich were forwarded from Aberdeen. The entries throughout were quite up to the expectations of the committee, who should feel quite satisfied at the fine turnout, seeing this is their first venture. They will require a larger hall next year. The President presented the society with a handsome silver cup for best unflig. Nor. in show, which was won by Mr. W. Rae with a sweet buff Nor. cock. Mr. A. Shearer won Hyde's special for best bird in novice classes with a yellow cock. Mr. Ironside won the silver plate in Old Bird section with a grand buff cock; Mr. J. Dressel won nat. col. points special; Sandiford's medal went to Mr. W. Allison with a hot fed yell. varieg. Mr. J. Simpson makes an ideal secretary, who is well backed up by the Treasurer, Mr. Walker; they did all in their power for the welfare of the exhibits. Mr. Sandison judged.

UDDINGSTON.

Uddingston and Dis. C.B., etc., Society's open show, held Public Halls, Nov. 25th. President, Mr. T. Prentice; vice-presidents, Messrs. Anderson and H. Donnan; treasurer, Mr. J. Shepherd; secretary, Mr. A. W. Forrester; committee, Messrs. Campbell, Nisbet, Taylor, Cosgrove, McCaskill, Williamson, Wilson, Black, and Mrs. Macintosh. The public halls are situated near the railway station, and are therefore very convenient. The cage birds were located in two of the lesser halls, which were well lighted and quite free from draughts, but rather small for the purposes. There was a large turn-out of fanciers and visitors, and in the cage bird section it required some skill to move about at times. Might we suggest that the show next year be held in two portions, giving our section a separate date? Secretary Forrester and his able committee of workers had all arrangements made for a successful show, and the "gate" must have proved a good one. Cage birds were a little down in numbers on last year, but quality was quite up to the average. Nor. and Borders were a grand lot, and the British came well, some very good birds being staged. Mr. W. Campbell was convener of the cage bird section; he is a most energetic and obliging official, and worked hard to make the show a success. Silver cup and gold medal for most points will no douht fall to Messrs. Campbell and Easton, the runners-up being Messrs. Nisbet and Taylor, or perhaps Mr. Shepherd. Hyde's, Mr. J. Shepherd. Owing to a business appointment, the association have lost the valued services of their old secretary, Mr. Kilpatrick, who has left the district. Of a genial and most obliging nature, his services will he much missed. President Prentice gave handsome money specials for best birds in each section, an act highly appreciated. Judges: Scot. Fcys., Yorks., and Bord., Mr. G. Smart (Carmyle); Nor., Mr. W. G. Muir (Kilmarnock); Brit. and For., Mr. R. Bald (Bathgate). Very little grumbling was heard as to their placings.

WOOLWICH.

The few classes provided were poorly supported by the members at the 38th annual show of the Woolwich F.S., held Nov. 24th and 25th. The Concert Hall of the Sussex Arms is not an ideal place for a show, and it was very crowded, the room being too small. Mr. G. W. Boyce, the sec., had all the arrangements well in hand. Mr. Enfield judged.

CREST OR C.-B.: Cup, 1, 2, 3, r, Harris, 1st nice Crest, fine size and shape, nice formation, 2nd wing mkd. D.C., nice size and shape, good droop, 3rd nice skull, heavy in feather; vhc, Hussey (2). NOR.: 1, sp, Harris, bonny yell., mkd. wings, nice quality, level in col.; 2, 3, r, Worth, 2nd yell., good type and quality, 3rd nice varieg., tight as wax.

STAMFORD.

Stamford F.A.'s 4th open show, held at the Corn Exchange, a splendid place for a show of this kind. The show was opened by his Worship the Mayor of Stamford (Councillor J. B. Corby), who said he was proud to open such a show. He was, he said, a great believer in bird-keeping. He was pleased, he added, to note the splendid entry. The society had received 305 entries. This year the show was thrown open, and some really fine specimens put in an appearance. Yorks. and Nor. were the special feature. Mules and Hybrids were also good, and the British a really capital collection. The Society had gone in for a very good scheme in the way of a cup, and anyone could compete for this by paying 2s. 6d. at time of entry, which brought in a lot of money. The cup (value £4 4s.) was won by Mr. A. J. Smith with a grand young Crest. We learn that the bird was purchased at Cheltenham for £25. Being only young, it has a splendid future before it. Mr. Harrison is a very capable secretary and discharged his duties in a praise-worthy manner. Mr. Ludlow (treasurer) was very busy with the pens, and with a good band of committeemen everything went off well. The show was quite a success, and we hope the finances will prove so, too. Mr. J. Rohson judged.

NEWARK.

Newark and Dis. C.B.S. annual show, held in the Public Hall, Barnby Gate, November 23rd. This is the first show the Society has been able to hold outside their headquarters. The hall selected was an excellent place for the occasion, and was beautifully decorated with flowers, etc. The young secretary, Mr. W. Lidgett, carried his arrangements out in grand fashion, with the support of a fine committee, all of whom did their best to make things bright and cheerful. They are quite worthy of better support from exhibitors generally. Mr. W. Brotherton (Rotherham) judged, and gave every satisfaction.

HINCKLEY.

Hinckley F. and F.S. 18th exhibition, held Nov. 24 and 25, in the Drill Hall. We are sorry to say our section was not one of the most successful, the entries not being up to expectations. This show used to be very strong for the Leicester and Coventry fanciers, who on this occasion were conspicuous by their absence. We were pleased to see the "gate" was a good one, as at times the hall was packed, which no douht was due to the secretary (Mr. H. Ridgway), and his hard working committee, which consisted of Messrs. A. Pickering, A. W. Jennings, J. Peel, H. Towers, A. Spencer, J. Baggotts, H. J. Tansey, W. Woodward, C. Ward, A. Wardle, D. McNaughton, Richard Hill. Mr. J. A. Tyler (Leicester) judged Canaries, and Mr. W. Judd (Leicester) British, foreign and Mules.

ILKESTON.

Eleventh annual exhibition, held Nov. 25 and 27. The Victoria Hall, as on many past occasions, was utilised for the purpose; it is light, spacious, and void of draughts. There was a capital classification, with quite a galaxy of points, specials, good prize money, and extra specials, while no classes were to be cancelled or amalgamated, and prize money was guaranteed. The response to this liberality was a capital entry of 361, being 70 more than on the last occasion. The quality was admitted on all hands to be far in excess of many past years. Mr. A. Somerfield once again scored with his Yell. Greenie-Can., this hird winning its thirty-fifth first prize. The members benched some right good birds, capable of "doing the necessary" in the open, given the opportunity. The president is Mr. T. H. Richardson; vice-presidents, Messrs. W. Wright, A. Sisson, and R. Whitehead, a trio of capital supporters. The committee is comprised of many well-known and well tried fanciers, viz., Messrs. Hunt and Brentnall, Booth, Henshaw, Shaw, Cliff, Eaton, Gregory, Shaw, Martin, Thompson, Martin, Smith and Keightley. All worked with a will, and deserve many compliments for their exertions. The chairman, Mr. H. Hunt, controls in fine style, and Mr. E. Beardsley acts as a very capahle understudy. Treasurer, Mr. M. Marriott, is the right man in the right place. Last, but hy no means least, is the worthy secretary, Mr. Thos. Smith, whom it is always a pleasure to meet. T. S. is most courteous and obliging, and the manner in which he does everything shows he is capable of conquering all difficulties. Staging was of a very neat order, and prize cards were promptly displayed. Judging commenced early, and the show opened hy 2 p.m.; when we left, a goodly number of visitors were present. A well arranged stall, displaying various utensils, show and breeding cages, etc., met one's gaze as they entered the hall, and Mr. T. Smith appeared to be doing a roaring trade. The judge was Mr. J. C. Barnes (Sheffield), and his awards were well received.

INVERNESS.

A Rare Good Entry.

Inverness C.B.S. 31st annual show, held Nov. 22nd. The society were again fortunate in securing the Drill Hall, a magnificent place for a cage bird show, lighted from the roof, lofty, and free from draught. One great feature of the show was the splendid display of aviaries, some containing 30 to 40 birds all in the pink of health and plumage. The birds were nicely staged at a convenient height. The entries were far above those of last year. The joint secretaries are Mr. Urquhart and Mr. T. Sutherland, and two better workers it would be hard to find; they had everything in first-class order. Special for best Nor., Mr. J. Hutchinson; best Yorks., Mr. J. Duncan; best Border, Mr. J. Connachie; spl., for best Brit., Messrs. Anderson Bros.; most points, Mr. F. Stanford. Borders were a high class lot, some travelling from as far as Newtyle and Brechin. Mr. J. Lyon judged and his awards gave entire satisfaction.

LOCKERBIE, N.B.

A very successful show, and an encouraging one for a first venture, was that of the Lockerbie F.S., which was held in the Town Hall on Nov. 23rd. A good entry was obtained, and some remarkably fine birds were staged, especially in the Borders, which were about as good as one could wish to see. The Border Challenge Cup was won by Mr. J. Clark, with a sweet little yellow hen. The Norwich men evidently did not like the 2/- entry fee, and all the classes were cancelled. The exhibits were nicely staged in a room by themselves, and were well attended to by the committee, who were most earnest in the discharge of their duties. Mr. H. Davidson made a most tactful, courteous, and energetic secretary, and things moved smoothly and well. Mr. J. F. Dewar judged, and grumbling was conspicuous by its absence.

BELFAST O.S.

Belfast O.A. 46th annual show held Nov. 4, in the Clarence Place, Minor Hall. The show was a marked success. The number of birds was much larger than last year, and quality was well up to the standard. The silver cup for best Scotch Fancy was won by Mr. R. Trimble with a grand buff cock of good size, fine depth, through chest, good drive, and nice position. He was much admired by fanciers and public alike. The awards seemed to give entire satisfaction. In the Belgian and Scotch Fancy Sections Mr. Rock (Belfast) placed the cards, while Mr. Gray (Belfast) acted in the Nor. section.

CRAMLINGTON.

A Record Class of Borders.

Cramlington C.B.S. 3rd annual show, held Nov. 25th, in the Co-operative Hall. The two previous shows have been confined to members, but on this occasion the committee decided to run an open show, and it proved to be an unqualified success in every respect. Thirteen open classes were provided and these brought forth the grand entry of 294, an average of nearly 23 per class, which, together with 148 entries in the members' classes, made up a grand total of 442 entries, and the management have every reason to feel proud of their great achievement. Borders made a really wonderful display, and we should think the entry here will take some beating. Just fancy, 136 Borders in 3 classes, 44 yellow cocks, 33 buff cocks, and, just think of it, 59 Border hens! Is this entry of 59 in one class not a record? We think it is. Morpeth had a class of 52 birds a few weeks ago, and we remember a few years ago that Accrington had a class of 53. In consideration of the great entry in the hen class, the committee wisely decided to separate the yellows from the buffs, and make two classes, and this gave great satisfaction to the exhibitors. Mr. H. Bennet won premier honours in both cases, and as he also won firsts in both the cock classes, he thus took four 1sts in 3 classes. The hall is one of the finest we have yet seen, large and comfortable, with any amount of light, both natural and artificial. The President is Dr. Forsyth, with F. W. Bodger, Esq., as Vice-president, while the genial and hard-working chairman, Mr. S. Wilson, heads a grand committee, composed of Messrs. W. Allan, C. Ellison, J. H. Hutchings, J. Ducker, W. Thurston, B. Miller, H. Skillings, E. Mackie, G. W. Scott, and Mr. T. Wilson, assistant secretary. In Mr. J. R. Chestney we found a most able and efficient secretary, with a thorough knowledge of his duties, and the manner in which he gets through his work is a credit both to himself and the society, while his kindly courteous manner, together with his willingness to oblige everyone, makes him most popular with everybody. The principal special prize winners were: Best bird in show, Mr. J. Maddison (with a lovely clear Goldie-Mule); best Border, also most points in Borders, Mr. H. Bennet; best Brit., W. Johnson; most points in show, Mr. E. Cowling; Yorks., Mr. T. C. Crawhall; best novice in open classes, shown by a member, Mr. B. Lukey; best bird in members' classes, Mr. J. Ducker; best Brit. in members', Mr. T. D. Wilson; best Mule or Hyb., Mr. B. Lukey; best Bord. in members', Mr. M. Forster. We are pleased to record a splendid attendance, and we were assured by the chairman that the show cannot be otherwise than a financial success. The judges were Messrs. A. Brown and H. Seely.

GREAT HARWOOD.

Great Harwood C.B.S. held their annual open show Nov. 24 and 25, in the Assembly Rooms. The judges had an excellent light, but it was a bit dark when we were taking notes, otherwise the room is an ideal one. The management is of the best. At the head of affairs is Mr. Alb. Bentley (Hon. Sec.), who has everything as regards running a show at his fingers' ends. He is admirably backed up by Mr. Moore (Show Manager), Mr. J. Lambert (Chairman), the Assist. Sec. (Mr. Waddington), and a grand lot of workers in Messrs. Aspinal, Trengove, sen., Smalley, and Godley. Norwich were a grand lot. There was a slight reversal of the winners of previous shows, but condition seemed to be a great feature. We were sorry to hear that Messrs. Trengove and Sons' yellow cock (1st and spl. for best bird at Preston) was very ill at home. The amateurs came out strong; in fact, quite as good in quality as the champions, and twice as strong in numbers. Yorks made a nice show and were well staged. This being a Cinnamon Club show, and in the hot-bed of the Cinnamon Fancy, we were prepared for some warm stuff in the Cinnamon section, and we were not disappointed. The introduction of the foul class brought out some nice birds which otherwise would have been left at home. Novice Cinnamons did not come up to expectations—only sixteen in two classes. But quality was well represented. British were a bonny lot and included some well-known winners. Mr. W. Dormer won Sandiford's special and Mr. Godley spl. for most entries. We were pleased to see Mr. A. Wellings out again; although he had his arm in a sling he got through his duties as judge in good time. Mr. Battye judged Nor. and Yorks, Mr. Wellings Cinnamons and British; and their awards gave entire satisfaction.

The Critique.

NOR. CL., ETC., YELL. (7): 1, J. E. Davies, rare size, exceptionally good head and neck, well carried wings and tail, wins nicely; 2, Raynes, again good substance, built on proper Norwich lines, takes perches well; 3, Vardy, fine broad back, grand head and neck, well balanced; 4, Durston, all there for type and quality; vhc, Hayhurst; hc, Mercer; No. 3, Trengove and Sons, Preston winner, absent. BUFF (12): 1, Leonard, not a big one but extra good type everywhere in proportion; 2, hc, Hayhurst, more substance, rounded to perfection, grand head and neck, runs winner close; 3, Vardy, wonderfully mealed, broad back, full neck and head; 4, Raynes, neat and well balanced, rare order; vhc, J. and J. BARNET.

£5 limit show (open to a radius of 8 miles), held Nov. 25th, Town Hall. It is much the best show yet held by the Barnet F. and F.S., many of the classes being well filled and quality well represented. The cage birds had a room to themselves, and the chairman, Mr. Jackaman, staged them himself in a masterly manner. Mr. Chandler made an ideal secretary. Mr. A. E. Enfield judged.

DONCASTER.

Doncaster C.B.S. annual show held November 24th and 25th. The Co-operative Hall, in which the exhibits were staged, is very spacious, lofty, and well ventilated, beautifully lighted, and in close proximity to the station. The schedule was a capital one, with good prize money and hosts of specials; the response was upwards of 400 birds, with many "cracks" amongst them. Yorks. and Nor. made a capital display, and were greatly admired. Many fell in love with the Clear Yellow Yorks. hen (Wilkinson and Elliott), this dainty damsel priding herself on winning 1st Leeds, 1st Manchester and 1st Great Horton this season. Mules and Hybrids contained an eye opener or two, Mr. R. Bond standing in with a lovely Can.-Bullie; and Dr. M. A. Wilson placed on view a most delightful Goldie-Bullie possessing a slashing fine blaze. British birds captivated; the section right through was superb, one of the best collections we have seen of late. Foreigners added tone to the function with their gorgeous dress. Mr. F. Barker makes a capital President. Mr. T. Truman occupies the chair and controls affairs judiciously. The treasurer is Mr. A. Raynes, a true fancier, who has the club's interests at heart. The secretary, Mr. G. Bescoby, works admirably; he is most courteous and obliging, and if perseverance and energy will place this noted show on the highest pedestal in Canarydom, G. B. is the man to bring this about. With such a practical committee as Doncaster possesses, and able to command such a fine hall, the society should in the near future be one of the best in the country. The stewards who officiated in fine style were Messrs. Truman, Hunt, Blanchon, Saxton, Baxby and Stocks. All deserve many compliments for the promptness displayed in affixing prize labels, setting cages in order, feeding and watering, etc. Fanciers need not fear trusting their most valued gems in the hands of such men. Staging had been well thought out, tier-like, and every bird could be seen at a glance. There was ample room between the aisles for a comfortable inspection of birds, and chairs by the score to hand. Judges, Messrs. J. C. Barnes (Sheffield), Canaries, and J. Maddison (Newcastle), Brit. and For. Their awards were well received.

Use Our Live Bird Labels.

LOCHORE & GLENCRAIG (N.B.).

Annual show held November 25th, and taken all over was well up to former years. We would like to have seen more entries, but there was a large number of shows held in Scotland the same day. Scotch Fancies proved a failure, and we are afraid we have seen the last of the grand classification allotted here to the King of the Fancy. Mr. Kean, the well-known breeder, was to judge, but the committee cancelled his engagement, and the few birds staged were carefully selected by a local visitor, the worthy Secretary of the Kelty Association (Mr. A. Dickson), and he soon picked out the winners. In this variety notwithstanding was found the winner of the cup for best bird in show, a yell. cock shown by Mr. Stenhouse. It was closely run by Mr. J. W. Bruce's well-known Tbrush, "Border Queen." Nor. and Yorks were good, some nice ones being out. Some of the Yorks. classes were extra good for numbers and quality. Mr. A. Chalmers judged these, and his awards left little to be commented on Borders were a sweet lot, some bot ones being out. The medal winner was a sweet yell., well shown by Mr. Arnott. Mr. J. Thomson, of Green fame, judged these, and his awards were popular. British birds and Mules were good, well-known winners having to take a back seat. Mr. G. Marlin judged these, and his awards left little room for adverse comments. Owiug to a slight misunderstanding with the carting contractor, the judging was a little delayed, but all got through in good time. Mr. Grant, the able sec., had everything in apple-pie order, and was ably assisted by the worthy President and by Mr. Peel. The show was well patronised by local fanciers, and we heard that Kelty has won the trophy for the West Fife Cage Bird League.

BRIGHOUSE.

Brighouse and Dis. C.B.S. annual open show held Nov. 25, Oddfellows' Hall. Mr. H. W. Battye judged. Entries came up poorly, the 33 classes only attracting 366 birds. This society has had many vicissitudes, but this year they were put to it in more ways than one. During the last year or so the membership has gone down considerably, until at the present time the society do not total more than 7 or 8, and such a number is quite inadequate to run a show. Mr. F. Mitchell (Sec.) is a rare worker, and deserves every support. Messrs. Dearden (pres.), Hargreaves (vice), Kaye (treas.), Tattersall, Naylor, and Saunders, worked hard, doing all they could between their hours of business. An unfortunate occurrence was the finding of one of the birds of Messrs. Ogden Bros. dead in the case upon unpacking; and four birds were inadvertently left in cases, and were not found until the close of the show. During the afternoon a good number of fanciers put in an appearance, and it is hoped that, with the assistance of a decent "gate," the society will pull through again.

BRANDON COLLIERY
(Co. Durham).

Fifth annual show, held Nov. 25th, in the Temperance Hall, a very suitable place for the purpose. Entries came up well, totalling 60 in the six classes for cage birds. British birds were the best, the Linnet class especially being a stormer, some grand birds being staged. Special for best in show went to Mr. H. Wilson, with his noted winning clear yellow Nor., Mr. R. W. Boyd taking special for 2nd best, with a grand Chough, a well-known winner, staged in the pink. The society possess an excellent secretary in Mr. G. Reed, the well-known Linnet-singing judge, and he had everything in grand order, and judging was completed and cards up in good time. He was ably assisted by several hard-working fanciers, and consequently everything went off without the slightest hitch. Prize money and specials were paid out to the successful exhibitors present at the show. The show was well attended, and everything points to its being a financial success. Mr. W. Rutherford (West Roddymoor) judged, and appeared to give every satisfaction.

The Critique.

NOR. (10): 1, 2, 4, Wilson, leader well known yell., grand size, rare cobby shape, thick bead and neck, takes special for best bird in show; 2nd, another fine yell., very neat and typical; 4th, cl. buff, nice size, good shape and col.; 3, vhc, Robson and March, cl. buff, nice bird, soft when judged; hc, Briggs. ALWAYS USE OUR

DEPOSIT SYSTEM.

We are not responsible for the statements made in advertisements, nor of the bona-fides of either buyers or sellers in all transactions the adoption of our Deposit System should be insisted upon.

IMPORTANT.

SEND THE FULL COMMISSION.—If the full commission does not accompany the deposit, the vendor will not be notified of its receipt until the amount deficient, plus the extra postage incurred, has been paid to us.

HOW TO REMIT.—Under no circumstances will Cheques or Post-dated Money Orders be accepted as deposits. Uncrossed Postal Orders must be sent and the numbers taken for safety.

RULES.

1.—PROCEDURE.—The intending purchaser should send to this office the amount of the purchase (our deposit fee included), and at the same time he should communicate with the seller, stating what it is he requires sent on approval. We acknowledge receipt of the deposit to both parties. In all cases the depositor should give his name and address, and also that of the vendor, and must write same clearly and distinctly.

2.—END OF TRANSACTION.—The deposit is retained by us until we hear from both parties that the transaction has been completed. If a sale has been effected, we hand the amount deposited to the seller. If a sale has not been effected, we return the amount to the depositor. The transaction must be conducted by the parties themselves. We merely hold the deposit.

3.—AMOUNT OF COMMISSION.—The fee is 6d. for each £1, or fraction of £1, and it must be sent at same time as the deposit.

4.—IMPORTANT POINTS.—The depositor must decide within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the goods whether he will keep or return the same, unless, that is, some other period of approval (of which we must be advised) is agreed upon by both parties. The depositor must at the same time notify us of the fact that he has returned the goods. If the goods are not returned within the said forty-eight hours, we reserve the right to send the deposit to the seller after the expiration of that period. And should the seller fail within three days to notify us of the receipt of his goods back again, the transaction will be treated as ended, and the deposit will be returned to the depositor.

5.—A SATISFACTORY PURCHASE.—When a transaction has been completed to the satisfaction of both depositor and seller, both parties must at once return the deposit receipts as a guarantee of its completion. The depositor must at the same time instruct us to pay over the deposit to the seller.

6.—GOODS ALREADY SOLD.—If the goods are sold before our deposit note reaches the seller, or if for any other reason he declines to do business, he must at once return the deposit note to us. Failing its receipt, we reserve the right to return the deposit to the sender after the expiration of three days.

7.—FRESH TRANSACTION.—In case no sale be effected, a deposit is available for purposes of a fresh transaction, provided another deposit fee be paid.

8.—GOODS IN TRANSIT.—Goods in transit are at the seller's risk, and any damage or loss sustained on the journey must be borne by the seller. But goods not approved of must be properly packed and returned by the same means as were used in sending the same.

9.—PAYMENT OF CARRIAGE.—The payment of carriage must be a matter for arrangement between the vendor and depositor. We do not undertake to settle disputes affecting question of carriage. But in the absence of other arrangements the purchaser is liable for the carriage of the goods, and if the goods are sent on approval and returned, each party pays the carriage one way.

10.—DISPUTES.—In case of a dispute, the decision of the Editor is final.

PREPAID ADVERTISEMENTS

Postal Orders must be sent as far as possible. All moneys should be made payable to F. CARL.

The Proprietor reserves the right to refuse any advertisement, or to cancel any advertisement ordered for a series, at any time, without assigning any reason for so doing.

Advertisements close Tuesdays first post in each week, and should be sent to the advertisement Manager, CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London. Terms for Display Advertisements on application.

IMPORTANT NOTE.—Two or more Advertisements coming from the same advertiser, even if sent in different names, are reckoned together, and, after the first Eighteen words, are charged at two words a penny, but no single advertisement, even if accompanied by others, will be charged at less than the minimum price, viz., Sixpence.

Headlines or Footlines, 6d., 9d., 1/-, 1/6, according to size.

Small prepaid advertisements of a general nature and not connected in any way with the Cage Bird Trade are inserted at the rate of ½d. per word throughout. Minimum 12 words 6d.

Advertisements must in all cases bear the bona fide name and address of the advertiser, and no advertisement will be inserted if addressed to a receiving office, or similar place of call.

REPEATING OF ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advt. Manager, "Cage Birds."

but hundreds upon hundreds of testimonials have been published in this paper from purchasers of my catching appliances. I do not wish to boast, but have no hesitation in saying that I have published more testimonials in one week than any other net maker has in a year. Surely this fact should prove to you who is really the man to supply genuine articles at rock bottom prices. Everything I sell is guaranteed exactly as described, and you are at liberty to smash them up if you find them not so, and I will refund every penny of your money. Clap-nets made from superfine thread netting, ½in. mesh, 3 yards long, 6½ft. deep and 4ft. fly, 4/- pair, ditto 4 yards, 5/-; 5 yards, 6/-; 6 yards, 7/-; 7 yards, 8/-; 8 yards, 9/-; 9 yards, 10/-; 10 yards, 11/- per pair. All clap-nets have two nets to the pair, each net guaranteed size as stated, and all are fitted complete with hemp lines, stave poles, and pegs ready for immediate use. These nets are the only clap-nets on the market that are geared or armed all round, and have no old-fashioned socket and iron arrangement about them, the fittings I supply being far better and easier to work. Sparrow-nets, made with extra stout ¾ mesh netting, fitted on best quality bamboo poles, with latest improved elbows, 15ft. poles, 5/6; 17ft., 6/-; 19ft., 6/6 complete. Latest improved self-acting spring net traps (all metal, not a particle of wood about them) 24ins. long 18ins. wide, 1/- each, ditto 18 by 14ins., 9d. each. These net traps are different to any other on the market, and although far larger, may be carried in the pocket, and are invisible when set. May be used with call bird inside them, and do not go off with a bang. Carriage on these traps, 3d. extra. Round or square topped call cages, all wire tops and wood bottoms, 4d. each, 3/- dozen. Loose thread netting, as used in above clap-nets, 7ft. deep, 3d. yard, 9ft. deep, 4d. yard, 12ft. deep, 5d. yard. Lark netting, 1¼in. mesh, 10ft. deep, 6d. yard. Extra stout netting for use on rough ground, ¾ mesh, 9ft. deep, 5d. yard; ½in. mesh netting, 8ft. deep, 5d. yard; all netting post free. Real original Japanese bird lime, guaranteed absolutely strongest made, and only lime to hold birds in rain or fog, ½lb. 6d., ¼lb. 10d., 1lb. 1/6; sample 3d., all postfree. Please note this is the original Japanese lime as advertised and sold by myself only for years past, and must not be confused with any other so-called Japanese lime offered by persons who have merely copied name of my lime, but cannot copy quality (see testimonials below). Genuine hand-spun pure hemp, pull lines, guaranteed strong as boat lines, and not to stretch or snarl, 68 yards long, ¼lb. weight, 1/4 each, carriage paid. Lark nets, stave poles, flirt pegs, and everything required by catchers always in stock, but before you buy a stitch of anything send stamp for my full printed list, which gives hints on net making. Please note everything I sell is on approval, and money refunded in full if every satisfaction not given. If you want genuine articles, send to the man who knows what is required for successful catching, but be sure to send for price list.

Beautifully Illustrated, with Coloured Plates and Numerous Engravings in Black and White.

This is the most authoritative and most superb book on the subject ever issued. Every detail is expertly explained and charmingly treated. It is practical and explicit on all points of breeding, rearing, and keeping in healthy condition the world's most brilliant and most beautiful songsters. Each aspect of the bird's life is dealt with, so that those who possess this work are never at a loss as to the best course to pursue at all times.

giving full particulars and Specimen Pages of Illustrations and Print.

Whether you simply keep birds for the pleasure of their song and the constant charm of their companionship in the home, or you keep them for exhibition and competition purposes and the profit that can be obtained from their marketing, this work affords you all the information that you can desire. The writers of the work are men of the most intimate knowledge of bird life and bird-keeping—men of large experience in the handling of birds—who possess the art of imparting the fullest information in clear and understandable language, while the splendid illustrations are all drawn from actual life in the case of the birds, and in respect to cages, aviaries and everything required in bird-keeping, the pictures and diagrams are such as fully explain every detail.

Our first edition is already exhausted: such has been the popularity of this most interesting book. We expected a large demand but we did not quite anticipate such a sudden rush. However, we are able to meet it. The second issue is ready, but we strongly advise you to send for the free illustrated book at once.

Before You Purchase

a Siberian Goldfinch, kindly read below. I claim to hold the largest stock of genuine Siberian cock Goldfinches (not hens) in England to-day. These birds come direct to me, and no man in England gets the pick of them but myself, and to prove this I offer £10 to any dealer in England who can prove he has had pick of my birds, either before or since they came into my possession. Regular readers will have noticed that while others were saying they expected Siberians at any moment, I actually had mine on the market, and some of them in customers' hands before they were expected to arrive. I have a really magnificent stock of the genuine Siberian cock Goldfinches, every bird in full song, price 5/- each, seven for 28/-; selected birds, very large, with good broad skulls, deep square blaze, good tannings and moonings, well buttoned and correct wing carriage, and polished like a new silk hat, 7/6 and 10/- each. Among the birds are a few cage-moulted cocks, price 7/6 each; one cock, with peculiar blue blaze instead of red, highest offer accepted; several very nice peathroated cocks, 7/6 each, and one very handsome square blazed, straight cut, Cheveral cock, 10/-; if others get the pick of the birds as they pretend, how it is they do not get the Cheverals, etc.? All will be sent on week's approval at my risk; cash or deposit system as usual, and money refunded if every satisfaction not given. For the information of other dealers, I may say the next lot of Siberians reach me on Dec. 15th or 16th; they will now know when to expect them.

the following questions in the affirmative? Are you getting full value for your money from your present dealer? Is price right, quality of the best, are the birds you receive exactly what the advertisement leads you to expect, and do you always get business-like treatment? If so, you have no need to read further, as no man can expect more, but if you are not altogether satisfied, this advert. will tell you how to obtain that satisfaction you cannot get elsewhere. My conditions of sale are these: Everything I sell is sent on approval on deposit rules of this paper, or if cash is sent direct to me I take all risk, and unless birds are in every way satisfactory they only have to be returned, and back comes the whole of your money promptly and cheerfully without question or comment. Plain and straight-forward enough, is it not? I have a splendid stock of genuine Worcestershire cock Goldfinches in pink of health and condition at 2/- each, 3 5/-, 6 9/-. Specially selected larger cocks guaranteed in song, 2/6 and 3/- each. Real exhibition specimens, with full complement of show points, 5/- and 7/6 each. Hen Goldfinches 1/- each, three 2/6, six 4/-. CAGE BIRDS, 154, Fleet Street, London, E.C.

GENUINE HARTZ MOUNTAIN ROLLERS.

Without giving them or myself false names, any of the following will be found more than the money asked. All on approval.

Cocks, 5/-, 5/6; better notes, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6. Hens, 2/-. Pairs matched for breeding, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6 up. Grand Seifert Cocks, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each. Hens, 3/6 and 5/-; cages, 3d. extra. Do not be deluded into paying high prices for "bogus" and meaningless names, when I will sell you, not as good, but better at half the price. Remember, I can produce and have published more testimonials than any other person living or dead. Full detailed list free if desired. All birds on approval.

The Man in Possession

of all his faculties must see that unless there was really something about the Leipzig Roller that is not possessed by the ordinary Roller, I could not go on publishing such remarkable testimonials as I do week after week. What I claim for them is this: The Leipzig Roller has a greater variety of song than the ordinary Roller, is better value at a lower price, and, unlike many of the Rollers, does not lose its song after first moult, but retains it for years. I want you to test the truth of my statements by having a Leipzig Roller from me, and an ordinary Roller from elsewhere at any higher price; test them side by side for a week, and keep the one which suits you best. I have just received the largest consignment of Rollers ever sent into England to one dealer, and all are in absolutely superb condition and song, and have long hollow and double rolls, sweet silvery trills, soft roulades, water-bubble runs, piccolo trills, jug-jug of Nightingale bell, harp, flute, and gong notes, etc., etc., and guaranteed entirely free from any harsh or objectionable notes whatever, price 7s. and 8s. each; special Bandmasters, which excel in the deep bass and hollow bell rolls, 10/-, and 12/6 each; hens, guaranteed exactly same strain, 2/- each, 3/6 couple. I also have a limited quantity of real contest Rollers, which have a very rich, soft and melodious song, price 15/- each. These contest birds are of purest blood Germany can boast of, and are gems of very first water, honest value at 50/- each. To really know how good the Leipzig Roller as a song is, you must have one on week's trial, but following letters give a faint idea. "Newtown, Leeds, Nov. 22. Sir,—The 19 Rollers you sent us have been very satisfactory to all our members, and also others who have heard them. I write this on behalf of members and myself that they are the finest lot of Rollers that have ever been sent to the Prince Albert Inn Linnet and Canary Association.—Yours, E. Wood, Hon. Sec." "The Bank, St. Mary's, Scilly Isles, Nov. 27. Sir,—Leipzig Roller I had from you three years ago turned out A1. Please send another.—Yours, C. Solomon." "9, Claremont Terrace, Longsight, Oldham, Nov. 27. —Sir,—Received Roller Saturday, and he started singing as soon as put into cage. I shall want another shortly.—Yours, R. Butterworth." "11, Fernie St., Maryhill, Glasgow, Nov. 27. Sir,—Received Roller in first-class condition, and I must thank you for such a fine singer. He started singing 15 minutes after arrival.—Yours, E. Leggett, jun." "28, Sarow Row, Ebbw Vale, Nov. 25. Sir,—Received two Rollers safe, and am very pleased with them; they are doing well.—Yours, C. Price." "1, George St., Harwich, Nov. 27. Sir,—Received bird safe, with great satisfaction. I am indeed pleased with its singing.—Yours, A. Atkinson." "6, Side Row, Gt. Preston, Woodlesford, Leeds, Nov. 25. Sir,—Please send another Leipzig Roller. I received others safe and Roller is singing grand.—Yours, L. Longbottom." "65, Balfour Rd., Normanton, Derby, Nov. 25th. Sir,—I have had the Roller a week, and am highly pleased with it. Thanking you for sending such a lovely songster.—Yours, G. Taylor." "6, Side Row, Gt. Preston, Leeds, Nov. 21. Sir,—Please send Roller at 12/6, and a hen to match. A friend has heard mine, and got me to send for one like it. The Roller I have is singing grand day and gaslight.—Yours, L. Longbottom." "26, Butler St., Belfast, Nov. 21. Sir,—Roller is a great and wonderful songster for the price, 10/-. The only comparison is it is like a Prima Donna compared to a chorus girl to the rest of song birds.—Yours, J. McLaughlin." "Beacon, near Camborne, Cornwall, Nov. 14. Sir,—Received Leipzig Roller safely, and it is a pleasure to hear it sing. All my friends say he is a fine bird.—Yours, B. Pearce." Please note all genuine Leipzig Rollers are stamped on wing "Hans Weber Leipzig," and are sent out spick and span, and as clean as the proverbial new pin, in special travelling cages, with seed and water inside on full week's trial at my risk on receipt of cash or deposit system of CAGE BIRDS, and fullest satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded in full.

NORTHERN AVIARIES, Ormskirk Rd., Preston

ALL WONDERFUL VALUE IN SONGSTERS.

But if you want a good singing cock at 3/6 go to the "Land Sharks," and find you have got a common German hen, not worth its carriage. Whether they call them Norwich, Yorkshires, or Hartz Mountains, the poor little German or Common Belgian hen has to do duty for all. I offer specially selected songsters, every bird proved and tested, either in Norwich, Yorkshire, Hartz., Border, or Lizard, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6. Cages 3d. extra.

PALACE BRED YORKSHIRES.

Splendid opportunity to secure the best blood in the Fancy at exceptionally low price, from birds bred direct from Bailey's Palace winners, purchased regardless of cost; can spare limited number of grand cocks (which can be matched to gems of hens, if required), wonderful length, style, and quality, clear yellow, 1st special Ellesmere, etc., 30/-; unflighted buff, unshown, certain winner, 20/-, very stylish, upstanding buff, 25/-; unflighted buff, splendid length, 15/-; approval; stamp reply: Arthur Brotherhood, Newport, Salop.

KNIGHT'S YORKSHIRE AVIARIES

supplies high-class Yorkshires in all varieties excepting whole Greens; no other variety birds bred, or kept, during past 30 years; all cold room bred, reared, and kept; show and stock birds a speciality; have about 20 pairs asserted, same type and quality as best selected, but only moderate sized; rather than submit them as dealers, or what are termed market birds, I will offer to end of year at 8/- and 10/- pair, cash to accompany each order, until cleared; full season's price list forwarded to all applicants; all on approval, cash or deposit: Jonas Knight, Allerton, Bradford, Yorkshire.

OGDEN BROS.

Have a few winners to spare, also matched pairs to breed winners, from 15/6; watch show reports, and write for them straight off the show bench; inspection invited: Dudley Hill, Bradford.

WALSH'S CHAMPION YORKS.

SOME real toppers for sale, for show or stock purposes; hens, real gems from 5/-; cocks from 6/-; all colours; satisfaction guaranteed, or money returned: 12, Angel-st., Baildon, Yorks.

RECORD BREAKING.

YORKSHIRES.—Even the most prejudiced are bound to admit I have the best strain in the Fancy. Follow show reports and note my wins weekly. See reports of Derby only showing in three classes and bang at the front every time; also at Grantham and Halifax, and remember I won more firsts last season, also so far this season, than any other exhibitor of Yorkshires. It is not the price you pay but what you get for your money that constitutes a bargain. I have sold winners to most of the leading exhibitors in all parts of the world, and could publish testimonials that would fill a whole issue of "C.B.," which are filed for inspection at any time. Blood is bound to tell, and if you want something to do well for you, I can supply you with same blood as above winners. Very choice lot still for disposal, and every bird cold-room bred. Long, stylish Yorkshire Cocks, for stock, at 6/-, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each. Smart typical Hens at 4/-, 6/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each. Pairs selected to breed the best at 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/-, 30/- per pair upwards. Birds that cannot be purchased at double the prices later on.

Also some that can win at small shows. Cocks or Hens, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each. Others fit for the keenest competition, including several recent winners, at most reasonable prices. Travelling cages 1d. extra. All on 7 days' approval on receipt of cash, or deposit system. Please state wants. Satisfaction guaranteed. Inspection invited at any time. Illustrated Price List Post Free.

has some grand typical Yorkshires for sale at reasonable prices, for show or stock purposes; clears, ticks, or green-marked, from 15/- per pair upwards, properly matched for breeding; all bred in my own room; satisfaction guaranteed; seven days approval; cash or deposit; 15, Settle-terrace, Thornton-lane, Bradford.

of the highest possible breeding, bang up to date, A1 specimens, single birds or pairs, scientifically mated to produce champions, from 8/- to £5; satisfaction, courtesy, and honourable dealings absolutely guaranteed; correspondence only; no callers, please: Louis C. Ogden, Round-st., Bradford.

THE YORKSHIRE BREEDERS' SOCIETY.

The above society has been formed to supply Yorkshire Canaries direct from the breeders to fanciers, instead of allowing dealers to show and sell them as their own strains. Particulars as to how each bird has been bred will be given, and as we hold some of the best pedigree strains living, purchasers can rely on getting the very best blood obtainable. We can supply breeding sets (cock and 2 hens) at 12/6 15/-, 20/-, per set; pairs, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, upwards; cocks, 6/-, and hens 4/-; also exhibition birds at reasonable prices. Travelling cages 3d. extra. Terms cash with order or deposit system; state wants to "Secretary," 40, Springcliffe, Manningham, Bradford, Yorkshire.

AMBLER'S CHAMPION YORKSHIRES
THE PUREST STRAIN IN THE FANCY

For these last 30 years we have bred, sold and exhibited some of the biggest champions on the show bench, winning thousands of prizes, cups, bowls, medals, etc., at all the leading shows, three times winning special for best in show Crystal Palace; championship for best Yorkshire, 4 firsts, 3 seconds, 3rd and 4th Palace 1910-11. "LIVE BIRD" LABELS, 24 3d., 50 6d., 100 10d.

WINNING YORKSHIRES AND NORWICH.

My birds supply their own testimony as to their quality. All I need do is to refer you to the reports of all the leading championship shows week by week. I have won over 180 prizes during October and November, 1911, including lots and specials at most of the leading shows. Every prize has been won in open championship shows in hottest competition.

Week by week my customers are also winning in open competition with birds supplied by me. Proof of this is open for the inspection of my numerous visitors.

The following is simply one among a large number all recently received and filed for inspection:—"2, Barlow St., Bacup, 25th Nov., 1911.—I am pleased to let you know I won 1st and special prize at our show on Saturday with the Yorkshire cock you sent me. There was a very good show of Yorkshires, but all said I won the prize outright, as it was the best bird there.—E. E. Humphries to Joe Thomas."

Remember, all my winners are for sale, or I can supply you with some clinking stock or exhibition birds bred from them, and at a workingman's price.

I am now sending out good typical cocks at 6/-, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 25/-, 30/- each. Grand hens, true to type and feathered like wax at 3/-, 4/-, 5/-, 6/-, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/- each. Matched pairs, which I have personally paired with a view to breeding winners, at 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/-, 30/-, 40/-, 50/- per pair.

I have also some large thick-set Norwich, the right stamp, well over perch, with good heads and fronts, at same price as Yorkshires. See report of open Norwich Section, Halifax Show, in this issue.

SEIFERT ROLLERS, in full rolling song, at 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-, 20/- each. Hens, same strain, 2/6, 3/6, 5/- each. Also a few BRITISH ROLLERS, cold-room bred, at same prices.

SIBERIAN GOLDFINCH COCKS. Large consignment just arrived. I never had a better lot. Big fine, bold birds, many of them can win in hot competition. Prices, 5/6, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/-, 12/6 each. Let me send you one on approval. Borders, Crests, Belgians, Mules, etc., etc., also in stock. Every bird sent on 7 days' approval at my risk. Inspection invited any day but Sunday.

EASY PAYMENTS TO GENUINE FANCIERS.

Birds sent out on receipt of first payment. Send a P.C. for my illustrated catalogue, with full particulars, and remember I give a guarantee of absolute satisfaction to every customer or return every penny of cash paid. Travelling cages 3d. extra in all cases.

Novices' Special Bargains

I will match you Norwich or Yorkshires in the correct way; i.e., NOT two buffs, as the majority do when supplying the novice at a low price. All the pairs I am offering here shall have cocks that have started to sing, and shall be selected as strong, hardy birds, likely to do all that you require of them, at 7/6, 8/6, and 10/6 per pair. I will also fit you up with a double breeding cage, with everything complete for use, for 3/6 extra; or a better cage, with sand-drawers, sanitary fittings, etc., for 5/- extra; this latter recommended; with the utmost confidence of satisfaction I offer these bargains.

Travelling cages, 3d. extra in all cases.

YOU KNOW

It pays me well to serve you well, and it pays you well to let me serve you well. My motive is to give you such good sound value for money that you cannot resist sending me your further orders and telling your brother fanciers of the astounding value I give. I guarantee every customer full satisfaction. Do not be misled with ordinary birds with fancy names at fancy prices. Let me send you high-class birds at ordinary prices. My matched pairs of Yorkshires and Norwich at 8/6, 10/6, 12/6, and 15/- pair are extraordinary value. My stock includes the following, all well moulted, cocks in song, my famous German songsters, the working man's friend; cocks that will sing by day and by gaslight, loud, free, continuous songsters; every bird tested before sending out. Cocks, 4/6, 5/-, 5/6, 6/- each; matched pairs for breeding songsters, 6/-, 6/6, 7/6, 8/-. Genuine trained St. Andreashurg Rollers, with full change of song by day and artificial light, bred and trained by leading contest winners in their home land, with full volume of song, free from harsh or choppy notes, cocks, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6 each; hens, 2/-, 2/6, 3/- each. High-class long sam typical Yorkshires, in all colours, clean moulted, cocks 5/-, 5/6, 6/-, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6; a few extra good specimens for exhibition, 10/6, 12/6, 15/-; accurately matched pairs for breeding, 7/6, 8/6, 9/6, 10/6, 12/6; superior quality, lengthy hens, 2/-, 2/6, 3/-, 3/6, 4/6. Plainhead Norwich, thick-set, cobby, stylish Norwich, in all colours, quality that will astound you, especially at the prices; clean moulted cocks, in song, 5/-, 5/6, 6/-, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6 each; grand quality hens, 2/-, 2/6, 3/-, 3/6, 4/- each; matched breeding pairs, 6/6, 7/6, 8/6, 10/6, 12/6; neat travelling cages, 3d. each. You really must see these birds to be convinced of their value, for it is utterly impossible for small breeders or dealers to sell such quality at the prices; all birds on seven days' approval at my risk, and I pay carriage back if you should not be satisfied: E. L. Storey, Practical Bird Specialist, Crowle, Doncaster.

PARROT PROBLEM

solved. For full proofs send postcard at once for my large book, "Parrot Prattle." This is the most wonderful book ever offered free of all charge to all Parrot fanciers. (This "Parrot Prattle" is registered copyright, and all infringers and imitators will be proceeded against). It contains hundreds of testimonials from all parts with full names and addresses, many interesting facts, and gives valuable advice and hints to all Parrot buyers. Full details of our original system of selling Parrots on four weeks' trial, at our risk, which we were the first to introduce. We sell Parrots of all descriptions on four weeks' trial, at our risk, before settlement. Cheapest and best in the Kingdom, and any Parrot sold by us and not giving full satisfaction, will be exchanged any time within twelve months. Remember we lead and others try to follow. Write to other dealers as well as us, and judge for yourselves. Lists of Parrots for sale and above book post free on receipt of postcard. Telephone No. 40 Morecambe.
